COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 137th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1943. No. 1.

SENATE

JANUARY 5, 1943, 12:00 O'CLOCK NOON

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members of the Senate together with the Senators-elect, chosen at the last general election held on November 3, 1942, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT. (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) called the Senate to order at twelve o'clock noon.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE D. D. offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, whose mercy is infinite and whose love surpasseth knowledge, hear our prayers—this vocal prayer and the unvoiced prayer rising to Thee from the heart of each of these, Thy servants.

At this first meeting of a new year and of a new senatorial body may the prayer of each one be: "Oh God give us wisdom, the wisdom that has its source in Thee and from which Thou givest liberally." We are sure that the wisdom of the merely wordly-wise is not sufficient for this day. So in our conscious need we turn to Thee.

The nations of the earth are before Thy judgment bar. Here may they be convinced that "The statutes of the Lord are right," and that "The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether."

We pray, O God, that our beloved nation, warring for justice and the rights of all men, may receive Thy favorable judgment and be the instrument in Thy hands to bring the nations of the earth to repentance and submission to the sovereignty of the Prince of Peace.

Endow we pray Thee, with strength of mind and heart of Thy servant the President of the United States, and the Governor of this State that they may be directed by Thee to lead the nation and the state according to Thy will, which will be to Thy glory.

In the name of Christ we ask it. Amen.

PRESENTATION OF ELECTION RETURNS

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. President, I have the honor to introduce the Honorable S. M. R. O'Hara, Secretary of this Commonwealth.

Miss O'HARA. Mr. President, I have the honor to present the returns of election for the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the same have been certified to and filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I have likewise the honor to present the returns of election for Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the same have been certified to and filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And I have also the honor to present the returns of election for Secretary of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the same have been certified to and filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I have also the honor to present the returns of election of the Senators in the General Assembly from the even numbered districts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the same have been certified to and are on file in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Madame Secretary.

ELECTION RETURNS FOR GOVERNOR, LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR AND SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS LAID ON THE TABLE

The PRESIDENT. The returns of election for Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Secretary of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are laid on the table.

RETURNS OF ELECTIONS OF SENATORS

The PRESIDENT. The Chief Clerk will read the returns of election of Senators and the Clerks of the Senate will act as tellers.

PERMISSION REQUESTED TO INTRODUCE MOTION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to offer the following motion.

The PRESIDENT. Motions at this time are out of order because of the lack of a Quorum, as provided for in Section 10, Article 2, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:

> "A majority of each House shall Constitute a Quorum."

Until the oath of office has been administered to the Senators whose election has just been certified to the Senate by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the required Quorum of twenty-six (26) members is lacking.

In the absence of a Quorum, the only thing before the Senate, is the administering of the oath of office to the certified newly-elected Senators.

Mr. BARR. Thank you, Mr. President.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATHS OF OFFICE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business will be administration of oaths of office to the newly elected Senators, which will be administered by the Honorable J. Paul Rupp, Judge of Court of Common Pleas, Dauphin County.

The Clerk will call the names of the Senators to be sworn. Those who swear by the Bible will present themselves first and those who swear with uplifted hand second and those who affirm last.

Oaths of office administered accordingly.

PERMISSION REQUESTED TO INTRODUCE MOTION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to renew the motion which the Chair ruled out of order, after presentation of election returns by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, defer presentation of the motion until it is ascertained whether a quorum is present and the roll is called. The Chair will then recognize the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, am I not correct in presenting this motion before the roll is called.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair must rule that the roll must be first called.

QUORUM PRESENT

The PRESIDENT. The Chief Clerk will call the roll.

The Chief Clerk called the roll and the following Senators were present:

First District—Anthony J. DiSilvestro.
Second District—Alvin Evans Kephart.
Third District—H. Jerome Jaspan.
Fourth District—John J. McCreesh.
Fifth District—Israel Stiefel.
Sixth District—George Woodward.
Seventh District—Harry Shapiro.
Eighth District—Louis H. Farrell.
Ninth District—Weldon B. Heyburn.
Tenth District—Howard I. James.
Eleventh District—Frank W. Ruth.
Thirteenth District—Frederick L. Homsher.
Fourteenth District—Montgomery F. Crowe.
Fifteenth District—M. Harvey Taylor.
Sixteenth District—Oscar Jacob Tallman.
Seventeenth District—Clarence D. Becker.
Eighteenth District—Carleton T. Woodring.
Nineteenth District—George B. Scarlett.
Twentieth District—Adrian H. Jones.
Twenty-second District—Edward J. Coleman.
Twenty-third District—Cyrus B. Tyler.
Twenty-fourth District—John G. Snowden.
Twenty-fifth District—Thomas B. Wilson.
Twenty-sixth District—George B. Stevenson.
Twenty-seventh District—George A. Deitrick.
Twenty-eighth District—Henry E. Lanius.
Twenty-ninth District—G. Harold Watkins.
Thirtieth District—Charles R. Mallery.
Thirty-first District—George N. Wade.
Thirty-scond District—Edwin S. Bowers.
Thirty-third District—Paul M. Crider.
Thirty-fourth District—Alfons H. Letzler.
Thirty-fifth District—John J. Haluska.

Forty-second District—Bernard B. McGinnis.
Forty-third District—Joseph M. Barr.
Forty-fourth District—John M. Walker.
Forty-fifth District—John Fremont Cox.
Forty-sixth District—Wallace S. Gourley.
Forty-seventh District—J. K. McQuiddy.
Forty-eighth District—Leroy E. Chapman.
Forty-ninth District—Joe Ziesenheim.
Fiftieth District—J. Fred Thomas.

ABSENT

Twelfth District—Franklin Spencer Edmonds.
Twenty-first District—Leo C. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. Forty-eight Senators having answered to their names, a quorum is present.

MOTION THAT HON. LOUIS H. FARRELL BE DIRECTED TO STAND ASIDE AND HIS NAME WITHHELD FROM THE ROLL OF THE SENATE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, at this time I would like to again submit the following motion, which the Chair previously ruled out of order after the Secretary of the Commonwealth presented election returns. I should like this motion to be acted upon in the form in which it is prepared.

The motion was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 5, 1943.

Whereas, The 1942 election for the office of Senator in the Eighth Senatorial District in the County of Philadelphia has been and still is the subject of an election contest; and

Whereas, The election court in the County of Philadelphia, in deciding said contest, has determined that the Hon. Louis H. Farrell had received two votes more than his opponent, Henry M. Dubbs, Jr., in a total of more than 120,000 votes cast in said district; and

Whereas, The said Henry M. Dubbs, Jr., has filed his appeal from said decision with the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The Secretary of the Commonwealth has certified the returns of said election court to this body, notwithstanding the appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court; therefore I move

That the Hon. Louis H. Farrell be directed to stand aside and his name withheld from the roll of the Senate; and that the certification of the election returns in the Eighth Senatorial District, contained in the communication of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, be referred to a committee on elections to be appointed, for consideration pending the decision of the Supreme Court on said appeal.

Mr. BARR. I ask immediate consideration, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. I second the motion Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands the intent of the motion is to refer the matter to the Committee on Elections; is that correct?

Mr. BARR. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. In view of the fact that committees have not yet been appointed the Chair will entertain a motion to lay the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny on the table.

MOTION LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, be laid on the table.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Becker,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Bowers,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,
Carr,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Chapman,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crider,	Jones,	Taylor,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crowe,	Kephart,	Thomas,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Letzler,	Tyler,	Ziesenheim,
Ealy,	Mallery,

NAYS—17

Barr,	Gourley,	Lanius,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,
DiSilvestro,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Barr asked and obtained leave of basence for Mr. MUNDY.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE REQUESTED

Mr. Tallman. Mr. President, I ask leave of absence for my colleague from Montgomery, Mr. EDMONDS.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Edmonds, the gentleman from Montgomery, has not qualified and therefore is not a member of the Senate.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President I move that the Senate do now proceed with the election of a President Pro Tempore.

It was agreed to.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I have been directed by the Republican Caucus to present in nomination for President Pro Tempore of the Senate one whose personality needs no comment. It is with profound pleasure that I present the name of the Honorable Charles H. Ealy for the office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. I take pleasure, Mr. President, in seconding the nomination of the Honorable Charles H. Ealy for President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in this harrassed world of ours, torn apart by conflict, plunder and otherwise, we are mighty fortunate in that we are sitting here practicing democracy.

Here on the one side we have a gentleman nominated for the position of President Pro Tempore. Now I am about to nominate a gentleman on this side.

As adverse as our political aims are, we are uniting, have been uniting and will continue to unite to ward off the common enemy.

At this time, Mr. President, I feel proud in presenting in nomination the name of a man who has served in this august body since 1934. I have had the pleasure of serving with him since 1936 and I daresay he has been a gentleman at all times, imbued with a sense of fair play. He has been honest, courageous and intelligent.

Only a moment ago I heard the name of Senator Ealy being placed in nomination. Both have many things in common. They are both gentlemen, but unfortunately on this side we do not subscribe to the school of thought as represented by Senator Ealy. We, however, on this side subscribe to the school of thought as represented by Senator McGinnis.

Without further ado I present in nomination the name of Honorable Bernard B. McGinnis of Pittsburgh for President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. HEYBURN. I move, Mr. President, that nominations for President Pro Tempore of the Senate be closed.

Mr. WADE. I second the motion, Mr. President.

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the President Pro Tempore the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are the Honorable Charles H. Ealy of Somerset County and the Honorable Bernard B. McGinnis of Allegheny County.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

FOR MR. EALY—31

Becker,	Geltz,	McGinnis,	Wade,
Bowers,	Heyburn,	Scarlett,	Walker,
Carr,	Homsher,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Chapman,	James,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crider,	Jones,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crowe,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Letzler,	Thomas,	Ziesenheim,
Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,

FOR MR. McGINNIS—17

Barr,	Ealy,	Jaspan,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Gourley,	Lanius,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Haluska,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Holland,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,
DiSilvestro,

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will state his point of order.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I did not hear the name of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell called.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, is recorded as having voted for Honorable Charles H. Ealy.

The clerks agree in their tally and the results show that the Honorable Charles H. Ealy received 31 votes and the Honorable Bernard B. McGinnis received 17 votes. The Chair declares the Honorable Charles H. Ealy elected President Pro Tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT SENATOR ELECT EALY TO THE ROSTRUM

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints the Senator from Warren, Dr. Chapman, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan and the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, as a committee to escort the Honorable President Pro Tempore elect to the rostrum to take the oath of office.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT. The oath of office will be administered to the newly elected President Pro Tempore by the Honorable J. Paul Rupp, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

The oath of office was accordingly administered.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now has the honor of presenting to the Senate the President Pro Tempore, the Honorable Charles H. Ealy of Somerset County.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it seems to be customary for the elected President Pro Tempore to make a few general observations. I trust that in the few remarks which I shall make that I shall not transgress the proprieties.

First I desire to express to my colleagues my deep appreciation for this re-election. However, an election or appointment to office in these times is not a cause for self-congratulation.

The next few years are fateful ones for our nation and Commonwealth. No one can contemplate the future without concern. He who accepts office assumes a special responsibility.

Our land has escaped the dreadful ravages which the war has brought to so many countries and it has been hard to understand the full import of the threat to our National life. But we must believe that this is indeed our war and in fighting to help other peoples we are only struggling to save ourselves.

Therefore, in this Session of the Legislature the first object to keep in mind is the winning of the war, and we should do whatever we can to help accomplish this result.

This is not the time for unnecessary or experimental legislation. I hope that we will not be troubled by pressure groups who seek special advantages for their particular organizations regardless of how others might be affected.

The great sin of mankind is selfishness, but I trust the seriousness of the general situation will cause us to come a little closer to the golden rule and advocate nothing which will interfere with the common good.

The economy of our great industrial state has been disrupted by the war effort in a peculiar manner. May we prepare for peace when it comes as far as we can, that distress may be avoided and normal life be resumed as smoothly as possible. We are fighting to preserve our form of government and to make ourselves secure from a world philosophy which destroys human liberty. So it seems to me that we should be zealous to keep those things which are fundamental bulwarks of our institutions.

In the past I may have appeared to stress too strongly an adherence to constitutional requirements; but I do think that the time has come when we can no longer treat such safeguards with indifference. A Constitution does not support itself but as the sand of the beach is washed away gradually by the waves of the sea, so Constitutional guarantees are slowly but surely dissolved under the winds and waves of expediency and difference and political necessity.

If we flaunt the Constitution in things which are not in themselves vital we shall come to the time when it will afford no protection to our dearest rights.

In the past years also the several states have been too willing to accept a return of some of the monies collected from their citizens by the Federal Government, with conditions attached which infringe upon the functions which more properly belong to the states. But only, I believe, by keeping national and state affairs separate and distinct as provided in the Federal Constitution may we continue to maintain our traditional form of government.

I truly think that the members of the Legislature are desirous of doing those things which are for the best interests of the whole people, if only they can learn through disinterested advice what is really for the best. We welcome such advice.

I bespeak sympathetic consideration by the people and the newspapers of the state in the tasks before us and I trust we may all render our best service in this Session of the Legislature.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business before the Senate is election of Secretary of the Senate.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have the honor to nominate for Secretary of the Senate Mr. George F. Holmes, of Philadelphia.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the nomination.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President. I wish to place in nomination for Secretary of the Senate J. Warren Mickle, of Bedford County.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the nomination.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

There being none the Chair suggests a motion that nominations for Secretary of the Senate be closed.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that nominations for Secretary of the Senate be closed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Secretary of the Senate, the Chief Clerk will call the roll, and the Clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are Mr. George F. Holmes of Philadelphia and Mr. J. Warren Mickle of Bedford County.

The roll was called and was as follows:

FOR MR. HOLMES—31

Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Wade,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Walker,
Carr,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Chapman,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crider,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crowe,	Jones,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Thomas,	Ziesenhelm,
Ealy,	Letzler,	Tyler,

FOR MR. MICKLE—17

Barr,	Gourley,	Lanius,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,
DiSilvestro,

The PRESIDENT. George F. Holmes, having received 31 votes, and J. Warren Mickle having received 17 votes, the Chair declares George F. Holmes duly elected Secretary of the Senate.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I nominate for Chief Clerk of the Senate of Pennsylvania the present Cheif Clerk, Mr. William J. Ridge.

Mr. HEYBURN. I second the nomination, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I nominate for the office of Chief Clerk of the Senate of Pennsylvania the Honorable Francis X. McClanaghan, of Philadelphia, a former member of the House.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the nomination.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that nominations for Chief Clerk of the Senate be closed.

Mr. GELTZ. I second the motion, Mr. President.

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the Chief Clerk of the Senate, the Clerk will call the roll, and the clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidates are Mr. William J. Ridge, of Tioga County, and Mr. Francis X. McClanaghan, of Philadelphia.

The roll was called and was as follows:

FOR MR. RIDGE—32

Becker,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Tyler,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Wade,
Carr,	Haluska,	Scarlett,	Walker,

Coleman,	Gourley,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,

The PRESIDENT. William J. Ridge having received 32 votes and Francis X. McClanaghan having received 16 votes, the Chair declares William J. Ridge, of Tioga County, duly elected Chief Clerk of the Senate.

ELECTION OF SENATE LIBRARIAN POSTPONED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that election of Librarian of the Senate be postponed for the present.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

OATHS OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SECRETARY AND CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary-elect of the Senate, George F. Holmes and the Chief Clerk-elect of the Senate, William J. Ridge, will approach the rostrum in order that the oath of office may be administered.

Oath of office accordingly administered by Honorable J. Paul Rupp, Judge, Court of Common Pleas, Dauphin County.

STATE SENATOR FEIDT OF MINNESOTA, INTRODUCED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. At this time the Chair takes great pleasure in presenting to the Members of the Senate Lieutenant Daniel S. Feidt, Senator from Minnesota.

Mr. FEIDT. Your Excellency, Senators and guests, I just dropped in today to see this body convene. My own body also convenes today in the State of Minnesota. It does happen that I am a native Pennsylvanian and that my folks are from Pennsylvania, so it is with a feeling of great friendship that I come here today to see your body gather.

I appreciate it very much and thank you.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The Chair cleared his table and presented the following petitions and remonstrances, which were laid upon the table.

Resolution of the Philadelphia Meatstor Association urging reduction of State taxes and expenditures of the State Government.

Resolution of the Belleville Community Civic Club urging reduction of State taxes and expenditures of the State Government.

Resolution of the Womans Club of Clarion urging reduction of State taxes and expenditures of the State Government.

REPORT BY JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I offered a report to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on legislative printing by the Joint State Government Commission of the General Asembly, dated Harrisburg, January, 1943, and request that it be received and laid on the table, but not for too long.

The PRESIDENT. How long is not too long?

Mr. WOODWARD. Until a committee is appointed.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the request of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, will be complied with.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING EDWARD J. LYNETT

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a privileged resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COLEMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 5, 1943.

The Senate learns with deep sorrow of the death, on New Year's Day, of Edward J. Lynett, editor and publisher of the Scranton Times, and one of the most distinguished of American journalists.

Mr. Lynett died at the advanced age of 86 years, and, during his long career, he and his newspaper exerted a profound and beneficial effect upon his community, his State, and his Country.

Like many other leaders of the anthracite area, Mr. Lynett began work as a slate picker. Thereafter he was employed as a deputy clerk in the Mayor's court, and subsequently studied law for a time. However, he soon felt that his true calling was journalism, and he obtained a job as reporter on the Sunday Free Press. In a short time, he became the managing editor thereof, and continued in that capacity until 1895, when he bought out the then struggling Scranton Times.

Under his leadership, the Times developed from a struggling paper with little prestige into a great journal. The Times, under his direction, always strove to further the best interests of the people of the community and the State. He took up and fought vigorously for many liberal causes. He was an early supporter of the cause of the anthracite mine workers in the days of the well-known John Mitchell, and was a leader in granting better wages and working conditions in the printing industry.

A democrat in politics, Mr. Lynett loyally supported his party year in and year out. There were times when the party's outlook in Pennsylvania and the Nation was dark, yet the Times under Mr. Lynett's direction never failed to rally to the Democratic banner.

Mr. Lynett always felt that he and his newspaper had a duty toward his community. For sixty years he worked for practically every movement beneficial to the City of Scranton, and contributed liberally of his personal means, as well as the influence of his newspaper.

Mr. Lynett was a crusader but never a reformer. There was no influence strong enough to prevent him from exposing ill-rule or missue of public funds. He believed in an uncontrolled press and kept his newspaper entirely free of outside dominations.

By his achievements in his profession, by his participation in community efforts, by his deep understanding of people and their needs, acquired by close association, and by his devotion to whatever task was assigned to him, Mr. Lynett has gained for himself an endearing place in the hearts and memories of his fellow-citizens; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania notes with profound sorrow the passing of this great and distinguished citizen of our Commonwealth, at a time when city, State and Nation can ill-afford such a loss; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Senate shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the family of the deceased, conveying thereby the sympathy of the Senate to them in their bereavement.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to offer the following amendment, that this very proper resolution be read but not printed. I know a great deal about Mr. Lynett, editor of the Scranton Times. One of the dramatic events in his life was the fact that he was one of the two honest men on the Earle Anthracite Coal Commission—the others were not honest—and I would like to stand up now and bear testimony to the fact that he was one of the two honest men on that commission, but in connection with this custom that we have of printing these condolence resolutions I direct your attention for the moment to the end of the report I previously submitted concerning legislative printing.

During the last session of the Legislature there were in the House so many and in the Senate so many resolutions of this nature, and the point is that each of these were reprinted in every issues of the History from the time it was introduced, and therefore if we do not amend this resolution it will be printed in every History from now until April, or May, June or whenever it is that we adjourn.

This custom cost the State over four thousand dollars additional and I therefore offer the amendment that this very proper resolution be read but not printed.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, the resolution does not provide that it be printed.

Mr. WOODWARD. Very well. I am glad I said it, anyhow.

SUBSTITUTION OF APPOINTMENT, INAUGURAL COMMITTEE

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the President Pro Tempore, the Chair announces appointment of the Senator from Bucks, Mr. James, in lieu of the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, as a member of the Inaugural Committee, as Dr. Woodward will not be present at that time. Hence the change.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON GOVERNOR

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, the Committee appointed by the Senate to act in conjunction with a similar committee of the House of Representatives to inform the Governor that the General Assembly is organized and ready to receive any communications he might be pleased to make, has performed its duty.

The PRESIDENT. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the Senate.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF NOTIFICATION TO THE HOUSE

Mr. DEITRICK. Mr. President, the committee appointed by the Senate to notify the House of Representatives that the Senate is duly organized and ready to proceed with its business, desires to report that it has performed that duty.

The PRESIDENT. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the Senate.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until three o'clock today, Eastern War Time.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follow:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 5, 1943.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise on a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, as I understand the motion of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, it was to lay nominations of this Governor on the table until committees are appointed.

The PRESIDENT. The understanding of the gentleman from Philadelphia is correct.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I understand, Mr. President, committees will not be appointed until the Senate reconvenes.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understood committees would be appointed this afternoon.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the standing committees will not be appointed until the Senate reconvenes. If that is so, then what we are doing is to ignore appointments of the present Governor.

The PRESIDENT. If that is the case then practically every Governor has been ignored in the same manner.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is the first time of which I know that nominations have been laid on the table this way.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair must differ with the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. SHAPIRO. It was not done the last time, Mr. President, because we did not have a recess of two weeks, but now we are to have a recess of two weeks and as I understand no committees will be appointed during that time—or can function if they are appointed today—and I assume we will adjourn tomorrow and there will be no committees appointed and therefore nominations of the Governor will be ignored.

The PRESIDENT. They have been laid on the table.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, when nominations are presented by the Governor for confirmation by the Senate they can be confirmed either now, next Thursday or the Fourth of July for that matter; it makes no difference.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has ruled on the question of parliamentary inquiry.

REASONS FOR PARDONS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 5, 1943.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the reasons for pardons granted by me from April 11, 1942, to January 5, 1943.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

(For reasons see Appendix).

REPORT OF ELECTION OF DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

Mr. WALKER: Mr. President, I beg to report that during the Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives, in accordance with the provisions of section two of the act, approved the seventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 158), entitled "An act creating a Legislative Reference Bureau, providing for the election of the director by the General Assembly, designating the officers and employes of such bureau, defining their duties, fixing their salaries, abolishing the present Legislative Reference Bureau, and making an appropriation," the Senate and House of Representatives in joint convention today assembled elected Robert S. Frey as director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and that the oath of office was administered to Robert S. Frey, by Hon. Samuel S. Lewis.

HOUSE MESSAGES

INAUGURAL COMMITTEE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL POSTAGE

In the Senate, January 5, 1943.

Whereas, The Post Office Department has decided that the Legislative Journa must be third class matter, and has so instructed the Postmaster at Harrisburg; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that the Chief Clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives be directed to make arrangements for the necessary postage so that the Legislative Journal may be mailed according to the requirements of the Post Office Department. and that the payment of the postage for the Legislative Journal, also for the Bills, Calendars and Histories be provided for in an Appropriation Bill.

APPOINTMENT OF TELLER BY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Resolved, That the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Norman Wood, be appointed Teller on the part of the House of Representatives to open, compute and count the vote for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEES

The PRESIDENT. The President Pro Tempore, Mr. Ealy, the Senator from Somerset, requested the Chair to state that committees will be appointed during the next several days, and notice of such appointments will be filed with the Secretary and the Secretary instructed to send each Senator a copy of the appointments.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 19, 1943, at ten o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. BOWERS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 4:56 Eastern War Time until Tuesday, January 19, 1943, at ten o'clock a. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 5, 1943.

At 11:45 a. m. Mr. Norman Wood, senior Republican Member in length of service, from Lancaster County, accompanied by Mr. Harry T. O'Neill, senior Democratic Member in length of service, from Lackawanna County, made the following announcement in the Hall of the House.

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution of Pennsylvania the Members-elect of this 136th regular session of the House of Representatives will meet this day at twelve o'clock noon, in the Hall of the House, for the purpose of organization.

The hour of twelve o'clock having arrived, Honorable Dennis J. Mulvihill, Secretary of the House of Representatives, called the Members-elect to order and announced, that

This being the day and the hour fixed by Article II, Clause 4 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania for the meeting of the General Assembly, the House of Representatives will come to order.

PRAYER

The prayer was offered by Rev. Paul R. Ashby, pastor St. Matthews Lutheran Church, Shamokin Dam.

Almighty God, whose Kingdom is from everlasting to everlasting in majesty and power, yet who hast ordained that Thy children shall inherit the earth in peace and plenty as they are obedient unto Thee: Grant unto us executives and legislators of this Commonwealth who accept Thy sacred word and wisdom as their way of life. Endow all members of government, the President of this nation, the Governor of this state, the Speaker of this House, the General Assembly, and all who rule over us, with sound purposes, right understanding, common honesty, and sincere humility. Enable them to rise above jealousy, self-seeking, evasiveness, and party zeal into faithful service of God and man to which they have pledged themselves. Inspire them with calm judgment and self-restraint to enact all laws with sure and certain knowledge that only in constant seeking to do Thy holy will shall this land be healed. Through Jesus Christ our Lord we ask it. Amen.

The SECRETARY. The Chair regrets to announce the absence of the Chief Clerk, Thomas J. Callahan, because of illness.

SECRETARY OF COMMONWEALTH PRESENTS RETURNS OF ELECTION OF MEMBERS

MEMBERS ABSENT

Gross,	Harris,	Linn,

The SECRETARY. Two hundred and four Members-elect having answered to their names a quorum is present. The House is now ready to proceed to business.

RESOLUTION

REQUEST TO ADMINISTER OATH OF OFFICE

Mr. DAVID P. REESE JR., a Member-elect, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Resolved, That the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, a Judge learned in the law of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, be requested to administer the oath of office required by Article VII of the Constitution to be taken by the Members-elect of the House of Representatives.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT HON. ROBERT E. WOODSIDE TO ROSTRUM

The SECRETARY appointed Messrs. David P. Reese, Jr. and Mihm to escort the Hon. Robert E. Woodside to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the Members-elect.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO MEMBERS-ELECT

The SECRETTARY. A Bible will be found in the desk of each Member. The Members-elect will rise and remain standing at their desks during the administration of the oath of office by the Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

The oath of office was then administered to all the Members-elect, except Messrs. Gross and Harris.

ABSENCE OF MEMBER-ELECT

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Secretary, I wish to announce that Member-elect Lewis Harris of Fulton County is not present to take the oath of office because of serious illness.

RESOLUTION

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article II, Section 9, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the House do now proceed to the election of a Speaker, and that the clerks act as tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER

The SECRETARY. Nominations are now in order for the office of Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Secretary, we stand today on the threshold of a new Session. The circumstances under which we gather here today are somewhat different than they probably have been for many years past, because since we last gathered in regular session our Nation has become involved in a war. I am sure that because of this fact it will demand more of every member of this House in his time, in his effort to do his duty as a sworn member of this House of Representatives. It will demand more of every effort that we can put forth in trying to keep Pennsylvania the Arsenal of Democracy and in a speedy prosecution of this War.

Just as we gather here on the threshold of a new Session we must also look for someone to direct and guide the deliberations of this body, a Speaker of the House. There are certain things which we look for in the man that we select as Speaker of the House. Upon him in this Session there will be a greater demand on his time, his effort and his energy in bringing about the proper legislation on things that shall help us in these abnormal times.

Tradition has given unto us sterling characters, outstanding men in the Speaker's chair, men who have held high the standards of their predecessors in the chair of the Speaker, and we today must look for someone who is outstanding, who has the qualifications of being a great Speaker, in line with the men who have preceded him in the Chair.

Yes, I say that today we must look for a man who is willing to serve not only the Members of this House, but the people of Pennsylvania. We must look for a man with energy, a man who has the respect of the Members of the House, a man who has the vision and foresight, a man who has the integrity, a man with courage, and lastly, a man with great patience and understanding of the various problems that confront the membership of this House and in the conduct of the deliberations upon this floor.

That is the type of man we must look for as Speaker of this House, one who will realize the rights and the duties of the majority, but will never forget the responsibilities of the minority.

It is therefore my happy privilege to place in nomination the name of a man who I feel can qualify to be a great Speaker of this House of Representatives. It is my pleasure to place in nomination the name of the Honorable Ira T. Fiss of Snyder County.

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Secretary, I rise to second the nomination of Honorable Ira T. Fiss for the office of Speaker of the House. Mr. Secretary and Members of the House, I second this nomination most sincerly and with a great deal of pride and pleasure.

To the older Members of the House it is unnecessary for me to mention the qualifications of Ira T. Fiss. To the newly seated Members I can most truthfully say that having served with Ira T. Fiss for a number of sessions I have found him to be a man of the greatest integrity, honesty and legislative ability. I know of no one at this particular time who could grace the rostrum of this House with more decorum or dignity than Ira T. Fiss.

And so, Mr. Secretary, I again repeat, I second the nomination of Ira T. Fiss for Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr. REAGAN. Mr. Secretary, I am very pleased and feel highly honored in seconding the nomination of the gentleman from Snyder County as Speaker during the coming session. I do this for a particular reason too, because Mr. Fiss is a product of my own county, Union.

Snyder County adjoins us directly on the south, but away back in the beginning of the eighteenth century Snyder County was a part of Union County, and the reason that Snyder County has been so successfull—and she has been successfull,—and the reason that she has produced so many distinguished men, among them the gentleman whom we are about to elect as Speaker, is because they learned the art of self government in conducting their affairs from the parent county, Union.

Now, of course there is an imaginary line marking the division of the two counties, but we think alike, act, alike and vote alike. Since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary these counties have always voted one way. I do not believe it is necessary for me to say what way. Tradition has it, however, that they became Republican prior to the Revolutionary War. That is, however, only tradition.

Therefore it gives me great pleasure to second the nomination of a man who is fully fitted for the office, who enjoys the love and respect of his people back home, who will be an honor to the state of Pennsylvania and will do his best to see that Democratic self-government prevails throughout this country.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Secretary, I arise to nominate for the high and exalted office of Speaker of this House a member of my own party.

I realized while listening to the speeches of nomination and seconds by the gentlemen on the other side that my own task was made immeasurably lighter in seeking the proper words to describe the qualifications of one who seeks to occupy that office.

I concur heartily in the qualifications as they have been set forth. Two years ago I arose on this floor and it was my honor and pleasure then to nominate a gentleman who became Speaker of this House for the 1941 session.

I have no misgivings that the old adage of lightning striking twice in the same place can be repeated here today, but I feel that I would not be true to my intense friendship for a member on the Democratic side of the House if I were not to offer his name in nomination.

I have in mind that with one or two exceptions he is the dean of this House in point of continuous service, having first been elected to the 1929 session and faithfully and consistently discharged his duties in all the regular and special sessions from that day till now. I trust that in the years to come I may enjoy and that all of us may enjoy years of service with this gentleman. I feel that his knowledge, experience and widsom in governmental affairs has come only with years of service and do make him a person eminently fitted to occupy the chair of the Speaker of this House of Representatives.

Therefore, Mr. Secretary, it gives me great pleasure and a deep sense of pride that I can offer in nomination the name of my dear friend, the Honorable Harry P. O'Neill of Lackawanna County .

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Secretary, I deem it a great privilege and honor to second the nomination of a man who has been a great help to us young fellows during the past two years. His knowledge of parliamentary procedure and his efforts in helping us, I feel make him a man well fitted for the office of Speaker. I, therefore, second the nomination of the honorable Member of the House, the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. O'Neill.

The SECRETARY. Are there any other nominations?

Mr. CALVIN. Mr. Secretary, I move that nominations for Speaker of the House be closed

The motion was agreed to.

The SECRETARY. The Clerk will call the roll. The Members will name the candidate for whom they desire to vote.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER MADE UNANIMOUS

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Secretary, I move that the election of Ira T. Fiss as Speaker of the House of Representatives be made unanimous.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT SPEAKER TO ROSTRUM

The SECRETARY. The Chair appoints Messrs. Lichtenwalter and O'Neill as a Committee to escort the Speaker to the rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SPEAKER

The SECRETARY. Members of the House, I have the honor to present to you Hon. Ira T. Fiss, Speaker-elect of this House. The oath of office will now be administered to the Speaker-elect by the Hon. Robert E. Woodside.

The oath of office was administered to the Speaker-elect.

The SECRETARY. Members of the House, I have the honor to present to you the Honorable Ira T. Fiss, Speaker of this House.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR.

ADDRESS OF THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Fellow Members of the House, to be chosen Speaker of the House is indeed a very great honor. I approach my task with humility and gratitude, realizing the power and dignity of this high office as well as its great responsibilities. The gratitude of a thankful heart can only find expression in something finer and purer than human language, but like the delicate fragrance of these beautiful flowers which infiltrates the atmosphere of this room, may their glorious beauty and fragrance extend to you my deepest feelings. "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help, my help cometh from the Lord"—who rules and over-rules the destiny of men and nations.

Today we are engaged in a great world war. Each morning news brings the war closer to us because some one we love has paid the supreme sacrifice. As we open this Session, let us here resolve that the greatest task before us is to win the war. We can advance the cause of good government in Pennsylvania if we, by co-operative and united action do our work quickly and well. Perilous times demand heroic, unselfish and united action. We must suppress all needless and unnecessary legislation. Entertain for passage, legislation which will aid us in winning the war and the constructive progress of the Commonwealth. Let us approach our tasks with diligence and understanding, with zealous determination, passing only such laws which result in salutary benefits to all the people of this great Commonwealth. This is the very essence of good government.

As I stand on this rostrum men are dying to preserve and defend the priceless heritage of our fathers. At a time when every ounce of energy is needed for the business of war, we must not quibble or make use of dilatory tactics which will only encumber and delay the proceedings of this House. It is also very necessary that each one of us as well as the standing committees work in harmony with every branch of state government. Let no one attempt to raise his own ambitions above the glory of his state, or the greater glory of his country. I shall endeavor to be fair and impartial at all times, relying upon you for counsel and advice, regardless of your political faith. Today more than ever we are Americans fighting in a common cause. I am conscious of the duties the Chair owes to the Members of this House and I shall endeavor to render unselfish service, as the servant of all.

We are fortunate in having elected to the office of Governor of this Commonwealth one who is so well qualified to lead us in this period. One who by virtue of his long years of service is intimately acquainted with every function of state government. One who has demonstrated by active service on the field of battle that he is qualified to do the job. We must at all times give him our united, loyal support.

U. OF ILL. LIB.

Our first allegiance is to our country. It is our duty to support the President of the United States, the Commander-in-Chief of all our armed forces. We must give our all, in loyal and united support to the government of the United States now passing through the most critical and dangerous period of her history. A government established upon the bed rock of God's favor. The smothered fires of freedom burst forth as a flaming torch when liberty first raised its voice in Pennsylvania July 4th, 1776. "Governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." For one hundred sixty-six years these words have been the abiding hope and faith of every American. The Constitution is but a means to carry out their purpose. The Preamble of the Constitution declares that our forefathers sought union, justice, tranquility, safety, welfare, and liberty. These are God-given virtues, the eternal truths of the Constitution that never wear out.

Our forefathers handed down to us the richest legacy that men could give. They pioneered in building homes, schools, churches, and a true economy. In these are the real greatness of America, the great bulwarks of civil and religious liberty. In a world seething like an angry sea of despotic power, godless dictators, disease, destruction and death, we too, can be pioneers in safeguarding and preserving these homely virtues and eternal truths, and keep forever burning the glorious light of freedom for all the world.

"Thou, too, sail on, O Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!"

NOMINATIONS FOR CHIEF CLERK

Mr. VanALLSBURG offered a resulution which was twice read, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Resolved, That William E. Habbyshaw, of Dauphin County, be elected Chief Clerk of this House of Representatives.

Mr. LICHTENWATER. Mr. Speaker, I am very happy to second the nomination of William E. Habbyshaw as Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am very happy to nominate for Chief Clerk, the name of a man who has served us faithfully and well in that position for the past two years. It was with regret that we learned today that he is ill.

I know that the gentleman whom I am about to nominate always did his very best to grant the requests of the Members during the past Session, and when he could not, it was probably because we made our requests too large. I, therefore, take pleasure in nominating the genial gentleman from Luzerne, Thomas J. Callahan.

Mr. REGAN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to second the nomination of Thomas J. Callahan for the office of Chief Clerk.

Mr. ELDER. Mr. Speaker, I move the nominations fo the office of Chief Clerk be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair regrets that Mr. Thomas J Callahan is unable to be present because of illness.

On a rising vote William E. Habbyshaw received on hundred thirty-one votes; Thomas J. Callahan receive seventy-five votes. William E. Habbyshaw having receive a majority of the votes cast was declared elected to th office of Chief Clerk.

NOMINATIONS FOR SECRETARY

Mr. MOCK offered a resolution which was twice rea as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Resolved, That Mr. William P. Roan, of Luzerne County be elected Secretary of this House of Representatives.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House I share with my colleagues on the Democratic side of th House the distinct pride and privilege of placing in nomination for the position of Secretary of the House th name of the present Secretary of the House of Representatives. He has served us faithfully and well for th past two years. He has set a standard at which all future secretaries of the House, I have no doubt, will aim. Were the election conducted other than in a partisan body have no doubt as to the results, and I say that without any reflection on my good friend, Bill Roan. But, facing realities, we know they are not. So, my nomination o the present Secretary for reelection is more or less honorary and a tribute to his fine service in the past, and I believe in that tribute many of my friends on the opposite side of the House will join with me, although silent

I offer in nomination for the position of Secretary o the House of Representatives the name of Dennis J Mulvihill, a member of the Bar of Allegheny County.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the nominations be closed.

The motion was agreed to.

On a rising vote William P. Roan received one hundred thirty-one votes; Dennis J. Mulvihill received seventy-five votes. William P. Roan having received a majority of the votes cast was declared elected to the office of Secretary.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

The oath of office was then administered to William E Habbyshaw, Chief Clerk and William P. Roan, Secretary, of the House of Representatives and Mr. Gross, a Member-elect to whom the oath of office was not previously administered, by the Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

CHIEF CLERK AND SECRETARY ESCORTED TO ROSTRUM

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Mulvihill, to escort the Chief Clerk and Secretary to the rostrum.

THANKING THE SECRETARY

The SPEAKER. The Chair extends thanks to the reiring Secretary of the House, Dennis J. Mulvihill, for his efficient cooperation in the organization of this House.

PARLIAMENTARIAN APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. In compliance with the Act of the General Assembly approved the 28th day of May, 1931, P. L. 201, the Chair appoints S. Edward Moore of Cumberland County, as Parliamentarian.

SECRETARY TO SPEAKER APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. In compliance with the Act of the General Assembly approved the 2nd day of July, 1937, P. L. 2765, the Chair appoints Frank W. Hottenstein Secretary to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is very happy that the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge is able to be present in the House this morning. He has just recovered from a very serious illness.

THANKING JUDGE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE FOR ADMINISTERING OATH

Mr. SARGE offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives do hereby extend their thanks to the Honorable Robert E. Woodside of Dauphin County, for his services in administering the oath of office to its Members and Officers.

The SPEAKER. I believe every one of us respects Judge Robert E. Woodside. Over a period of many years those who have been associated with him have learned to love him.

The Chair would appreciate a few remarks from the Honorable Judge Robert E. Woodside of Dauphin County.

ADRESS BY JUDGE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE

JUDGE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I came here today to administer the oath and not to make a speech, but it is very much like old home week to come back here.

I want to congratulate each one of you upon your election to this body. I want to congratulate the Speaker, and to congratulate you for having elected Mr. Fiss as Speaker of this House. As I look down over the group in front of me I naturally see many familiar faces. When I look to the left I see many Members of this House who served in previous Sessions, the Honorable Ellwood J. Turner, who was a Speaker of this House of Representatives, the Honorable Elmer Kilroy, who was another very able Speaker of this House of Representatives, and the two men whom you have elected as Chief Clerk and Secretary of this House, were very able Members of this body.

I cannot help but think as I stand before this legislative body of the extreme importance of all legislative bodies in this nation today. A legislative body is the sine qua non of democracy. Today we are fighting for democracy. As has been ably said by the Speaker, boys this minute are out there dying in order that we may preserve democracy. And what is democracy but the right of the people of this Commonwealth and this nation and of all nations to elect representatives who will carry on their government? All nations have administrative officers. Dictatorships are controlled by those administrative officers. All of them have judicial branches of the government, and those judicial branches, even in dictatorships, are to a certain degree independent, as has been indicated recently by the attack which Hitler made upon his own judiciary. If they had not been to a certain degree independent it would not have been necessary for him to make the attack that he recently made upon them. But in no nation where a dictatorship exists is there a legislative body. It is the legislative bodies of America that make it a democracy. Therefore, the responsibility that rests upon you as members of the legislative branch of the government is greater today than it ever was, because you must carry out your functions as a legislative branch of government so that all men all over the world will know that the legislative branch of government can function efficiently, honestly and effectively, that they can express the will of the people, that they can make democracy work. You, as Members of this House, I know from my personal knowledge and my association with such a large number of you, will carry out your duties in such a manner that it will make democracy worthy of the sacrifice which men all over the world are making for it today.

It is a pleasure for me to be back in the Hall of the House of Representatives in at least some capacity.

NOTIFICATION FROM SENATE

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS. Mr. Speaker, a committee on the part of the Senate.

Mr. DEITRICK. Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to inform you that the Senate of the State of Pennsylvania is duly organized and ready to proceed to business.

The SPEAKER. The Chair receives with thanks the message of the Committee of the Senate.

NOTIFICATION TO GOVERNOR

Mr. TROUT offered a resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Resolved, that a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, and inform him that the House of Representatives is organized and ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON GOVERNOR

The SPEAKER appointed as a committee to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House is organized and ready to receive communications Messrs. Trout, McKinney and Scanlon.

The committee will proceed in the performance of its duty.

RESOLUTION

RULES OF HOUSE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 5th, 1943.

Resolved, That the Rules of the last House of Representatives be the Rules of this House, with the following amendments:

Privileged Questions

Rule 15. Shall be amended by adding the following provision: "Which several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order".

Bills to be presented in Triplicate Rule 18. Shall be amended by adding thereto the following paragraphs: "If the original copy of any bill be lost or otherwise missing prior to the time of its final enactment, the Chairman or Vice Chairman of the Committee to which the bill was last referred shall present the facts in writing to the House, and the House may by resolution direct the Chief Clerk to furnish a copy of said bill duly certified by the Chief Clerk, which copy shall be substituted for the original. "The resolution to direct the Chief Clerk to furnish such copy shall be privileged for the immediate consideration of the House".
Lost Bills

Standing Committees

Rule 27. Shall be amended as follows: Strike out [Congressional and Judicial Apportionment to consist of 20 members.] Strike out [Legislative Apportionment to consist of 20 Members.] and insert in lieu thereof: Apportionment to consist of 30 Members. Strike out [Education to consist of 40 Members.] and insert in lieu thereof: Education to consist of 30 Members. Strike out [Labor to consist of 40 Members.] and insert in lieu thereof: Labor to consist of 30 Members.

The following provision shall be added to Rule 27:—"The floor leaders of the two major political parties shall be ex-officio members of all standing committees without the right to vote and shall be excepted from any limitation as to the number of members appointed to any committee".

Bills in the Hands of Members of Committee for Report.

Rule 39. Paragraph two shall be amended to read as follows: "If the Member assigned to report any bill or resolution shall fail to report it within two days as required, the Chairman or Vice Chairman of the Committee to which it was last referred shall present the facts in writing to the House, and the House may by resolution direct the Chief Clerk to furnish the Committee with a copy of said bill or resolution duly certified by the Chief Clerk which copy shall be reported to the House in lieu of the original".

The following paragraph shall be added to Rule 39:

"The resolution to direct the Chief Clerk to furnish such copy shall be privileged for the immediate consideration of the House".

How Amendments Shall Be Printed

Rule 49. In printing amendments to House or Senate Bills, all new matter inserted shall be italicized and all matter eliminated from the bill shall be enclosed in heavy black face brackets.

In reprinting House bills, previously amended by the House, and in reprinting Senate bills, previously amended by the Senate, all matter appearing in heavy black face brackets shall be dropped entirely from the new print, and all matter appearing in italics shall be reset in roman type.

REPORT AND DISCHARGE OF COMMITTEE

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inform you that the Committee appointed to wait upon the Governor and inform him that this House is organized and ready to proceed with its work has performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Chair receives the report and the Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

THANKS EXTENDED

The SPEAKER. Having sat in the House during the opening proceedings of the last two sessions, I could not help being impressed with the orderly manner in which the guests and the Members were taken care of. When I was chosen for the office of Speaker, I wanted the one man who was responsible for this efficient job because this day belongs to the Members, their families and their friends.

I should like Mr. Clarence Connor of Delaware County to come down the center aisle where we can all see him and his bright red head, and to extend to him our sincere thanks for his services, incidentally given without any renumeration whatsoever.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. NORMAN WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Republican caucus, I announce for the information of the Members and for the record that the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter has been elected Majority Leader of the House, and the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Walter E. Rose, has been elected majority Whip.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BROWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Democratic caucus I have the honor to announce for the information of the Members of the House and for the record that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Reuben E. Cohen has been elected minority Leader of the House, and the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. James E. Lovett has been elected minority Whip.

RESOLUTION

NOTIFICATION TO THE SENATE

Mr. HARE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House of Represenatives is organized and ready to proceed with the business of the Session.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Commitee to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House is organized and ready to proceed with business, Messrs. Hare, Imbrie and Regan.

The Committee will proceed in the performance of its duty.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REQUEST TO ADDRESS JOINT ASSEMBLY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 5, 1943.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly, I should like to address the Members in Joint Session at four o'clock this afternoon.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

Mr. VanALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Governor be invited to address the General Assembly in the Hall of the House at four o'clock p. m. this day.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HONORABLE ELLWOOD J. TURNER PRESENTED TO THE HOUSE

The SPEAKER. We have present with us the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, a former Speaker of this House, one whom you all know and whose jovial disposition you all enjoy. I know we all have had many good times with Ellwood J. Turner.

It is a privilege to have him speak to you for a few minutes.

ADDRESS OF HONORABLE ELLWOOD J. TURNER

Honorable ELLWOOD J. TURNER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. This morning as I came into the hall of the House and as I sat here looking at the Members and their families and friends, I sort of felt in the words of the poet, "A feeling of sadness came o'er me." It is not akin to pain; it resembles sorrow only as it resembles to rain. One could not help but having some feeling of that kind, for this is the first session after 18 years that I have not been a Member of this House. At one time I had an idea that I would like to stay for ten terms in the House and then write a book entitled "Twenty Years in the Pit, or Traveling with Cohen," or something of that kind, at the end of my time. However, I retired before the tenth term came around.

I always said to some of my Democratic opponents, when they got a little bit rough, and told me how I would be absent at the next session, that I would surrender the key to seat fifteen voluntarily some day but it would never be taken away from me. I have the pleasure to report to my Democratic Colleagues who are left that I this morning surrendered the key to seat fifteen voluntarily, having held it up to this moment, so that you know for sure I will not be back.

I know that you all realize that it is a great pleasure for me to come here this morning and not only see so many of the men with whom I served in the past, but also experience the great pleasure of seeing this former colleague of mine who now presides over one of the courts of Dauphin County administer the oath of office to the Members of the Legislature and to the officials whom you have elected this morning. It is also a great pleasure to see one of my former colleagues, a man with whom I had the great pleasure of working in the past, elevated this morning to the office of Speaker. Then in front of me sit two of my former colleagues, now the Chief Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the House. So, in that sense, my morning might be said to be overflowing.

There is just one other disappointment that I had. I met a former worthy opponent, a Member of this House from York County, Herbert B. Cohen, on the floor and he said, "We got rid of you at last."

I said, "Yes, the disappointment to me is that there is still a Cohen in the House."

Then I sat here this morning and heard the roll call and there is a Turner in the House, thank God.

I realize at this time I should not take up much time of the House during the period of organization, especially when the Speaker has been so gracious as to give me an opportunity to say something to you. However, I cannot help but add my words to the sentiments that have been expressed this morning on the importance of this session of the Legislature and the responsibility that rests upon your shoulders. I think this legislative session and you Members of the Legislature are facing the greatest problems that have faced any Legislature of Pennsylvania since those formative days of our country when we were trying to organize with twelve other commonwealths along the Atlantic seaboard. We were trying to organize a nation, we were trying to meet new and untried problems; we were trying to carry on a war the best we could because by the very setup of the Continental Congress as it was then, the states themselves played an extremely important part in raising funds and in furnishing troops and in building ships.

This for the first time in the history of the world is a total war, and total war, as you know, means that every agency and every individual has been drawn into the conflict. We have seen in the past year a recognition on the part of this nation that there is a place for the states, and it is necessary for the states to play an important part in total war. If the states play that part well, then the war effort does not rest alone upon the Chief Executive, but also rests upon the coordinate branch of the government, the legislative branch. The responsibility is just as much yours to plan and to produce leadership, to render sound judgment, to have vision to meet the problems of today and tomorrow, as it is the part of the Chief Executive. I have the most firm belief that when this war is over, if we are to return to anywhere near the kind of government that we have had in the past, if we are to maintain the American ideal of the liberty of free men, that we must have strong state government, and we cannot have strong state government unless the Legislature plays its important part in the present war program and in planning for the future.

You men, therefore, must be a part of the leadership and you men must have the vision that is going to produce the government, not only to win the war but also to meet the problems that must arise after the war, as well as he problems that will confront us resulting from the terrific centralization of government in Washington and the necessity of returning some of the liberties to the people, and put back some of the checks on government. You will have to be the balance wheel to see that that occurs, and unless you do some of these men whom you spoke about this morning as offering their lives as a sacrifice for their country and for posterity will have died in vain, and what the dictators have said of our form of government will have come true.

So, may I leave this warning word with you. I believe in the rule of the majority, yes, but I believe in the American way that the minority also has an important place. The majority must provide leadership because they have the votes and they do provide the leadership, but a constructive minority, a minority that is bent upon doing its duty in a constructive and sound way, may also play an important part.

God bless you all, and God grant that this Legislature may rise to the occasion so that in Pennsylvania at least our system and form of government will be capable of meeting the exigencies of the occasion.

The SPEAKER. Thank you, Ellwood J. Turner.

HONORABLE ELMER KILROY PRESENTED TO HOUSE

The SPEAKER. There is another person, a former Speaker of this House who has just preceded me in office, a good friend to all of us, one of my good friends, and your good friend. We will be very happy to hear a word from the Honorable Elmer Kilroy.

ADDRESS OF HONORABLE ELMER KILROY

Honorable ELMER KILROY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House. It is a privilege and a pleasure to be present here today to witness the convening of the 1943 House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and also to witness the induction of your Speaker. The majority of this House is to be congratulated for selecting a man who is known for his honesty, ability and fair play.

It has been my privilege to have been closely associated with him for the past several years, and I can assure you he will uphold the traditions of the position he now fills.

Standing here on the rostrum looking at you Members seeing and feeling the spirit of good fellowship between the majority and minority Members, I wonder if it isn't possible to continue that spirit throughout this Session. I know it's hard, when during a debate on the floor, especially in the closing days sitting here 18 to 20 hours a day, your nerves on edge due to the lack of proper rest, it's hard to control your feelings, but as good Americans we should realize our country's at war. Uncle Sam needs the co-operation of every man, woman and child within our border.

When a minority Member feels the urge to take the floor and blast the state Administration, he should remember that those representing the state Administration are good Americans and they are doing everything within their power to co-operate with the Federal Government. And in turn, when a Member of the majority wishes to take the floor to criticize the national government he too should remember that those representing the national government are also good Americans and they are doing everything within their power to win this war.

We know the thought uppermost in the minds of the people in this country is the winning of this war. They are not interested in what a Republican says about a Democrat, or vice versa, but they are interested to know that every federal, state and local official is giving his or her best effort to our country in its time of need.

In closing, I wish to assure you, Mr. Speaker, that you will receive the same fine co-operation from the Democratic Members of this House that the Republican Members extended to me.

The SPEAKER. Thank you, Elmer Kilroy.

I feel very happy to have had two former Speakers present in this House at this moment. When I mentioned to them that I would be pleased to have them come befor you, they both readily agreed and said they would be here. I cannot help but make the statement to the House that I am very much pleased and very happy to have had two former Speakers of this House present on this occasion.

SENATE MESSAGE

APPOINTMENT OF INAUGURAL COMMITTEE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 5, 1943.

Ordered, That the Cerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was unanimously concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

APPOINTMENT OF TELLER

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, be appointed teller for the joint Session to compute the votes for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, and Secretary of Internal Affairs for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania cast at the Tuesday, November 3, 1942 General Election.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to call to the attention of the Members of the House the report of the Joint State Government Commission on Legislative Printing, copies of which have been placed on your desks.

The sub-committee and the Commission have met quite a few times on this subject during the past months, and much arduous and hard work has gone into the compiling of this report. It is refreshing to learn, I think, in these days of fast increasing costs and taxes, that on legislative printing alone for a Session we can save upwards of $80,000 by the adoption of the recommendations of this report.

The Members may not know that the legislative printing each regular session, costs more than three hundred thousand dollars, and I would urge you to read this report during the recess between now and January 18. Many of the recommendations herein may be adopted and if they are you will be better off by having familiarized yourself with them, because you will be dealing with these legislative rules and practices for the next three or four months.

I wish at this time as Chairman of the sub-Committee on Printing of the Commission, to acknowledge with thanks the valuable assistance given to the Commission by S. Edward Moore, Parliamentarian of the House and by Alex Cooper, Secretary of the Senate, also by Honorable Charles Ealy President pro tempore of the State Senate. All these men have worked with us long and hard hours in getting together this report.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger will present this report officially at a later hour.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPOINTMENT OF SECRETARY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 5, 1943.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have appointed David L. Connelly, of Nanticoke, Luzerne County, to be Secretary to the Governor.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REASONS FOR PARDONS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 5, 1943.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the reasons for pardons granted by me from April 11, 1942, to January 5, 1943.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

The SPEAKER. The communication will be noted in the Journal and the Reasons for Pardons will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will declare a recess until 3:15 p.m. The Chair hears none and a recess is declared until 3:15 p.m.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 3:15 p.m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION ON LEGISLATIVE PRINTING

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, with the consent of the House I desire at this time to offer the official report of the Joint Government Commission on Legislative Printing.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, offers the official report of the Joint State Government Commission.

The report will be noted in the Legislative Journal and referred to the standing committee on Printing when appointed.

(For Report see Appendix).

REPORT AND DISCHARGE OF COMMITTEES

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, your Committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and inform that body that the House is organized and ready to proceed with the business of the session has performed that duty.

The SPEAKER. The Chair receives the report and the Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, your Committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and escort them to the Hall of the House has performed that duty and reports that the Senate is now in attendance.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The President of the Senate is invited to preside over the Joint Session of the General Assembly and the President Pro Tempore is invited to a seat on the rostrum. The Members of the Senate will remain standing until called to order by the President of the Senate.

JOINT SESSION

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SAMUEL S. LEWIS PRESIDING

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. We will digress from the usual order of business because of the fact that the Governor is going to make an address and will be on the air at 4 o'clock. If there is no objection we will take up the election of a Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

NOMINATIONS FOR DIRECTOR OF LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I have the honor of placing in nomination the name of a gentleman who has by his record distinguished himself, and who has occupied this position in former years with a very excellent record, a man who is qualified in training and experience, Mr. Robert S. Frey of York County, Pennsylvania.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the nomination of Robert S. Frey.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. President, my predecessor who served in this House for eight years also served as Director of the Reference Bureau, and he is one, I think, as you all know, who has th qualifications and the ability. It is a pleasure for me to place in nomination the name of Herbert B. Cohen of York County for Director of the Reference Bureau.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Are there any other nomniations. If not the nominations are closed.

The President directed that the Clerks call the roll of the General Assembly and requested each Member to name the candidate for whom he casts his vote.

The roll was called and was as follows:

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. The tellers agree in their count. Mr. Frey having received a majority of the votes cast is declared elected Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

In order that we might keep all this in York county, I shall appoint Mr. Cohen, the retiring Director of the Legislative Bureau, to escort his successor, Mr. Frey to the rostrum.

The oath of office was then administered to the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau by Lieutenant-Governor Lewis.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President, I have the honor of presenting to you the Committee appointed to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, your Committee on behalf of the House and the Senate has the honor of presenting His Excellency, Honorable Arthur H. James, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. The Governor will approach the rostrum. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the General Assembly.

I have the honor, privilege and pleasure of presenting the Governor of Pennsylvania, Honorable Arthur H. James, who will deliver his address to this body.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR ARTHUR H. JAMES

GOVERNOR ARTHUR H. JAMES. When I campaigned for Governor in 1938 it was on a platform of common sense and common honesty.

Taking my oath of office I pledged honesty, thrift and integrity in an administration run for the whole people rather than in the interest of individuals or factions. On that occasion I told you we had no rabbit in the hat, no Aladdin's lamp—but I said also that I believed hard work, teamwork and horse sense could do more good than looking around for a magic wand.

Today it is my proud privilege to report to the General Assembly on four years as Governor, and to render an accounting to the men and women of Pennsylvania for my stewardship as their Chief Executive.

More than two million Pennsylvanians voted for me in 1938—more than ever voted for any other Governor in the State's history.

The Republican message to them that year was embodied in the first sentence of our platform, which read:

The chief issues of this campaign are the re-establishment of honest government and the restoration of jobs in private industry."

My message to those who, on the strength of these pledges, entrusted into my keeping the high responsibility of Governor, is this:

"We haven't let you down!"

We promised you honest, competent and efficient government at a time when corruption in high places was a stench in your nostrils, and we took the State's business transactions off page one of the scandal sheets.

You have had four years of straightforward, front-door administration. There's been no dirt to sweep under the rug.

We started out more than seventy millions of dollars in the hole, and we have paid it off. All current debts have been satisfied. Your books are in order and in balance.

We found an extravagant scale of governmental living that was running us farther and farther into the red. Today the State is living well within its income.

Our financial situation when we came into office was so bad that there was widespread insistence we needed at least a hundred million dollars in new revenue. We paid off the debts without a cent of new taxation and today the only financial problem left is how much to cut taxes and where to begin.

The fiscal policies of the next administration are for that administration to work out, and I shall not attempt recommendations. I cannot refrain, however, from repeating again what I have frequently said—that I believe ways can be found to trim the General Fund taxes between fifty and seventy millions of dollars, and the Motor Fund taxes many millions more, without detriment to any essential State function.

I am as firmly convinced today that we can reduce taxes as I was four years ago that we could operate without new taxes.

During our discussions at that time I remember being called a plunger and a gambler, and I remember replying, nothing ventured, nothing gained"; and moreover that taking a chance, when it was for the best interest of the people, struck me as an extremely wise thing for a Governor to do.

Debt isn't the only headache which I am proud to say will not be inherited by my successor.

Wholesale unemployment, with its staggering financial burden and its social demoralization, was the most acute problem I faced.

My Administration has helped find support in private employment for a million and a half of those who were on relief when we took office.

As a result, for this biennium we made the smallest over-all relief appropriation since the depression—and it will be the first relief appropriation to wind up with a surplus.

It is not my intention at this time to give you a detailed report on my Administration. The record is written, it is available to all, and it speaks for itself.

It would take far more time than is at my disposal to touch merely the high spots of such single subjects as, for example, the Anthracite Emergency program, which has largely stabilized the anthracite industry and which also has made giant strides towards the elimination of coal bootlegging.

The anthracite problem was met, as was promised, within the borders of the State; we sought the answer, not in Washington or New York, but between Carbondale and Lykens; and we blazed the way for solution when the operators and union officials and State government sat down together at the counsel table and undertook a cooperative approach toward the problems.

Let me add that this relationship between capital and labor did not occur only in the hard coal fields. Not for many years has there been a better spirit of cooperation throughout the Commonwealth between labor, capital and the State Government.

The Republican policy of the State becoming the impartial friend of both employer and employe has fully justified itself.

Another matter to which an entire address could be devoted is civilian defense and the war effort, in which hundreds of thousands of Pennsylvanians without regard to race, creed of political conviction, are working for the safety and protection of our civilian population during whatever emergencies the war may bring.

Still another topic worthy of a full and detailed report is the state's agricultural administration, in which the problems of the farmer, including those producing milk, have received the attention of competent and conscientious men, with full knowledge of their needs.

The baby of our official family, the Department of Commerce, also has an outstanding record of accomplishment, particularly in the field of accelerating industrial output of war essentials.

A further example of the tangible application of the broad principles to which we have been committed is the Highway Department.

The political abuses and financial scandals of the previous administration terminated abruptly when we came into office.

By honest and efficient administration, the Highway Department has saved untold millions of dollars. It has cleaned up a long series of abuses concerning the letting of contracts, the purchase of materials, the awarding of performance bonds, and the employment, especially during political campaigns, of hordes of unnecessary laborers. As a result, it has undertaken a much greater mileage of highway construction and improvement than in any equal period in the State's history.

But rather than trying to go over all the State activities which form necessary and important parts of this Administration's record, I am leaving the detailed summary to the departmental reports compiled by Cabinet Members and other officials and submitted to you in printed form as a supplement to this address.

Included with this supplement is a digest of correspondence concerning the Administration's defense activities and war response. Study of these letters will show why I repeatedly have referred to Pennsylvania as the outstanding leader in upholding the hands of our Commander-in-Chief throughout the present war emergency.

I leave office with deep satisfaction over our successes, proud that we have blazed many new trails and have raised many high standards, and profoundly grateful for the teamwork which has made all this possible.

My only regret is that for four years I have been so pressed by work and time that I have not found all the opportunity I would have wished for meeting people, and chatting with them, and exchanging views on the many problems of our State.

This has been a loss to me, and a serious disappointment, but I have found no way to avoid it.

The presence of State business has been constant, and rapidly changing conditions have raised new crops of problems as fast as the old ones were mastered.

I came into office fully resolved to put into the Governorship every ounce of energy and attention humanly possible—determined that, come what might, no one could ever say that if I had only tried harder or worked longer some unfortunate mishap might have been prevented.

I promised the men and women of Pennsylvania to do a job of housecleaning at Harrisburg, and told them a new broom would make the dust fly.

Figuratively speaking, I've spent four years with a dust-cloth on my head, and I haven't had much time to entertain company.

Let me speak still more plainly.

I promised, and the Republican platform pledged, an honest, business-like and scandal-free administration, run by men who would know their money from the people's money.

Attempting seriously to carry out that pledge in any state with the ramified activities, the size and the complexity of Pennsylvania, is a major undertaking.

The methods which have been devised to permit governmental cheating on a big or little scale defy the imagination.

Moreover, there has always been a plausible school of political thought holding that such practices are practical and justifiable as a means of party advancement.

I cannot agree. I believe most earnestly that the good men and women of Pennsylvania have graduated from that school of thought—if, in fact, they ever shared such a view.

You don't have to study many elections during recent years to see that the voters expect and demand honest government, and that they will turn against any party or any political leaders who condone such methods.

That is true not only in Pennsylvania. The greatest weakness in the New Deal as a political entity is that it is a partnership between visionaries and corrupt political gangs such as the Hague machine in New Jersey and the Kelly-Nash machine in Illinois. If you want to know what Americans think of that sort of partnership, look at the vote last November.

There was a partnership of that variety in Pennsylvania when I ran for Governor, and I believe my election resulted from the strenuous campaign I waged against that type of administration.

I am grateful beyond expression to all those many public servants in my official family whose tenacity and sharp eyes have helped me ferret out such corrupt practices as we inherited, and to nip off anything which looked like an effort to reestablish them.

Authority and money give rise to grave temptations, and constant and extreme vigilance is imperatively required from the chief executive who seeks to protect himself, and his administration, and his party, from disaster.

If I ever begrudged the time and energy which has been devoted to seeing that all the State's transactions were beyond reproach, I could comfort myself at once by remembering that not during the entire four years, not even during the bitterest moments of several strenuous political campaigns, has anyone even hinted that the James Administration produced either a fixer or a bagman.

The number of fields which need everlasting watching make a long list. Among such are the purchase and distribution of liquor, the buying of material, the letting of contracts, the granting of licenses, the awarding of performance bonds, the operation of the chain of penal, mental and health institutions now under State control.

In these and similar matters there is no middle ground; either an administration is honest, or it is not.

If I know the minds of Pennsylvania's men and women, they are always willing to make allowances for public servants whom they believe to be doing their honest best; and on the other hand, nothing will more quickly destroy their support than for administrative heads to display an easy-going tolerance towards corruption.

In this connection, before I bring my remarks to a close, I feel it necessary to call to your attention the conduct of a State official who has served during my term but who is not part of my Administration.

I regret the need for dwelling on an unpleasant topic on this occasion, but the matter is one which should not be kept in the political arena for the mere issuance of statements. On the contrary, it is one which should be investigated and dealt with by the General Assembly.

The one scandal during this Administration occurred in the two fiscal offices successively held by the recently defeated Democratic candidate for Governor, F. Clair Ross.

You don't have to take a Republican's word for that. Clair Ross' methods were too strong for leaders in his own party. The first repudiation and condemnation of his misconduct came from within the Democratic ranks.

And there appears to have been not one convincing denial from Clair Ross of the various accusations made against him.

J. David Stern, prominent Democrat and publisher of the "Philadelphia Record", openly accused Clair Ross of buying the nomination. His exact words were, and I quote from an editorial in his paper:

"It may be possible for the Auditor General to purchase the Democratic nomination this way—with taxpayers' funds."

That was the accusation from Democratic ranks in the East.

In the West, Arthur Colegrove, former Democratic Secretary of Property and Supplies and long prominent as a Democratic spokesman, made the same accusation in his newspaper, the "Corry Evening Journal." His phrase, and again I quote from a Democratic newspaper, was as follows:

"If Ross is nominated the Republicans are prepared to charge AND PROVE that the Ross campaign has in large part been financed out of State funds."

Arthur Colegrove used the phrase, "malfeasance in office" in his editorial and blamed the huge Ross deficit on the padding of the payroll by political workers in unneeded jobs;" he used the following words, and I quote:

"Never before in the History of Pennsylvania politics has such worker-buying with State funds been conducted on such a wholesale scale."

I myself, stated publicly on two occasions, that Clair Ross, "by his abuse of public trust, by his misuse of public funds, . . . has forfeited any right to the confidence of the voters of this Commonwealth."

To none of these three direct accusations has Clair Ross deigned to enter denial or explanation; he has not even expressed curiosity. Neither did he attempt to explain or deny the improprieties charged against him by the auditors who examined his books some months ago.

I am not going to discuss this subject at length. Most of the evidence is available in a collection of documents, including the audit report just referred to, which is being prepared for submission to the members of the Legislature in connection with my remarks.

These papers amply prove my statement that Clair Ross has abused public trust and misused public funds.

They give repeated instances of arbitrary and high-handed acts, abusive of authority, supported by neither legal nor moral considerations.

Specifically they tell a story of check-juggling to evade the laws, payroll padding running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, raiding of relief moneys for non-relief purposes closely associated with his political campaigns; repeated instances of misuse of public moneys for purposes not legally available and slippery transactions involving many thousands of dollars worth of postage stamps—an item, incidentally, almost as negotiable as money itself.

No wonder that when Ross' successor came into office his chief deputy found practices which made him believe it would be perfectly safe for him to forge State checks and put the proceeds into his own bank account!

The bulk of the information about Ross' misconduct in office has come into my hands during the progress of the recent campaigns—at a time when any attempt on my part to bring him to account would have been liable to misinterpretation as politics.

The campaigns are now over, and the Legislature itself, in cool blood, motivated by its duty both to punish and to prevent misconduct in office, is the proper agency to dig out the rest of the story and to take the proper punitive and corrective steps.

The Auditor General and the State Treasurer long have been known as the watchmen of the treasury.

Generally speaking, the emphasis of the statutes has always been in the direction of giving these fiscal officers the freest possible hand and the utmost protection in carrying out their duties as watchmen.

A long series of distinguished Pennsylvanians, including the incoming Governor, have held one or both of these two offices with credit and honor.

It remained for Clair Ross to demonstrate that sometimes the watchmen themselves need watching.

Let me add that this is far from being merely a question of patronage, and neither is it simply a question of amending the laws to prevent a recurrence of such mispractices.

I consider it the duty of this Legislature to deal so soundly with Clair Ross for his misconduct that never again will any ambitious and crafty public official of this Commonwealth use Ross' tactics to abuse the confidence reposed in him by the men and women of Pennsylvania.

As I indicated before, this has been the one unpleasant chapter in a record of cooperative accomplishment in the name of common sense and common honesty in government in which I believe all highminded Pennsylvanians can take deep satisfaction.

So far as concerns my own record, I believe that the Republican party and myself and my associates all were fully vindicated for our policies and our labors when the men and women of Pennsylvania drew upon my Cabinet for the two highest executive offices in the State. Few governors have ever been able to claim the same distinction.

America's future is brighter today than in many months. We appear to have reached the turning point in the war. Victory is beginning to change from a matter of faith to a matter of fact.

If we can complete the war as we now have begun to fight it, on a basis of mutual cooperation, of unity, of placing the advancement of the cause of victory ahead of every other personal, political, social and economic consideration, then there no longer can be question about the outcome.

Many sacrifices remain to be made.

But let me remind you that we are asking ten millions of our boys to face the bullets of the enemy. They are making all conceivable sacrifices, many of them the ultimate sacrifice, and doing it without whimpering—doing it with clear-eyed, heads-up American courage.

In the problems of the future, both in Pennsylvania and in the nation, we have a ready example.

For the courage we will need to do our duty as we see it, let us take inspiration from the courage with which American boys are carrying forward the Stars and Stripes on all the battlefields of the earth.

In these problems of the future, both of the successful completion of the war and the days of peace thereafter, all of the multitude of Pennsylvanians who in greater or less degree have shared in the toil and the accomplishments of the State Government in the last four years may take full pride that we have kept our flags flying.

We are coming home with our shields, not on them.

The underlying objectives and policies of the last four years in Pennsylvania are principles worth working for; they are the stars to which the wagon of Democracy must ever be hitched.

By constant intention and by major accomplishment this administration has striven for integrity in government; for honesty in public affairs; for sound and thrifty handling of the public's business; for placing public weal higher than private interest; for a spirit of cooperation and mutual understanding in the meeting of the torn and tangled problems of our generation.

Who will deny that in the high purposes and tenacity and cooperation so many have shown as part of my Administration, can be found the examples and methods and approach needed by governments everywhere, both state and national, through the trying war days still to come and the perhaps equally vexing days of peace which will follow.

In closing, let me thank all of those—both the members of this General Assembly and all others—who by word or by mute encouragement, by faith and by example and by deed, have helped my Administration live up to the phrase from Micah which I gave four years ago as the spirit which would guide my every act as Governor—

"To do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Governor James, in behalf of the General Assembly the Chair thanks you for your splendid address.

ELECTION RETURNS

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. This being the day and time agreed upon by concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives in accordance with the laws of this Commonwealth for the opening, counting and computing of the official returns for the election of Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs held on Tuesday, November 3, 1942, in the several counties of this Commonwealth, the returns will now be opened and read.

The Teller on the part of the Senate is the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, the Teller on the part of the House is the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood. The Tellers will please come to the desk and proceed in the performance of their duty.

The said returns were accordingly opened and computed by the Clerks.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

Mr. WALKER. The Tellers agree in their count and make the following report:

ADJOURNMENT OF JOINT SESSION

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. The business for which the Joint Session has been assembled having been transacted the session is now adjourned. The Senators will please reassemble immediately in the Senate Chamber.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it has been called to my attention that of the employees of this House who were to have continued their duties for the first ten days of this Legislative Session, there are five in number who are now in the armed services of the government. I have before me a resolution in which I ask for the appointment of five other persons to take their places for a specific period of only ten days, their terms of office to expire automatically on January 15, 1943. Irrespective of any action that this House may take at this time their terms of office will not in any event extend beyond January 15, 1943.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask permission of the House to present a resolution at this time.

RESOLUTION

TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT OF EMPLOYEES

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to present the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, January 5, 1943.

Whereas, Certain employes of the House of Representatives appointed to serve during the legislative session of 1941 and to report for duty for a period of ten days during the legislative session of 1943, are now in the armed forces of their country and are unable to present themselves for service in the House of Representatives; therefore be it

Resolved, That the following temporary appointments are hereby made to take effect forthwith and to continue until the 15th day of January, 1943, and no longer, viz:

James McLane to serve as assistant sergeant-at-arms in the place of Harry F. Logsdon.

James O'Neill to serve as assistant sergeant-at-arms in the place of James Gildea.

Daniel O'Donnell to serve as sergeant-at-arms in the place of James Rogan.

Eugene Dougherty to serve as paster and folder in the place of Joseph B. Dougherty.

J. Noble Hirsch to serve as compiling clerk in the place of Charles H. Hirsch.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. All Members of the House will sign the oath book in the Chief Clerk's office immediately following adjournment before receiving their checks.

The Chair informs the Members that appointments to Committees will not be completed until the eighteenth or nineteenth of January on account of the inability of the minority to agree on the minority Members on the committees.

APPOINTMENT OF HOUSE COMMITTEE ON INTERSTATE COOPERATION

The SPEAKER. In compliance with the provisions of the Act of 1937, P. L. 109, the Speaker appoints the following Members to the Committee on Interstate Cooperation:

The gentleman from Lehigh County, Mr. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, Chairman.

The gentleman from Snyder County, Mr. Ira T. Fiss.

The gentleman from Lancaster County, Mr. Harry E. Trout.

The gentleman from Bucks County, Mr. Thomas B. Stockham.

The Chair requests this committee to meet in his office immediately after adjournment. It is very important that this committee organize immediately.

ANNOUNCEMENT

There will be a meeting of the Democratic Steering Committee immediately after this Session in the old House Caucus Room, at the request of the floor leader, Mr. Cohen.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, January 18, 1943, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:03 p. m.) the House adjourned until Monday, January 18, 1943, at 9 p. m.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 137th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 18, 1943. No. 2.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, January 18, 1943

The House met at 9 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we pause this night to ask Thy blessing upon this House of Representatives with its newly elected officers and members. Show us that we are Thine, and that we cannot attain our real life until we give ourselves wholly to Thee. Therefore, we ask that Thou mightest deliver us from self service and from the misery of a half-hearted devotion, to a full time service by rending unto Thee that which Thou dost require of us, and unto our beloved State and Nation that which Thou hast shown us to be our responsibility as citizens.

May each member of this House have eyes to see, ears to hear, and a voice with which to echo and re-echo the promise of the Lord, "I will put my laws into their mind, and on their heart also will I write them," so that only such Legislation may find its way into the Statute Books of this Commonwealth, which will be a credit not only to the members elected to this great Body, but likewise reflect the trust placed in them by their constituents.

Bless we beseech Thee the President of these United States and those in authority with him. Be with all men and women in the service of this nation not only on the field of battle but in industry as well. Hasten the day when Victory may be ours. This we ask in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Tuesday, January 5, 1943.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Tuesday, January 5, 1943, when, on motion of Mr. BARRETT, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Costa for Mr. MENNA.
Mr. Cohen for Mr. HARRIS on account of illness.
Mr. Bentzel for Mr. COLEMAN.
Mr. Weiss for Mr. DENMAN.

STATE COUNCIL OF DEFENSE APPOINTMENT

The SPEAKER. In accordance with the provisions of the Act of the General Assembly of 1941, P. L. 6, Section 3, the Speaker appoints Walter H. Annenberg, of Philadelphia County, as a member of the State Council of Defense.

COMMITTEE ON INTER STATE COOPERATION APPOINTMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as the minority Member to the Committee on Inter-State Co-Operation the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. James E. Lovett.

RESOLUTION

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

Mr. STOCKHAM offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Resolved, That the following named Members shall be elected to the Standing Committees of this House as hereinafter designated:

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

The SPEAKER. Members are now privileged to introduce bills by filing them with the Bill Clerk at the Speaker's left. All three copies must be legibly signed and dated. Keep the unbacked copy for your personal file.

Printed copies of the report of the Committee on Committees will be distributed to the Members of the House.

COMMITTEE ON RULES

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces the appointment of the following House Committee on Rules: Messrs. Lichtenwalter, Chairman, Walter E. Rose, Lloyd H. Wood, Sollenberger and Yeakel.

RESOLUTION

PRESCRIBING DUTIES OF EMPLOYES OF HOUSE

Mr. BOWER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, the laws of the Commonwealth provide for the election by the members of the House of various employes, but fail to define the duties of such employes, and

Whereas, the dispatch of the business of the House requires that these duties should be prescribed by the House in order to enable the Chief Clerk to make the proper assignments and supervise the work of the employes, therefore be it

Resolved, that the employes designated by this resolution by title of the position, shall be assigned by the Chief Clerk and shall perform the duties directed by this resolution.

Sergeant-at-Arms. The Chief Sergeant-at-Arms shall have the immediate charge of the chief assistant and assistant sergeant-at-arms. It shall be the duty of the sergeant-at-arms to police the Hall of the House of Representatives and the approaches thereto, to maintain order and decorum during the sessions of the House, to pick bills and insert them in the files on the members' desks; and to have charge of and operate the House bill file room where bills are delivered, picked and made available for general distribution. It shall be the duty of the Chief Clerk to divide the force of sergeant-at-arms in such manner so that a sufficient number shall at all times be assigned to police duty and a sufficient number to the House bill file room and the work in connection therewith in picking, filing and distributing bills, resolutions, calendars, histories and journals. Sergeant-at-Arms, assigned to policing the House shall wear uniforms furnished by the Chief Clerk of the House.

Clerks to Committees. The clerks to committees shall be competent and experienced stenographers or stenotypists, each of whom shall be assigned, by the Chief Clerk, to serve particular committees. It shall be the duty of the clerks to committees to act as clerks to the committees to which they have been assigned, act as a secretary to the chairman and vice-chairman of said committees, when not otherwise engaged, assist stenographers of the House with correspondence of the members, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the Chief Clerk of the House.

Transcribing Clerks. The personnel of the transcribing room shall be in the immediate charge of the chief official reporter of the House under the supervision of the Chief Clerk. It shall be the duty of the Journal Clerk, assistant Journal Clerk, House message clerk and other personnel assigned to the transcribing room by the Chief Clerk, to keep the Journal of the House, type titles to bills, prepare and deliver communications between the two Houses, and perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Chief Clerk and the Chief Official Reporter.

Legislative Journal Personnel. The personnel engaged in the publication of the Legislative Journal shall be in the immediate charge of the Chief Official Reporter under the supervision of the Chief Clerk.

History Clerk. It shall be the duty of the History Clerk to compile the weekly history of legislation of the House which shall contain such information as may be prescribed by the Chief Clerk and to which shall be attached a complete index of all bills and resolutions introduced. The History shall be compiled by the History Clerk in the Legislative Reference Bureau in order that the records of said office and the History shall be in accord and errors in transcribing detected. In the compilation of the History, the Hisory Clerk shall have stenographic assistance assigned by the Chief Clerk.

Reading Clerks. It shall be the duty of the Reading Clerks to be present at each session of the House, read bills, resolutions, amendments, messages, communications and other matter and make announcements from the desk of the House. The assistant reading clerk shall arrange and keep a schedule of committee meetings so as to avoid conflicts of meetings in the same room. The Reading Clerk shall perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Chief Clerk.

Desk Clerks. It shall be the duty of the desk clerks to read all prints of bills and resolutions to detect errors in prining and substance, arrange for the correction of printing errors without the necessity for formal amendments, call to the attention of the sponsors of bills, errors of substance, and aid and assist in amending bills and preparing copy for the printer.

The desk clerks shall be assigned by the Chief Clerk to work under the supervision of the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Assistant Clerk and Chief Stenographer to Chief Clerk. It shall be the duty of the assistant clerk and chief stenographer to the Chief Clerk to prepare the calendars of the House, prepare copy of bills for the printer, be responsible for the correct insertion of amendments to bills and in such work to have the assistance of the desk clerks working under the supervision of the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and to perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Secretary of the House.

Post Office Employes. It shall be the duty of the postmaster, assistant postmaster and messengers in the post office to secure, receive and distribute the mail of the members and officers of the House and place the same in the letter boxes assigned to said persons. It shall be the duty of the Chief Clerk to assign at least two assistant messengers who shall attend the battery of telephone booths which shall be for the exclusive use of House members and its officers.

Pasters and Folders. It shall be the duty of the pasters and folders to prepare for mailing and to mail out bills, resolutions, calendars, histories and legislative journals under the direction of the Chief Clerk.

The Custodians of the House and Committee Rooms. The custodians of the House shall perform duties assigned to them by the Chief Clerk, to the Hall of the House, caucus chambers, committee rooms, store rooms, cloakrooms and to assist in picking bills and filing them on the members' desks.

Pages. The pages shall be in attendance at each session of the House. It shall be the duty of the pages to perform the duties on the floor of the House assigned to them by the Chief Clerk. Sufficient pages shall be assigned to committtee rooms while committees are in session to act as messengers, one page shall be assigned during sessions of the House to the Legislative Reference Bureau for the delivery of papers. The pages shall assist sergeant-at-arms in filing bills on the desks of members and perform such other duties as the Chief Clerk may require.

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk shall have authority to assign employes regardless of the title of the position to which they have been appointed to perform such duties as he may designate.

Be it further resolved, That it shall be the duty of the Chief Clerk to bring to the attention of the Speaker in order that the same may be laid before the Committee on Rules, any case of improper conduct, insubordination or failure or refusal of employes to perform their duties as prescribed by this resolution or required to be performed by the Chief Clerk.

OATH ADMINISTERED TO EMPLOYES

The SPEAKER. The employes whose names have been read will present themselves at the Bar of the House.

The oath of office was then administered by the Speaker to the employes who presented themselves at the Bar of the House.

THANKS EXTENDED

The SPEAKER. The Chair takes this occasion to thank the retiring Chaplain of this House for the splendid services rendered to the Members of this House.

INAUGURAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

The SPEAKER. The Chair asks the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese, for a report of the Inaugural Committee on the part of the House.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker,

1. Members of the House will be admitted to this Capitol Building, tomorrow (Tuesday) morning through the main center entrance only and will be required to show their official identification cards. If you have not already received your official identification card, please get it at the Speaker's Office this evening after adjournment.

2. Members, Officers and employes of the House are requested to come into the Hall of the House tomorrow through the rear door at the House post office.

3. Employes of the House will be admitted to this Capitol Building tomorrow through the main center entrance. They must be in the building before 10 A. M.

4. Members will bring their coats and hats to their desks Tuesday morning instead of taking them to the cloak room.

5. The Members and Officers of the House will proceed to the inaugural ceremonies in a body from the Hall of the House, and will be required to show their official identification cards upon entering the stands.

6. The families, relatives and friends of the Members of the House who have inaugural tickets will not be privileged to accompany the Members in the line of march. All persons holding tickets must go direct to the stands.

7. Automobiles belonging to the Members and Officers of the House which are parked on the plaza in front of the Capitol must be removed tonight before twelve o'clock. Parking facilities have been provided for the Members in the rear of the Capitol Buildings. Confer with Chief Clerk about parking.

8. At the close of the inauguration ceremonies the Members of the House are requested to remain seated until escorted by the State Police back to the Hall of the House.

THANKS EXTENDED

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires at this time to express sincere appreciation for the splendid cooperation and service that the Committees appointed for the purpose of organization of the House has rendered. The Chair includes in his remarks the minority members of the Committee on Committees, as well as the minority leader of the House.

SPECIAL ELECTIONS 1941-1942 HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair will lay before the House letters of resignations from Members of the 1941-42 House of Representatives, together with writs for special elections issued by Speaker Elmer Kilroy for the purpose of filling vacancies in the House of Representatives caused by death and resignation, also the proceedings incident to the administration of the oath of office to the Members-elect to fill these vacancies.

The Chair requests the consent of the House to have these documents printed in full as a supplement to today's Legislative Journal for the purpose of a permanent record. The Chair hears no objection and so directs.

(For documents see supplement to today's Legislative Journal.)

COMMUNICATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
State Council of Defense, State Capitol,
Harrisburg, June 3, 1942.

Honorable Thomas J. Callahan,
Chief Clerk, House of Representatives
State Capitol
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

My dear Mr. Callahan:

I have been directed to inform you that the certified copy of House Resolution No. 9 of the Special Session of 1942, transmitted by you in accord with the terms of the Resolution was presented to the State Council at its meeting held June 2. I was further directed to send you an extract from the minutes of the meeting of the State Council July 28, 1941, when a Resolution of similar import adopted by the House of Representatives in the Session of 1941 was under consideration. The action taken at that time was reaffirmed by the State Council at the meeting yesterday.

The action on July 28, 1941, referred to was as follows:

After a discussion of the matter, the following resolution was introduced by Mr. Livingood, seconded by Mr. Lewis, and adopted:

"Be it resolved, That the State Council of Defense recommends to the employers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that no discriminatory regulations be invoked against any race, class or creed in placing men and women in defense industries; that the American spirit of equal opportunity for all and personal qualifications be made the sole criterion for employment in all jobs."

I am sending a copy of this letter to Honorable Edwin F. Thompson, 1619 North 12th Street, Philadelphia, the sponsor of Resolution No. 9.

Cordially yours,
(Signed) A. BOYD HAMILTON
Secretary

AIR RAID SHELTER

The SPEAKER. The air raid shelter which has been officially designated for the members of the House is the New House Caucus Room on the first floor of this building. In the event of an alarm go there promptly.

REPORT OF WESTERN SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF PHILADELPHIA

The SPEAKER laid before the House the Report of The Western Saving Fund Society of Philadelphia:

Report of Auditors and Number of Open Accounts on November 2, 1942.
(For Report see Appendix).

OATH ADMINISTERED TO MEMBER-ELECT

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to announce that the oath of office was administered by Honorable Robert E. Woodside, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, to Honorable Lewis Harris, Member-elect from Fulton County on Monday, January 11, 1943, at 1:30 p. m. in the Hall of the House.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, Pa., January 18, 1943.

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to my Final Message, delivered January 5, 1943, I am transmitting herewith copies of a collection of papers bearing upon the improprieties alleged to have been committeed by Hon. F. Clair Ross in his successive capacities as State Treasurer and Auditor General.

The material which accompanies this letter is subdivided into seven parts as follows:

Part I—Audit Report of the Treasury Department for the two periods from June 1, 1940 to May 5, 1941 and from May 5, 1941 to October 31, 1941.

Part II—Material originating from the Secretary of Revenue Edward B. Logan.

Part III—Budget of Auditor General F. Clair Ross.

Part IV—Mercantile License Tax and Assessment of Pin Ball Machines.

Part V—Correspondence on Department of Public Assistance allocations.

Part VI—Letters of Transmittal in Reports of Auditor General Warren Roberts on Treasury Department for the periods June 1, 1937 to May 31, 1938; June 1, 1938 to May 31, 1939; June 1, 1939 to May 31, 1940. Also excerpts from the reports for the periods June 1, 1938 to May 31, 1939 and June 1, 1939 to May 31, 1940.

Part VII—Miscellaneous material.

It is my intention that you may have in your possession the complete background of information concerning Mr. Ross' conduct of his office.

ARTHUR H. JAMES

(For material indicated in Communication see Appendix.)

RESOLUTION

COMPENSATION OF PAGE BOYS

Mr. BOWER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, Due to prevailing war time conditions, it is impossible to employ pages at the per diem compensation now prescribed by law and it is necessary, in order to have the services of pages, without which the Senate and the House of Representatives cannot properly function, to immediately employ pages, chief pages, a page to the President of the Senate, a page to the President pro tempore and a Speaker's page at a rate of per diem compensation in excess of that now provided by law; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Senate and the House of Representatives are hereby authorized to employ pages at the rate of compensation of four dollars ($4.00) per diem each and chief pages at the rate of compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per diem each, and that the President of the Senate is hereby empowered to employ one page at the rate of compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per diem, that the President pro tempore of the Senate is hereby empowered to employ one page at the rate of compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per diem and that the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby empowered to employ one page at the rate of compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per diem; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation more fully to effectuate this resolution and to relieve the several officers of the Senate and of the House of Representatives as well as the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth from all liability for acting under the provisions of this resolution and in making payments to said several pages in accordance therewith; and be it further

Resolved, That the provisions of this resolution shall be effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

. COHEN asked and obtained permission to address t. House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, its citizens and the people of the United States were treated to a rare spectacle two weeks ago when the Governor of this Commonwealth delivered his address on the state of the Commonwealth in this House to a Joint Session of the House and Senate.

In that first week of this momentous year legislative bodies of most of the states of the nation convened to take up their duties. In Washington and many state capitols "State of the Nation" addresses were delivered by many Chief Executives.

In this House the Honorable Ellwood J. Turner and the Honorable Elmer Kilroy, two former Speakers and members of different political parties, addressed the House and were followed by you, Mr. Speaker, who concluded with them and with the thoughts of most of us that this was a year for unity of the major political parties to but one goal and accomplishment, the winning of the war and the peace that will follow.

But the citizens of Pennsylvania did not hear an address on the state of the Commonwealth. They heard an exposition of a state of mind.

I will not burden you tonight with details by attempting to take up each item and statement of the outgoing Governor, but I shall generally survey his address.

The outgoing Governor said, "not for many years has there been a better spirit of cooperation throughout the Commonwealth between Labor, Capital and the State Government. The Republican policy of the State becoming the impartial friend of both employer and employe has fully justified itself." If this were an accurate analysis of the accomplishments of his administration with reference to the labor problem, why was it necessary for the framers of the Republican party's platform in the last campaign to pledge the following: "We will encourage sympathy, understanding, confidence and cooperation between employe and employer and will make government the impartial friend of both." It then goes on to use the old dodge about appointing a commission to study the various matters of prime issue between the two groups.

The outgoing Governor has taken the credit for bringing jobs back to the people of Pennsylvania, and for creating the wealth and prosperity which has come in the past months. We could well applaud the fact that this abundance of prosperity has come to Pennsylvania were it not for the ugly fact that it took a World War of staggering proportions to compel the wheels of industry to hum, and not a copy desk for the "Saturday Evening Post's" advertising campaign. Does the gentleman really think that he brought industry to its present high peak of employment through advertising and special privilege? His boast of "We haven't let you down" would imply as much. The record and boast are equally absurd.

The gentleman took credit for reducing the number of State employees. In Philadelphia one could hear some evidence of the apparent truth of this claim, for many Republican committeemen and workers, the faithful doorbell pullers, for many long months complained bitterly about the dearth of jobs in that city. The best answer to this claim is found in an editorial recently appearing in the "Philadelphia Evening Bulletin," an independent and non-partisan newspaper, which said: "The people will hardly credit rigorous economy when there is at hand so obvious an explanation as the war restraints on automobiling and highway construction. The possible usefulness of the Governor's comparison is seriously marred by some curious omissions. He doesn't include all state departments or even all the departments under his direction. Some are excluded apparently because they are under Civil Service, as though that relieved the Governor of responsibility for them. Civil service, of course, has to do with the qualifications of employees, not with the number employed. Inclusion of all employees under the Governor would have given a more accurate picture."

While on the question of employees and the question of economy in Government, it is well to remember the pre-election boast of 1938 about wringing dry the State payrolls so that taxes would be reduced. Taxes were not reduced and the face-saving statement that the books are balanced is given to hide this failure. From all the conflicting statements we have recently heard it is possible that the books are balanced, or we have a surplus which is a bookkeeping entry only or that we have a surplus in actual money or that taxes will be reduced when and if possible or that one of the taxes will be reduced. But the record shows that the last administration collected 861 millions of dollars in taxes, and together with contributions from the much hated Federal Government spent 900 millions of dollars. The previous administration, which according to the gentleman spent so riotously and taxed so harshly, collected 724 millions in taxes and spent, together with Federal aid, 800 millions. The last administration spent more for government than the Earle administration and spent more for relief than the Earle administration, and received almost three times the amount the Earle administration received for relief from the Federal Government.

Our outgoing Governor talked little of government and referred to the blue book accompanying his address as the record of his administration. This blue book contains only the self-back-slapping reports of the various bureaus and department heads and represents the apologies in performance for this outgoing administration. The gentleman could well have dwelt on the following subjects: Liquor Control, Flood Control, Vital Statistics, Stream Pollution, Education, Home Rule for Philadelphia, a charter, and so forth, and many other topics.

His refusal to comment upon the reports of his bureau and department heads is his admission that he believed "Better let well enough alone." Perhaps the incoming administration will step in and do the job so far left undone. We hope so. It will be the duty of the minority party to question and call to account, to inquire and offer corrections, to oppose, but in the spirit of cooperation, to be loyal to the Chief Executive of this Commonwealth, but not to be a loyal opposition. It is the purpose of the minority party to be a liberal opposition.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEVY asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I hesitate to arise this evening in order merely to introduce a piece of Legislation, but I feel it is of such importance that it warrants a few preliminary remarks prior to its introduction. War for the past year has certainly been an unpopular episode in our history and it becomes the duty of the Federal Government and certainly of the state governments to see that certain very vital needs in the performance of our duties are carried out. Therefore, it is a privilege of mine tonight to bring to the attention of the entire membership of the House a very crying need in Pennsylvania.

I read very interestingly in the Philadelphia papers this morning that the WLB in Washington and the various Labor agencies throughout the country have advertised the fact that in the next sixty days there is going to be a shortage of some one hundred thousand women in production in Pennsylvania and neighboring Eastern states. It is because of this hardship, gentlemen, that I arise tonight to offer a piece of Legislation that in my humble opinion will satisfy a group of citizens of Philadelphia who feel the crying need to help in the war effort and at the same time must be helped themselves.

So, in order that the thousands of women in Pennsylvania be given the opportunity to work in industries where they are needed and at the same time are prevented from so doing because of duties and obligations at home with children, I am introducing tonight on behalf of these various people, an act creating a child care center, or rather child care centers throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I say to the majority party tonight that this bill, or this series of bills must be given the appropriate consideration. They are not partisan measures, they are something that need the support of every Legislator in Pennsylvania, and it is with that spirit that I offer this series of bills and ask for their serious consideration. Thank you.

COMMITTEE ROOMS

The SPEAKER. There will be a meeting of the Committee on the Assignment of Committee Rooms in the Speaker's office immediately after adjournment this evening. The Chief Clerk and the Secretary of the House are requested to attend this meeting.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BENTLEY asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, a little more than a fortnight ago, as the Minority leader has called to your attention, I am happy to say as the retiring Governor of this Commonwealth entered the Hall of the House as the guest of the House and Senate in joint session assembled, he had the very bad manners and the worse taste to abuse our hospitality by making a political speech under the guise of delivering an address on the state of the Commonwealth.

I do not propose to comment at any length upon the gentleman's speech. Suffice it to say that his address was bitter, reckless and full of recriminations flowing in every direction. They were the words of a man who has seen his own political ambition die the early death it deserved at the hands of his own party in National Convention assembled.

As typical of the tenor of his remarks, however, the Governor claimed to himself the credit for procuring the Relief Unemployment and Revenue laws of the Commonwealth. Such statements of his call for no answer. They merit and receive only a good, old-fashioned American horse laugh. Since those days in Philadelphia three years ago Arthur James has been a soured, hardened and bitter man, caring little what he does and less what he says. Tomorrow his political sun sets finally and irrevocably. He retires to the political oblivion which gratefully and justly claims him. The breaker boy's light goes out; it will stay out and few will mourn. But one thing this Governor said, and I give him no credit for it, for the matter is self evident. One thing deserves the attention and the action of this House. The Governor has called for a tax reduction, and the reasons for it are obvious. First, the revenues of the State far exceed its present needs, and good budgeting demands a tax reduction. Secondly, the taxpayers of this Commonwealth, and I refer particularly to the small real estate home owners, the very backbone of our tax structure, are in dire need of all the relief that can be given at this session from the very heavy war taxes which are now imposed upon them.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I have presented this evening a bill which will materially assist in reducing the taxes, particularly on the small home owner. It is not a new bill, it has been before this House on many previous occasions and has been presented by many able predecessors.

This bill removes the unfair exemption on utility real estate taxes, which has heretofore permitted utility owned real estate to avoid its fair share or any share of municipally imposed taxes, by exempting this utility owned real estate from paying the same taxes which the gas user, the electric user and the trolley car rider is compelled to pay.

I say, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, a tax contribution will be made to our municipalities now supported in large measure by real estate taxes, and this tax contribution will be immediately effective in lowered real estate taxes paid by the small home owner. That reduction is sorely needed in these war days by the overburdened real estate taxpayers.

Mr. Speaker, let this Legislature seriously consider this bill and give them that tax reduction.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 19, 1943, at 10 a. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10:34 p. m.) the House adjourned.

SUPPLEMENT

House of Representatives, Tuesday, August 4, 1942.

The SPEAKER. In accordance with the provisions of Article VII of the Constitution of Pennsylvania the members-elect, Thomas G. Baxter, Thomas E. Barrett, William H. Bonawitz and Hugh J. Murray will present themselves at the bar of the House to take the oath of office.

The Chair appoints the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Habbyshaw and the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese to escort the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, a Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Dauphin County to the rostrum to administer the oath of office to the Members-elect.

The Honorable Robert E. Woodside was escorted to the rostrum and administered the oath of office to the Members-elect.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks His Honor, Judge Woodside for his services in administering the oath of office to the Members-elect to fill vacancies in the House of Representatives. The Chair cannot overlook the significance of this occasion in that Judge Woodside today has administered the oath of office to the member who is to take the seat occupied with dignity and distinction for so many years by the Judge himself.

The Chair presents to you the Honorable Robert E. Woodside.

HONORABLE ROBERT E. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I did not know that I was supposed to make a speech today. However, neither you nor your parliamentarian, Mr. Moore, thought it was necessary to say anything to me, because you knew I never overlooked an opporunity to speak in the Hall of this House, sometimes I think much to the annoyance of the Speaker, the parliamentarian, as well as two hundred six other members of the House.

I do consider it a great privilege to be here today and administer the oath of office to the four new members of this House of Representatives. Of course, I take particular pride in being able to administer the oath to my successor, William H. Bonawitz, who I am sure is going to make a very good representative.

This Commonwealth has a great history, and so does the legislative branch of the State Government. I cannot but feel in this day when we are facing so many dangers that the thing that makes this Democracy great, the thing that makes Democracy different from other forms of government, the thing that makes Democracy is the legislative branch of government. All governments have their executives; all governments have their Judiciary, although their Judiciary is not always as free as it is in Democracy, but no government has an active legislative branch of government except a Democracy. It is that which makes a Democracy, and that is why it is particularly important, first that good men are elected to the Legislature, and second that those men who are elected to the Legislature recognize their responsibility and their duty to their constituents, to their State, and to the maintenance of the form of government to which we have pledged ourselves. These four members, as we all have in the Legislature in the past, have taken the oath of office to support the Constitution of the United States and to support the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and also to perform the duties of their office with fidelity, along with other obligations.

It is extremely important that members of the legislative branches of all of our forty-eight states and the members of the legislative branch of our Federal Government do perform their duties with fidelity in order that this form of Government which we are all so much interested in saving at the present time may be worthy of all the sacrifices that all the men and women are called upon to make for it at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks his Honor, Judge Woodside, for his services in administering the oath of office.

The Chair observes another unusual incident in the ceremony this afternoon. The Reverend Thomas G. Baxter, the Chaplain of the 1939 House of Representatives, has taken the oath as a member to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the Honorable Wilson Gillette.

ADJOURNMENT

The SPEAKER. The purpose for which we have assembled having been accomplished we will now adjourn.

House of Representatives, Tuesday, November 17, 1942.

Pursuant to notification members elected at special elections to fill unexpired terms caused by resignations presented themselves in the Hall of the House of Representatives on Tuesday, November 17, 1942, at one o'clock p. m. when the oath of office was administered to them.

The CHIEF CLERK (Thomas J. Callahan) presiding.

The CHIEF CLERK. Speaker Kilroy regrets his inability to be present today because of his confinement to the hospital, and has requested me to preside in his absence.

RESIGNATIONS

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
House of Representatives, Harrisburg, June 29, 1942.

Hon. Elmer Kilroy, Speaker,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Elmer:

I hereby tender my resignation as a Member of the House of Representatives from Cumberland County, effective as of June 29, 1942.

My experience as a Member of the Pennsylvania Legislature was exceedingly pleasant and educational. I will long remember the amiable associations made during my term of office.

The reason for my resignation is, of course, that I have enlisted in the United States Army.

Best wishes for your personal success in the Fall.

Sincerely,

(Signed) JOE
Joseph J. McIntosh.

Chester, Pa., August 15, 1942.

Hon. Elmer Kilroy, Speaker,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

It is with regret that I tender to you my resignation as a Member of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to take effect immediately.

I was glad to serve the Citizens of this great Commonwealth during the regular session of 1941 and the special session of 1942 with such distinguished representatives as we had during those sessions and particularly with you as the Speaker, I feel that those two sessions will go down in History as outstanding Assemblies in the progress of our great Commonwealth and I am truly sorry that I find it necessary to sever my connections with such a body, however we are at war, and I find myself in the position of being better able to serve my Country in another capacity, one that will add more to the efforts being made to win this war and I feel it is my duty to do that which will help most in that effort.

Wishing you and the other members of the House of Representatives all health happiness and success, I am

Most respectively yours,

s/ ADIE S. RUSH,
Member of the House of Representatives,
1st Dis't. Delaware County
(City of Chester).

August 25, 1942.

Hon. Adie S. Rush,
1883 East 18th Street,
Chester, Pennsylvania.

Dear Adie:

It is with regret that I accept your resignation as a Member of the House of Representatives from the 1st District, Delaware County, City of Chester.

On the other hand, it gives me pleasure to congratulate you and wish you well in your new undertaking.

Remember to stop in to see me whenever you are in Harrisburg.

Sincerely,
ELMER KILROY, Speaker.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 137th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 19, 1943. No. 3.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 19, 1943.

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, as we stand reverently in Thy presence, may we each one realize the fact of God, and that Thou art our creator, our preserver and our savior. Our relationship to Thee can be as intimate as that of a little child to his earthly father. May it be so with us. Let us not become so obsessed with belief in our own maturity and wisdom that we shall forget that "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."

Now, as the Senate begins the serious consideration of the business that will come before it, may each member commit himself to a program of truth, justice and righteousness tempered with love, for such a program, carried out, will honor God, and cause each man to hear the approving voice of his own conscience.

Endow this Body, we pray Thee, with the gifts and qualifications that will make for the best interests of our great Commonwealth and for all its citizens.

Hear our prayer for the President of the Nation, for the retiring and the incoming Governors of our state. Grant President Roosevelt and Governor Martin health of body and of mind for their difficult tasks, with courage and faith to meet them successfully.

In the name of the Lord of all. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

ANNUAL REPORT OF SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF GERMANTOWN AND ITS VICINITY

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate annual report of the Saving Fund Society of Germantown and its vicinity, 88th annual statement, January 1, 1943, receipt of which was noted in the Journal.

HIS EXCELLENCY, GOVERNOR JAMES, INTRODUCED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has the very unusual honor and privilege of presenting—I do not believe it has ever occurred with any of my predecessors—in addition to ex-Governor Tener, and the next Governor of Pennsylvania, General Martin, the present Governor, Arthur H. James.

(Applause).

PRESENTATION TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, you are about to finish your term as Lieutenant-Governor of Pennsylvania. It has been customary for the members of the Senate to give to their retiring president some token as a reminder of the associations of the years that have passed. We expect to follow that custom, but we hope that you will believe that we are not doing this in a perfunctory way, as performing a duty. We really want to give you something by which you will remember us.

You have occupied a unique position in Pennsylvania. You have served in perhaps more diverse positions than almost any other officer of the Commonwealth. As Auditor General, as State Treasurer, as Superintendent of Highways, and as Lieutenant-Governor, you have served with ability and fidelity. As Lieutenant-Governor you have presided fairly and impartially.

The chief reward from service comes in the knowledge that you have served the people faithfully and well, and so what we would give you is not in the nature of a reward but as a memento. The members of this Senate, both the Democrats and the Republicans, present to you this ring. We hope you will wear it for us and that it will bring back to you fond recollections of your service here.

We wish for yourself and for your good wife a long life and much happiness.

(Applause).

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, Pennsylvania has been very fortunate in that over a long period of years we have had as presiding officers in the upper branch of the General Assembly some of the outstanding men in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The retiring Lieutenant-Governor has been just such a man.

Two years ago I stood on my feet lauding the Lieutenant-Governor for his courage, for his fairness, for his attitude, particularly towards we of the minority side of the Senate, and I said then that a presiding officer in the Senate of Pennsylvania can weld the General Assembly, or at least this branch, into an instrument attuned not to a legislative funeral march marking the burial of the people's hopes, but rather to an anthem of legislative achievements attuned to their needs and in response to their will, and I am happy to say this morning that the retiring Lieutenant-Governor dedicated himself to that high ideal. His knowledge of this branch of the legislature has won the love, challenged the admiration and the respect not only of the Republican side but those of us on the Democratic side, and I am delighted to join with the Republican majority in expressing the thanks of the Democratic side of the house for his fairness and his courage in handling the reins during our legislative sessions.

And this, his friendship, is one of the things that we will be glad to look back upon and I hope I am right, and I know I am expressing our sentiments, when I say that we can see the warm glow shining down the path of 1943 and many years beyond.

Good luck to you, God bless you, and may you live many years to enjoy your well earned plaudits from not only the Members of the Senate but from the people of Pennsylvania generally.

(Applause.)

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR LEWIS. Senator Ealy, Senator Coleman, members of the Senate, I think that I can very appropriately at this time use the statement that is usually made on occasions of this kind, that is, that words fail me to properly and adequately express my feelings and gratitude. Thank you for this wonderful gift.

Never did I think that I would wear a diamond. Some few years back, when the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor, was given a testimonial dinner—at that time he was down at the foot of the table; he knows what that is—he was presented with a diamond ring.

I said, "Harve, we have a mutual friend that regards the wearing of a diamond ring as a vulgar display of wealth."

Harve used an adjective and said, "Well, I am not wealthy and so this is not a display of wealth. If wearing this ring is vulgar, then I am going to be vulgar." Well, that goes for me.

While this may be a constant tangible reminder of the very pleasant associations that I have had in this chamber—and at times it was a little hectic—it will not be necessary to look at the ring. I shall always recall with pleasure the privilege that I had in presiding over this body. I realize at times that my decision did not meet with unanimous approval of the Senate. While I stand here and look over this audience I can not help but contrast this atmosphere of quiet, of calm harmony, with the tense atmosphere of just four years ago, when the atmosphere was tense and all was excitement and expectancy. I had them on this side and I had them on that side, and about half the time I did not know which side had the majority. That was a hectic day but we got through it.

As I said before, it has been a pleasure for me to serve as the presiding officer of this—to quote the words of the late Senator Penrose—the greatest legislative body in the United States.

I believe that I have kept the pledge that I made to you four years ago, after I was inducted into office, that I would impartially and without fear or favor decide the questions that confronted me. This I did. I was not influenced by personal ambitions or interests or anything else. What I did was from the dictates of my own conscience and strictly in compliance with the Constitution and the rules of this Senate.

Now we are in pretty hectic times but this is a promise I am going to make to you—I can not do it right away—and that is if Mr. Eastman just eases up on transportation and Leon Henderson's successor eases up on the rationing of gas and rubber, and Mr. Wickard gives the green signal on the use of food, I want you all to come down to York—and here is where I get a plug in for the York Fair—where we will again have a non-partisan Senatorial get-together meeting. That invitation will be extended just as soon as the time is proper.

I again want to thank each and every member of this Senate for the pleasure and privilege of presiding over this body. I shall take this ring and wear it, even though it may be a vulgar display—not of wealth—and I will cherish it as a token of friendship and I hope—and I know as far as I am concerned—that is mutual.

(Applause).

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR LAID ON THE TABLE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, being collection of papers bearing upon the improprieties alleged to have been committed by Hon. F. Clair Ross in his successive capacities as State Treasurer and Aduitor General, which was laid on the table.

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ELECT

Mr. SCARLETT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 19, 1943.

Resolved, That a Committee of three Senators be appointed to wait upon Hon. John C. Bell, Jr., Lieutenant-Governor elect and escort him to the Senate Chamber to take the oath and assume the duties of the office.

The PRESIDENT. The President Pro Tempore appoints as said committee, the Senator from Chester, Mr. Scarlett, the Senator from McKean, Mr. Thomas B. Wilson, and the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON HONORABLE GEORGE W. MAXEY

Mr. KEPHART offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 19, 1943.

Resolved, That a committee of three Senators be appointed to wait upon the Honorable George W. Maxey, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and escort him to the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT. The President Pro Tempore appoints as said committee, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Becker, and the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ELECT, HON. JOHN C. BELL, JR.

Mr. Scarlett, Chairman of the Committee appointed to wait upon the Honorable John C. Bell, Jr., and escort him to the Senate Chamber, reported that they had discharged the duty devolving upon them, and had the honor to report the presence of the Honorable John C. Bell, Jr.

The Lieutenant-Governor-Elect was then escorted to the space in front of the Clerk's desk.

The PRESIDENT. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the Senate.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON HONORABLE GEORGE W. MAXEY

Mr. Kephart, Chairman of the Committee to wait upon the Honorable George W. Maxey, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, reported that they had discharged the duty devolving upon them and had the honor to report the presence of the Honorable George W. Maxey.

The PRESIDENT. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the Senate.

CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Whereupon, the certificate of the election of the Honorable John C. Bell, Jr., as Lieutenant-Governor, was read by the Chief Clerk of the Senate as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, January 5, 1943.

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the fifth day of January A. D. one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for Lieutenant-Governor of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the General Assembly, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and laws of said Commonwealth and upon counting the votes by the teller appointed on the part of each House, it appeared that JOHN C. BELL, Jr. had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said John C. Bell, Jr., was declared to have been duly elected Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

SAMUEL S. LEWIS,
President of the Senate.
IRA T. FISS,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
JOHN M. WALKER,
Teller on the part of the Senate.
NORMAN WOOD,
Teller on the part of the House of Representatives.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ELECT

After which, the oath of office was duly administered to the Honorable John C. Bell, Jr., by the Honorable George W. Maxey, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

CHIEF JUSTICE MAXEY. I congratulate you and wish you success and happiness in your new position, Lieutenant-Governor Bell.

Mr. SAMUEL S. LEWIS. Lieutenant-Governor Bell, it is a pleasure to turn over to you the keys to the office and the gavel of authority and I hope that your administration and associations with the members of the Senate will be as pleasant as mine were. If I at any time can be of service to you, do not hesitate to call upon me.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR BELL. Thank you very much, Governor Lewis.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR JOHN C. BELL, JR.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Thank you very much, Governor Lewis.

Members of the Senate, before I say a few words to you, I wish to express my tremendous appreciation of the signal honor that has been conferred upon me today by the presence with us of three very great Governors, our present Governor, Arthur H. James, our next governor, General Edward Martin, and the governor who is dearest to my heart, because he was my father's governor, John K. Tener. I am also signally honored by having here a host of such distinguished guests.

Members of the Senate, we are met here today as the representatives of the people of the greatest state in the United States. The clouds of war envelop our hearts and minds, they color our lives, and they necessarily will motivate or affect a considerable part of all future legislation. This is no time for petty politics. This is a time for patriotic service, for unselfish interest and for manifold sacrifices.

Our government is on trial today here at home as well as abroad, and we must strive to say and do here that, and only that, which will reflect credit upon our state and our country.

The people of Pennsylvania want and have a right to expect that we will make this a constructive, patriotic session, that we will promptly and without petty bickering pass every bill which will aid our war effort, and defeat every bill which will impede our war effort, and that we will conduct ourselves in a manner worthy of the great trust reposed in us.

The war should and must and will be our greatest concern. With respect to the war we are and shall remain a united fighting nation, loyally cooperating with and supporting in the conduct of the war our Commander-in-Chief, the President of the United States. But we here at home, we here in this august assemblage, have an added duty; we owe a duty to the boys who are fighting our battles in the blue of heaven, on the seven seas and in the far corners of the globe, the duty of preserving for them and their children our priceless heritage, the American form of government and the American way of life.

We must never lose sight of the fact that in the last analysis we are fighting this war for freedom, we are fighting this war against regimentation and dictatorship and bureaucracy. We must never for one moment forget that America was built not by regimentation or dictatorship or bureaucracy, not by priorities or political directees; it was built by the arduous labor of free men steeped deep in the love of God.

In our deliberations in this Senate chamber we must recall and be guided and inspired by the spirit of our great American ancestors, who fought and bled and died that ours might be a heritage of freedom and of everlasting peace. When we finally crush Hitler and Japan our victory will be hollow unless at the same time we have succeeded in preserving here in America and in our beloved Pennsylvania our independence and our liberties, our freedom of speech, our freedom of religion, our home rule, the sovereignty of our great State, our right to make our own laws and lead our own lives.

I promise to each member of the Senate of Pennsylvania a never failing courtesy and a square deal, and I pledge to the people of Pennsylvania that I shall do everything within my power to preserve our treasured form of government and our American way of life.

INAUGURATION CEREMONY TO BE HELD IN FORUM

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Members of the Senate, the location of the inauguration ceremonies of Governor Martin has been changed from the plaza to the Forum. Tickets which are good for the Plaza are good for the Forum. The Senate will not proceed to the Forum in a body but will proceed there individually. Seats will, of course, be reserved for them in the Forum.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until four o'clock p. m.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING LIEUTENANT BOYD "BUZZ" WAGNER

Mr. HALUSKA offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 19, 1943.

"My gas was running low, so I returned home."

These were the words of Lieutenant Boyd "Buzz" Wagner when he was decorated by General MacArthur for "distinguishing himself by his daring attacks on a Japanese air detachment at Aparri."

After safely passing through all the dangers attendant upon action in a combat zone, he met his tragic end during a routine flight in Florida.

His gas run low and he returned home.

His record as a fighting airman, his outstanding courage and his modesty have made him one of Pennsylvania's conspicuous heroes as well as an inspiration to the youth of the Nation.

The glory that was his and the brilliant record of his thrilling life will ever remain as a rich heritage to his family and a luminous page in the history of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extends to his surviving parents in the City of Johnstown, its profound sympathy; it mourns with them his loss, but proudly too, it shares their pride in what his life has brought to the Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall immediately transmit a copy of this resolution to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd M. Wagner of Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

NOMINATIONS ACTED UPON AS A UNIT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the nominations by His Excellency, the Governor, other than the ones just laid on the table, be considered as a unit.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. WATKINS,

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. HEYBURN,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—42

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 19, 1943

The House met at 10 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Our Father who art in heaven, we thank Thee that Thou hast given unto us this good land for our heritage. In whatever manner we have sinned against Thee as a nation or as individuals, forgive us.

At a time when our liberties and kindred blessings are imperiled by the enemy, give us Thy guidance and strength so that love, justice, truth and brotherhood may prevail throughout the entire world. To this end help those who are giving their lives, even now as we pray, to defend and preserve our blood-bought privileges.

May our people and their leaders know that, "The victory cometh from Thee, O Lord." We commit our beloved country and its citizenry to Thee, O God, who "is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. BRADLEY, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WALTER E. ROSE.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 1.

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, The cost of Federal, State and local governments was $24,000,000,000 for the fiscal year ending 1941, which is a rise of 34% over 1938, before defense and war preparations began; and

Whereas, In Pennsylvania the General Fund expenditures for the operation of the State government has increased more than 100% in the past decade; and

Whereas, The rise in government cost means increased tax burdens; and

Whereas, The cost of State and local government should be kept at a minimum, in order that the taxpayer may be able to bear the increased tax load which will become necessary in order to assist in financing the cost of the present war and liquidate the unpaid costs in the post-war era; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Finance Committee of the Senate and the Appropriation Committee of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania shall (A) proceed immediately to hold hearings and meetings to investigate all departments, boards, commissions, agencies, and officers of the State government to (1) ascertain whether there are overlapping functions; (2) ascertain whether there is duplication of services in the form of auditing, inspection, laboratories, reporting, or otherwse; (3) determine what departments, boards, commissions, or other agencies, if any, can be abolished, merged, or suspended, permanently or for the duration; (4) determine how the efficiency and administration of the State government and its agencies can be improved and costs reduced, without impairing its efficiency; (B) recommend measures to this General Assembly to effectuate the general purposes of this resolution; (C) call upon any department or agency of the State government or the General Assembly for such information as they deem pertinent to the studies and investigation in which they are engaged; and (D) engage such clerical, stenographic assistants and other personnel as they may require in order to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

By Mr. BRADLEY. RESOLUTION No. 2.

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1943.

Whereas, Congress has appropriated the sum of $4,000,000 for the construction of office accommodations in the Cities of Washington and Baltimore, already overcrowded with government agencies performing work that could readily be done in localities where ample office space is available without the expenditure of money for the erection of buildings for which there will be no further use after the war; and

Whereas, In many communities in Pennsylvania, notably in the coal regions, there are at the present time bank buildings that are vacant and unused because of great numbers of the normal population being in the armed forces or compelled by stress of circumstances to engage in war work elsewhere; and

Whereas, These people who have had time to migrate to Washington and Baltimore to see a subsistance made scanty by high prices and overcrowded conditions, are the sons and daughters of the forgotten men of the last war, who fought and won, and suffered neglect thereafter, a condition, the repetition of which, during and after the present war, must be assiduously guarded against; and

Whereas, The transfer of some of the agencies from Washington and Baltimore to these communities would not only serve to relieve congestion at the Nation's Capital, but would relieve the financial distress of the coal regions and enable the population of their inhabited centers to purchase war bonds and stamps and in other ways to further the war efforts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania do hereby memoralize the President and Congress of the United States to use the idle buildings in the coal regions of Pennsylvania for the housing of such war time agencies of the National Government as can perform their duties away from the capital, rather than to expend money for the erection of new temporary buildings in congested areas;

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, and to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. CADWALADER. RESOLUTION No. 3.

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

The state tax, temporarily imposed upon personal property in 1935 and reenacted at every regular session of the General Assembly, has, from its inception, been unfair and inequitable.

It has wrung from the hands of those depending for their living upon the constantly shrinking income derived from securities that are assessed at fictitious values, the little that is payable thereon.

It has even compelled in some instances the payment of a tax upon holdings that are actually worth less than the tax collected.

It has forced investors to sell the kind of securities that are taxable, and has reduced the value of such as are retained.

It has attacked the capital value of trust funds and destroyed the market for good securities.

Its removal from the statute books would be of real value to the people of the Commonwealth, therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that no legislation continuing this tax shall be passed at this session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. WEISS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 4.

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, The all-out prosecution of the present war has occasioned unprecedented social and economic changes in the lives and affairs of the citizens of this Nation and this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, After the inevitable defeat of the axis nations, the readjustment of life to a peace time basis will give rise to many grave problems in the fields of employment, prices, production, distribution, housing, education, trade, agriculture, health, and many others; and

Whereas, The necessity for successfully coping with these problems will likely arise abruptly and without warning; and

Whereas, Many of the problems to be faced when the day of peace time readjustment arrives are entirely new in nature and cannot be handled on the basis of past experience; and

Whereas, It is therefore highly essential that the consideration and preparation of plans and programs for meeting the multitude of inevitable post-war problems be undertaken as early as possible; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a committee of ten be created to be composed of five members of the Senate to be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate and five members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, for the purpose of making investigations and studies and directing research essential to the preparation of plans and programs for meeting the problems which will arise during the post-war readjustment period; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall undertake its functions immediately, and shall make a report to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the present session, to the extent that the committee's work has been completed before the adjournment thereof, and that this committee shall make a final and complete report to the regular session of the General Assembly for the year one thousand nine hundred forty-five; and be it further

Resolved, That an adequate appropriation be made available to this committee to meet any necessary expenses of its activities.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

By Mr. CORDIER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 5.

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, During the economic depression of the past few years, it became necessary to levy and continue, from year to year, temporary emergency taxes, including the onerous and confiscatory personal property tax, in order to carry on a program of public assistance rendered unduly expensive by widespread unemployment; and

Whereas, Conditions have now materially changed so that the public assistance burden is considerably lessened, and the need for emergency taxes should no longer exist, or should exist only to a very limited extent; and

Whereas, The recent enormous increases in Federal taxes, adopted in order to raise the revenues necessary for the prosecution of the present war, have made it even more imperative to reduce State taxes in every possible way, in order that the total tax burden does not become an impossible one for taxpayers to meet; and

Whereas, The entire system of State taxation has developed piecemeal over an extensive period of time, without at any time being coordinated as a whole or revised in the light of modern principles of taxation; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a joint legislative commission is hereby created to study all phases of State taxation and revenue, so as to enable it to lay before the General Assembly as soon as possible during the present session, a comprehensive picture of the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth, with a view to determining possibilities of immediate tax reduction and also the possibilities of a general revision and coordination of the State tax structure. The commission shall consist of five senators appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate and five members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker. The report of the commission shall embody its findings and conclusions, together with its recommendations for tax reductions and such drafts of legislation as it shall deem necessary; and be it further

Resolved, That said special commission shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the commission, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the commission may deem necessary. Such subpoena may be served upon any person, and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said commission shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said commission or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. POWERS. RESOLUTION No. 6.

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, The President of the United States has announced that W. P. A. has now served its chief purpose, and that the man power shortage, created by the war effort, justifies the termination of the W. P. A. activities as soon as can be conveniently done; and

Whereas, Although this policy of terminating W. P. A. may be in large part justifiable, there are, nevertheless, substantial portions of the W. P. A. program which should be retained and continued; and

Whereas, The continuation of W. P. A. upon a restricted basis, limited to projects appropriate for the employment of persons physically disabled, or over 50 years of age, will in no way hinder the war effort or aggravate the man power shortage; and

Whereas, The retention of W. P. A. activities under such a restricted basis will prevent economic dislocation among a substantial portion of the population, and will likewise keep available a skeleton force trained in the administration of W. P. A. functions, pending a possible need for full scale resumption thereof in the post-war period; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States not to discontinue W. P. A. activities entirely, but to provide the necessary authority and funds for continued operation to the extent hereinbefore described; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Representative elected from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. O'NEILL.

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

The House of Representatives learns with deep sorrow of the death, on January 1st, New Years Day, of Edward J. Lynett, editor and publisher of the Scranton Times, and one of the most distinguished of American journalists.

Mr. Lynett died at the advanced age of 86 years, and during his long career, he and his newspaper exerted a profound and beneficial effect upon his community, his State and his Country.

Like many other leaders in the anthracite area, Mr. Lynett began work as a slate picker. Later he was employed as a deputy clerk in the Mayor's court, and for a time studied law. However, he soon felt that his true calling was journalism and he obtained a job as reporter on the Sunday Free Press. In a very short time he became the managing editor in which capacity he continued until 1895, when he bought out the struggling Scranton Times.

Under the leadership of Mr. Lynett, the Times developed from a struggling paper with little prestige into a great journal. Under his direction, the Times, always strove to further the best interests of the people of the community and the State. He took up and fought vigorously for many liberal causes. He was one of the early supporters of the cause of the Anthracite Mine workers in the days of the well known leader, John Mitchell, and was himself a leader in granting better wages and working conditions in the printing industry.

He was a Democrat in politics, and loyally supported his party year in and year out. There were times when the party's outlook in Pennsylvania and the Nation was dark, yet the Times, under Mr. Lynett's direction never failed to rally to the Democratic banner.

Mr. Lynett always felt that he and his newspaper had a duty toward his community. For sixty years he worked for practically every movement beneficial to the City of Scranton, and contributed liberally of his personal means, as well as the influences of his newspaper.

While Mr. Lynett was a crusader, he was never a reformer. There was no influence strong enough to prevent his from exposing ill-rule or misuse of public funds. He was a firm believer in an uncontrolled press and kept his newspaper entirely free of outside domination.

By his achievements in his chosen profession, by his participation in community efforts, by his deep and understanding of people and their needs, acquired by close association, and by his devotion to whatever task was assigned to him, Mr. Lynett has gained for himself an endearing place in the hearts and memories of his fellow-citizens; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania notes with profound sorrow the passing of this great and distinguished citizen of our Commonwealth, at a time when City, State and Nation can ill-afford such a loss; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the family of the deceased, conveying thereby the sympathy of the House of Representatives to them in their bereavement.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATIONS AND PETITIONS

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communications and petitions which were read by the Clerk.

STATE BUDGET AND TAXES

Resolutions from:

Pennsylvania Millers' and Feed Association and Philadelphia Meatstor Association, urging reduction in state expenditures and state taxes.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

COOPERATION IN WAR EFFORT

A communication from David Darrin, General Consultant, Washington, D. C., urging adoption of an available plan for an extent and intensity of cooperation on the war effort.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

INAUGURAL CEREMONIES

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to inform the members of the House that the plans have been changed for holding the inaugural ceremonies in the front of the Capitol. They will be held in the Forum of the Education Building on account of the inclement weather. This change of plans of course will put you at ease for just a few minutes, for we want to keep on our schedule just as nearly as possible. Instead of the House marching in a body, as we had planned to do, we have come to the conclusion that it will be impossible to go to the Forum in that manner, so you will form in groups and go to the Forum, when the proper time arrives, of which we shall inform you, where seats will be reserved for you. You will have to show your identification card or your badge.

I have delayed making this announcement because so many Members of the House are absent. I would suggest that if there are any members in the House now who do not have their coats and hats, we will be at ease for a few minutes to allow them to get them.

A number of Members did not get their identification cards. That is very important.

The clerk read the names of the Members as follows:

Charles A. Auker
Michael C. Chervenak, Jr.
Chester A. Coleman
David N. Denman
Samuel B. Dennison
Kenneth G. Leydic
Thomas W. Linn
Rowland B. Mahany
Jack J. McDowell
Elmer McSurdy
Louis Menna
Martin C. Mihm
John L. Powers
Albert S. Readinger
David P. Reese, Jr.
Edward A. Schuster, Sr.
Joseph Skale
Philip K. Stinger, Sr.
Ray E. Taylor

The SPEAKER. The families of the members who are in the hall of the House and hold inaugural tickets will go immediately to the Forum.

MEETING OF COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN

The SPEAKER. There will be a meeting of all Committee Chairmen and Vice Chairmen in the House Caucus Room at 3 p. m. today.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 19, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourn this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 25, 1943, at nine o'clock p. m., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, January 25, 1943, at nine o'clock p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, there has been introduced into this House in the past day a bill or a series of bills having to do with the planning of post-war war works for Pennsylvania. The minority party announced to the public over the past weekend that it had proposed to introduce such Legislation this week. I haven't had the opportunity of seeing the bills already introduced but I feel that the bill that I am about to introduce is probably as comprehensive, if not more comprehensive in scope than any thus far presented to the Members of the House.

Briefly, the objectives of the bill which I am about to hand you attempt to do the following:

1. Prepare a reservoir of public works, including highways, schools, hospitals, airports, flood control dams, and sewage disposal plants which will either be constructed by the Commonwealth alone, or by the Commonwealth in conjunction with local governments, the Federal Government, or both. These should be ready to put into immediate construction when unemployment threatens.

2. Prepare a strengthened social security system for Pennsylvania, meeting the hazards of temporary unemployment, old age, accident, and disability more fully, advising both the Legislature and our Representatives in Congress of necessary changes in the present laws. The objective should be to cover more people against more hazards more effectively.

3. Prepare a program for the conversion of war industry in Pennsylvania to peacetime production, offering to our industrialists such assistance as State agencies can afford and working always to insure the primacy of Pennsylvania as the nation's leading manufacturing state.

4. Prepare a program for the conservation and the development of the natural resources of Pennsylvania, so that those resources will be a source of permanent prosperity to the people of the State. This includes our deposits of coal, both bituminous and anthracite, our forests and streams, and the fertility of our soil.

5. Prepare a program for the elimination of every slum and sub-standard dwelling in Pennsylvania, by the substitution of new homes built either by public or private housing enterprise, and including the redevelopment of the areas in our cities which have undergone blight. Rural areas also should be surveyed for sub-standard dwellings, and a plan prepared to aid farmers in constructing better farm homes. Rural electrification should be extended to every farm home in the State.

Mr. Speaker, we know that today throughout the Nation there are forces which are raised up in protest against any such comprehensive plan of preparing for the people of this country, and of course for this State. But it is our purpose, Mr. Speaker, to plan now, to call into being a group of citizens in the professions in the arts and in industry, to call together State officials and local officials, to have the best brains of Pennsylvania to meet on a non-partisan basis and to assure Pennsylvania that security of the people after this war shall be our main fight today. Mr. Speaker, I recommend that this bill be given prompt and serious consideration, together with the other Legislation which has been presented on the same subject.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be filed with the Clerk under the rules.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. After the Inaugural ceremonies are over the Chair requests the members of the House to be back in their seats not later than 1:15 p. m. The Chair will greatly appreciate this cooperation on the part of the members of the House.

If there are any members of the Inaugural Committee on the part of the House present in the House, they are requested to assemble in the Governor's Office immediately.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess until 1:15 p. m. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The HOUSE reconvened at 1:15 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. A reception will be held by the Governor and Mrs. Martin in the rotunda of the Capitol Building for the General Assembly at 1:45 p. m. today.

The Sergeant-at-arms will present himself at the bar of the House, procure the mace, the Chief Clerk acting as Marshall and escort the Members of the House to the Governor's reception.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess until 4:00 p. m. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 4:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. TIEMANN. RESOLUTION No. 7.

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1943.

Whereas, Article two, section eighteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania directs the General Assembly, immediately after each United States decennial census, to apportion the State into senatorial and representative districts in a ratio compared with the population; and

Whereas, This mandate of the Constitution of Pennsylvania has been consistently ignored by legislatures in recent years; and

Whereas, Past sessions of the legislature touched upon the problem of reapportionment only lightly in 1906, made a farce of it in 1921, and adopted unconstitutional reapportionment legislation in 1937 which was declared void by the courts, thus resulting in a situation where the last adequate and equitable reapportionment was made more than 55 years ago, and

Whereas, The reapportionment legislation now in effect is represented by the Acts of May 10, 1921 (P. L. 449) and May 21, 1921 P. L. 455), under which the representation of the citizens of the Commonwealth in the General Assembly is improperly and unequitably distributed; and

Whereas, Citizens in different sections of the Commonwealth have threatened to test the validity of laws enacted by the General Assemblies elected under the present improper apportionment system unless the mandate of article two, section eighteen of the Constitution is fulfilled, and legislation adopted at the present session giving the citizens of the Commonwealth proper representation; and

Whereas, The consistent disregard of the aforesaid provision of the Constitution has existed despite the fact that every member of the General Assembly is bound to his oath of office to obey that Constitution, now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requests the committee on legislative apportionment to make an immediate survey of the State on the basis of the last Federal census, and to recommend as early as possible during the present session, legislation for reapportioning the legislative districts of the Commonwealth in conformity with the provisions of article two, section eighteen of the Constitution.

Referred to the Committee on Apportionment.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPOINTMENT OF SECRETARY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 19, 1943.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have appointed George I. Bloom of Washington, Washington County, to be Secretary to the Governor.

EDWARD MARTIN.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Official signed copy Inauguration Address of Edward Martin, Governor of Pennsylvania, January 19, 1943, Harrisburg, Pa.

PRINTING OF GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the inaugural address of Governor Edward Martin be printed in full in the Legislative Journal.

The motion was agreed to.

INAUGURATION ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR EDWARD MARTIN

GOVERNOR EDWARD MARTIN: My Fellow Citizens: It is with deep humility that I accept the office of Governor of Pennsylvania today. These are trying and difficult times. The normal and peaceful pursuits of our daily lives are shaken and perturbed, leaving us puzzled and bewildered, and the problems of administering our government have multiplied and become correspondingly complex. In our respect, however, we who are about to take office, are fortunate. The Administration of Governor James has been outstanding. It has turned a deficit into a surplus by the American principles of economy and common sense. On behalf of the people of this great Commonwealth, I extend thanks and appreciation and hope that he and the members of his Cabinet may enjoy health, peace and prosperity in the years to come.

The ceremonies today are a magnificent tribute to the American way of living. In the midst of a total war, with our boys daily marching off to training camps and fighting on every continent of the globe, we took time out for a "Battle of Ballots"—to permit a free people to elect their representatives who are their public servants, and not their masters. During these critical times it is particularly urgent that those of us who remain on the home front should uphold the banner of democracy and exercise their right to vote. In this way alone can we keep alive, for those on the battle fronts, the most sacred right that a free citizenry possesses—the right to choose our public servants. The smoke of battle of the last election has cleared. Today, as the Governor of all the people of Pennsylvania, I ask for united support in order that, during our term of office, we may accomplish the maximum good for the greatest number of people.

America is in the second year of the greatest crisis in its history, and Pennsylvania is carrying her share of the war burden, just as she has in all past wars fought for the establishment and preservation of our country. Her soldier sons have died everywhere Americans have fought. Her sailor sons are buried under all the seven seas. And now, in our present conflict, one man in every ten wearing the American uniform is a Pennsylvanian. Our mines are producing coal to keep the steel furnaces ablaze and to keep our trains rolling war materials for shipment to the war fronts. Our shipyards are turning out ships with a speed that is startling our enemies. And Pennsylvania, with her billion dollar investments in 175,000 farms is one of the most important food producers in the world. Our farmers are cooperating magnificently to help feed our Allies and to make our army the best fed army in the world.

This war effort must go on, move forward and its tempo must be increased. To this, we today pledge ourselves and dedicate all our energies. Our land, sea, and air forces must be greater in numbers and superior in training to those of our enemies. Right now, nothing matters but winning the war, because if we do not win it, nothing else will matter. We are fighting a ruthless enemy—an enemy who aims to destroy everything that we hold sacred. Yes—he aims to destroy civilization itself and engulf the world in slavery and darkness and to drive from the face of the earth freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom to worship God. This monster must be destroyed and with him we must root out the poison of hatred, arrogance and Godlessness, which he has instilled into the hearts and minds of millions of men. With a united people working tirelessly, with strong hands and unflinching courage, God willing, we will achieve Victory, and our sons will not have died in vain.

While our greatest job is winning the war, there are State problems that must have immediate attention. Our men carrying the bayonets on the front line, guiding and fighting airplanes and battle tanks, manning our ships and supply lines, deserve every consideration. The democracy they are fighting to preserve must be kept clean and strong. The door of opportunity must be kept open for them, so that when they return, they are not deprived of the American prerogative to compete fairly and strive honestly to succeed each according to his merits. It seems manifestly unfair to fill government positions by civil service now. We should wait until these men come home and have an opportunity to take their rightful places again in society. In the meantime, those in the service must know that the State is not unmindful of the loved ones they left behind and will look out for and guard them with tender and diligent care.

The war will put unusually heavy burdens on some of the Departments of our State government, and in the foreground of these is the Department of Education. Our schools are suffering from the terrific impact of the war. With the drafting of boys in the teen ages, our High Schools will be seriously affected. Boys are restless and eager for the adventure of serving their country. Many teachers, both men and women, are leaving the profession. Curricula must be changed to meet war requirements. Our Department of Education must act with fearless strength to see that our educational institutions are preserved intact. Education is the bulwark of our Republic, and next to the church it fashions our lives and strengthens our beliefs in democracy and its ideals. Let us, above all, teach in the one room school house, as well as in our greatest University, what America means; let us teach the homely philosophy of work that made America great. Let us search the records of our pioneers and apply their ideals of thrift, sacrifice and the love of God to our present day living, and through our schools, instill in the youth of Pennsylvania the real principles of Americanism. I propose this to be the guiding thought of every man and woman having control of the molding of the minds of our children.

We must have a strong and efficient Department of Public Health. The Commanding Officer of an army watches, with scrupulous care, over the health of his soldiers, because he knows that disease can bring disaster greater than the ones suffered on the battlefield. It is equally as important to look out for the health of those on the Home Front. Due to the war, we have suffered many dislocations in our lives. Thousands of men and women, formerly employed in lighter work, are now employed in mines, mills and factories, producing war materials. In the shifting of populations to accelerate war work we are faced with inadequate living conditions. With the restricted use of gasoline and automobiles, our means of transportation—buses, street cars and trains are overcrowded. Add to this the rationing of food and other essential commodities, the anxiety about those in the Service, as well as eventually casualty lists—all these are factors affecting the health of the community. The various Departments of our State, therefore must attain the highest efficiency in the strict inspection of food and sanitary conditions, and increase its activities in all the many branches of its service, in order to guard the health of our people and the safety of men and women in our mines, mills and factories. A casualty on the home front may be as costly as one on the battlefield.

It will be the constant effort of this Administration, through the Department of Labor and Industry, to foster and encourage better relations between management and labor. In this country we recognize that the interests of the worker and the employer are basically the same. Both, working together, have helped to mold and create this mighty Republic, a land of equal opportunity for all with the highest standards of living anywhere on this earth. American labor knows how cruelly workers have suffered at the hands of the tryant abroad. Millions of workers the world over are today enslaved, driven like herds of cattle, toiling ceaselessly in dark despair and without any immediate hope for the future. The employer, too, cannot call anything his own—all he worked for, accumulated and saved is ruthlessly confiscated by the greedy and unprincipled oppressors. That such things may never come to pass in our beloved land, labor and capital are working together to forge the weapons for the destruction of our enemies. Let there be no slackening of these joint efforts. We stand ready, in conjunction with Federal Agencies, to adjust any grievances that may arise. But it is our profound conviction that no grievance of any kind must impede or delay the making or delivering of war materials to our Armed Forces and deprive the American soldier of the weapons with which to defend himself from attack by the enemy.

We must help the Pennsylvania farmer to overcome his lack of man-power and his shortage of materials and equipment. It may be necessary for the Pennsylvania school boys and girls to sacrifice some of their time in the school room and help in the fields. Young men have always fought our wars. In the war between the States, 1,151,000, or 41% of the men in the Union Army were under eighteen years of age. If they could fight, certainly the boys under that age in this generation can help to produce food. Production and distribution are the basic problems of agriculture. Both of them are vitally related to the public interest and to the war effort. Farmers are willing to work and produce and we must give all the help we can to furnish the necessary man-power.

In all matters pertaining to the prosecution of the war we Pennsylvanians pledge our united and unreserved support to the President, the Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces. We pledge the fullest cooperation of every Department and Agency of this Commonwealth to bring about an early, victorious and lasting peace. We will however, jealously guard those functions and preogatives which, under our Constitution, belong exclusively to the State. The American government was never intended to direct the lives and control the efforts and desires of the individual. While some form of regimentation to help win the war may be necessary, regimentation under the pretext of war is dangerous to our freedom and should not be permitted. Bureaucracy is running rampant and must be curbed. Governments are now in fields of service never contemplated by the founders. The great tax burden created by the essential war effort and by non-essential government work is sapping the resources of our people. It is destroying capital which represents the savings of the thrifty. When the war ends we must have capital for private enterprise. If our people do not have capital the government must step in and provide it, and that, when carried too far is state socialism, which is death to the American way of free enterprise. More than five million men and women are now employed by Federal, State and local governments, and these swollen pay-rolls add dangerous burdens to an already overtaxed people. Let us end unnecessary government boondogling, snooping, overlapping and duplication! We must never forget that free enterprise with its free men and women gave us the American farmer, the American industrialist, the American worker and the mighty American industries that are now arming and feeding the United Nations. This government was created to serve a free people; to establish common defense; promote education; uphold tolerance; stamp out abuses of power; combat poverty and to maintain equality of opportunity for all. The greatness of the United States always has been and should remain in the strength of its citizenship.

While we are now thinking and acting in terms of war we cannot help but indulge in a prayerful hope that during our stewardship in office a happy peace will crown our efforts. And peace will bring a multitude of problems in its wake, equally as important as those confronting us today.

First to receive our attention and consideration will be the soldier returning to his home. Under no circumstances must we permit the millions of soldiers to become another lost generation, perplexed and unable to find themselves. Wherever possible, a soldier must be returned to the job that he left, if he desires to have it. New and greater opportunities for employment will have to be provided. We must now lay down a long range program that will include highways planning, flood control, reforestation, purification of streams and other needed public works for the reemployment of men and women, and private industry. In addition, many thousands of young men who had left the school room will want to take up their education where they left off, and the government should do all in its power to make this possible. We purpose that a grateful government shall dedicate itself to the task of rebuilding the lives of our soldiers and give them help and encouragement. We shall also have the problem of the maimed and the wounded, and those who have been widowed and orphaned by the war. While the primary responsibility for these rests upon the Federal Government, Pennsylvania will do its share to heal their wounds and bring cheer and comfort into the bereaved homes. We must, in our own hearts, destroy intolerance. Protestants and Catholics, Jews and Gentiles, colored and white, first generation American and Mayflower descendants. We are all Americans. There can be no divided allegiance. He who is not with us is against us. There is no middle way. There is no place for the merchant of hate in America. "Fox holes" in desert and jungle and rafts adrift in open seas make for deep religious convictions. Sacrifice and sweat on the home front should soften men's hearts. Peace and religion are essential to American life. They are our assurances for the future.

Peace with liberty was the hope, the ambition and the prayer of those who founded this Republic. Its achievement is still the great issue and the object for which the present conflict is being waged. The conditions under which it can be achieved are no different today than they were in the bitter winter of Valley Forge. These conditions were set forth simply and truthfully by the Apostle Paul when he said "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty."

With the help of Almighty God, we pledge our resources, our hearts, our minds, the work of our hands, to achieve a quick and victorious end to this life and death struggle to maintain our freedom. Humbly asking divine guidance, I assume the responsibilities of this high office.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. HANNON. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 8.

In the House of Representatives, January 19, 1943.

Whereas, The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1939 adopted legislation abolishing separate city and county tax assessments for Allegheny County and the City of Pittsburgh, and provided that all such assessments should be made by a county "Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review," created by the act approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626); and

Whereas, The avowed purpose of the aforesaid legislation was to establish a more efficient and equitable assessment system, to promote uniformity in the assessment and taxation of persons and properties, and to reduce departmental costs, thus saving the taxpayers' money; and

Whereas, There is considerable reason to believe that the laudable aims of this legislation are at present being disregarded or defeated; and

Whereas, Frequent accusations have been made that certain of the members of the Allegheny County "Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review," whose terms of office began January first, one thousand nine hundred forty-two, and certain of the personnel under their jurisdiction and direction, are being influenced in the performance of their duties by motives other than the proper performance of their duties, and that unfair assessments are being made; and

Whereas, It appears that at least one of the members of said "Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review," who a few days ago resigned under fire, held office improperly, for the reason that he had not been a resident of Allegheny County for ten (10) years prior to his appointment, as required by the Act of Assembly creating this board; and

Whereas, There are indications that various other irregularities and laxities may exist in connection with the performance of the vitally important duties imposed upon this board by Act of Assembly; now therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, and the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate to act as a legislative committee to examine and investigate all matters relating to the activities, personnel and procedure of the "Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review," with a view to discovering any misconduct or irregularities, and to determine what remedial measures, if any, need be adopted by the General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall elect one of its members as chairman and shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of such chairman, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records, and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served by any persons, and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the aforesaid committee, in view of the urgency of the situation, report to the present session of the General Assembly as speedily as possible with appropriate recommendations for any additional legislation it may deem necessary to remedy any improper conditions which may now exist, and to prevent recurrences thereof.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MIHM asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, more than one year has passed since these United States of America have been challenged on the field of battle. Not only has the physical territory of this free nation been threatened, but all of the ideals for which this great nation stands and which were so ably expressed in the Atlantic Charter, are in danger.

With the greatest of confidence and with the firmest belief, do I wish to express myself as believing that the turning point of this great conflict has been reached and passed, even though many heartaches and reverses may still be in the offing.

Because of the national emergency, projects not needed for defense have been deferred temporarily, with the result that we are now in the process of storing up a reserve of non-defense work which can be given consideration when our fight for rearmament slackens. Nevertheless, if projects are to be ready for rapid employment of those in need, supervision and investigations, plans and specifications should be prepared in advance.

Therefore, I hope that this Legislature will not desist in its task until some definite planning has been done for the soldier boy after he returns from the war, so that at the end of this war we will not be in the same position as we were at the end of the last. Thank you.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. MIHM. HOUSE BILL No. 47.

An Act to amend section three of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," by abolishing the liability of grandchildren and grandparents of indigent persons to care for, maintain, or financially assist such persons.

Referred to the Committee on Welfare.

By Mr. REGAN. HOUSE BILL No. 48.

An Act provding for restoration to employment for persons who leave or have left such employment to serve in the armed forces of the United States during the present war; preserving certain rights of persons so restored to employment; and imposing certain additional powers and duties upon Courts of Common Pleas of the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

By Messrs. BRETHERICK and O'NEILL.
HOUSE BILL No. 49.

An Act to amend the title and sections one to twelve, both inclusive, of the act, approved the nineteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 3), entitled "An act providing for the organization, government, discipline, maintenance and regulation of an additional land force to be known as the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps for the defense of the Commonwealth during any period of time in which the National Guard of Pennsylvania, or any part thereof, shall be in active service of the United States," changing the name of the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps to Pennsylvania State Guard.

Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

By Messrs. BAKER and LEONARD.
HOUSE BILL No. 50.

An Act to further amend section nine of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051), entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance, and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from, the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Boards, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief Board," by providing special assistance to mothers.

Referred to the Committee on Welfare.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BONAWITZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, January 25, 1943, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:24 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 137th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY, 20, 1943. No. 4.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, January 20, 1943.

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Infinite God and Heavenly Father, Thou art our hope and our inspiration—our hope for a better world and our inspiration to work with Thee to attain it. Without Thee we shall but repeat the mistakes and failures of the past. We believe that there is no failure when man is a co-worker with God, for in that partnership weakness is united with Omnipotence. Make us as a nation, and each of us, wise to this divine fact, lest we be doomed to take our place among the nations, which having forgotten God and His righteousness, have perished from the earth.

Believing in Thee and their dependence upon Thee, our fathers in their poverty and weakness laid the strong foundation of the nation that has grown to wealth and power. Help us, their children, for our own and for our children's sakes, to recognize our dependence on Thee and to keep the faith that will never make us ashamed.

As this Senate deliberates and decides as to the best interests of the state, may its members humbly surrender to the guidance of the Holy Spirit and reach decisions that will glorify God and strengthen the Commonwealth.

For our President and for the Governor of our State we pray, that their lives be preserved, and their judgments divinely directed. And all is in the name of Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. WALKER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal approved.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act concerning the election of representatives of the people of Pennsylvania to serve in the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States; and providing for the apportionment of the Commonwealth into congressional districts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Congressional Apportionment.

Mr. THOMAS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 208), entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax, for a limited period of time, on the net incomes of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, and limited partnerships; providing for the assessment, collection, settlement and resettlement of taxes, and reviews and appeal therefrom; conferring powers, and imposing duties on certain persons, corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships, State and county officers, boards, and departments; making an appropriation; and providing penalties," authorizing the Department of Revenue to grant an additional extension of time for the filing of reports under the provisions of said act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. WADE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 3, entitled:

An Act authorizing, in certain cases, the renewal of a motor vehicle operator's license or a motor vehicle registration for persons in the United States military service, upon application therefor, signed by the husband, wife, mother or father of such persons as agent, and the suspension of existing laws requiring the signature of such operator or owner for such renewal.

An Act restricting the granting of licenses to marry to divorced persons.

Which was committed to Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, during the last war there was very little legislation passed by any legislatures regarding after war conditions. I was glad to hear our Governor yesterday state that he was very much concerned about legislation to cover after-the-war conditions.

I understand that in the House several bills have been introduced. This bill that I have provides that the Governor appoint a commission to study and make recommendations concerning public works, slum clearance, urba and rural, public and private housing, rural electrification, extended and strengthened social security, and to formulate a program for the conservation and development of natural resources of the State, and for the conversion of war industries to peace-time production.

Leaders of the Democratic party have made a considerable study of these subjects, and our State chairman, David L. Lawrence, issued a very instructive statement on this subject a few days ago, and in connection with reading this bill and offering it, I would like to have consent to have Mr. Lawrence's statement published in the record.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the request of the Senator from Allegheny is granted.

"STATEMENT OF DEMOCRATIC STATE CHAIRMAN DAVID L. LAWRENCE

"The Democratic Party will sponsor legislation in this Session to prepare Pennsylvania for participation in a Post-War Era in which Freedom from Want will become an accomplished fact in the United States.

"Our Party believes that we are not fighting this war in order to return to a period of economic depression, widespread unemployment, and personal insecurity .

"We believe that the intelligence and the good will of our people are such that we can meet our obligation of providing a job—at living wages—to every returning soldier and to every man and woman who wants to work.

"The government of the Commonwealth is one of the agencies which must act—and act now—if the coming of victory is not to find us unready to meet the problems of peace.

"Accordingly, we will propose, through legislation which will be introduced next week, that the Governor be instructed to appoint a Commission of outstanding citizens of Pennsylvania, representing industry, labor, the farmer, economists, social scientists, municipal governments, and experts in the fields of housing and public works, to begin at once to survey Pennsylvania's war-time economy and to prepare recommendations for conversion to peace with provision for full and continued employment.

"This Cmmission will be instructed to:

"1. Prepare a reservoir of public works, including highways, schools, hospitals, airports, flood control dams, and sewage disposal plants which will either be constructed by the Commonwealth alone, or by the Commonwealth in conjunction with local governments, the Federal government, or both. These should be ready to put into immediate construction when unemployment threatens.

"2. Prepare a strengthened social security system for Pennsylvania, meeting the hazards of temporary unemployment, old age, accident, and disability more fully, advising both the Legislature and our Representatives in Congress of necessary changes in the present laws. The objective should be to cover more people against more hazards more effectively.

"3. Prepare a program for the conversion of war industry in Pennsylvania to peacetime production, offering to our industrialists such assistance as State agencies can afford, and working always to insure the primacy of Pennsylvania as the nation's leading manufacturing state.

"4. Prepare a program for the conservation and the development of the natural resources of Pennsylvania, so that these resources will be a source of permanent prosperity to the people of the State. This includes our deposits of coal, both bituminous and anthracite, our forests and streams, and the fertility of our soil.

"5. Prepare a program for the elimination of every slum and sub-standard dwelling in Pennsylvania, by the substitution of new homes built either by public or private housing enterprise, and including the redevelopment of the areas in our cities which have undergone blight. Rural areas also should be surveyed for sub-standard dwellings, and a plan prepared to aid farmers in constructing better farm homes. Rural electrification should be extended to every farm home in the State.

"There are voices being raised now against even the discussion of Post-War Plans. They will tell you that everything should wait until the war is won.

"The Democratic Party of Pennsylvania believes the war will be fought with even more vigor if our people are relieved of their fears of Post-War economic collapse and unemployment.

"Those who oppose planning now, we regard, as special pleaders, serving selfish causes, who fear the very discussion of social and economic problems.

"The people who sneer most viciously about 'a quart of milk for every Hottentot and a TVA on the Danube' are actually afraid of a quart of milk for every Pennsylvania miners' child and cheap electricity in every Pennsylvania home.

"We realize fully that Pennsylvania alone cannot do the job, and the welfare of our State depends upon the economic health of the whole Nation, just as we have learned that our Nation cannot be secure in a chaotic world where international bandits are allowed to run at large.

"We do believe that Pennsylvania, the wartime arsenal of democracy, can assert its old position as the peacetime keystone of democracy by leading its sister States in planning for a peacetime world of prosperity and plenty."

Mr. McGINNIS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 10, entitled:

An Act creating a state commission to recommend a comprehensive plan of public works, slum clearance, urban and rural public and private housing, rural electrification, extended and strengthened social security, and to formulate a program for the conservation and development of natural resources of the State and for the conversion of war industries to peace-time production, so as to enable the citizens of the State to meet and solve the social and economic problems of the post-war period.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. DENT (by request) read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 11, entitled:

An Act to amend section eighteen of the act, approved the thirteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred thirty-six (P. An Act creating a Municipal Employes' Retirement System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employes of political subdivisions, and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor; imposing certain duties on the State Employes' Retirement Board, and the actuary thereof; providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system, and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith, and as to existing retirement and pension systems and upon officers and employes of such political subdivisions; providing certain exemptions from taxation, execution, attachment, levy and sale; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I was very much impressed yesterday with the Governor's inaugural address, and, among other things, what struck a responsive cord in me was when he recommended elimination of departments that overlapped. I now refer to his inaugural address, and I quote:

"Let us end unnecessary government boondogling, snooping, overlapping and duplication!"

With that thought in mind, I am now ready to introduce a repealer to the parole law. Mr. President, the parole law strikes me now, as it did at the time of its enactment, as unnecessary legislation. The Pardon Board today still operates under the Constitution with respect to commutations. County boards are also functioning. The law itself is not practicable, and does little, if anything, to solve the problem of crime and punishment. It does, however, create an elaborate system of jobs—with its attending expense which will in time exceed one million dollars annually.

Frankly, I am ready to support a parole bill that has teeth in it, especially one that shall tend to reform and rehabilitate the prisoner.

The parole law today falls short of its purpose. It is the result of activities of men steeped in theory. I realize we must have theories of society—but they must work. They must be based on scientific inquiry and not on the prejudiced generalizations of theorists who lack experience of the world they purport to save.

Theorists concocted this law and likewise theorists, not practical in the least, are now entrusted with enforcemen of its provisions. What can we expect?

Mr. JASPAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 18, entitled:

An Act relating to parole; abolishing the Pennsylvania Board of Parole; reestablishing the jurisdiction, powers and duties of the courts and of the Board of Pardons with respect to parole; and authorizing the employment by the Attorney General of a Supervisor of Paroles and field agents.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, in reading in place and presenting to the Chair the following bill, I would like to offer just a brief comment.

When I learned that the distinguished Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, shared with me the belief that when the framers of the Constitution set the voting age they little realized that a youngster of today of eighteen would be the mental equal of a twenty-one year old boy of that period, and so heeding the suggestion of the Joint State Government Commission on the reduction of printing costs, I prevailed upon my colleague, Mr. Holland, since both of us had bills prepared, to join with me in the co-sponsorship of one bill, proposing an amendment to the Constitution.

I hope that some one of my good colleagues on the other side will call to the attention of the learned gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, this magnanimous gesture on my part.

Messrs. COLEMAN and HOLLAND read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 19, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight, section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, reducing the age limit of electors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," amplifying the provisions of said act relating to appeals to court.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MALLERY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight hundred one of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditotr of the Commonwealth," by providing that with respect to certain self-assessing taxes and bonus, any settlement made more than two years after the due date of the report or return may not impose greater tax liability, exclusive of penalties, than that computed by the taxpayer at the time of filing the report or return, unless the taxpayer has given a written waiver of benefits of such two year period; and prescribing the extent to which settlements made after such two year period may be changed in subsequent proceedings.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

SENATE EMPLOYE

Mr. TAYLOR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock p. m. Eastern War Time. The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D. offered the following prayer:

Oh Thou who inhabitest eternity and whose Name is the exponent of power and of righteousness and of love, sustain us by that power to serve Thee, inspire us by that righteousness to imitate Thee, and persuade us by that love tc love Thee with all our heart, soul, strength and mind, and to love our neighbor as ourselves.

We thank Thee for the life that Thou hast given to each of us and for the privileges that are ours in this land that Thou hast blessed with abundance, a land in which freedom is our heritage and our sacred trust. May we, by the grace of God, as a nation and as individuals keep faith with Thee and with our fathers by preserving our inheritance, and with our children by passing it to them unsullied and undiminished.

We pray today for the millions of our young men and women who have dedicated their lives to the preservation of the nation and our way of life, not counting the cost, even as did that Young Man of Galilee who "Took His life and threw it for a world redeemed," and won.

Sustain our President and our Governor and endow them with wisdom that they may lead us all to "do justice, love mercy and walk humbly with our God. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. HOMSHER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

PETITION OF HENRY M. DUBBS, JR., REFERRED TO COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY SPECIAL

The PRESIDENT. The Chair lays before the Senate petition of Henry M. Dubbs, Jr., claiming seat in the Senate of Pennsylvania as the duly elected Senator of the Eighth Senatorial District of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The petition was read as follows:

PETITION OF HENRY M. DUBBS, JR., CLAIMING SEAT IN THE SENATE OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA AS THE DULY ELECTED SENATOR OF THE 8th SENATORIAL DISTRICT OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Henry M. Dubbs, Jr., makes and files this petition as claimant to a seat in the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, having been duly elected thereto by the qualified electors of the 8th Senatorial District of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and requests consideration of his claim by a standing committee on elections of the Senate and in accordance with Sections 1747-48 of the Act of 1937, P. L., 1333, for the following reasons:

1. At the election for Senator in the 8th Senatorial District held on November 3rd, 1942, the unofficial election returns indicated that your petitioner received 59,153 votes and the Hon. Louis H. Farrell received 59,074 votes.

2. At the official count conducted by the County Commissioners of the City and County of Philadelphia, numerous ballots in favor of your petitioner were set aside or excluded by them when, in fact, they should have been counted in favor of your petitioner.

3. At the aforesaid official count conducted by said County Commissioners, numerous votes in favor of the respondent, the Hon. Louis H. Farrell, were counted in favor of the respondent, that should have been set aside or excluded.

4. Thereafter, the aforesaid, County Commissioners made their official return in which it was indicated that the respondent had been elected to the senatorial seat from the 8th District over your petitioner by 15 votes.

5. In accordance with Section 1742 of the aforesaid election code, a petition in writing was filed with the Court of Common Pleas No. 1 of the County of Philadelphia, as of September Term, 1942, No. 2573, contesting said election and praying the Honorable Court to try and determine the contest.

6. No answer has yet been filed by the respondent to said petition and the Court has not yet determined said contest.

7. Your petitioner at the same time petitioned said Election Court for the opening of numerous ballot boxes in said Senatorial District and hearings were thereupon held in order to determine whether numerous contested ballots were properly counted in favor or against the contestants.

8. At the aforesaid hearings before the said Election Court, numerous ballots in favor of your petitioner were set aside or excluded by the Court, which should have been counted in favor of your petitioner. Likewise, numerous ballots in favor of the respondent, the Hon. Louis H. Farrell, were accepted and counted by the Court in favor of the respondent, when, in fact and in law, they should have been set aside and excluded.

9. As a result of said hearing, the Election Court decided that the vote for Senator in the 8th Senatorial District was:

Hon. Louis H. Farrell 59,048
Henry M. Dubbs, Jr. 59,046

10. Your petitioner being aggrieved by the decision of the Court, is preparing his appeal to the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and your petitioner is informed by counsel that said appeal will be in the form of a case stated by counsel for petitioner and respondent.

Your petitioner, in view of the foregoing, requests this petition to be referred to the Standing Committee on Elections of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in order that it may proceed to hear the claims of your petitioner and the respondent and to report the facts and a resolution expressing its decision for the consideration of the members of the Senate.

HENRY M. DUBBS, Jr.
Petitioner

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania }
County of Philadelphia } ss:

HENRY M. DUBBS, Jr., being duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the petitioner within named, that he believes that he was duly elected to a seat in the Senate representing the 8th Senatorial District of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and that the statements set forth in his petition are just and true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

HENRY M. DUBBS, Jr.

PETITION REFERRED

The PRESIDENT. This petition would ordinarily be referred to the Committee on Elections but inasmuch as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, is Chairman of that committee, the Chair will assign the petition to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, if it is not too much out of order, I am a little troubled about that reference of the petition from the Eighth Senatorial District to another committee.

I think it would rather be proper and graceful to say that this is at the request of Senator Farrell, the Chairman of the Committee on Elections. It is not snatched from him, but he has requested to be divested of it, and I think, for the sake of the record, that ought to be made clear. We ought to give Senator Farrell the credit for retiring from the scene.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is sure that met with Senator Farrell's approval.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

JOINT SESSION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 25, 1943.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly, I should like to address the Members in Joint Session at twelve-fifteen p. m., Tuesday, January 26, 1943.

EDWARD MARTIN.

HOUSE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION

RELATIVE TO COMPENSATION OF PAGES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on State Government:

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, Due to prevailing war time conditions, it is impossible to employ pages at the per diem compensation now prescribed by law and it is necessary, in order to have the services of pages, without which the Senate and the House of Representatives cannot properly function, to immediately employ pages, chief pages, a page to the President of the Senate, a page to the President Pro Tempore and a Speaker's page at a rate of per diem compensation in excess of that now provided by law; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), that the Senate and the House of Representatives are hereby authorized to employ pages at the rate of compensation of four dollars ($4.00) per diem each and chief pages at the rate of compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per diem each, and that the President of the Senate is hereby empowered to employ one page at the rate of compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per diem, and that the President Pro Tempore of the Senate is hereby empowered to employ one page at the rate of compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per diem and that the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby empowered to employ one page at the rate of compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per diem; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation more fully to effectuate this resolution and to relieve the several officers of the Senate and of the House of Representatives as well as the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth from all liability for acting under the provisions of this resolution and in making payments to said several pages in accordance therewith; and be it further

Resolved, That the provisions of this resolution shall be effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor,

RESOLUTION CALLED FROM TABLE AND REFERRED TO COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY SPECIAL

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call from the table Resolution Serial No. 11 (not printed), introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, on January 5, 1943, relative to the election of Senator Farrell and move that it be referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. EALY. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The resolution was read as follows:

RELATIVE TO SEATING LOUIS H. FARRELL, EIGHTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT

In the Senate, January 5, 1943.

Whereas, The 1942 election for the office of Senator in the Eighth Senatorial District in the County of Philadelphia has been and still is the subject of an election contest; and

Whereas, The election court in the County of Philadelphia, in deciding said contest, has determined that the Hon. Louis H. Farrell had received two votes more than his opponent, Henry M. Dubbs, Jr., in a total of more than 120,000 votes cast in said district; and

Whereas, The said Henry M. Dubbs, Jr., has filed his appeal from said decision with the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The Secretary of the Commonwealth has certified the returns of said election court to this body, notwithstanding the appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court; therefore I move

That the Hon. Louis H. Farrell, be directed to stand aside and his name withheld from the roll of the Senate; and that the certification of the election returns in the Eighth Senatorial District, contained in the communication of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, be referred to a committee on elections to be appointed, for consideration pending the decision of the Supreme Court on said appeal.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. TAYLOR, from the Committee on Finance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 208), entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax, for a limited period of time, on the net incomes of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, and limited partnerships; providing for the assessment, collection, settlement and resettlement of taxes, and reviews and appeal therefrom; conferring powers, and imposing duties on certain persons, corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships, State and county officers, boards, and departments; making an appropriation; and providing penalties," authorizing the Department of Revenue to grant an additional extension of time for the filing of reports under the provisions of said act.

Mr. MALLERY, from the Committee on Municipal Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

An Act creating a Municipal Employes' Retirement System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employes of political subdivisions, and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor; imposing certain duties on the State Employes' Retirement Board, and the actuary thereof; providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system, and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith, and as to existing retirement and pension systems and upon officers and employes of such political subdivisions; providing certain exemptions from taxation, execution, attachment, levy and sale; and making an appropriation.

Mr. JASPAN, from the Committee on Finance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 21, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight hundred six of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of money erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwelath and imposing penalties, affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivision, every person, association and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," changing and restricting the right of the Commonwealth to impose interest on certain unpaid taxes and bonus when such taxes and bonus are not settled within a prescribed period of time; and eliminating the imposition of interest on unpaid taxes and bonus at any greater rate than six per centum per annum.

Mr. SHAPIRO, from the Committee on Finance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 31, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties, affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth, by requiring cash payment of refunds due from the Commonwealth.

Mr. WOODWARD, from the Committee on Finance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 33, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and two of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State Government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commnwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every departments, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," further regulating the making of resettlements by the Department of Revenue.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO, from the Committee on Municipal Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 37, entitled:

An Act to amend section five hundred forty of the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto," further regulating the adjustment of indebtedness where part of a township is annexed to a city of the third class.

Mr. COLEMAN, from the Committee on Municipal Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred seventeen of the act, approved the fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 519), entitled "An act concerning boroughs, and revising, amending, and consolidating the law relating to boroughs," further regulating the adjustment of liabilities and property where part of a township is annexed to a borough.

Mr. WATKINS, from the Committee on Finance, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight hundred one of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by providing that with respect to certain self-assessing taxes and bonus, any settlement made more than two years after the due date of the report or return may not impose greater tax liability, exclusive of penalties, than that computed by the taxpayer at the time of filing the report or return, unless the taxpayer has given a written waiver of benefits of such two year period; and prescribing the extent to which settlements made after such two year period may be changed in subsequent proceedings.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I hope the Senate will bear with me a few minutes before presenting this bill.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, last summer, the Philadelphia newspaper launched a campaign to prevent a threatened rise in gas rates as applicable to household consumers. The Philadelphia Inquirer in particular exposed the perfidy and treachery of the star chamber proceedings held by the Gas Commission together with officers of the Gas Company. Needless to say, as a result of these star-chamber proceedings, an increase in the price of gas was ordered by the Gas Commission.

Immediately civic organizations, groups and especially labor rose in protest against the proposed increase. Similarly, Senator Stiefel and I were loud in our denunciation of the high handed methods resorted to to mulct the rate-payer. I personally delivered an address over Radio Station WCAU denouncing the methods used and suggesting certain remedies. I have here a copy of my address and ask that it be made part of the record. I shall not, however, take up the time of the Senate in reading it.

"THE PHILADELPHIA GAS RATE SITUATION"

By Senator H. Jerome Jaspan

July 25, 1942, Radio Station WCAU, 6:15 P. M.

"Four and a half years ago, immediately after the City Council of Philadelphia had passed the ordinance embodying the essential terms and conditions of the existing gas-works lease, I was invited to deliever a radio address on the subject of 'The Proposed Gas Works Lease.' At that time I vigorously denounced the ordinance and lease, and directly charged the members of City Council, who had voted for the lease, with the betrayal of their public trust. As my remarks of four and a half years ago have assumed added significance during the past ten days, when the gas consumers of our City have been shocked by the sudden and wholly unexpected prospect of an $800,000 annual increase in their gas bills, I shall take the liberty of quoting a few pertinent sections of that address.

"December 29, 1937, will be impressed indelibly on the pages of history. It is the day on which the chosen representatives of our citizens, assembled in the Council Chamber of Philadelphia, placed their final stamp of approval on one of the most brazen and colossal schemes ever imposed on an unsuspecting public. By voting in favor of the lease of the city-owned gas plant to the Philadelphia Gas Works Company, a subsidiary of the United Gas Improvement Company, sixteen members of our City Council not only endorsed the practices and policies of a corporation which has an unparalleled record of public exploitation, but also effectually disposed of the City's right, title and interest in an investment of $70,000,000. Occurring at a time when Philadelphia is struggling to extricate itself from the quagmire of financial embarrassment, and thousands of men, women and children are suffering severe privations, I assert that the gas lease is a shocking assault upon the intelligence of our people, and a challenge to the decency, fairness and civic consciousness of our community. High pressure propagandists in the employ of the United Gas Improvement Company have spared little effort or expense in polluting the atmosphere with the bacteria of mistatements in the hope of deluding the taxpayers into the belief that the lease is an excellent one for the City. . . . The evidence is overwhelming that the gas-lease was planned without the minutest regard for the welfare of the people of Philadelphia. . . . By approving this lease, City Council has placed our neck in a noose, and control of the trap in the hands of the United Gas Improvement Company."

"One month after I had thus condemned this vicious gas lease, as well as the members of City Coucil who had voted for it, I commenced an action before the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, designed to place the Philadelphia Gas Works Company under the jurisdiction of the State Commission, and thereby preclude the dangerous consequences of the lease. I also sought a substantial reduction in the gas rates. After bitter opposition by the gas company, the Public Utility Commission finally sustained my cause of action, assumed the jurisdiction over the municipal gas works, and ordered a reduction in the gas rates for all consumers. This occurred on September 27, 1938. The date is significant, as it marks the first time that the stranglehold over the gas consumers in this city had been broken since the year 1897, when the U. G. I. first began to manage the municipal gas plant. Unfortunately, this victory for the gas consumers was only short lived, as the gas company quickly obtained a court injunction against the enforcement of the Commission order. A few months later, while this matter was pending in the court, the 1939 session of the State Legislature opened; and the gas company, with the powerful support of high-priced lobbyists, soon succeeded in steam-rolling into law an Act which effectively stripped the Public Utility Commission of all jurisdiction over the rates, service and operation of the Philadelpha Gas Works Company. This amendment to the Public Utility Law became operative on March 21, 1939, and placed the welfare of the gas consumers entirely in the hands of the Philadelphia Gas Commission. My hopeless battle against this amendment on the floor of the Senate is now a matter of public record. And some of my listeners this evening may recall my address over this Station early in 1939, immediately before the enactment of this amendment, at which time I vigorously criticized the measure and predicted an increase in the gas rates as a result of it.

"The U. G. I., through its subsidiary, the Philadelphia Gas Company, now possesses a vise-like grip over the gas consumers in this City. And the City Council, even if it were inclined to correct this deplorable situation, is virtually helpless, as it had completely abdicated its authority by the express language of the ordinance creating the gas lease. The only hope of rescue that now remains for the people of Philadelphia is through the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, under Section 11(b) (1). As a gas ratepayer, I have intervened sometime ago in the proceedings presently active before the Securities and Exchange Commission, involving the U. G. I. system, and have filed appropriate petitions both to divorce the U. G. I. from control of the Philadelphia Gas Works Company and to disestablish the Philadelphia Gas Works Company as a gas utility company.

"Pending a final determination of these issues by the Securities and Exchange Commission, the gas situation in this City demands first-aid treatment. And such remedy is possible only by forcing out of office the majority of Phila. present rubber-stamp Gas Commission which, by its shameless approval of the $800,000 increase in the gas rates, has forfeited the confidence and respect of the people of Philadelphia. Although the City Controller and the representative of the gas company are legal fixtures on the Gas Commission, the status of the other three members is entirely different. While they cannot legally be ousted during the term for which they have been appointed, I am sure that they will be compelled to yield to the irresistible force of an aroused public opinion. It should be remembered that two of these members are at present City Councilmen, one of them is chairman of the Gas Commission, and that both were among the sixteen original members of the City Council which had approved the iniquitous gas lease with the Philadelphia Gas Works Company. Their speedy acquiescence in the $800,000. rate increase is therefore not surprising. It should be remembered also, that the third Commissioner is amenable to the Mayor who, as a former member of City Council, was himself one of the sixteen Councilmen who voted for the gas lease. If these three members of the Gas Commission were possessed of a scintilla of civic consciousness, they would promptly resign their office, and thereby facilitate the appointment of three new Commissioners who will command the confidence and respect of the gas consumers in our community.

"There is not the slightest justification or excuse for the Gas Commission's recent action in hastily approvng an increase in the gas rates. Although the Commission appears to be protesting loudly that it is innocent of any wrongdoing, allegedly because it has no choice in the matter as its hands are tied, the truth of the situation is that if the Commission's hands are tied at all they have been tied by the gas company, and not by any provision of the law. Clause 6 of the present gas lease expressly provides that > "the Commission shall, from time to time, make recommendations to City Council . . . for the best maintenance and development of the Gas Works . . . and to the Gas Company with respect to their operation, and shall execute such other duties as are provided for under other sections . . ."

Furthermore, to enable the Commission to assure the most efficient and economical operation of the gas works at all times, Clause 6 also provides:

"Said Commission shall have the power and authority to employ such expert or experts, or other employees, as in their judgment shall be deemed necessary, their compensation to be considered an operating expense."

"The calloused indifference which the Commission has manifested with respect to its duty and responsibility under the law is disclosed by the paltry expenditures which it has made in order to assure the most efficient and economical operation of the gas plant by the Philadelphia Gas Works Company. During the year 1940, the Commission spent a total of $6,263.77, and for the year 1941, the total dropped to $4,818.25. The utter absurdity of such expenditures to protect the gas consumers' interests is accentuated by the fact that the gas plant represents an investment of approximately $70,000,000, with a gross revenue of close to $16,000,000 in 1941, and operating expenses approaching $10,000,000. Is there any wonder why the gas company has so brazenly demanded an $800,000 increase in the gas rates?

"If there were evidence that the gas works were operated at maximum efficiency, and an increase in gas rates were inevitable by reason of the rise in cost of a specified grade of oil required in the production of gas, I would unhesitatingly support any action designed to obtain a reduction in the price of this oil in order to avoid an increase in the gas rates. But I am unalterably opposed to placing our City in an unfavorable light before the rest of the nation by seeking a Federal subsidy on the cost of oil, at the expense of the American taxpayers, for the sole purpose of covering up any inefficiency in the operation of the gas plant by the Philadelphia Gas Works Company, or any dereliction in duty of the Philadelphia Gas Commission. The fair reputation of our City would doubtless descend to a low level if it is discovered that we had been seeking financial aid from Washington with the one hand, only to fatten the overfed coffers of the gas company with the other.

"If there is in fact a prospective deficit of $800,000 a year, even with the efficient operation of the gas works, I am sure that the gas consumers of Philadelphia will accept a rate increase in the proper spirit. But before they are required to pay such higher cost of gas, they have the right to expect the proper confirmation of the need for the increase by an impartial board of experts, after a thorough investigation of the methods and practices now employed by the gas campany in its operation of the gas works. It would be well for the gas company and the gas commission to note that the people of Philadelphia will not be cajoled or intimidated.

"In conclusion, I strongly urge the immediate suspension of the proposed gas rate increase, and a thorough investigation of the entire gas situation in this City by a commission of representative citizens, with funds appropriated by City Council for the employment of technical experts, to be followed by a public hearing. Based on my intimate knowledge of the gas situation in Philadelphia, and fortified by the advice of competent authority, I have no hesitancy in asserting that an impartial investigation of the operation of the gas plant will show that the present gas rates can easily be reduced without impairing the financial integrity of the gas works, and that there is no justification whatsoever for any increase in the rates at the present time."

The campaign started by the press and joined in by various groups accomplished some good. The proposed increase was reduced by approximately 50 per cent. Mind you, only five months have elapsed and the Gas Commission is now ready to do the bidding of the Gas Company and further increase the rates by an approximately 20 per cent. This time, however, the Gas Commission decided to hold a public hearing. In this connection, may I add that the Commission went through the motions of a hearing. Much was made of utterances by the Gas Company officials, but little or no attention paid to the suggestions or advice of others. It was what I term a Punch and Judy show, or to be more modern, an "Eddie Bergen and Charlie McCarthy Act," the Gas Company as Eddie Bergen and the Gas Commission as Charley McCarthy. The Philadelphia Gas Commission, notwithstanding the fact that they are representatives of the public, assumed a public-be-damned attitude.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, it has become increasingly apparent that the gas consumers of Philadelphia have little or no protection. Therefore, it falls to our lot to take the necessary steps to safeguard the interests of the rate-payer, and with this thought in mind, we are ready to present a bill designed not necessarily as a panacea, but to say the least to remedy the situation and possibly avoid the recurrence of such unwarranted increases.

Mr. President, this bill is designed to place under the jurisdiction and supervision of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission all municipally-owned utilities, and thus restore the power and authority which the Commission originally possessed under the Public Utility Law of 1937.

It will be recalled that, early in 1939, a group of high-pressure utility lobbyists from Philadelphia descended on Harrisburg and succeeded in "blitzing" through the Legislature an amendment to our State Law expressly depriving the Public Utility Commission of any jurisdiction over municipally-owned utilities. The real and acknowledged purpose of this amendment was to strip the Commission from all control over the rates, service and operation of The Philadelphia Gas Works Company, a subsidiary of the United Gas Improvement Company which is the oldest of the giant utility holding companies in the United States. This gas utility operates, under a long-term lease, the $70,000,000 municipally-owned gas plant in Philadelphia, and supplies service to approximately 500,000 gas consumers. The U. G. I. was desperately determined to avoid any regulation by our State Commission in order to continue its unmolested mulcting of the gas consumers in the City of Brotherly Love, a practice which it has enjoyed uninterruptedly since 1897, almost half a century. This holding company was eager to place the supervision of the gas-works in the hands of a local gas commission whose outstanding accomplishments have been:

1. It has recently increased the gas rates close to $450,000 annually, and now threatens to impose an additinal increase of almost $3,500,000.

2. It has steadfastly refused to engage impartial experts to investigate the affairs of the gas company, despite its authority and legal obligation to do so for the proper protection of the gas consumers. The dereliction of the commission in this important duty is attested by the admitted fact that its annual expenditure for supervising the $70,000,000 gas-works averages less than $5,000.

3. It has successfully resisted all efforts of the gas consumers to make such an investigation, and has repudiated all suggestions of the rate-payers for improving the efficiency of operation of the gas plant.

4. Its arrogant neglect of duty has forced the 2,000,000 residents of Philadelphia to the brink of a veritable volcano. A number of persons have already lost their lives as a result of recent gas explosions, and several juries, with all the evidence before them, have rendered the same verdict of gross negligence against the gas company.

Our present Legislature, Mr. President, has a glorious opportunity to set an example for the rest of the nation in furthering our war effort. In the Price Control Act of 1942, the Congress has expressly omitted any Federal control over utility rates, and has impliedly confided this responsibility to the various State lawmakers. Let us measure up to this responsibility and do all in our power to avoid any increase in the utility rates of the consumers in Pennsylvania. Let us be the first to march in step with the avowed purpose of our national leaders. We can do this Mr. President, by acting promptly on this bill, and place all municipally-owned utilities under the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission. In this way, the expert knowledge, training and experience of the Commission's staff of engineers and accountants will be at once made available to these utilities, and thereby provide the maximum protection against threatened rate increases for hundreds of thousands of utility consumers in our State, particularly during the existing emergency.

Mr. JASPAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 42, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause ten of section two, and section three hundred one of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities, including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaging in public utility business, by prescribing, defining, and limiting their duties, powers, and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle; conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies and corporations, including to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act; authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates; providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilities and affiliated interests; and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued, assumed, or kept by persons, associations, companies, corporations or municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines and imprisonment for violations of the provisions of this act and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act," by including in the definition of "Facilities," as used therein, property owned by municipal corporations of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania when the said act became effective; extending regulation of rates by the commission to any public utility service furnished by a municipal corporation beyond its corporate limits; and removing exemption from such regulation in favor of operating agencies of municipal corporations.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in presenting these two bills, I would like to make a very brief statement.

In 1941, the Judiciary General Committee presented to this Senate a resolution dealing with rules and regulations of various departments, commissions and boards throughout the Capital.

As a result of the study that the committee made at that time and in collaboration with the Pennsylvania State Bar Association, these two bills were prepared with the hope of putting an end to this bureaucratic lawmaking that we discovered here on the Hill.

Mr. WALKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 53, entitled:

An Act relating to the practice, procedure, regulations, and adjudications of departments, departmental administrative boards and commissions, independent administrative boards and commissions, officers and other administrative agencies of this Commonwealth, and judicial review thereof; and preserving equitable jurisdiction in certain cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 54, entitled:

An Act providing for the Pennsylvania Register, for the publication and distribution of certain orders, regulations, rules, notices, proclamations and similar instruments; imposing powers and duties on the Department of State and the Department of Property and Supplies; creating the Pennsylvania Register Board and the Office of Director of the Pennsylvania Register; and defining their powers and duties; and making an appropriation for payment of salaries and expenses and costs of publication and distribution of the Pennsylvania Register.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Messrs. STEVENSON, THOMAS and COLEMAN read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 55, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802), entitled "An act creating a commission to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence frequently caused by the mining of anthracite coal; directing such commission to make a report and recommendations to the General Assembly; conferring certain powers upon such commission, including the power to issue subpoenas, administer oaths and affirmations, retain employes and expend funds, and making an appropriation," extending the time within which the commission is required to make its report.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Messrs. HALUSKA and DENT read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 56, entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of the act, approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 242), entitled "An act to promote the public health and safety by providing for examination and registration of those who desire to engage in the occupation of beauty culture; defining beauty culture, and regulating beauty culture shops, schools, students, apprentices, teachers, managers and operators; conferring powers and duties upon the Department of Public Instruction; providing for appeals to certain courts by applicants and licensees; and providing penalties," by changing the requirements as to the service of apprentices in beauty shops.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health.

Messrs. STIEFEL and SHAPIRO read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 57, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of Temple University at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 58, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the sixteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 383), entitled "An act concerning the permanent recordation of certain births, birth certificates, the issuance of copies of such certificates, and prescribing the procedure therefor; enlarging the powers and duties of the Department of Health and the Bureau of Vital Statistics; providing for appeals from the action of the Bureau of Vital Statistics to the Orphans' Court, and imposing duties and powers on such Orphans' Court," providing for the permanent recordation of the birth of foundlings.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 59, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania abolishing the County of Philadelphia as a separate political entity, and providing for administering of county functions by City of Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 60, entitled:

An Act to further amend section forty-six of the act approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1237), entitled "An act affecting marital relations; prescribing grounds and regulating proceedings for divorce and the annulment of bigamous marriages; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," extending the right to alimony pendente lite, counsel fees and expenses to husbands.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. JASPAN, DiSILVESTRO and STIEFEL read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 61, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. JASPAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 62, entitled:

An Act to amend Section three hundred nine of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities, including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaging in public utility business, by prescribing defining, and limiting their duties, powers, and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle; conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies, and corporations, including to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act; authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates; providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilities and affiliated interests, and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued, assumed, or kept by persons, associations, companies, corporations or municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies, and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for violations of the provisions of this act and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act," by protecting the rates of patrons who have been transferred from one public utility to another public utility whose rates are of a higher level for similar service.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Utilities.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, the Anthracite Subsidence Commission is requesting an additional lease of life.

We have submitted here—and I think there appears upon the desks of all members of the Senate—a preliminary report of the activities of the Commission and the testimony that has been taken.

We found that it was impossible to definitely conclude our recommendations by the first of February, as required by the Act of 1941, and so, Mr. President, I am offering a concurrent resolution extending the life of this Commission to March 15th, and would ask for its immediate adoption.

URGING CONTINUATION OF ANTHRACITE SUBSIDENCE COMMISSION

Mr. STEVENSON offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 25, 1943.

Whereas, The Anthracite Subsidence Commission created by the Act approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802), is, by the provisions of said Act of Assembly, required to make its report to the General Assembly not later than the first day of February, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and

Whereas, Because of the greatness of its task and difficulties brought about by war time conditions, the Commission has not had sufficient time to prepare its report so as to enable it to present the same by the time specified; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the time within which the Anthracite Subsidence Commission shall make its report to the General Assembly is hereby extended until the fifteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation more fully to effectuate this resolution and to permit the Anthracite Subsidence Commission to continue the performance of its duties and the exercise of its powers and privileges, and to make its report to the General Assembly not later than the fifteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and be it further

Resolved, That the provisions of this resolution shall be effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

JOINT SESSION

Mr. LETZLER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 25, 1943.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives will meet in joint convention Tuesday, January 26, 1943, at twelve fifteen o'clock p. m., for the purpose of listening to an address by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT HIS EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR, TO THE HALL OF THE HOUSE

Mr. SNOWDEN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 25, 1943.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That a committee of three on the part of the Senate be appointed to act with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such committee), to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to the Hall of the House to address the Members of the General Assembly in Joint Session on Tuesday, January 26, 1943, at twelve fifteen o'clock p. m., pursuant to a resolution already adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the President Pro Tempore The Chair announces the appointment of the following committee, the Senator from Lycoming, Mr. Snowden; the Senator from Jefferson, Mr. Henry I. Wilson; and the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. COLEMAN, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 25, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, February 1, 1943 at 9 o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, February 1, 1943, at 9 o'clock.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

URGING TIME LIMIT BE FIXED FOR INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

Mr. McGINNIS offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 25, 1943.

Resolved, That Monday, March 1, 1943, be fixed as the last day for the introduction of Bills in the Senate during this Regular Session, except Appropriation Bills.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny whether in submitting this resolution he requested immediate consideration?

Mr. McGINNIS. I did not, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. He did not?

Mr. McGINNIS. I did not.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE EMPLOYES

Mr. TAYLOR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 25, 1943.

Resolved, That the following persons be elected employes of the Senate, as is provided for by Act of Assembly:

PAGES

Gurney Hartman, Lemoyne, Pa.
Harris T. Rubin, Harrisburg, Pa.

URGING PRIORITIES FOR REPAIR AND RECONSTRUCTION OF HIGHWAYS

Mr. CROWE offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January, 1943.

The Federal Government has taken over Tobyhanna Camp, the former Artillery Camp in Monroe County as a training camp for aviation ground troops.

The Camp is located on State Highway Route No. 561, a short distance from the Lackawanna Trail (U. S. Route No. 611), and all travel to and from the Camp is over the said Lackawanna Trail.

The condition of this highway is such as to make travel upon it slow, hazardous and unsafe, and make it unfit for the speedy movement of troops and equipment to and from the Camp.

In order to place the Lackawanna Trail and the short section of Route No. 561 leading from the Trail to Camp Tobyhanna in condition to facilitate travel to and from this Camp, extensive repairs must be made; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Secretary of Highways shall immediately request the proper Federal authorities to grant such priorities as may be necessary to obtain the material required for the repair and reconstruction of the said highways, and thereupon to begin the repair and reconstruction thereof to the end that military and other travel thereon may be safe; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to the Secretary of Highways.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I object.

RESOLUTION LAID ON TABLE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that the resolution lie on the table for the reason that at present there is no Secretary of Highways.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Even if there was a Secretary of Highways, Mr. President, I would want the resolution to lie on the table.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, may we have the motion of the Senator from Philadelphia repeated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia repeat his motion?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, we are embarrassed for the moment by the absence of a Secretary of Highways, and I think it is proper that the resolution offered by the gentleman from Monroe should lie on the table, and my motion was that the resolution lie on the table until we elect a Secretary of Highways, tomorrow, I hope.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

NOTARIES PUBLIC

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, nominations for appointment as notary public.

CONSIDERATION OF NOTARIES PUBLIC

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of nominations for appointment as Notaries Public, sent to the Senate January 25, 1943, by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 208), entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax, for a limited period of time, on the net incomes of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, and limited partnerships; providing for the assessment, collection, settlement and resettlement of taxes, and reviews and appeals therefrom; conferring powers, and imposing duties on certain persons, corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships, State and county officers, boards, and departments; making an appropriation; and providing penalties," authorizing the Department of Revenue to grant an additional extension of time for the filing of reports under the provisions of said act.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

An Act creating a Municipal Employes' Retirement System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employes of political subdivisions, and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor; imposing certain duties on the State Employes' Retirement Board, and the actuary thereof; providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system, and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith, and as to existing retirement and pension system and upon officers and employes of such political subdivisions; providing certain exemptions from taxation, execution, attachment, levy and sale; and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 21, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight hundred six of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled, "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties, affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," changing and restricting the right of the Commonwealth to impose interest on certain unpaid taxes and bonus when such taxes and bonus are not settled within a prescribed period of time; and eliminating the imposition of interest on unpaid taxes and bonus at any greater rate than six per centum per annum.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 31, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by requiring cash payment of refunds due from the Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 33, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and two of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commnwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," further regulating the making of resettlements by the Department of Revenue.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 37, entitled:

An Act to amend section five hundred forty of the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto," further regulating the adjustment of indebtedness where part of a township is annexed to a city of the third class.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred seventeen of the act, approved the fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 519), entitled "An act concerning boroughs, and revising, amending, and consolidating the law relating to boroughs," further regulating the adjustment of liabilities and property where part of a township is annexed to a borough.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight hundred one of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by providing that with respect to certain self-assessing taxes and bonus, any settlement made more than two years after the due date of the report or return may not impose greater tax liability, exclusive of penalties, than that computed by the taxpayer at the time of filing the report or return, unless the taxpayer has given a written waiver of benefits of such two year period; and prescribing the extent to which settlement made after such two year period may be changed in subsequent proceedings.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, last week this body confirmed all the appointments of the Governor to his cabinet with the exception of two. Those two secretaries, handle a great deal of money. Each of them will spend, perhaps, one hundred and fifty million dollars in the biennium. If the war should end within their term of four years, they might spend a great deal more, in the Bureau of Assistance and in Highways.

After the war is over—and we hope it will be soon, within a year—on after-war construction the Department of Highways and the Bureau of Assistance will spend these enormous sums of the taxpayers' money.

We on this side of the House are not here to block any nominations. We have not voted against these men, but if you read some of the press of this State it would appear that the Democratic Senators have opposed these nominations. All we ask is time to learn who these men are. The news that comes to us through the press and otherwise is that one was a dressmaker or a manufacturer of dresses, and the other was a hotel proprietor, and we feel, and seriously, that in these two extremely important positions in the State Government, that we at least should know something more about these men. They may be entirely qualified, they may be the best appointments the Governor has made, but we on this side as yet do not know it.

We have asked the Chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations to have these two men appear here tomorrow or the next day before his committee, and invite any Senator from this side or the other side of the body to appear and question and interview these two men, and the Chairman has consented to do that, if he can locate or have the two gentlemen here tomorrow or the next day.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, January 26, 1943, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 10:56 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time until Tuesday, January 26, 1943, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, January 25, 1943

The House met at 9 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

O God, our help in ages past,
Our Hope for years to come,

Accept our gratitude for all thy bountiful blessings bestowed upon us. May Thy Spirit illumine the minds and direct the judgments of the law-making body of this state. Grant that the laws enacted during this legislative session may work for the security, honor and welfare of the commonwealth.

As our country is engaged in this present war, grant unto her and her allies Thy divine strength to fight for the right. We beseech Thee to remember our boys and girls in the armed forces. Help all of our people to put their trust in Thee. May we never forget that:

"Tho' the cause of evil prosper,
Yet 'tis truth alone is strong;
Tho' her portion be the scaffold,
And upon the throne be wrong,
Yet, that scaffold sways the future,
And behind the dim unknown
Standeth God, within the shadow,
Keeping watch above His own." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Tuesday, January 19, 1943.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Tuesday, January 19, 1943,, when on motion of Mr. BOORY unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

COMMUNICATIONS AND PETITIONS

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communications and petitions which were read by the Clerk.

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

A communication from Robert L. Johnson, Temple University, praying for an increased appropriation for Temple University.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

SCHOOLS

A communication from Morris E. Leeds, President of School District of Philadelphia, praying for additional state-aid for all school districts.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Murray for Mr. O'DARE on account of illness.

Mr. Cohen for Mr. HARRIS on account of illness.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess until 10:15 p. m. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 10:15 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. TAHL. HOUSE BILL No. 51.

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 465), entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed, housed, or assembled in certain buildings and structures not in cities of the first class, second class, and second class A, by requiring certain construction and ways of egress, equipment, and maintenance; providing for the licensing of projectionists; requiring the submission of plans for examination and approval; providing for the promulgation of rules and regulations for the enforcement of this act; providing for the enforcement of this act by the Department of Labor and Industry and, in certain cases, by the chiefs of fire departments in cities of the third class; providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act; and repealing certain acts," by specifically extending the provisions thereof to night clubs, and making certain additional provisions for the safety of persons assembled in night clubs; and prescribing penalties.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

By Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. HOUSE BILL No. 52.

An Act to add section twenty-six to article two of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1019), entitled "An act relating to statutory laws; prescribing an enacting clause for statutes; fixing the effective date and time of statutes hereafter enacted; providing for notice of application for local and special legislation, for the correction of errors in statutes, and for the printing and publication of statutes; prescribing rules for the interpretation of statutes; defining certain words and phrases when used in statutes; and prescribing rules for the construction and operation of amendments, re-enactments and repeals of statutes," directing the Department of Property and Supplies in the publication and distribution of advance sheets of the pamphlet laws to give preference to those laws which become effective immediately upon final enactment.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Congress of the United States,
House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C., June 12, 1942.

Hon. Elmer J. Kilroy,
Speaker, House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Elmer:

It becomes necessary, due to my election to the Congress of the United States, to resign effective immediately from the General Assembly.

In the eight years that I have served with you and the other members I have made friendships and acquaintances that I will cherish all of my life and I hope to secure many pleasant day dreams when my years are numbered and I sit around "living in the past," and again dream over those old days when the pleasant echo reverberates through my memory of "Mr. Speaker."

To my Republican and Democratic colleagues, my office in Washingon is always open for cheery hello.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) ELMER J. HOLLAND.

June 16, 1942.

Hon. Elmer J. Holland,

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1943. No. 6.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 26, 1943

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, Thou hast called us into Thy presence at the beginning of a new day, and now may we yield our minds to the cleansing influence of Thy Spirit and our hearts to the gracious assurance of Thy love.

Deep in our hearts Thou hast planted a seed, which, if we will cultivate, will produce the fruit of peace and brotherhood. Give us the honesty of intention and desire to drive out all such things as keep us from fellowship with Thee and with each other. Free us from the ignorance and intolerance to which we too often surrender and help us to dedicate ourselves to the "more abundant life" of service to Thee and to our fellow-men.

While we enjoy the beauty of Thy world and the plenty that Thou hast given us may we not be unmindful of the hunger for beauty and for food that so many of our world family are being called upon to endure. Give us a holy hatred for all forms of oppression that starve the bodies and hurt the souls of men.

For the President and the Governor and for all those who are in positions of authority we pray. May they all remember that all power comes from Thee, and that they are Thy servants. And help each of us to give the best we have to the best we know. In the name of Christ, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. TYLER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Farrell asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise on a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, we take up quite a bit of time on these leaves of absence and I am curious to know what happens if one does not get a leave of absence—anything?

The PRESIDENT. Yes. The rules specifically cover that, Senator Woodward.

Mr. WOODWARD. I never asked for one, and I never got anything in the neck, or anything.

The PRESIDENT. Well, there is quite a penalty, and I think if the Senator intends to be absent, he had better study the rules.

Mr. WOODWARD. What is the number?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will find it for the Senator in just a moment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will be very glad to ask for leave of absence for the Senator, anytime.

The PRESIDENT. I hope that will not be necessary.

Mr. SHAPIRO. We will be glad to ask for leave of absence for the Senator at any time.

Mr. WOODWARD. I will find out privately, Mr. President. Do not take the time; I will do it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will give the Senator from Philadelphia the number of the rule.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair suggests that the Senator read Rule 26, which provides for leaves of absence, and then read the rule which provides what the Senators can do to members of the Senate who are in contempt.

Mr. WOODWARD. All right.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and members of the Senate, there is a matter that confronts this body, and a matter that confronts the people of this Commonwealth that I believe should be discussed here briefly, and I am taking this opportunity to discuss it and to make it a part of the record today.

Last November the people of this Commonwealth thought it wise to elect a Republican Governor; they also elected a majority in this chamber, and also a majority to the lower House.

Since that time, the Governor of this Commonwealth has placed before this body the names of certain persons he desires to have serve in his cabinet. Last week, as the record shows, we confirmed all but two members.

Mr. President, my constituency back home wants me to explain why I, for one, have failed to go along and confirm the other two members, the Secretary of Highways and the Secretary of Public Assistance. They have pointed out to me—and when I say they, I mean Democrats and Republicans alike have pointed out to me that back in 1935, when this chamber had nineteen Democratic members and thirty-one Republican members, without any fuss, the same afternoon, when the names were presented, this body confirmed the cabinet of Governor Earle, and they want me to be placed in that same position now. I feel as they feel, that a mandate has been issued upon all of us.

If these men are not fit to serve in these various cabinet jobs and they fail in their duties, the blame will lie on the steps of the present Governor. If they do perform their duties sincerely and honestly, then, naturally, the present Governor will get the credit for their work.

So, Mr. President, before going any further, I wish it to be known that if and when the names are brought out, of Mr. Shroyer and Mr. Ramage—two men whom I have never met myself—I will say it is my duty to vote for their confirmation, if and when they should come before us for a vote.

ng, and reinstating members of the police force of ounties of the second class; creating and defining the owers and duties of a civil service commission; imposing ertain duties and expenses on such counties; and pre-scribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of information.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to inquire as to whether or not arrangements will be made by the personnel of the Senate to see to it that the extemporaneous remarks of His Excellency, the Governor, will be obtained from the reporters in the House and spread upon our Senate record, so that we will have those remarks and can preserve them for posterity?

I noticed that the shorthand reporters were taking it down in the House and I think it should be spread upon the Senate Journal, as well, because it was a very inspiring extemporaneous address, and I know it has encouraged the members of the Senate and the personnel who were fortunate enough to hear it, and I would like to see it preserved in our official records.

The PRESIDENT. Would the gentleman from Allegheny care to make a motion to that effect?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am now being advised from all sides that the extemporaneous remarks of His Excellency, the Governor, were delivered in confidence. May I say, Mr. President, if they are kept that way, it will be the first time any remarks made on Capitol Hill in confidence were kept that way.

I understand now from my very learned counselor from Philadelphia that the House just passed a motion to spread the confidential remarks of His Excellency on the House Journal.

MOTION THAT EXTEMPORANEOUS REMARKS OF THE GOVERNOR MADE IN THE HOUSE BE SPREAD UPON THE SENATE JOURNAL

Mr. WALKER. That being the case, Mr. President, I now move that the extemporaneous remarks of His Excellency, the Governor, be obtained from the official reporters of the House and spread upon the Senate Journal.

Mr. TALLMAN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The motion was agreed to.

EXTRANEOUS ADDRESS TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY BY GOVERNOR MARTIN

GOVERNOR MARTIN: Members of the General Assembly and fellow Americans: I would like in a most confidential way to speak to you just a little further. I have great confidence in the American people, and at the close when I leave, if the newspapermen will meet me in my office we will determine what is best to give to the public in the remarks that I am now about to make.

I feel that the American people are entitled to know as far as possible our objectives, our aims and how we intend to attain them.

America is now in two great wars. One is to defeat the most ruthless enemy in the history of civilization; the other is to retain our American way of life. The first can be accomplished by all of us unselfishly doing everything we can to win this war. War is eventually won by the boys on the front line. Regardless of restrictions on food, on transportation, on clothing, on pleasures, our contribution here on the home front is so insignificant compared to what they contribute, that there is no comparison. Here on the home front we must do everything to make the lives of our boys on the fighting front, and those who are to go to the fighting front, as easy as possible. That can be done by writing them cheerful letters telling them how greatly we appreciate the sacrifices they are making.

Then we must speed up production here at home. I would like to see it come to pass that every rifleman has a reserve of three or four rifles; that each tank company may have plenty of tanks if tanks become disabled; that our boys in the air have plenty of planes so that it will not be necessary for them to fly a plane under any condition that is not mechanically perfect.

We must increase our building of ships. I don't know whether you know it or not, but our enemies are now sinking ships as rapidly as we are building them. We cannot win the war until we stop the ravages of the submarine and increase the building of ships to a place that it is unnecessary for our General Staff to be forced to debate as to which type of material will be sent to any one of the fronts. It has not been very long since one American workman was equal to three any place in the world. That is not the case now. We must speed up production, and more than twenty-five per cent of the critical war items come from Pennsylvania. What I would like you men to do—you are from all parts of the State—when we go home let us give our people this story because I know America will respond when they know what the situation really is. The speeding up of this war, fellow Americans, what does it mean? You read in the newspapers that William Jones, Private So and So, was killed in North Africa. You don't know the family and you forget about it a few moments afterwards. But there is not going to be a great celebration in that family when the boys come marching home. Those families are going to increase in number as this war progresses. That is why I am so anxious that we speed up production here in Pennsylvania, and I am asking all of you men and women to help me in that job.

You were not elected to the Legislature for that purpose, but, gentlemen, the reason you were elected to the Legislature is that you are leaders in your various communities. What does the ending of this war sooner mean? If World War I had ended on the tenth day of November instead of the eleventh it would have saved two thousand American casualities. Sixty days sooner would have meant sixty thousand American casualities saved. How many it means in this war no military man is wise enough to prophesy.

but it does mean casualities. So, when the boys come home we want as many families as possible to be intact at the fireside.

This American way of life that we are fighting for, what does it mean? Free men and free women in free enterprise in the United States have done in two years what it required Germany nine years to do, Russia twenty years to do and Japan twenty-five years to do, but regardless of that we must do better.

I have spoken longer than I intended. I appreciate the cordiality of your reception and I want to leave this with you, when any of you have any thoughts that might improve Pennsylvania's war effort, talk it over with the members of my Cabinet, or come in and see me. If there are any differences let us get around the table and iron them out, because there is only one thing to do now, and that is to save as many of the men in our armed forces as possible. The hours cannot be too long, the road too rough for any of us.

In that spirit, gentlemen, I welcome you here to the Capitol City. We will cooperate, we will do everything we can to assist the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of this, the greatest nation that God has ever created, to bring a speedy end to this terrible war. We are not talking about peace. It is rather peculiar to me that no one ever talks about what we would do if we were to be defeated, but the only way we can win is to sustain this great armed force. More than half a million of them are already Pennsylvanians, and that number will be greatly increased before the curtain is drawn on 1943.

Gentlemen, I will cooperate with you in every possible way. There will be no "must" legislation in this Session, but I do ask for cooperation. Thank you very much.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 3:30 o'clock p. m.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REMARKS BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to say to the Senate that the Senate is not adjourned when there is a motion for adjournment or recess, until that motion has been passed and the Chair declares the session recessed or adjourned.

The Chair also wishes to say to you that in these days, when disorder is so prevalent throughout the entire world, it is more important than ever before that the dignity of this body be preserved.

NOMINATIONS FOR SECRETARY OF HIGHWAYS AND SECRETARY OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE CALLED FROM THE TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call from the table nominations by His Excellency the Governor as follows:

SECRETARY OF HIGHWAYS

John U. Shroyer, Shamokin, Northumberland County, for appointment as Secretary of Highways, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1947, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice I. Lamont Hughes.

SECRETARY OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Samuel Y. Ramage, III, Oil City, Venango County, for appointment as Secretary of Public Assistance, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1947, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice Howard L. Russell.

Mr. FARRELL. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. WATKINS and Mr. HEYBURN,

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at to-day's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. WATKINS and Mr. HEYBURN,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations called from the table,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, as I stated last night, we of the minority desired opportunity to interview the appointed Secretary of Highways and the Secretary of Public Assistance. Today the chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations invited myself, Senator Shapiro and Senator Coleman to appear at their committee meeting, at which both of these gentlemen appeared. I want to state that they were treated courteously, there was no withering cross-examination, and I believe every member of the committee, when the hearing was over, said they felt it was a good thing that we had done that very thing.

We on this side of the Chamber resent some of the adverse criticisms of the press and others on our attitude on these two confirmations. We felt that we were exercising our constitutional right, and I feel and I believe the members of the committee felt, and so stated, that we should have done more of this.

We have the right to question appointments by the Governor, or at least find out who they are. I blame the press, or the leadership of the Republican party, to a certain extent, in building these men up. All we heard, as I said last night, was that one was a manufacturer of dresses and the other was a hotel man.

Today, Mr. President, when they appeared before us, they made a very favorable appearance. I think both men are men of ability. They are not experienced in the lines in which they are supposed to exercise power, nevertheless, I feel that they are executives and that they will do an honest and a sincere job.

Mr. President, this morning, one member from this side of the Senate stood on this floor and stated that he was going to vote for these men, no matter what the minority decided to do. We have just had our caucus, seventeen members from this side of the house, and we have decided, the seventeen of us, that we would vote to confirm these two appointees.

I heard the Governor today state that we are in the midst of a terrible war, that he desires cooperation all through this session. While we are the minority, we feel that that is a splendid idea, but we feel, too, that our minority should be consulted and have a part in the program, no matter what it is. We do not pretend to influence or shape all of the legislation that may be offered here, but I want to state that our side of the Senate is willing and happy to cooperate with anything the Governor or the other side may offer, if it is for the good of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it has long been my personal position that a chief executive, whether he be the head of the nation, a state or a city, is entitled to surround himself with men of his own choosing and men of his own party, the presumption, of course, always being present that they are properly qualified. Every time, at least since I have been a member of this august body, that a minority group held up, for the purpose of seeking certain information, the confirmation of one or two of the nominees submitted to members of the Senate, there has always gained circulation a lot of rather vicious rumors. The action has always resulted in not only members of the Senate but others indulging in conjecture, for which there is no basis in fact.

The Governor submitted to us certain names for confirmation under the Constitution his submission does in fact ask us for our advice, and in order to give it to him, it is necessary that we get certain information on the qualifications of the members whose names have been submitted.

This afternoon, as the minority Floor Leader has so well stated, we sat down, myself, the minority Floor Leader, Senator McGinnis, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, and we met two very personable gentlemen, the nominations of whom we had held up last Tuesday afternoon. There were no embarrassing questions asked, there were no provocative suggestions made to them, there was no brow-beating on the part of members of the Democratic Party, and I am sure that even the majority members of the committee agreed that it was a very nice meeting. I am sure that perhaps one or two of the majority members were not entirely familiar with the qualifications of the nominees whose names have been submitted.

Now we are in agreement that these men after having asked them certain pertinent questions—and after having been satisfied that two or three of the things that we had heard were not entirely true—we are in agreement that these men ought to be confirmed by the members of the Senate.

This morning, as the minority Floor Leader pointed out, the Governor of the Commonwealth in a rather spirited, extemporaneous speech, said something about co-operation on the part of the members, both Democrats and Republicans I construed his speech as saying that sometimes when the welfare of the Commonwealth is at stake, that politics ought to be subordinated in the interests of the people of the Commonwealth as a whole.

We want you to know that, by our action, we are indicating our desire to have a short, snappy businesslike session and then adjourn, and we think that our action in going along with the nominees suggested augers well for a brief, businesslike session that will go down in history as having accomplished something good for the people of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to say first that I quite agree with the remarks of the Lieutenant-Governor with respect to the dignity of the Senate. I am afraid I was somewhat responsible, or I was an offender, in that in my anxiety to attend a caucus meeting I left the Chamber before adjournment, for which I apologize.

I am very glad the Lieutenant-Governor said what he did, because I think those who know me around here have heard me frequently say that if people in high office do not show respect for law and order very little can be hoped for from the people generally. We are the people to whom the public generally look for guidance. Young lawyers are taught to look up to older members of the Bar as to behavior and ethics and, if the older members of the Bar fall down, you will find that the younger members go with them.

I have always maintained that a man who is elected to the high office of Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is the Governor of all the people. It has been my, shall I say? misfortune to have been elected to this Senate, or to have been a member of this Senate, for three terms, and during no term was the Governor of the Commonwealth the Governor for whom I had voted, but I have always felt, as I have publicly stated, that, after all, although he was not my candidate he was my Governor, and I say that about this gentleman.

I want to say that I have seen the gentleman around the Senate Chamber; I have seen him in public; and I saw him recently on an occasion right after his election, when I felt proud of the fact that he carried himself off in a dignified way and with due credit to his office, in the presence of others who did not do likewise.

Today, Mr. President, I was very much impressed, more with his extemporaneous remarks than with his printed address, and I am ready, as one of the members of this Senate—and as the Senator of Republicans and Democrats in my district—to do all that I can to cooperate.

I think what has happened today is a healthy thing for Pennsylvania. I think those of us who attended the meeting today feel much better about what happened today than we did yesterday. That goes even for the Republican Senators. I think even some of the Republican Senators had not had the pleasure of meeting these two gentlemen before today.

I recall, Mr. President, the Constitution, Article 4, Section 8, which provides that the Governor shall, by and with the consent and advice of the Senate, nominate certain persons. We are asked not only to consent but to advise, and in the last week or so, and in the last session, it has been the custom where there was a minority and not a sufficient vote to approve on the majority side, to hear a great deal of talk about the fact that this Senator or that Senator on the other side could be gotten over.

Let me suggest to the members of the Senate that after the caucus of the Democratic members today I do not think you will have to go hunting for Democratic Senators to vote for bills which are in the interest of the community, and I think you will find that the Democratic Senators—those who were present today—will stand by the Governor in every way, as long as he carries out what I think were his expressed intentions today, and you will equally find those seventeen Senators against anything which in their honest opinion is to the detriment of all the people.

Now, Mr. President, the Governor has asked our consent, and, so far as I am concerned, and our minority members, we are ready to consent.

The Governor has also asked my advice. This is my advice to the Governor: Mr. Shroyer is a very fine, high-type businessman. He has no experience in the job which he is undertaking. He frankly admits it. I think that a businessman can do a good job there. I think this man can do a good job, and my advice to the Governor is to see to it that he is permitted to do a good job, without harassment, or influence or any other power from the Senators or anybody else.

My advice to the Governor on Mr. Ramage is that he is a very active young man, that he is ambitious, that he is capable, and that he is undertaking one of the most difficult positions in the whole cabinet. I say to the Governor that he has no experience in that work, and I say to the Governor that he is surrounded by a group of theorists who have been presented to him as a result of examinations held by people who deal in theory and not in practice.

I say that for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as I can recall it, there is a businesman to run the Department of Public Assistance, which has spent as high as $150,000,000 a year, and I say that it is high time that such a man has been appointed, that a businessman were appointed to that position, because it takes a businessman to watch those millions.

But, Mr. President, no matter what businessman will be appointed, my advice to the Governor is that he will not be able to accomplish anything unless he is given a free hand to do that which he thinks is necessary.

He will not be given a free hand under the set up, and my advice to the Governor, further, is that he shall confer with this gentleman very soon and make recommendations to this legislature so that the man can be given a free hand to perform the job that he wants to do. He wants to do it. I hope he can do it. Neither he nor I nor anyone in this room knows whether he will be able to do it, but there are two reasons why his appointment meets with my approval: first, I think he is honest, he does not need the job, and is doing it as a public duty, and so is Mr. Shroyer.

Secondly, they are lifelong friends of the Governor, and I know of no rule of law that requires a Governor to go outside to hunt up an enemy do a job for him or help him do a job. These two men start out with friendship and loyalty to the Governor; they start out with business ability; they start out with no experience in the jobs which they hold.

Let us see whether, with co-operation, they can do the job. They can not do it without it and the Senate can not do it without it and the Senate can not do it by assuming an attitude that there is a majority and a minority side on public questions. On questions of public interest there is only one side, and that is the right side, and it is for us to get together and find the right side and go along with it.

So far as we are concerned, let me again reiterate this just as sincerely as did the Governor in his speech this morning—we are ready to co-operate, we mean to co-operate, and if you mean it, there will be no trouble.

The PRESIDENT. If there are no further remarks the Chair wishes to compliment, if he may, the Senators on the fine spirit they are showing.

If there is no objection the Senate will now act on these two nominations jointly.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, January 26, 1943

The House met at 11 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

We stand in Thy presence, O Lord, and anew, deliberately and solemnly and to the end, we pledge ourselves to Thee. Grant that Thy Holy Spirit may empower and guide the President of our country; the Governor; the Senate; the House of Representatives of our state; and all others in the legislative, executive and judiciary departments of our country to faithfully discharge their responsibilities.

May heaven's benediction rest upon those who are fighting and dying to defend and preserve our freedom. May we at the home front support them unflinchingly with our prayers, our sacrifices and our love. Hasten the coming of a peace that is satisfying and permanent.

This we ask through the Prince of Peace, Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. BRICE, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 25, 1943.

Whereas, The Anthracite Subsidence Commission created by the Act approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802), is, by the provisions of said Act of Assembly, required to make its report to the General Assembly not later than the first day of February, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and

Whereas, Because of the greatness of its task and difficulties brought about by war time conditions, the Commission has not had sufficient time to prepare its report so as to enable it to present the same by the time specified; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the time within which the Anthracite Subsidence Commission shall make its report to the General Assembly is hereby extended until the fifteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation more fully to effectuate this resolution and to permit the Anthracite Subsidence Commission to continue the performance of its duties and the exercise of its powers and privileges, and to make its report to the General Assembly not later than the fifteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and be it further

Resolved, That the provisions of this resolution shall be effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

PETITION

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following petition which was read by the Clerk.

SCHOOL CODE

A petition from the Plain People of Pennsylvania advocating amendments to School Code "to the end that children in rural districts be not compelled to attend school beyond one hundred sixty day term and granting certain exemptions."

Referred to the Committee on Education.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LEE, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed House Bill No. 55, entitled:

An Act to amend section two hundred fourteen of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for temporary filling of vacancies on boards of school directors in districts of the second, third and fourth class, caused by induction or enlistment in the military or naval forces of the United States in time of war.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. HOFFMAN, from the Committee on Boroughs, returned with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Highways, House Bill No. 19, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 1172), entitled "An act establishing certain streets in boroughs and incorporated towns as State highways, and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth."

The SPEAKER. The bill is re-referred to the Committee on Highways.

THIRD SPONSOR ON RESOLUTION

Mr. LEISEY asked and obtained unanimous consent of the House to have a third name placed on a privileged resolution as sponsor.

RESOLUTION NO. 9

PRINTING

Mr. JAMES offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent to have it read for the information of the House.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1943.

The type of wire used for stitching booklets, pamphlets, magazines, etc., is furnished by manufacturers who are practically overwhelmed with the business of making wire for the war effort, and the existing supply to this binder's wire is extremely limited and growing less with each passing day. It is practically impossible to get a priority for it unless it is to be used in printed matter strictly essential to government war purposes. Even the Government Printing Office at Washington cannot supply priority to contracting printers unless the job to be printed is to be used in connection with services or equipment for the armed forces.

The situation is so bad that some job binders are switching over to sewing or pasting, which is more expensive and less satisfactory than wire stitching.

The Government Printing Office is specifying now that only one wire stitch be used on its work, and practically all booklet binding is now appearing with one stitch. The Saturday Evening Post, one of the most widely read national weekly magazines, has cut down from three to two stitches.

With this situation facing the printing trade, the Blank Book Manufacturers, Paper Rulers and Pamphlet Binders Division of the Typothetae of Philadelphia, Inc., and many organizations of bookbinders, as well as individual printing concerns, have issued regulations as follows:

24 pages or less, up to 9" x 12", to have one stitch.

64 pages or less, up to 6" x 9", to have one stitch.

Side wired, glued cover books, up to 6" x 9", to have one stitch.

Side wired, glued cover books, over 6" x 9", to have two stitches.

No book to have more than two stitches.

therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Department of Property and Supplies shall immediately require and direct that all printing, requiring stitching, that is done by or for the various departments, departmental administrative boards, independent administrative boards or commissions, officers or other agencies of the State Government shall be done subject to the above regulations; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the House shall immediately transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of the Deparment of Property and Supplies.

Referred to the Committee on Printing.

REPORT AND DISCHARGE OF COMMITTEE

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed to wait upon the Senate and escort them to the Hall of the House for the Joint Session has performed that duty and the Senate is now present.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The President of the Senate is invited to preside over the Joint Session of the General Assembly and the President pro tempore is invited to a seat on the rostrum.

The Members of the Senate and House will remain standing until called to order by the President of the Senate.

JOINT SESSION

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR JOHN C. BELL PRESIDING

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR BELL. The Joint Assembly will be in order pending the arrival of the Governor.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President I present to you the Committee appointed to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, we have the pleasure and the honor of presenting to you His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Edward Martin.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR BELL. Mr. Speaker, Members of the Joint Session, I have the honor and pleasure of presenting the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Honorable Edward Martin who will now address you.

GOVERNOR MARTIN'S MESSAGE TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY

GOVERNOR MARTIN. Members of the General Assembly:

I thoroughly believe in the American plan of Government. Our local, State and Federal governments each have their proper places. Our forefathers were profoundly wise in giving us three branches of Government—the Legislative, the Executive, and the Judicial. Every function of Government must act independently of the others.

However, today, our Nation is in a grave crisis. Everything we have and are, everything we hope for and cherish, is at stake. We are fighting for our lives and for our very survival as a people.

Therefore, at this time, it is necessary for all branches, all departments, all agencies, and all functions of government to work closer together than at any time in our history.

Fully mindful of the spirit of independence that should exist in the three branches of government—but with the belief that in this crisis they must function closely together, I am making the following suggestions for your consideration:

MAN POWER

In order that all possible man power may be used in winning the war we must eliminate as much government as possible. This applies to our State and local governmental activities. It is of the highest importance that every hand and brain in this Commonwealth be used in the war effort as the peak of the war crisis approaches.

There is too much loss of gravely needed man power through accidents. In America last year there were more than 100,000 deaths and 500,000 injuries caused by accidents. This loss was ten times the number of our casualties during the first year of this war. It is suggested that you examine the existing statutes, rules and regulations to determine what changes are necessary to improve existing conditions.

POST-WAR PLANNING

Pennsylvania is doing more war work than any other State in the Union and must do still more. Today, 80 per cent of our workers are employed in war industry. It will, therefore, require a longer time for us to get back into peace time production than will be needed by any of our sister States.

A Post-War Planning Commission, with broad powers, should be established and start its work immediately. We wish to aid in taking care of the disabled soldiers and the widows and orphans of our veterans. We want to bring into Pennsylvania industries to help do work that has been brought about or created by the hard necessities and lessons of war.

Every war has brought new things, new methods, new materials into existence. Pennsylvania wants to be able to take advantage of the post-war situation.

This Commission will consider a long-range road program, flood control, reforestation, the building of dams on tributaries, and the construction of new public buildings and works that will be necessary at the close of the war.

This Commission must also consider the question of post-war employment in private industries. It will undertake to offer a program for the anthracite coal and bituminous coal areas intended to maintain employment and to retain fuel markets revived or expanded by the emergency of war.

Surpluses should be maintained in our funds with which to start work on these plans immediately after the close of the war. To meet this end, every possible economy must be practiced.

TAXATION

Certain legislation should be enacted making the payment and collection of taxes easier for the Commonwealth and the taxpayer. While matters relating to taxation and expenditures will be discussed later, in the Budget Message, it is suggested that the appropriations committees of both the Senate and the House should start work at once in order that they may determine where savings may be made in the various departments.

WELFARE

Public assistance has not only been very expensive; it has had a tendency to wreck the morale of our people. It is suggested that this function be returned to the counties, with the State making a large contribution to the counties to assist them in taking care of those not employed. The State should retain a degree of supervision over the expenditure of these contributions. Consideration should also be given to the transfer of the work and duties of the Department of Public Assistance to the Department of Welfare. Legislation to safeguard and preserve the family unit is necessary at this time when juvenile delinquencies will tend to increase under the antisocial pressures of war.

EDUCATION

The question of the upward revision of teachers' salaries, where this is shown to be necessary, should have your consideration. Teachers who had retired are now coming back into service and there should be legislation that will prevent them from losing their earned retirement rights and privileges.

Consideration should be given to the question of financial help for school districts unable to carry on their schools under current conditions.

Your attention is also called to the need for proper legislation giving the State Council of Education authority to change the time, the hours and the length of the school day, the school week and the school term, for the duration of the war. This authority should be given because of the urgent need for the help of our teen age boys and girls on our farms during the Spring, Summer and Autumn.

The enrollment in our State Teachers' Colleges during the last year has decreased from 7,116 to 5,710. We should have legislation permitting wider use of these colleges for the war effort and for vocational training.

AGE LIMITS

It is further recommended that authority be given to suspend certain requirements of the law as to age limits for the operation of motor vehicles, and as to age limits in industry, upon the order of the head of a Department, such as the Department of Health and the Department of Labor and Industry, with the approval of the Governor in each instance.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Public health is of more than ordinary importance under the stresses and strains of war. Healthy men and women can work more efficiently in shaping the weapons with which we must fight for survival. At the close of every war there is a great liability to diseases and mass contagions because of the hardships suffered and the strains endured. Our Health Department should be strengthened in order to be able to meet any war time or post-war emergency.

VETERANS

The Act creating the Veterans' Commission should be so amended that the Commission may have the opportunity of providing for adequate hospitalization and rehabilitation of our veterans as they return from the war and to educate their orphans.

It is also recommended that a Memorial Building be erected in Harrisburg to house veterans' activities, including the recognized organizations of veterans. Provision for this Memorial should be made by our Post-War Planning Commission.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Civilian Defense is an extremely important agency in the present crisis. We know that Pennsylvania might be invaded and that every acre of Pennsylvania soil could be reached by an enemy air raid. We have hundreds of thousands of our citizens serving as volunteers in this genuine defensive force. All of this defense effort must be co-ordinated with that of the Federal Government. Some provision should be made for compensating air raid wardens and others connected with Civilian Defense for injuries sustained in black-outs and other actual duties.

LABOR

There has been suggested the creation of a Labor and Industrial Commission, including representatives of labor and industry, to which shall be referred legislative proposals for more adequate and workable compensation laws and other matters affecting labor.

BANKING

Greater latitude should be given to the Department of Banking concerning the frequency of bank examinations.

INSPECTIONS

Your attention is invited to the desirability of the enactment of legislation to prevent duplicated and unnecessary inspections in both agriculture and industry. Care, however, must be taken not to endanger health, safety or efficiency.

MILITARY AFFAIRS

Legislation for the Department of Military Affairs is needed to bring the armed forces now taking the place of the National Guard into conformity with War Department directives and regulations.

NEGROES

Pennsylvania has a very large colored population. These people should be afforded opportunities for employment and to fit them for places in the world of work and opportunity, the Legislature should make certain that their schools, their hospitals and their vocational training are adequate.

REAPPORTIONMENT

A fair and equitable re-districting and re-apportionment of our Congressional, Senatorial and Legislative districts should have the immediate consideration of this Legislature.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Local government is self-government. Many of us deplore the continuing centralization of power in the State capitals and in Washington. The cure for centralization is in making self-government work. Local government must do more work and better work than it is now doing or it will gradually be eliminated. Every possible encouragement must be given local government by leaving taxing privileges and powers in its hands where it is feasible for the Legislature to do so.

A WAR TIME SESSION

This is a war time Legislature meeting in the second year of the greatest of all the wars in which America has ever fought. The emergency in which our Commonwealth and our Nation find themselves demands unity, cooperation, toil and sacrifice. You as members of this Legislature and all of us sharing the burdens of this government have a great responsibility to the people who are masters. I am confident that we will meet that responsibility in this historic war session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We should face the future with courage, with faith in ourselves and our institutions and with deep conviction that Right finally will triumph in this world-wide struggle for human liberty.

Members of the General Assembly and fellow Americans: I would like in a most confidential way to speak to you just a little further. I have great confidence in the American people, and at the close when I leave, if the newspapermen will meet me in my office we will determine what is best to give to the public in the remarks that I am now about to make.

I feel that the American people are entitled to know as far as possible our objectives, our aims and how we intend to attain them.

America is now in two great wars. One is to defeat the most ruthless enemy in the history of civilization; the other is to retain our American way of life. The first can be accomplished by all of us unselfishly doing everything we can to win this war. War is eventually won by the boys on the front lines. Regardless of restrictions on food, on transportation, on clothing, on pleasures, our contribution here on the home front is so insignificant compared to what they contribute, that there is no comparison. Here on the home front we must do everything to make the lives of our boys on the fighting front, and those who are to go to the fighting front, as easy as possible. That can be done by writing them cheerful letters telling them how greatly we appreciate the sacrifices they are making.

Then we must speed up production here at home. I would like to see it come to pass that every rifleman has a reserve of three or four rifles; that each tank company may have plenty of tanks if tanks become disabled; that our boys in the air have plenty of planes so that it will not be necessary for them to fly a plane under any condition that is not mechanically perfect.

We must increase our building of ships. I don't know whether you know it or not, but our enemies are now sinking ships as rapidly as we are building them. We cannot win the war until we stop the ravages of the submarine and increase the building of ships to a place that it is unnecessary for our General Staff to be forced to debate as to which type of material will be sent to any one of the fronts. It has not been very long since that one American workman was equal to three any place in the world. That is not the case now. We must speed up production, and more than twenty-five per cent of the critical war items come from Pennsylvania. What I would like you men to do—you are from all parts of the State, when we go home let us give our people this story because I know America will respond when they know what the situation really is. The speeding up of this war, fellow Americans, what does it mean? You read in the newspapers that William Jones, Private So and So, was killed in North Africa. You don't know the family and you forget about it a few moments afterwards. But there is not going to be a great celebration in that family when the boys come marching home. Those families are going to increase in number as this war progresses. That is why I am so anxious that we speed up production here in Pennsylvania, and I am asking all of you men and women to help me in that job.

You were not elected to the Legislature for that purpose, but, gentlemen, the reason you were elected to the Legislature is that you are leaders in your various communities. What does the ending of this war sooner mean? If World War I had ended on the tenth day of November instead of the eleventh it would have saved two thousand American casualties. Sixty days sooner would have meant sixty thousand American casualties saved. How many it means in this war no military man is wise enough to prophesy, but it does mean casualties. So, when the boys come home we want as many families as possible to be intact at the fireside.

This American way of life that we are fighting for, what does it mean? Free men and free women in free enterprise in the United States have done in two years what it required Germany nine years to do, Russia twenty years to do and Japan twenty-five years to do, but regardless of that we must do better.

I have spoken longer than I intended. I appreciate the cordiality of your reception and I want to leave this with you, when any of you have any thoughts that might improve Pennsylvania's war effort, talk it over with the members of my Cabinet, or come in and see me. If there are any differences let us get around the table and iron them out, because there is only one thing to do now, and that is to save as many of the men in our armed forces as possible. The hours cannot be too long, the road too rough for any of us.

In that spirit, gentlemen, I welcome you here to the Capitol City. We will cooperate, we will do everything we can to assist the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of this, the greatest nation that God has ever created, to bring a speedy end to this terrible war. We are not talking about peace. It is rather peculiar to me that no one ever talks about what we would do if we were to be defeated, but the only way we can win is to sustain this great armed force. More than half a million of them are already Pennsylvanians, and that number will be greatly increased before the curtain is drawn on 1943.

Gentlemen, I will cooperate with you in every possible way. There will be no "must" legislation in this Session, but I do ask for cooperation. Thank you very much.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR BELL. Governor Martin, on behalf of the General Assembly I want to thank you for your splendid message and for your inspiring talk.

The purpose for which the Joint Session was called has been consummated. The Joint Session is now adjourned. The Senators will return to the Senate Chamber and resume their duties.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE NOTED IN JOURNAL

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message of the Governor of Pennsylvania to the General Assembly be spread upon the Journal of the House at length.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BROWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to address the House at this time because I would like to have my remarks follow the motion by the Majority Floor Leader that the address by His Excellency, the Governor, be spread in full upon the Journal of the House.

I'm not quite sure that a part of the Governor's message on page 7 adequately states the position of my people. I do not at this time intent to question the motives of his Excellency, the Governor of this Commonwealth. I give to every man that right which I ask for myself, and I believe his statements are made honestly and with the intention that there shall speedily come the successful termination of this war.

However, quoting from the Governor's message to us, he makes this statement: "Negroes: Pennsylvania has a very large colored population. These people should be afforded opportunities for employment and to fit them for places in the world of work and opportunity."

With that statement I am in hearty accord and I want to thank His Excellency, the Governor, for calling the attention of this House to the fact that if this war is to be won it must be won by the utilization of all manpower in our Commonwealth and in our Nation. When he asks that we pass certain legislation that will insure to all people the right to participate fully in this program, I am in hearty accord, and I am sure my people will appreciate anything that is done in that connection.

However, I am somewhat dismayed and perplexed at the other part of the Governor's statement, and I quote again: "The Legislature should make certain that their schools, their hospitals and their vocational training are adequate."

Bear in mind, gentlemen of the General Assembly, I am not questioning what the Governor had in mind, but to me that statement seems to contradict the statement of a broad participation by all the people in all efforts being made to speed up our production. True it is that we have one or two schools, I believe we have two hospitals; I am not sure that any of them are specializing in any vocational training. What we want, and I am not saying that the Governor doesn't have this in mind, but he doesn't show it on paper—is full participation in all schools, in all hospitals, not as our Governor says, in "their" schools and in "their" hospitals.

I would like the record to show that I raised this question for fear that in print we might take literally what his Excellency said, for to me if we do that we are contradicting ourselves when we say that in order to win this war all people of all races, of all creeds of all classes, must participate alike, and on the same equality with everybody else in every opportunity afforded every American, every Pennsylvana, in every endeavor, that will bring this war to a successful conclusion.

REPORT OF SAVINGS FUND SOCIETY OF GERMANTOWN AND ITS VICINITY

The SPEAKER laid before the House the Eighty-eighth Annual Statement of the Saving Fund Society of Germantown and Its Vicinity.

(For report see Appendix to Legislative Journal).

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. GYGER. (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1943.

The House of Representatives has learned with sorrow of the passing of the Honorable Martha G. Thomas who died June 26, 1942 in the Chester County Hospital at the age of 73 years.

Miss Thomas was the only woman ever elected to the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania from Chester County. She was elected to the House of Representatives in 1922 and again in 1924. Miss Thomas was one of the best known women in Chester County, as well as in the Commonwealth and during her long life had been most active in public affairs, civic as well as philanthropic.

She was born at Whitford, six miles from West Chester, on February 13, 1869. She spent all of her life on a farm there that was a part of the original tract bought by her first American ancestors from William Penn.

In 1889 she was graduated from Bryn Mawr College and she retained interest in the affairs of that institution throughout the remainder of her life, having served as a member of the Board of Managers. Miss Thomas was long active as a member of the Republican Party and also as an advocate of womens rights for years before the Women's Suffrage amendment to the Constitution was adopted. She was a leader in promoting the cause not only in Chester County but elsewhere. After the adoption of the amendment she became a candidate for the State Legislature on the Republican ticket and was one of the first Pennsylvania women legislators. She was very active during the Legislative Sessions of 1923 and 1925 and had a distinguished record.

Miss Thomas was at various times, a member of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, Republican State Committee women and President of Women's Republican Club of Chester County. She was also a former officer of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters and a Trustee of the West Chester State Teachers College and the Cheyney State Teachers College. During the time Miss Thomas served in the Legislature she was appointed as official hostess for the State of Pennsylvania at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia.

In addition to her political and legislative activities, Miss Thomas was equally active in charitable affairs, in her own community and also in the county and state; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby acknowledges the lasting contributions to society made by the late Martha G. Thomas who lived and died in service of mankind; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives mourns with sincere sympathy the passing of a great lady and exemplary citizen of the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House shall transmit a copy of this resolution to her sister Miss Lardner Howell of Whitford.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILLS RE-REFERRED

Mr. McKINNEY, from the Committee on Judiciary General, returned with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Public Utilities, House Bill No. 12, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred and one of the act, approved the twenty-second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 853), entitled "An act relating to taxation; designating the subjects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes; providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons, property and subjects of taxation for county purposes, and for the use of those municipal and quasimunicipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations; amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto; and repealing existing laws," making the real estate of public service companies subject to taxation, and providing certain exceptions.

The SPEAKER. The bill is re-referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

Mr. McKINNEY, from the Committee on Judiciary Gen-ral, returned with the recommendation that it be re-re-erred to the Committee on Judiciary Special, House Bill No. 17, entitled:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1943. No. 7.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, January 27, 1943.

The Senate met at 10:30 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

To the only wise God, our Saviour, to whom be glory forever, we lift our thoughts and hearts in grateful prayer, thinking of the many blessings that are ours, and, as best we can, giving thanks to the Giver of all. Not in words only would we express our thanks, but also in kindly deeds to all those who are the victims of oppression, to all those who are suffering from the horrors of war, especially the women and children whose innocence is no protection.

Hasten the dawning of that day, O God, when the spell shall be broken that makes the nations drunk with the lust of battle, and lures them as the deluded tools of death. Hasten the victories of righteousness that will mean the disbanding of the armies from the fields of carnage that the young manhood of the world may be returned to peaceful pursuits and to the homes where waiting love holds out welcoming arms.

For the men who make the laws of the nation and for those who execute them, and for the legislators and executives of our own State and especially for our President, our Gofernor and Lieutenant-Governor we pray. May they all be men after God's own heart, loyal to the truth and impartial in its administration. In so being and doing they will glorify God and bring deserved honor to themselves.

In the name of our Lord and Master, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to make this announcement to the Members of the House: The Chair feels that it is very important that the committees be organized.

You have many bills that have been introduced, and certainly we should not be dilatory in the organization of our committees. We do not want bills that are harmful or dangerous reported from committee, but won't you please, each chairman—if it is impossible for the chairman to act, won't the vice-chairman please be on the alert.

The Chair wants to say to the Members of the House that it is certainly our desire to be working. If we are not working, we cannot have a short session of the Legislature. The Chair also wants to remind you of the fact that the Senate has nine bills on its calendar; we have one.

The Chair makes this appeal to you, a friendly appeal, not scolding, not crowding you, the Chair does not want to do that, but certainly we should be on the job. Let us do our duty, let us do our very best to make this a short session. The people of Pennsylvania want us to make this a short session, but if we do not attend to our jobs, if we do not attend to our duties, everyone of us, two hundred and eight men plus our officers, we cannot have a short session of the Legislature.

We heard the Governor's talk yesterday. It is his desire also that we work, but as Members you cannot work until your committees are organized and you consider the legislation before you. Do not report anything out hurriedly; give everything due consideration, be very careful, but let us all work.

COMMITTEE MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Committee on Townships, Monday, February 1, at 3 p. m., in Room 322.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 1, 1943, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:39 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1943. No. 8.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 1, 1943.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father, Who art in Heaven, may we hallow Thy name now as we take it upon reverent lips. Too often we use it thoughtlessly, and sometimes profanely, but we ask Thee to forgive us for these errors.

We are told in Thy word that out of the heart of man cometh the real meaning of a man, so we pray Thee that out of our hearts tonight, as water comes out of a pure fountain, there may come to us thoughts, and truths, and words that are pure and holy in Thy sight. Thou demandeth as a righteous God righteousness and nothing else from Thy people. If we as a nation have sinned against Thy righteous law, and we know we have, we now ask forgiveness here before Thee.

Turn our feet away from paths that are leading in the wrong direction to the path that leads to righteousness and peace and love.

And so we again pray that Thou wilt give success to the efforts now being put forth by this nation to overcome its enemies that are seeking its destruction.

From the Commander-in-Chief of our nation to the humblest worker that is striving for the protection and salvation of the country, we pray that Thou wilt give courage and health and faith. We pray for our President, for our Governor and for our Lieutenant-Governor, that they may be sustained by Thee and strengthened for the work that has been laid upon them.

We ask it all in the name of the Master of us all. Amen!

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. THOMAS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Farrel asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

Mr. Dent asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. LANIUS.

Mr. McGinnis asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. MUNDY.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am about to read place and present to the Chair two bills.

The first of these bills is just another constitutional nendment that requires no explanation at this time.

The second bill, Mr. President, I would like to say few words about, because it is rather important. This ll transfers from the Auditor General certain functions at have somehow crept into his office to where they elong, namely, the Department of Revenue. This bill as not been drawn to clip the wings of the Auditor eneral, Clair Ross, but the Democratic Senators may terpret the bill in that way, and that is the reason I ish to expain this a little bit.

This is a reform long overdue. In the Fisher administration a similar bill was presented and was discussed d had strong support, but failed of passage. The Demoats probably will say that it failed of passage because e Auditor General was a Republican and now the uditor General is a Democrat.

Mr. President, this particular bill was drafted and esented to the first caucus of the Republican Senators December, and some of the Republican Senators said, a matter of courtesy or wisdom, we ought to wait til the Governor addressed us, and we would thereby arn his program, and that we ought not anticipate e Governor's program. I did not agree with that posion, because I am always in favor of the Legislature suming its prerogatives of doing whatever it pleased ithout asking anybody's permission, but it was decided at this bill was to be held over until after the Governor's ldress.

I attended the Governor's address to the Joint Houses d agreed with nearly everything that he said, but I d not hear any reference made to this particular matter. ou will remember that when the Governor came to the d of his formal address, he paused and said that he d something confidential to impart to the meeting. As e meeting consisted of over a thousand people, we ondered, of course, just how confidential it was going to be. However, the members of the Press put up their fountain pens for the time being—they were to see the Governor later, privately, I think—but I took up paper and pencil and made notes of the confidential address, and all I really got out of it was that the Governor wants us to write cheerful letters to the boys at the front.

Mr. President, with this slight introduction, I now present to the Chair this very important bill, and I hope the Democrats will believe it is not a partisan measure.

Mr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 71, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section four, article two of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly, salary of members and an annual budget.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Mr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 72, entitled:

An Act to add sections two hundred fourteen and two hundred fifteen, to repeal sections four hundred six and four hundred seven, and to amend section twelve hundred one of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine, (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneousy paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all recipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth, and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonweath," transferring from the Auditor General to the Secretary of Revenue the power to appoint, approve expense accounts and the number and compensation of clerks, investigators, appraisers and employes assisting registers of wills in collecting transfer inheritance taxes; and the power to appoint mercantile appraisers, and in certain cases, the power to appoint their clerks and the power to fix the compensation and to control the expenses of such appointees where not otherwise provided by law; and repealing certain other acts.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 73, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Northeastern Hospital of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 74, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Jeanes Hospital, Hasbrook and Hartel Avenue, Fox Chase, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MALLERY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 75, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Nason Hospital Association, Roaring Springs, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MALLERY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 76, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital, Huntingdon, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 77, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Water and Power Resources Board for the reconstruction of the dam near the village of Seelyville in Wayne County, which was recently dynamited to eliminate a flood hazard, and authorizing said board to undertake and compete the reconstruction of the aforesaid dam.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections two hundred twenty, and two hundred eighty-five of the act approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 448), entitled "An act relating to fish; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth," increasing the resident fishing license fee and limiting the use of the money derived from such increase.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Messrs. WADE and STIEFEL read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act relating to the investing, reinvesting, acquiring, exchanging, retaining, selling, and managing property by fiduciaries, and repealing acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

Mr. JONES read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 80, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine, (P. L. 34), entitled "An act authorizing the judges of the courts of common pleas and orphans' courts in counties of the third class to employ stenographers, typists and clerks to facilitate the business of the courts, and to provide for the payment of their compensation by the county, and validating former employments and payments therefor."

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. JONES read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 81, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1379), entitled "An act creating in counties of the third class a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners; providing for their salaries, payable by the county; abolishing existing boards; defining the powers and duties of such board; regulating the assessment of persons, property, and occupations for county, borough, town, township, school, and poor purposes; authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors, a solicitor, engineers, and clerks; providing for their compensation, payable by such counties; abolishing the office of ward, borough, and township assessors, so far as the making of assessments and valuations for taxation is concerned; and providing for the acceptance of this act by cities" by removing the limitation placed on the salary received by subordinate assessors.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Messrs. DENT and GOURLEY read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 82, entitled:

An Act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder; and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

Mr. DENT. Further, Mr. President, I have here a bill proposing an amendment to the birth certificate law, trying to help out in a situation where, because of an error on the part of the doctor or the medical attendant or the person who sent the report into the Bureau of Vital Statistics, the name has been mis-spelled, and a person, twenty or so years later, in making application for a birth certificate, finds that his name has been mis-spelled or, like in some cases I have come across, I find that even the sex is marked wrong, and they can not even get that changed without a court order, I do not mean the sex changed, I mean just the notice.

Along those lines, I have asked, when it comes to a question where the department has no jurisdiction over that, that the applicant appear before the Orphan's Court, the same as persons who were born prior to 1906 appear now, and by having two witnesses testify to the fact that he is one and the same person and has used that particular name and that particular spelling for a period of fifteen years or more, the Orphan's Court shall be empowered to direct the Bureau of Vital Statistics to give him a corrected birth certificate.

Mr. President, I even heard this last week that in Westmoreland County, a young man became despondent over the fact that his name was mis-spelled, and the question of his citizenship was brought into the picture, and that, with other things upon his mind, this father of two children shot himself, committed suicide over the fact that after eleven months he could not get any satisfaction over the change in the name. I think the time has come when we ought to deal with this problem as men and quit beating about the bush.

So, Mr. President, I present to the Chair this bill and ask that the committee which has it under consideration give me the opportunity to come before it, because there were some mistakes made in the bill by the Reference Bureau, and I would like to be able to correct them before the committee.

Mr. DENT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 83, entitled:

An Act providing a method for supplying, perfecting and recording birth records of certain persons; making such records competent legal evidence; imposing certain duties upon the orphans' court and the Department of Health; and fixing certain fees and penalties.

Which was committeed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. BECKER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 84, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph A of section four hundred one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 565), entitled "An act relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Banking and the Secretary of Banking in exercising supervision over, and taking possession of and conducting or liquidating the business and property of, corporations, associations, and persons receiving deposits or otherwise transacting a banking business, corporations acting as fiduciaries, and building and loan associations; providing for the payment of the expenses of the Department of Banking by supervised corporations, associations, or persons, and appropriating the Banking Department Fund; authorizing the Department of Banking, under certain circumstances, to examine corporations, associations, or persons affiliated, or having business transactions with supervised corporations, associations or persons; authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court, and prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of certain other courts and their prothonotaries, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services rendered under this act; providing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by requiring the Department of Banking to examine all institutions thoroughly at least once every two years, instead of each year as now provided.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

RESOLUTIONS

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. BOWERS offered the following resolution, which was twice read.

In the Senate, February 1, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday afternoon, February 8, 1943 at 5 o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, February 8, 1943, at 9 o'clock.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION TO LAY RESOLUTION ON TABLE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that the resolution be laid on the table.

Mr. HEYBURN. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I may suggest, Mr. President, that my reason for making that suggestion is that I feel that when the regular hour agreed upon for the opening of the session is to be changed, that at least the Minority Floor Leader might be considered or consulted. We on this side know nothing about the proposed change in the resolution and that was my reason for asking that the resolution be laid on the table.

RESOLUTION LAID ON TABLE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I renew my motion that the adjournment resolution be laid on the table until tomorrow.

Mr. HEYBURN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RESOLUTION CALLED FROM TABLE

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I call from the table resolution, Serial No. 16, presented January 25th.

Mr. EALY. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The motion was agreed to.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

IMPROVEMENT OF LACKAWANNA TRAIL

The Federal Government has taken over Tobyhanna Camp, the former Artillery Camp in Monroe County as a training camp for aviation ground troops.

The Camp is located on State Highway Route No. 561, a short distance from the Lackawanna Trail (U. S. Route No. 611), and all travel to and from the Camp is over the said Lackawanna Trail.

The condition of this highway is such as to make travel upon it slow, hazardous and unsafe, and make it unfit for the speedy movement of troops and equipment to and from the Camp.

In order to place the Lackawanna Trail and the short section of Route No. 561 leading from the Trail to Camp Tobyhanna in condition to facilitate travel to and from this Camp, extensive repairs must be made; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Secretary of Highways shall immediately request the proper Federal authorities to grant such priorities as may be necessary to obtain the material required for the repair and reconstruction of the said highways, and thereupon to begin the repair and reconstruction thereof to the end that military and other travel thereon may be safe; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to the Secretary of Highways.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I interrogate the sponsor of the resolution?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CROWE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, what is it that makes this resolution necessary? Why cannot this be done by the Secretary of Highways himself, and if it cannot be done, how can we pass a law by a resolution?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, this road had been planned to be constructed last year, one-third of it was built, and the Federal Government ordered work on highways stopped. The other plans for the remainder of the routes were already in the Highways Departments file and ready to go out on bid as soon as the Federal Government allowed it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does it take a resolution of the Senate, is my question, to have the Secretary of Highways request a priority? That is what strikes me about this resolution. The effect of it is that we, the Senate, are telling the Secretary of Highways to do that which he has a right to do, namely, to request a priority, and if he can not get the priority, this resolution will not help him.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, this is just to stir up the Secretary of Highways.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not want to stir the new fellow up. The other one was all right until he got stirred up. Why stir this one up?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION CALLED FROM TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, at the session, on Wednesday of last week, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, introduced a resolution thanking the school teachers of Pennsylvania for something they did.

At this time, Mr. President, I desire to call that resolution from the table, and so move.

Mr. FARRELL. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The resolution was read as follows:

TENDERING THANKS TO SCHOOL TEACHERS AND SCHOOL EMPLOYEES FOR THEIR AID IN THE NATIONAL WAR EFFORT

Whereas, The teachers and other school employees of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have contributed hours of their own time to register men for selective service on the occasion of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth registration; and

Whereas, They have contributed of their own time to aid in the national rationing programs for sugar, gasoline, tires and ODT traffic codification; and

Whereas, They have successfully cooperated in the salvaging of scrap iron, tin, wastepaper, rubber, silk and nylon and the general conservation program; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the 135th General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that its members do extend to the teachers and other school employees of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania their thanks and appreciation of this fine record of devoted service in the National war effort, and further be it

Resolved, That this resolution be spread on the minutes of the Senate and that a properly authenicated copy thereof be sent to the Presidents of The Boards of Public Education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I move that resolution, Serial No. 17 (not printed) laid on the table January 27, be withdrawn.

Mr. HEYBURN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, do I understand that the thanks are to be withdrawn, or the resolution is to be withdrawn, or the teachers are to be withdrawn?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, this resolution provides that copies be sent to presidents of Boards of Education of Pennsylvania, and after talking it over with my fellow members, we found there were several thousand such boards.

I am about to withdraw that resolution and present another resolution, the same as the preceding one, except that it provides that a copy be sent to the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, do I understand the gentleman from Philadelphia to say he is willing to thank the teachers but not that much?

Mr. FARRELL. I am withdrawing the resolution, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. FARRELL offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

THANKING TEACHERS AND OTHER SCHOOL EMPLOYEES

February 1, 1943.

Whereas, The teachers and other school employees of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have contributed hours of their own time to register men for selective service on the occasion of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth registrations; and

Whereas, They have contributed of their own time to aid in the national rationing programs for sugar, gasoline, tires and ODT traffic codification; and

Whereas, They have successfully cooperated in the salvaging of scrap iron, tin, wastepaper, rubber, silk and nylon and the general conservation program; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the 135th General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that its members do extend to the teachers and other school employees of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania their thanks and appreciation of this fine record of devoted service in the National war effort, and further be it

Resolved, That this resolution be spread on the minutes of the Senate and a copy be sent to the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WATKINS, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nomination, made by His Excellency, the Governor:

CORONER

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 1, 1943.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Edward J. Burmeister, Ashland, Schuylkill County, for appointment as Coroner in and for the County of Schuylkill, until the first Monday in January, 1944, vice Otto A. Miller, resigned.

EDWARD MARTIN.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. WATKINS,

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at today's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. WATKINS,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—45

Barr,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Stiefel,
Becker,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Tallman,

Two-third of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 55, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802) entitled "An act creating a commission to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence frequently caused by the mining of anthracite coal directing such commission to make a report and recommendations to the General Assembly conferring certain powers upon such commission including the power to issue subpoenas administer oaths and affirmations retain employes and expend funds and making an appropriation" extending the time within which the commission is required to make its report

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802) entitled "An act creating a commission to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence frequently caused by the mining of anthracite coal directing such commission to make a report and recommendations to the General Assembly conferring certain powers upon such commission including the power to issue subpoenas administer oaths and affirmations retain employes and expend funds and making an appropriation" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 There is hereby created a commission which shall be composed of five members of the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore thereof and five members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker thereof to be known as the Anthracite Subsidence Commission

It shall be the duty of such commission

(1) To investigate the problem of surface subsidence in the anthracite coal area with respect to its effect on property and human life

(2) To engage in any research necessary to discover effective remedies for the anthracite mine cave problem

(3) To study decisions of the State and Federal courts relating to the constitutionality and effect of earlier legislation relating to surface subsidence caused by mining and

(4) To make recommendations as to legislation which might be enacted by the General Assembly for the effective regulation and control of anthracite mining and surface subsidence

The commission shall make its report to the General Assembly not later than the [first day of February] fifteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred and forty-three

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am not rising in opposition to this bill—I expect to vote for it, but I would like to have the pleasure of making a few remarks.

We have in our midst a member of the Senate who is also a distinguished editor. Senator Di Silvestro is the editor of "La Libera Parola." I do not always read the "La Libera Parola," but my fellow Senator sent me a clipping in English. This clipping refers to holding the sessions of the Senate in the evenings, instead of the afternoons. He said that the afternoon sessions had been arranged for three of the Senators who are well up in age, Senator Edmonds, Senator James, and Senator Woodward, that they were not supposed to go out at night. Now, Mr. President, one of the few assets of the aged is the ability or the temptation to reminisce, and that is the reason I am standing up. As I said a moment ago, I expect to vote for this bill, because it is only for an extension of time. I have a very high regard for all three of the sponsors of the bill, but I can not withstand the temptation of taking a slight crack at one of the Senators, because I have very vivid recollections of when this bill was brought up before, to get an appropriation of ten thousand dollars, and I intervened in the argument and I was put in my place—at least I was supposed to be put in my place—by the Senator from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, who said he could not understand how a mere urbanite from Philadelphia would presume to know anything about anthracite coal. Well, I had to stand up then and tell him that I was born at the mouth of a mine in Luzerne County, and that I had the biggest mine of the Glen Alden Company named for me, the Woodward Mine, and I therefore knew something about anthracite coal.

Well, I went on from there to speak about the famous or infamous Earle Commission on anthracite coal. Now, of course, it is pretty tough to say infamous, but there was a man named W. Jett Lauck—I hope he has died, but I do not think he has. This Mr. Lauck was appointed, for some reason, as Chairman of the Anthracite Commission and the only thing he had to do with Pennsylvania, the only place he ever set his feet was in the Racquet Club, and that is exactly the appropriate place for this commission to organize, in the Philadelphia Racquet Club.

Now, then, there were five members of this Commission—my continuity of reminiscence was disturbed or rubbed up a little by the Senator from Lackawanna, when he presented a resolution of condolence on the death of the editor of the Scranton Times, Mr. Edward J. Lynett. It so happened I said at the time, that Mr. Lynett was one member who was too honest to go along with that commission and resigned. The other members went on and on, at one thousand dollars a month per head—well, I do not know about per head but per something. They had an appropriation—I have it right here—of fifty thousand dollars. I have only the highest regard for the Senator from Lackawanna; I think he is a very useful Senator and I was very sorry when he bid us a very tearful farewell, and very glad when he came back—but he did try to prove to me that this Lauck Anthracite Commission did not have anything to do with the subsidence of homes in Lackawanna County—they did something else. Well, of course, I know one other thing else they did—after getting an appropriation of fifty thousand dollars and coming back for an additional appropriation of twenty-six thousand dollars—they then created or stole the report of a professor of Harvard University and published it as their own, so we got the report from a Harvard professor at a slight cost of $76,500—a little over $76,000—that is the record of Mr. W. J. Lauck's Commission.

Now, Senator Stevenson and Senator Watkins are very fearful of what I might say on this occasion, but I am not saying anything unpleasant about anyone present.

The argument that the Senator from Lackawanna made at that time was they had nothing to do with the subsidence of these houses, so I got a copy of the act and I marked this portion—this Lauck Commission—"it shall be the further duty of the Anthracite Coal Commission to make a careful and thorough study and investigation of conditions pertaining to and resulting from surface subsidence, resulting from coal mining operations" and so forth.

That clearly shows that was part of their duties. Now the sum of fifty thousand dollars was thereby appropriated and they came back for $26,500 additional.

My only real point perhaps in making these remarks is that most commissions do come back for additional appropriations. Now, this appropriation of ten thousand dollars, I understand has been spent, and I have no doubt it has been spent very well, but holding up the awful example of the Earle Commission, I do want to sound a note of warning, and ask this commission not to come back here and ask for an additional appropriation of $26,500, and do nothing more than the Lauck Commission did.

The PRESIDENT. As the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, knows, the chair is not allowed to debate, but the chair suggests to the Senator from Philadelphia that he revisit the Philadelphia Racquet Club, and I think he will form a different opinion about it.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I have no desire to enter into any acrimonious debate with the gentleman from Philadelphia, but there are just one or two corrections I want to make to some of the statements he made.

First of all, when I introduced the resolution at the opening day of this session on the death of Edward J. Lynett, the editor and publisher of the Scranton Times, the gentleman made some reference to the fact that he was one of the two honest men in the Earle administration, and for his information, the gentleman whom Governor Earle appointed and who filed the minority report on the so-called Lauck Commission, is William R. Lynett, who is a son of the editor, whom I presented the condolence resolution about on that particular day.

Mr. President, may I point out just briefly the distinction between the Lauck Commission and this particular commission—and I believe if the gentleman will examine the record, he will agree with me that I can talk with some familiarity about the Lauck commission, because I served as Chairman of the Sub-Committee of the House Mines and Mining Committee, held six public hearings, four in Harrisburg, one in the city of Scranton and one in the city of Shamokin, on the principles embodied in the Lauck bills. After the conclusion of the six public hearings, during which we took some twenty-four hours of testimony, I was invited to the Executive Mansion by the then Governor of the Commonwealth, who asked me what I thought of the Lauck bills and the legislation suggested by that Commission. I said then, and repeat again, that I would not be for what the Lauck bill proposed, that I would oppose vigorously anything that even suggested the principles embodied in the Lauck bills, and accordingly at an opportune time I made a statement to that effect, and the bills died a natural death in committee.

The Lauck bills proposed to solve the bootlegging problem by setting up a certain allocation program, taking from the mines in the northern tier of the anthracite region and allocating it to my good friend, Senator Watkins and his very fine people, in the Schuylkill area, in order to solve the bootlegging problem. In other words, the commission suggested that the way to solve the problem was to take it from the people in the Northern Tier and to spread it out among the bootleggers in the Shamokin area.

Mr. President, this bill has absolutely nothing to do with that. The bill is merely asking for an extension of time so that the commission set up in the bill would have more time to make their recommendations to the General Assembly, simply extending the time from February 1 to March 15, and I am sure the gentleman will agree, if he asks the Chairman of the Committee on Mines and Mining, Senator Thomas, and Senator Watkins, who has done some very splendid work, Senator Cox and the various members of the House Committee who have served with us trying to solve this very perplexing problem in the anthracite region, that all we are asking for is an extension of time, no additional appropriation such as the Lauck Commission asked for, after having spent $50,000. There is absolutely no connection whatsoever with the problem assigned to them and the problem assigned to this Anthracite Subsidence Commission. All we are asking for is an extension of time, and when we have made our final recommendations, I hope we have the vigorous support of not only the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, but the rest of the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—45

Barr,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Stiefel,
Becker,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Tallman,

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for conocurrence.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 208) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax for a limited period of time on the net incomes of certain corporations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships providing for the assessment collection settlement and resettlement of taxes and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships State and county officers boards and departments making an appropriation and providing penalties" authorizing the Department of Revenue to grant an additional extension of time for the filing of reports under the provisions of said act

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 17, on second reading, entitled:

An Act creating a Municipal Employes' Retirement System for the payment of retirement allowances to officers and employes of political subdivisions, and providing for the administration of the same by a board composed of certain state officers and others appointed by the Governor; imposing certain duties on the State Employes' Retirement Board, and the actuary thereof; providing the procedure whereby political subdivisions may join such system, and imposing certain liabilities and obligations on such political subdivisions in connection therewith, and as to existing retirement and pension system and upon officers and employes of such political subdivisions; providing certain exemptions from taxation, execution, attachment, levy and sale; and making an appropriation.

go over in its order.

The PRESIIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 21, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight hundred six of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers colecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" changing and restricting the right of the Commonwealth to impose interest on certain unpaid taxes and bonus when such taxes and bonus are not settled within a prescribed period of time and eliminating the imposition of interest on unpaid taxes and bonus at any greater rate than six per centum per annum.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it is my understanding that this is a series of bills dealing with procedure in the Revenue Department, and it was my understanding that when these bills were reported out of committee, they were to be given a reading, printed for the information of the Senators, and then referred back to the committee, and if that is so, I think the chairman of the committee who heard these bills discussed, can enlighten us, and I suggest that arrangement be carried out.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, has asked a question. Does any one care to answer it?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I was present at the meeting. These are all procedural bills, and a number of them will have to be corrected, in any event. There has been a report presented here by the Joint State Government Committee dealing with the practice and procedure before the Joint Legislative Committee. Some of these bills overlap, and as I understood it, these bills were reported out—in fact, I personally reported one out from the committee, with the understanding that they would be given either first or second reading and then recommitted for further study.

Now, if that agreement is not to be carried out, I am not going to shed any tears about it, but I am going to vote against the bill.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Finance Commitee from which these bills came, I wish to state there was no such agreement. It was agreed that these bills would be reported out, be printed and then be studied.

If the gentleman from Philadelphia County wants to have the bill go over in order, it is satisfactory to me, but there was no agreement that they would be re-referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am also a member of the Finance Committee, and it was my impression—I do not know whether all the bills were to be referred back, but certainly one or two of them were to be referred back. That was my recollection. I cannot put my finger on which ones, but that is my impression and I do not want to sit still and have any other impression go out.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, these are very, very important bills, because they affect the revenues of the Commonwealth. This bill in particular reduces the penalty rate permitted to be charged on taxes after a definite period of time; it forces the Revenue Department to make a resettlement within two years, otherwise the penalty may be lost entirely.

There are other bills like this. One of these bills also I think was reported out providing that resettlement must be made within two years and if resettlement is not made within two years, then you have to accept the tax as fixed by the taxpayer himself.

Mr. President, it seems to me that these bills ought to be referred back to the committee in the interest of the administration itself, so that the Revenue Department might be heard on this matter as to the extent to which it will be affected by them in its work and its income.

If you do not want to send them back, there is no point in having them go over in order. We had a ten minute meeting of the Finance Committee on a matter involving considerably the finances of the Commonwealth, and then we say let the bill go over in order; and you report those bills out, with half a dozen members in ten minutes time. If that is the way this type of bill is to be treated, it does amount at least to a misunderstanding as to whether it should have been referred back or not. I think, under those circumstances, the bill ought to be referred back.

Mr. HEYBURN. I rise to support the position taken by the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. There was no agreement reached to recommit these bills after second reading. There was one bill, concerning of which the Senator from Philadelphia speaks, which was recommitted by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, upon motion last week. The Senator from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, was absent that day.

Mr. President, the reason these bills were reported from committee was that they passed almost unanimously in the last session of the Legislature, and if my memory serves me correctly, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, voted aye.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the gentleman from Delaware has a bad memory.

Mr. HEYBURN. I do not have a bad memory, Mr. President. I suggest the gentleman from Philadelphia consult the record of the last session of the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I hate to disagree with the gentleman from Delaware, but I recollect that the bill which was recommitted was because of errors in printing, two paragraphs of the bill having been left out.

Now, when the bill was referred to the floor that way, and others from the same meeting, there is something wrong, and I do not think the Committee did give them the proper study.

MOTION TO RE-REFER SENATE BILL No. 17 TO COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in order to bring the matter properly before the Senate, I move that Senate Bill No. 17 be re-referred to the Committee on Finance for further study.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I shall vote against recommittal. I express my sympathy for the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, because I too was under the impression that one or two of them were to go back for further study, but I shall vote against recommittal, for this simple reason, that these bills were sponsored by Senator Edmonds in the last session, and they are practically all Edmonds' bills, and that justifies me, I think, in voting for them, blindly, if necessary.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, will the Chair be kind enough to restate the motion so that the members of the Senate on this side of the house may know what we are voting on?

The PRESIDENT. A motion has been made by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, duly seconded, to recommit Senate Bill No. 17 to the Committee on Finance.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the motion was declared lost.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 21, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 24, entitled:

An Act to further amend section nine of the act, approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 736), entitled "An act making appropriations to institutions not wholly managed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, liens on the premises of such institutions for the use of the Commonwealth, and providing for the collection thereof," authorizing the use of, and appropriating the proceeds of insurance for rebuilding, reequipping and repairing of property subject to lien.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I desire to offer amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 4, by striking out the figure "1537" and inserting in lieu thereof: 1535; Amend Section 1, page 2, line 26, by striking out the word "expanded" and inserting in lieu thereof: expended.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered to be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 33, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and two of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" further regulating the making of resettlements by the Department of Revenue.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is another one of those bills that I say was reported out for the purpose of study.

I assume that the same statement will be made, but I call attention to the fact that the two bills deal with the question of filing returns. One of them provides that resettlement must be made in six months—that is the one that just passed second reading and went over in order—and if it isn't, the interest ceases. That is this bill, No. 33, provides that. Bill No. 21, Printer's No. 10 provides that if there is not a resettlement, the penalty ceases after two years.

Mr. President, I think there is quite a confusion between these two bills. I said so in the Committee at the time they were being discussed and I repeat it now. There may be some confusion as to what the effect of both of these bills are.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT SENATE BILL No. 33 TO COMMITTEE ON FINANCE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I suggest now and so move that this bill be referred back to the Committee on Finance for further study.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia has settlement confused with resettlement. He speaks of settlement in two years and resettlement in six months—that means, however, a period of two years for settlement and provides for a six month's period for resettlement.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am glad that the gentleman has corrected the confusion, but if he will read further, he will see that this bill may also apply not only to settlement but to resettlement.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia press his motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. I press my motion, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the motion was declared lost.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, in order that the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, may have more time to study the bill, I move that Senate Bill No. 33 go over in order.

Mr. FARRELL. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I suggest to the gentleman from Delaware that I do not need to have this bill go over in order for me to study it. I have studied both these bills and I do not need any further time on them. I suggest to the members of the Senate that these bills are conflicting bills, that they will affect the Department of Revenue, without their consultation, and they ought not to be passed. I am not asking for them to go over in order for me to study them. I have studied both of them.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 37, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section five hundred forty of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" further regulating the adjustment of indebtedness where part of a township is annexed to a city of the third class

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 39, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred seventeen of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" further regulating the adjustment of liabilities and property where part of a township is annexed to a borough go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight hundred one of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" by providing that with respect to certain self-assessing taxes and bonus any settlement made more than two years after the due date of the report or return may not impose greater tax liability exclusive of penalties than that computed by the taxpayer at the time of filing the report or return unless the taxpayer has given a written waiver of benefits of such two year period and prescribing the extent to which settlement made after such two year period may be changed in subsequent proceedings.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that this bill will have the effect of making the taxpayer return the only tax that he can pay, if the Department of Revenue does not make a settlement within the time provided by the act.

I imagine there are a number of tax cases now which have not been assessed within two years, I imagine some of them only have two or three months to run. In looking over the amendments to the bill which were made since it came into the Senate, I find nothing to take care of those cases in which the two years are about to expire, and the Department of Revenue has not yet settled those self-assessing taxes.

I call the attention of the Senate to the fact that no one in this room knows how many unsettled tax cases there are.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT SENATE BILL No. 41

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I feel that this bill ought to be referred back to committee for further study, and I now so move.

Mr. WOODRING. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the motion was declared lost.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 41, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 85, entitled:

A Joint Resolution making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting the imposition of conditions upon grants of moneys and the invasion of the states rights.

Which was committed to the Committee on Federal Relations.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 2, 1943, at 2:00 o'clock p. m. Eastern War Time.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:05 o'clock p. m. Eastern War Time until Tuesday, February 2, 1943, at 2:00 o'clock p. m. Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 1, 1943

The House met at 9 P. M.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, our hope is of Thee, and our sufficiency is of Thee. Our wisdom is slight, our strength is weakness. Oft we are beset and know not which way to turn. Where can we go, O God, but unto Thee from whom our help cometh? We are the children of privilege. The knowledge of the ages is within our grasp. The experience of the past is available to us, yet, what good use have we made of these blessings? What new insights have we gained? What visions of a new world have possessed our souls? Bring to us a new conviction of sin. Give unto us the power not only to analyze but to construct. Wherein we fail when we have done our best, reassure our hearts with the confidence that the battle is not alone ours, but God's and our sufficiency is of Thee. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, January 27, 1943.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, January 27, 1943, when, on motion of Mr. COSTA, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was disposed with and the Journal approved.

The resolution was read as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, January 25, 1943.

Whereas, The Anthracite Subsidence Commission created by the Act approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802), is, by the provisions of said Act of Assembly, required to make its report to the General Assembly not later than the first day of February, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and

Whereas, Because of the greatness of its task and difficulties brought about by war time conditions, the Commission has not had sufficient time to prepare its report so as to enable it to present the same by the time specified; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the time within which the Anthracite Subsidence Commission shall make its report to the General Assembly is hereby extended until the fifteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation more fully to effectuate this resolution and to permit the Anthracite Subsidence Commission to continue the performance of its duties and the exercise of its powers and privileges, and to make its report to the General Assembly not later than the fifteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and be it further

Resolved, That the provisions of this resolution shall be effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in..

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 55, entitled:

An Act to amend section two hundred fourteen of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws. general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for temporary filling of vacancies on boards of school directors in districts of the second, third and fourth class, caused by induction or enlistment in the military or naval forces of the United States in time of war.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 9

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 9, Printer's No. 2.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1943.

The type of wire used for stitching booklets, pamphlets, magazines, etc., is furnished by manufacturers who are practically overwhelmed with the business of making wire for the war effort, and the existing supply to this binder's wire is extremely limited and growing less with each passing day. It is practically impossible to get a priority for it unless it is to be used in printed matter strictly essential to government war purposes. Even the Government Printing Office at Washington cannot supply priority to contracting printers unless the job to be printed is to be used in connection with services or equipment for the armed forces.

The situation is so bad that some job binders are switching over to sewing or pasting, which is more expensive and less satisfactory than wire stitching.

The Government Printing Office is specifying now that only one wire stitch be used on its work, and practically all booklet binding is now appearing with one stitch. The Saturday Evening Post, one of the most widely read national weekly magazines, has cut down from three to two stitches.

With this situation facing the printing trade, the Blank Book Manufacturers, Paper Rulers and Pamphlet Binders Division of the Typothetae of Philadelphia, Inc., and many organizations of bookbinders, as well as individual printing concerns, have issued regulations as follows:

24 pages or less, up to 9″ x 12″, to have one stitch.

64 pages or less, up to 6″ x 9″, to have one stitch.

Side wired, glued cover books, up to 6″ x 9″, to have one stitch.

Side wired, glued cover books, over 6″ x 9″, to have two stitches.

No book to have more than two stitches.

therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Department of Property and Supplies shall immediately require and direct that all printing, requiring stitching, that is done by or for the various departments, departmental administrative boards, independent administrative boards or commissions, officers or other agencies of the State Government shall be done subject to the above regulations; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the House shall immediately transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of the Deparment of Property and Supplies.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. BOYD offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 1, 1943.

The sudden death of the Honorable Edwin A. Lee after his reelection as a Member of this House from the County of Philadelphia and before he had been qualified, was a distinct shock to those who had served in former sessions with him.

He was born in Philadelphia on June 9, 1890, and was educated in the public schools of that city and in Brown Preparatory College.

During his school days and afterwards he was active in baseball, football, basketball and other sports.

At the time of his death he was President of the Lee Paper Box Company and the Lee Press Printers.

He was a Mason and a member of the Union League and the Lulu Temple Country Club.

Elected a Member of this House in 1938, he was reelected in 1940 and again in 1942.

During the time he was a Member of this House he won the respect and confidence of his associates, and his affable manner and staunch loyalty made and held many friendships that his death has sadly disrupted; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of this House, shocked and surprised by the suddenness of his passing and fully realizing the loss occasioned by his death to his family, his friends and his community, extend their sincere sympathy to his wife and children; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House shall transmit a copy of this Resolution to Mrs. Hilda M. Lee, his widow.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules a condolence resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1943.

The House of Representatives has learned with sorrow of the passing of the Honorable Martha G. Thomas who died June 26, 1942 in the Chester County Hospital at the age of 73 years.

Miss Thomas was the only woman ever elected to the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania from Chester County. She was elected to the House of Representatives in 1922 and again in 1924. Miss Thomas was one of the best known women in Chester County, as well as in the Commonwealth and during her long life had been most active in public affairs, civic as well as philanthropic.

She was born at Whitford, six miles from West Chester, on February 13, 1869. She spent all of her life on a farm there that was a part of the original tract bought by her first American ancestors from William Penn.

In 1889 she was graduated from Bryn Mawr College and she retained interest in the affairs of that institution throughout the remainder of her life, having served as a member of the Board of Managers. Miss Thomas was long active as a member of the Republican Party and also as an advocate of womens rights for years before the Women's Suffrage amendment to the Constitution was adopted. She was a leader in promoting the cause not only in Chester County but elsewhere. After the adoption of the amendment she became a candidate for the State Legislature on the Republican ticket and was one of the first Pennsylvania women legislators. She was very active during the Legislative Sessions of 1923 and 1925 and had a distinguished record.

Miss Thomas was at various times, a member of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, Republican State Committee women and President of Women's Republican Club of Chester County. She was also a former officer of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters and a Trustee of the West Chester State Teachers College and the Cheyney State Teachers College. During the time Miss Thomas served in the Legislature she was appointed as official hostess for the State of Pennsylvania at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia.

In addition to her political and legislative activities, Miss Thomas was equally active in charitable affairs, in her own community and also in the county and state; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby acknowledges the lasting contributions to society made by the late Martha G. Thomas who lived and died in service of mankind; and be it further

Resolved, That this House of Representatives mourns with sincere sympathy the passing of a great lady and exemplary citizen of the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House shall transmit a copy of this resolution to her sister Miss Lardner Howell of Whitford.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. SOLLENBERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules a condolence resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1943.

On July 14, 1942, Honorable Marshall D. Strode, former member of this House of Representatives, died at his residence in West Chester at the age of 55 years.

Mr. Strode was born December 20, 1886, at the old Strodes Mill farm in East Bradford. His parents later moved to West Chester where he attended the public school. He graduated from Worcester Academy in Worcester, Massachusetts, and then entered the pork packing business with his father, the firm being widely known under the name of A. Darlington Strode and Sons.

Mr. Strode was unusually active in religious circles. He served for a number of years as a member of the session in the First Presbyterian Church and was also chief treasurer. He was also a director in the Mercer Home for Disabled Presbyterian Ministers at Ambler.

Mr. Strode was elected to the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1936 and served therein during the years 1937 and 1938.

Mr. Strode was also interested in banking matters having served for some years as director of the National Bank of Chester County and Trust Company; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representative mourns the passing of this distinguished citizen of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the members of the family of the deceased as a token of the House of Representatives' sincere sympathy for them.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. George Geise, this fine looking young man at my right, is the Speaker's Page. His home town is Harrisburg. His service with us terminates this evening for this reason that Uncle Sam has called him to the Army Air Corps to train as a pilot. Good luck soldier.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HUNTLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in a previous session I advocated on the floor of the House a measure to out-law two hours of revelry by special privileged clubs on Sunday mornings after other liquor selling joints had closed. This measure received only one vote. The vote of the House no doubt reflected the public sentiment of that time. It now appears that public opinion has changed. On Wednesday, January 27th, an editotrial in the Harrisburg Daily Patriot warrants this assumption. It reads as follows:—

"Special Privileges For the Clubs

"The Legislature ought kill not by indirect but by open and direct methods the bill which aims to extend further liquor selling privileges to the clubs, so many of which in this and other communities have shown inadequate regard for the law.

"One of the measures aims to exclude clubs from the quota license law which is intended to restrict the number of licenses in any given district on the basis of population. The impotency of this law is humiliating enough as it stands today. So far as reducing the excess number of licenses on a population basis, the law is a 'dead horse.' Excluding clubs from its provisions would smell still more.

"The spirit of equality for all as an American doctrine is mocked by the very fact that clubs enjoy more privileges in the sale of liquor than the public establishments. As regards hours, Sunday sales, purchases by visibly intoxicated persons, sales on credit, the clubs have an advantage over the saloon and pay smaller license fees.

"Many clubs instead of being conducted to merit such privileges, flaunt the law not only with respect to liquor but gambling as well, as recent revelations have shown. The modern club is by no means the club of the 'horse and buggy' days. It is an entirely different institution which makes ends meet not by the dues of its members and the legitimate transactions of room rental, bar and dining room but through revenue derived from such illegal practices as gambling devices.

"These clubs, in many instances, do not pretend to be anything but money making institutions and often for a few insiders. Under the law which many of them violate, the clubs already have too many special privileges. Any legislation likely to encourage institutions of such sort deserves the ax."

Mr. Speaker, I never made an accusation like that. However, I did tell the House that these profiteering clubs flourished under special privileges which drove out of business other liquor selling places which seemed necessary for the public convenience. I also said that these special privileged clubs were the most powerful and sinister political influence in our State. These clubs are composed of many thousands of people; intelligent people; nice people; good people. Nevertheless, newspapers assume to have a providential right to turn on the light, especially when they are exposing somebody of importance who is trying to hide in the dark. You would think that respectable citizens would be ashamed of being so ignobly accused by the editorial function of a great newspaper. I quote "Any legislation likely to encourage institutions of such sort deserve the ax." Is it not time for these clubs to clean their own house before an enraged public sentiment rouses up to smite them?

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. It is with pleasure that the Chair observes the presence in the House this evening of a former member from the County of Somerset, the Honorable Jacob B. Schrock, who served in this House with distinction from 1929 to 1939.

The Chair is the least bit suspicious that perhaps he has a Bangs Disease bill in his pocket. On behalf of his old friends in the House, the Chair welcomes him and requests that he arise in his place.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the House this evening a former member from Washington County, the Honorable John L. Post, who served two terms, one in 1913, and one in 1923. The Chair desires the gentleman to rise in his place.

FORMER SPEAKER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. It is with pleasure that the Chair welcomes a former Speaker of this House, the Honorable Elmer Kilroy.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. DAGUE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 2, 1943, at 1 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 9:59 p. m.) the House adjourned.

ERRATUM

The official roll call on the election of a Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau in Joint Session on January 5, 1943 shows the Speaker, Ira T. Fiss, as having voted for Robert S. Frey. On page 60, in the second column, of the Legislative Journal for January 5, 1943, correct the roll call to read

"Fiss, Speaker of the House of Representatives do Robert S. Frey"

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered he following prayer:

To the living God who is the source of all life and n whom we live and move and have our being, we would ow give thanks for life's common blessings. Too often ve accept these blessings without thought of the benefi- ent Giver. Now may we heartily thank Thee for our ealth, our loved ones, our homes and our country. Con- inue to us and to all people these common blessings.

Remember the members of the Senate who are sick, nd restore them to health and service if it be Thy will.

We pray for all soldiers fighting for our freedom against ie would-be destroyers of our security and our way of fe. And for all men and women working on the home ·ont we pray Thy sustaining grace. All are soldiers too.

Hear our prayer for President Roosevelt, Governor Iartin and Lieutenant-Governor Bell. May they be in- ›ired by Thee to know and strengthened by Thee to :comphish the will of God for the Nation and the State, › the end that Thy name may be glorified, and Thy sav- ig grace be bestowed upon all people. In the name of hrist our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. A quorum of the enate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of ie preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preced- g session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. AMES, the further reading was dispensed with, and the ›urnal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ECKER, for the reason that Senator Becker is detained ·cause of a responsible engagement before the Dauphin ›unty Court.

Mr. Watkins asked and obtained leave of absence for r. STEVENSON, because of a death in the family.

Mr. Farrell asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

EX-SENATOR WILLIAMSON INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I want to express to the Senate my personal gratitude at seeing back in the Senate an old member of this Senate, Ex-Senator Williamson, with whom I served in the House.

Ex-Senator Williamson was Chairman of the Committee on Education in the Senate when I was Chairman of the Committee on Education in the House, when there was no money for schools in Pennsylvania, and he and I tried to keep the schools of Pennsylvania running when there was no money with which to do it.

I want to express to the Senator my pleasure in seeing him here and in good health, and to testify to the fact that he was a grand Senator.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair, on behalf of the Senate, welcomes Senator Williamson, and asks him to take a seat on the floor, if he so desires.

ELECTION OF SENATE LIBRARIAN

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, some time ago we postponed election of a Senate Librarian.

I move now, Mr. President, that we proceed with the election of a Senate Librarian.

Mr. LETZLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair is now ready to entertain nominations for the office of Senate Librarian.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I desire to place in nomination for the office of Senate Librarian, to be effective on the fifteenth day of this month, the name of Ex-Senator Charles A. P. Bartlett, of Easton, Pennsylvania.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I second the nomination of Ex-Senator Charles Bartlett for the position of Senate Librarian.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I happen to have succeeded Charles A. P. Bartlett of Northampton County, in the Senate of Pennsylvania. I know the gentleman intimately, I know the high quality of character and ability that he has, and it is my pleasure to further second the nomination.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Are there any further nominations? If not the Chair declares the nominations closed.

On the election of Librarian of the Senate, the Chief Clerk will call the roll and the clerks of the Senate will act as tellers. The candidate is ex-Senator Charles A. P. Bartlett of Easton, Pennsylvania.

The roll was called and was as follows:

FOR MR. BARTLETT—45

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 55, entitled:

An Act to amend section two hundred fourteen of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "Public School Code," providing for temporary filling of vacancies on boards of school directors in districts of the second, third and fourth class, caused by induction or enlistment in the military or naval forces of the United States in time of war.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows

EXTENDING TIME OF ANTHRACITE SUBSIDENCE COMMISSION

In the Senate, January 25, 1943.

Whereas, The Anthracite Subsidence Commission created by the Act approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802), is, by the provisions of said Act of Assembly, required to make its report to the General Assembly not later than the first day of February, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and

Whereas, Because of the greatness of its task and difficulties brought about by war time conditions, the Commission has not had sufficient time to prepare its report so as to enable it to present the same by the time specified; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the time within which the Anthracite Subsidence Commission shall make its report to the General Assembly is hereby extended until the fifteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation more fully to effectuate this resolution and to permit the Anthracite Subsidence Commission to continue the preformance of its duties and the exercise of its powers and privileges, and to make its report to the General Assembly not later than the fifteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-three; and be it further

Resolved, That the provisions of this resolution shall be effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read, and referred to the Committee on State Government.

DEPARTMENT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES TO REDUCE USE OF WIRE STAPLES IN STATE PRINTING

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1943.

The type of wire used for stitching booklets, pamphlets, magazines, etc. is furnished by manufacturers who are practically overwhelmed with the business of making wire for the war effort, and the existing supply of this binders' wire is extremely limited and growing less with each passing day. It is practically impossible to get a priority for it unless it is to be used in printed matter strictly essential to government war purposes. Even the Government Printing Office at Washington cannot supply priority to contracting printers unless the job to be printed is to be used in connection with services or equipment for the armed forces.

The situation is so bad that some job binders are switching over to sewing or pasting, which is more expensive and less satisfactory than wire stitching.

The Government Printing Office, is specifying now that only one wire stitch be used on its work, and practically all booklet binding is now appearing with one stitch. The Saturday Evening Post, one of the most widely read national weekly magazines, has cut down from three to two stitches.

With this situation facing the printing trade, the Blank Book Manufacturers, Paper Rulers and Pamphlet Binders Division of the Typothetae of Philadelphia, Inc., and many other organizations of bookbinders, as well as individual printing concerns, have issued regulations as follows:

24 pages or less, up to 9″ x 12″, to have one stitch.

64 pages or less, up to 6″ x 9″, to have one stitch.

Side wired, glued cover books, up to 6″ x 9″, to have one stitch.

Side wired, glued cover books, over 6″ x 9″, to have two stitches.

No book to have more than two stitches: therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Department of Property and Supplies shall immediately require and direct that all printing, requiring stitching, that is done by or for the various departments, departmental administrative boards, independent administrative boards or commissions, officers or other agencies of the State Government shall be done subject to the above regulations; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the House shall immediately transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BOWERS, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act prescribing temporary emergency war provisions with respect to the administration of certain provisions of the school laws of this Commonwealth relating to days for schools to be in session, closing schools temporarily, assignment and reassignment of teachers and temporary farm and domestic employment certificates for certain pupils, and authorizing boards of school directors (or boards of public instruction), with the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, to put such provisions into operation and to suspend the provisions of existing school laws inconsistent therewith upon findings by such boards and department and the State Council of Defense.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

BILLS RE-REFERRED

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 5, entitled:

An Act to further amend paragraph (e) of section five hundred three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay licenses fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by allowing petitioners for refunds to appeal from decisions of the Board of Finance and Revenue to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

Which was re-referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. WOODWARD, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, or as amended, Senate Bill No. 6, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by allowing interest on refunds due from the Commonwealth.

Which was re-referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, There are fourteen pages, where are they?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WALKER. I would like to inquire, Mr. President, whether or not it would be possible to ascertain at this time what has happened to the fourteen pages mentioned by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward.

Today, in the Committee on State Government, we discussed at length a House resolution dealing with an increase in wages for those who are occupying the high position of page boy in the Senate, and I would like to just once see the fourteen people whose salaries are being contemplated.

At this time, Mr. President, as far as I know, the Secretary of the Senate is acting as Chief Page, and I think that that is beneath the dignity of the office, the gentleman holds and I think perhaps that we should every now and then have roll call to determine which pages are present.

The PRESIDENT. As the gentleman from Allegheny probably knows, there are only six pages. Does the gentleman from Allegheny wish to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, with the Chair's permission, the figure of fourteen was furnished to me extemporaneously by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, and if he desires at this time to amend his statement to six, I will accept the amendment, but as far as I am concerned, if Dr. Woodward says there are fourteen pages, there are fourteen.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I think the patronage is the same, but the smaller number of pages is accounted for by the larger number of sergeants-at-arms. I think that accounts for it, but perhaps, if they are per diem pages and if each page would come in per diem to get his money, he would at least be in here for a certain period each day.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CRIDER, from the Committee on State Government, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 32, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the various officers and agencies of the Commonwealth and any municipality or political subdivision thereof, including counties, cities, towns, townships, boroughs and school districts to cooperate with the United States Government in making deductions of the Victory Tax from the salaries and compensation of state employes, the holding of such moneys, and the transmittal thereof to the United States.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. SNOWDEN (by request) read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph (f) of section two thousand three and paragraph (e) of section two thousand five of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled, "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing, or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined."

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have objected on several occasions to the expense of the per diem employees, which rather hinders our taking a recess whenever we want to.

As I have said more than once, this bill is $10,000 plus per week, whether we are here or not, whether it is Sunday or whether it is Monday.

Well, now, it does not seem to me very business-like, but I have talked to our leader, Harvey Taylor, and he says it is just a drop in the bucket. Well, of course, that is one way of looking at it, and in the same way Elwood Turner rebuked me this morning for considering such a picayune economy as $10,000 a week. Well, although I am a multi-millionaire, according to the record, $10,000 a week still sounds considerable to me.

Therefore, Mr. President, with that slight introduction, I have a very very vital bill here which I am about to introduce, which in part reads:

"If either branch of the Legislature, at any regular biennium, special, or Extraordinary Session, shall recess, the officers and employes thereof, except those specially designated by the Speaker of the House or the President Pro Tempore of the Senate to be on duty during such recess, shall not be entitled to receive the per diem compensation provided for by this act for the period after the tenth day of such recess."

Mr. President, I present to the Chair a bill entitled

An act as to how to save $10,000 a week.

Mr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 87, entitled:

An Act to add section three and one-tenth to the act, approved the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 717), entitled "An act fixing the number, compensation, mileage, and duties of the officers and employes of the General Assembly, and providing for their election or appointment, term of office, and manner of filling vacancies," further regulating the compensation of certain officers and employes.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I am very glad to have the opportunity of following the Senator from Philadelphia, who is, I think, very conscientious and observant, and the watchdog of, shall we say, the treasury in spending our money, because I too want to offer an economy measure.

In 1939, the Republicans passed the Eckels Bill insisting that children of relief families be given a pint of milk per day. At that time the Democrats of both House and Senate insisted this would be a very costly measure on the tax-payers' pocketbooks, as Federal Security Boards do not match commodity grants but only cash grants.

Here is the financial story of the Republican Eckels Milk Bill:

From 1939 to January 1, 1943, the state has lost in Federal funds, $1,816,000. This amount has come out of state taxes.

Now, in addition to losing $1,816,000, the state paid $475,000 out of relief funds for administrative cost for the handling of milk orders, bringing the total cost to the State to nearly $2,291,000. I might add that this administrative cost of nearly a half million dollars of tax-payers' money is an all-time high of nearly 30 per cent of the amount expended for administrative cost.

With orders today running $179,000 monthly, of this amount $141,000 is deducted from relief check, the State paying all the increased cost of milk since 1939.

Even with a decreasing cost of relief the milk bill will cost the State in 1943 nearly a million and a half dollars.

We Democrats intend to cooperate with the Governor in his desire to cut all State expenses, so that every cent that can be spared shall go into war materials, so, Mr. President, I am introducing a bill to repeal the Eckels bill and my colleague from Allegheny County, Mr. Kirley, is introducing a similar bill in the House and I am asking the Republicans in the Senate to start this economy drive now by speedily enacting this bill into a law.

Mr. HOLLAND read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 88, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two and clause (d) of section four of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051), entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from, the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Board of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief Board," discontinuing the requirement that in certain cases when relief is given milk orders shall be included in such relief.

Which was committed to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Messrs. DENT and GOURLEY read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 89, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections four hundred one, four hundred three and four hundred four of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six (P. L. 2897-1937), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by reducing the waiting period, and by increasing the weekly amount of compensation and the number of weeks during which the same shall be paid.

Which was committed to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

Mr. DENT. This bill Mr. President, contemplates liberalizing amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Law.

Mr. KEPHART read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 90, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of the act, approved the fourteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, (P. L. 710), entilted "An act allowing and regulating boxing, sparring, and wrestling matches and exhibitions; establishing a State Athletic Commission; making an appropriation therefor; and appropriating moneys received for monument and memorial purposes; and prescribing penalties," changing the minimum age for participants in amateur boxing, sparring, and wrestling matches and exhibitions.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. CRIDER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 91, entitled:

An Act to suspend, during the continuation of the present war, and for six months thereafter, the act, approved the twenty-third day of May, one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 112), entitled "An act to prohibit the use of any adulteration or imitation of dairy products in any charitable or penal institution, being supplementary to an act, entitled 'An act for the protection of the public health and to prevent adulteration of dairy products and fraud in the sale thereof,' approved May twenty-one, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five."

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 92, entitled:

An Act to authorize cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships and school districts to file suggestions of non-payment and averments of default or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost, and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 93, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the restoration, improvement and equipment of the Pottsgrove Mansion in the borough of Pottstown, on the advice and subject to the approval of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

RESOLUTION

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, yesterday a resolution was introduced by the gentleman from Fayette, Mr Bowers, providing for the adjournment of the Senate this week until five o'clock next Monday afternoon. The Senator from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, wanted this to lie on the table until today. It is a concurrent resolution, and I do not see Senator Shapiro here; I understand he was called to Philadelphia.

ADJOURNMENT RESOLUTION CALLED FROM TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Therefore, Mr. President, I move that the adjournment resolution be taken from the table.

Mr. FARRELL. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HEYBURN. A great many of the Senators, Mr. President, have requested the hour for convening in the Senate to be changed from five o'clock until four. It was made five o'clock to accommodate two or three members who said they could not get here before five o'clock. If the session runs too long, and into the dinner hour, I am sure the members will make adjustments, as this resoluon is a weekly one, and the hour can be moved up until ur o'clock to meet the wishes of the members, if need e.

And the question recurring,

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I ask unaniious consent to make a statement on the floor of the enate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean may roceed.

Mr. THOMAS B. WISON. Mr. President, there had een some talk of having a meeting of the Committee on abor and Industry to consider Senator Woodward's bill, hich affects the status and the finances of the labor nions. The chairman of that committee had even gone ar enough to say tentatively to some people interested hat we would have a meeting next Tuesday. It now apears impossible to have it at that time, and I wanted to ake this announcement, because it is impossible to have ; next Tuesday.

Just as soon as it is possible to do so, the Committee n Labor and Industry will consider this bill, and any ther bills that come into our committee on that subject. make this announcement, Mr. President, because a numer of people had been told we would have a meeting ext Tuesday and it will be impossible to have it then.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have here a report om the Committee on Federal Relations. Senator Kepart introduced a resolution memorializing Congress—we o not like to memorialize Congress, of course but this eems to be an exception, and I have conscientiously canassed the Committee and I have four negative votes, and have seven affirmative votes, and I am getting one from ne President Pro Tempore when he finishes reading the aper which he has before him, but we have a majority ithout him, anyway.

Therefore, Mr. President, I report from the Committee n Federal Relations, Senate Bill No. 85, and I wish to ssure you that I have interviewed every member of the ommittee, except Senator Watkins, who went home or mewhere.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous onsent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears one.

Mr. WOODWARD, from the Committee on Federal Relations reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 85, entitled:

A Joint Resolution making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting the imposition of conditions upon grants of moneys and the invasion of the states rights.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. KEPHART and STIEFEL read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 94, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art, Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to request leave of absence at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. Woodring. Mr. President, I ask leave of absence for my colleague, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. SHAPIRO. I understand that he was called to New York City to see his son, who is in the armed forces, and who may be moved.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Leave of absence granted.

CALENDAR

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 1, Printer's No. 1, is one of a number of bills which make some changes in the method of assessment and collection of taxes. I have learned that a similar group of bills has been introduced in the House. Instead of passing the same bills in both houses, that is different bills, we thought we would have this series of bills recommitted to the Committee on Finance, so that we could sit down with the sponsors of the bills from the House, and work out some arrangement whereby we would pass either the Senate bills or the House bills, or some from each house.

Therefore, Mr. President, I intend to ask that these bills be recommitted as they come up in order on the Calendar.

BILL ON THIRD READING

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GELTZ, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 2 on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 208), entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax, for a limited period of time, on the net incomes of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, and limited partnerships; providing for the assessment, collection, settlement and resettlement of taxes, and reviews and appeals therefrom; conferring powers, and imposing duties on certain persons corporations joint-stock associations, limited partnerships, State and county officers, boards, and departments; making an appropriation; and providing penalties," authorizing the Department of Revenue to grant an additional extension of time for the filing of reports under the provisions of said act be recommitted to the Committee on Finance for the purpose of further study.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 24, as follows:

An Act to further amend section nine of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 2, 1943

The House met at 1 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Dear Lord and Father of all mankind, we come boldly to the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need. In a world where so much injustice, hatred, selfishness and war abounds, speed the day when Thy love shall cover the earth as the deep waters cover the sea. Engrave upon the heart of every legislator, Thy eternal truth, that—"righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach thereof." Help all of our leaders and our people to pray and labor and plan, more earnestly than ever before, to accomplish Thy divine purpose for all humanity. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. PETTIT and LANE.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 10.

In the House of Representatives, February 1, 1943.

Whereas, It has long been obvious that the successful prosecution of the present war is as much a financial problem as it is a military one; and

Whereas, The sale of defense bonds by the Federal Government is one of the chief sources of funds with which to meet the enormous costs of this conflict, and

Whereas, The plan sponsored by the Federal Government whereby individuals, both singly and in groups, pledge themselves to devote at least ten per centum (10%) of their income to the purchase of defense bonds, has given a great impetus to the sale of defense bonds; and

Whereas, This plan is receiving almost universal acceptance by groups and individuals in every walk of life; and

Whereas, Under our democratic form of government, it is the responsibility of legislative bodies to chart the course to be followed by the population as a whole; and

Whereas, It is particularly appropriate that the Members of the present General Assembly, this being the first regular session thereof since the declaration of war against the United States on December 7, 1941, should set an example for their constituents and retain the high esteem in which the General Assembly has always been held, by pledging themselves to devote at least ten per centum (10%) of their legislative salaries to the purchase of defense bonds; and

Whereas, The adoption of such a plan by the Members of the House and Senate would result in the purchase of defense bonds in the amount of more than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000); now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That every Member of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who is not already doing so hereby pledges himself to devote at least ten per centum (10%) of his legislative salary to the purchase of defense bonds.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. TIEMANN. RESOLUTION No. 11.

In the House of Representatives, February 1, 1943.

Whereas, The Chief of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineering in the State Department of Health, the Director of Public Works and the Chief of the Bureau of Waters of Philadelphia, and most of the residents of Philadelphia, and many of the other residents of Pennsylvania are aware of the fact that a serious situation now exists and that great danger exists for the future by reason of the existence and the continued dumping of debris, silt, sewage and pollution into the Schuylkill River; and

Whereas, The said authorities of Philadelphia insist that the Commonwealth should correct this disgraceful condition, and the aforesaid official of the Commonwealth is equally positive that the City of Philadelphia must remedy the said evil; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby calls upon the State Sanitary Water Board and upon the Director of Public Works of Philadelphia to meet with the House Committee of Public Health and Sanitation for the purpose of formulating plans and agreeing upon proposed legislation which will definitely fix the responsibility for the correction of the aforesaid condition of the Schuylkill River and provide sufficient legislative authority for such correction.

Referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

By Mr. ALSPACH. RESOLUTION No. 12.

In the House of Representatives, February 1, 1943.

Whereas, The Supreme Court of the United States, on December 21, 1942, in the case of Williams v. North Carolina, 87 L. Ed. 189, ruled that a divorce secured in Nevada by a citizen of another state in proceedings where the other party to the marriage was not served with process within the State of Nevada, and did not appear there, must nevertheless be recognized as valid in the state or original matrimonial domicile; and

Whereas, Until the above mentioned decision was handed down, it had been the rule, as enunciated in the case of Haddock v. Haddock 50 L. Ed. 867, that a divorce secured in proceedings where the other party to the marriage was served only by publication, need not be recognized in the state of matrimonial domicile; and

Whereas, The ruling of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Haddock v. Haddock was specifically overruled in the case of Williams v. North Carolina, thus ushering in a new order of matrimonial confusion; and

Whereas, The complexity of the problems which arise in connection with the extra territorial effect to be given the widely differing divorce laws of the various states, together with the change in the attitude of the courts in this respect, necessarily result in numerous situations of great hardship, injustice and uncertainty, often seriously affecting persons who had no connection with the divorce proceedings involved; and

Whereas, The need for securing national uniformity in dealing with divorce, either through constitutional amendment or by some other means, has long been the concern of the Conference of Governors, and of special proceedings convened to consider this problem; and

Whereas, There has been introduced in the Congress of the United States, in accordance with the provisions of Article V of the Constitution of the United States, a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution which would authorize Congress to draft uniform legislation governing divorce which would be in effect in all the states of the United States; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Congress of the United States be memorialized to adopt the aforesaid resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, authorizing the enactment by Congress of uniform divorce laws to be in effect throughout the Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of Congress and to each United States Senator and Congressman from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. PAUL L. WAGNER. (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1943.

Born in Coaldale, Schuylkill County, on April 23, 1879, Jacob Berger a former member of this House died in the Coaldale State Hospital on January twenty-fifth.

Active in politics and public affairs, he was never defeated for office. He was a member of the Coaldale School Board from 1919 to 1937 and had the distinction of presenting each of his five sons with diplomas upon their graduation from Coaldale High School.

He was elected to the General Assembly from the Third District in 1923 and later was appointed to the Ashland State Hospital Board of Trustees. He held the post of senior compensation field representative for Eastern Pennsylvania in the State Department of Labor and Industry, holding that post until 1934. At the time of his death, he was a clerk in the registration department of the county commissioners' office and treasurer of the Employes' Association of the commissioners.

A member of St. John's Primitive Methodist Church, Coaldale, and various societies, he leaves his wife and five sons; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House extends to his widow its deep and sincere sympathy and directs the Chief Clerk of this House to transmit to her a copy of this resolution.

In the House of Representatives, February 1, 1943.

The life membership in this House of Representatives tendered to the Honorable John M. Flynn of Elk County by resolution of this House on August 6, 1936, was terminated on August 18th last, when he entered upon his final and lasting sleep.

No one had ever before served so long a time as an active member, and no one had ever before been so honored by his colleagues.

His career, beginning after his graduation from the Ridgway High School when he was but sixteen years old, as a machinist in a foundry in his home town, carried him gradually through the various phases of manufacturing until he became President of the Manufacturers' Association of Pennsylvania.

His service of almost two score years in this House was marked by his outstanding ability, his innate modesty, his singleness of purpose, his friendly disposition, his staunch loyalty, and his unswerving honesty.

His success is an outstanding example of that equality of opportunity that is the heritage of those fortunate enough to be a part of the American way of life.

The Association of which he was the head, the industry of which he was a part, and the community in which he lived, have suffered an irreparable loss; therefore be it,

Resolved, That the Members of this House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby extend their deepest sympathy to the widow and family of the said Honorable John M. Flynn, and direct that a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to them by the Chief Clerk of this House.

An Act to amend section two hundred fourteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for temporary filling of vacancies on boards of school directors in districts of the second third and fourth class caused by induction or enlistment in the military or naval forces of the United States in time of war

Section 1 Section two hundred fourteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 214 In case any vacancy shall occur in any board of school directors in any school district of this Commonwealth by reason of death resignation removal from the district or otherwise such vacancy shall in a school district of the first class be filled for the unexpired term by the court of common pleas of the county in which such school district is situated and in a school district of the second third and fourth classes the remaining members of the board of school directors shall by a majority vote thereof fill such vacancy within thirty (30) days thereafter In a district of the second third or fourth class the person selected to fill such vacancy shall hold his office if the term thereof so long continues until the first Monday of December after the first municipal election occurring more than thirty (30) days after his appointment at which election an eligible person shall be elected for the remainder of the unexpired term Provided That if by reason of a tie vote or otherwise such vacancy shall not have been filled by the board of school directors as is herein provided within thirty (30) days after such vacancy shall have occurred the court of common pleas of the proper county upon the petition of ten or more resident taxpayers shall fill such vacancy by the appointment of a suitable person for the unexpired term And provided further That vacancies now existing or that may hereafter happen by reason of the induction or enlistment of a member of the board into the military or naval forces of the United States in time of war shall be filled by the remaining members of the board or the court as the case may be until the return of such member of the board from the military or naval service or until the expiration of the term for which he shall have been elected whichever shall be the shorter period

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it is possibly something to be regretted that the budget message of Governor Martin is not as yet prepared for our study. It may be that if it were here we might have an answer to the problem which confronts us. I understand there have been committees, independent committees, at work since some time last November studying the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth as it affected the last administration, and I believe they gathered a great deal of data from which to project the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth in the coming biennium.

From reports we get there is no question but that there is going to be a huge surplus of ready cash in the treasury of this Commonwealth when this fiscal year ends. In fact, it has been proudly boasted by a departing Governor that we will have probably enough money in cash in the banks to be able to reduce taxes by some fifty or sixty millions of dollars in the coming biennium.

In line with this thought, Mr. Speaker, I introduced a bill last week which was quite in keeping with the modern trend of thought in taxes, and that is to forgive taxes which are burdensome and which can be easily forgiven without hurting the position of the State. I have in mind House Bill 54, which in effect would forgive the payment of the state four mill personal property tax which would be levied upon the holders of personal property during the year 1942.

The best information I have is that this tax would return to the State a little bit over ten million dollars for the year 1942, the returns being returnable in the year 1943. Now, if it is true, according to a past governor, that we will have sixty million dollars left in the bank, and we know for a fact that the greatest number of people who have these items of personal property are subject to this emergency tax are those who probably have been and probably will be most affected by the intense and great Federal tax burden placed upon all the people of America, it seems that we can with safety give these people some measure of relief if we act promptly.

In order to help these people, and without hurting our own financial position in the State this bill would have to be passed and become law before February fifteenth, which is the date upon which returns must be filed under the act. If we move promptly in considering this measure we still have time to pass the bill, because if it were reported out tomorrow or even next Monday night there would be enough legislative days in both the House and the Senate to pass the bill before the fifteenth, and since we are all committed to a program of working longer hours in the early part of the session it seems as if the sacrifice would not be too great on our part to get moving on this bill.

I feel, Mr. Speaker, that it would be an indication on our part, an indication on the part of this administration that the promises made to reduce taxes and to eliminate taxes can get off to a good start and a very reassuring start to the people of Pennsylvania by forgiving the State four mill personal property tax due on February fifteenth.

I believe this can be an indication to the people of Pennsylvania that the majority party intends to keep its platform promise, and the minority party will certainly go along because it will also be keeping its platform promise at the last election, to eliminate taxes which are not necessary in Pennsylvania any more.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am sure that all the men on this side of the House, the present administration, are certainly in hearty accord with any program that might be advanced to relieve the people of Pennsylvania of any tax burden which they are now bearing, but we have certain obligations as a Commonwealth which we must in our own good judgment first meet. I am sure that all the men in the House definitely know that we have been operating on a program of tax anticipation notes in the Commonwealth and it is my understanding that all of the revenues raised by the various emergency taxes levied in this Commonwealth are used to retire the tax anticipation notes.

I feel, therefore, that it would be using poor judgment and poor management if at this particular time, much as we would all like to relieve this burden of taxes being collected at this moment in face of the pledges that have been made to retire these tax anticipation notes, including the personal property tax, to enact this particular piece of legislation referred to by the minority leader.

INTERROGATION

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me how much money is still due on tax anticipation notes outstanding today?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. No, I cannot, Mr. Speaker, more than I definitely can state that we are still paying on the tax anticipation notes. The definite amount I cannot state at the moment.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there is not available to me at this moment, the amount of money still due on tax anticipation notes of our Commonwealth. I understand that the amount of money still due and the amount of cash balance in the General Fund and the amount of taxes on other emergency levies still due would far exceed the amount of money still due on the tax anticipation notes.

Of course we have pledged these emergency levies as collateral for these notes, but it seems to me good business would dictate that if you have plenty of collateral to put up for what you owe there should be very little difficulty in being able to release some of that collateral if it can be translated into benefits for the people of Pennsylvania. Of course there is only one question that I don't know, one element in the entire question I am not sure of, and that possibly the gentlemen on the other side could supply. I was just wondering whether or not it may be in the minds of the present administration that the use of further borrowing on tax anticipation notes might not be in the offing, and whether or not that might be the reason there is some hesitancy in releasing this collateral at this time and giving the people a tax saving when possible.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would say that the trouble with the problem presented here by the gentlemen from Philadelphia is revealed by his remark that there is one thing he doesn't know. If we had all those facts perhaps we could go into it more accurately, but we do not know at this time. He says he didn't know himself what the amount of the outstanding tax anticipation notes is, what the collateral is, and it is my feeling that just as though I had a note in the bank, no matter how solvent I might claim I was, I could not expect the bank to release my note unless I did put that up, and I would have to show them that I did have enough to put up before I could even ask them to release it. If the gentleman would get further figures on that we might be able to go on, but clearly by his own admission we could not possibly further consider the question at this time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETHERICK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have listened rather carefully to this discussion that has taken place on both sides of the House. It seems to me they both lose sight of the fact that the only way this collateral, these personal property taxes, can be released, is with the consent of the lender. When the collateral is deposited under the terms of the contract that collateral may only be released by the lender. The State has no right to release that so called collateral without the approval of the party making the loan, so to that extent, and to that extent alone I do not think it is either feasible or legal for the State to release the collateral which it has given to someone else for money loaned to it.

Personally I am in favor of the elimination of the four mills personal property tax. It is a capital levy, and I think an obnoxious tax in every shape and form, but the State has a contract with those from whom it borrowed the fifty million dollars or whatever moneys were borrowed, and as I have said, that contract cannot be abrogated by taking away from the lender that which the State has deposited as collateral for that loan.

Session 1943. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1943. No. 10.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 3, 1943

The Senate met at 10:30 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D. offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, Thine are the kingdom and the power and the glory. May we be loyal citizens of Thy kingdom, willing subjects of Thy power, and in whatever way we can add to Thy glory.

We are mindful that each of us can have but a minor part in the work of Thy kingdom on earth, but in faithfully carrying that part we shall be contributing to Thy power and glory. Though our part be minor it may not be unimportant. We believe that he who seeks to know and to do the will of God, however insignificant he be in the world's estimation, is honorable in the sight of heaven. Such a one has the approval of God and of his own conscience.

In all that the men and women of our nation are doing to further the cause of righteousness in the world grant them success. Direct the strategy of our leader on the military and industrial fronts that our enemies be quickly defeated, and the manhood and womanhood be returned to their homes and to the pursuits of peace.

May the members of the Senate, chosen by the people, deliberate prayerfully on all matters and conclude wisely, for they are answerable to Thee.

Sustain our President, our Governor and our Lieutenant-Governor in all the work assigned to them by assuring them that "underneath are the everlasting arms." In Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. TAYLOR, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Mallery asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. BECKER.

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. JAMES, on account of death in the family.

Mr. Tallman asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. CHAPMAN.

Mr. Walker asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. KEPHART.

Mr. TAYLOR asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. TYLER.

Mr. Farrell asked and obtanied leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise on a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, while we are consuming the first half hour on this non-controversial question of leaves of absence, I suggest as an amendment to Senator Farrell's motion that we make that request for the duration of the war.

Captain Ziesenheim is in the army, as we all know, and it is hardly necessary for the Senator from Philadelphia to make a weekly request of this kind. I have not anything against Senator Farrell, but I would like to save a little time, that is all.

MOTION TO AMEND REQUEST FOR LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. WOODWARD. Therefore, Mr. President, I move to amend the request of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, that it goes for the duration or while he is away.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Erie, Captain Ziesenheim, for the duration of the war, or at least while the Senator is engaged elsewhere.

Is there any discussion on the motion?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, Senator Ziesenheim expects to be here from time to time and I do not think we should excuse him for the balance of the session. We do not know when the war is going to be over. He really expected to be here for these meetings this week.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think it would be a mistake to excuse him for the balance of the session, because he is an elected member, he is a member, and I feel that it would be a mistake to excuse him for the balance of the session. That is only my thought.

The PRESIDENT. The motion, as the Chair put it, was that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, asked leave of absence for Senator Ziesenheim for the duration of the war or while he is engaged elsewhere, which the Chair thinks might possibly cover the thought of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I understand this parliamentary situation in the Senate, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, requested leave of absence for our colleague, Senator Ziesenheim, for today's session, and as I understand parliamentary procedure, that must be disposed of before we can entertain the suggestion made by our distinguished colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward.

I respectfully suggest that to the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair ruled on the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, and granted leave of absence for the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Zeisenheim, while Senator Woodward was attempting to adjust the microphone. Therefore, the Chair feels that the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, is in order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I therefore respectfully suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, that all of us here in the Senate are desirous of saving time, but I think it is very unfair to our colleague from Erie, Senator Ziesenheim, to ask for a protracted leave of absence for him like that. Senator Ziesenheim, of course, his immediate whereabouts come under the glorious category known as a military secret, but the gentleman will be present in the Senate as often as he is able to do so, and to cover him with a blanket leave of absence, I think, would be establishing a very bad precedent, and would be contrary to the wishes of the gentleman himself.

I therefore respectfully suggest, Mr. President, that we do not grant the gentleman from Erie a blanket leave of absence, because I would much rather have it made from week to week, even though it does take some time.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, if the motion of Senator Woodward is accepted by this Senate, Mr. Ziesenheim may have to vacate his seat in the Senate because of a war order. I have had a little experience on that because I had to choose between coming to the Senate or going into the Army for this session. The War Department has just issued an order that no man can hold an elected position, either in the legislature of any State or in the nation, and hold an army commission, and if the motion made by the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, is accepted by this Senate, I am afraid we are going to place Mr. Ziesenheim in a very embarrassing position with the War Department in Washington.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I believe the problem raised now is of great importance. It shows that we have to pass some measure which will clarify the status of a Senator who joins the military forces of the United States, especially during a session. Now, for instance, if a Senator contemplates joining the Army after the expiration of the session, what would be the status of that Senator? Will his place be considered vacated? I think this ought to be clarified either by law or by a ruling of the Chair.

Mr. President, I am not referring to the case of Senator Ziesenheim—I am perfectly willing to consider him a member of the Senate, and he is entitled to it—but what happens to a member of the Senate if he joins the Army after the close of the session? That is what I am interested to find out, either by a ruling of the Chair or by a bill which should be introduced during the session.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I apologize for having mentioned this subject at all, and I would like to withdraw anything I said.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

MEMBER OF THE STATE BOARD OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 3, 1943.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Samuel Y. Ramage, III, East 9th Street, Woodland Heights, Oil City, Venango County, for appointment as a member of the State Board of Public Assistance, until the third Tuesday of January, 1945, and until his succesor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice Howard L. Russell, resigned.

EDWARD MARTIN.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. WADE, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 23, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one and to amend section four of the act, approved the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2460), entitled "An act creating a joint legislative commission, to be known as the Joint State Government Commission; providing for the appointment of its members; and defining its powers and duties," changing the number of members and providing further for the terms thereof; and further defining its powers and duties and amplifying the provisions relating to appropriations.

He also, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 38, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight, section eleven, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODWARD, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 16, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section thirteen, article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the Chair that if there is any way to enforce members of important committees to attend meetings, it would be a step in the right direction. This very vital change in the Constitution was reported out after a meeting of but two or three members, which I think is rather disgraceful.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will in the future request Senators to be sure to attend meetings, if requested by any of the Senators.

Mr. MALLERY, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 52, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding thereto section eighteen.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 95, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section eighteen.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 96, entitled:

An Act to amend article twenty-three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for the reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges, abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by imposing upon the Department of Welfare the duty to investigate the subject of crime prevention and to stimulate, develop and coordinate crime prevention activities in this Commonwealth.

Which was committed to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 97, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand three hundred one of the act approved the fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 519), entitled "An act concerning boroughs, and revising, amending, and consolidating the law relating to boroughs," establishing a compulsory tax levy for fire protection.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 98, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Saint Christopher's Hospital for Children, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STEVENSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 99, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Section one of article Fourteen, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by making sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, this is a joint resolution amending the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which will make it possible for a sheriff to succeed himself in office.

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I understand there were amendments made to this bill yesterday which were not included in the title, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 32, on second reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the various officers and agencies of the Commonwealth and any municipality or political subdivision thereof, including counties, cities, towns, townships, boroughs and school districts to cooperate with the United States Government in making deductions of the Victory Tax from the salaries and compensation of state employes, the holding of such moneys, and the transmittal thereof to the United States.

go over in its order until the sponsor is here Monday.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of informa- tion.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of information.

Mr. BARR. Senate Bill No. 34, which has just had second reading, will be up for final passage on Monday. Both in the title and in section 1 and in section 2 appear heavy italics which I do not understand, never having seen in a bill before. Perhaps you would call them light brackets or parentheses.

My point of information, Mr. President, is whether that part is in the bill or out, or whether it means this bill is authorizing boards of school directors or boards of public education.

Mr. PRESIDENT, this bill really covers Allegheny county and Philadelphia county, and we want that por- tion in the bill, and if this bill is passed finally, my point of information is whether it is in the bill or not.

Mr. PRESIDENT. In answer to the query of the gentle- men from Allegheny, it was the intention to keep those words in the bill. It would certainly remove the ambiguity, if the parentheses were omitted, and if there is any doubt the Chair suggests that it can be amended Monday by unanimous consent.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, one further point of infor- mation.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BARR. The sponsor of the bill should also amend the title where it says "boards of public instruction." I think he means "boards of public education."

The PRESIDENT. Where does that appear?

Mr. BARR. In the title, in the same parentheses where it says "boards of public instruction; I think it should read, "boards of public education", the same as it is on line 10, page 2.

I suggest, Mr. President, that the sponsor also make that amendment Monday.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Allegheny. That seems to be correct.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BECKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, having been unavoidably detained at the beginning of the session today, I desire to record my presence at the conclusion of the session.

The PRESIDENT. It will be so recorded.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, February 3, 1943

The House met at 12 m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Father of all men, in whose hands are the reins of government; we beseech Thee to direct and bless all who are in lawful authority. Let Thy favor so keep them and Thy Holy Spirit so govern them that our land may abide in righteousness. Work out in this State of ours the principles of Thy kingdom. Give us willing and patient hearts till we become, as a nation, Thy pattern of Christian government and Christian liberty. Make plain to all nations the great need of one brotherhood uniting all mankind in service and love. This we ask in the name of Him who came to bring peace on earth and good will toward men. Amen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. CORDIER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 13

In the House of Representatives, February 2, 1943.

Whereas, The State Personal Property Tax becomes due and payable in one lump sum almost at the same time that the Federal Income Tax, or the first installment thereof, must be paid; and

Whereas, because of the increase in the amount of the Federal Income Tax, it is a great hardship on the taxpayer of this Commonwealth to be required to pay the full amount of the State Personal Property Tax at one time; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Department of Revenue is hereby authorized to accept from each person making a return of property for the State Personal Property Tax a payment of one-fourth of the amount now required by law to be paid at the time of making such return and to accept payments of one-fourth of such amount every three months thereafter until the full amount of said tax is paid; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation more fully to effectuate this resolution and to relieve the Department of Revenue from all responsibility because of failing to enforce the provisions of existing law requiring the payment of the full amount of the State Personal Property Tax in one lump sum at the time of making return; and be it further

Resolved, That the provisions of this resolution shall be effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following petitions and communications which were read by the Clerk.

FEDERATION OF THE WORLD

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would first like to ask your indulgence in making remarks concerning a bill which has just been introduced. I know that the orderly procedure of the House would dictate that the introduction of these bills should not be accompanied by a statement or a speech, but I feel that the bill that I have introduced warrants some remarks because the matter of time is very, very important. I should also like to ask the indulgence of the House to take up at this time, or to continue rather the discussion of the matter which was the subject of discussion yesterday. I am referring to the State Four Mills Personal Property Tax.

Mr. Speaker, it was not demonstrated yesterday that the financial condition of the Commonwealth was such that we could not afford to forgive the 1942 tax. Since the tax is returnable on February 15, and since we have still enough time within which to pass some measure to relieve that situation, the bill I introduced merely provides for delaying the time when that tax shall be made returnable, so that instead of the returns having to be in by February 15th, I am merely amending the act to set the time for the return of that tax to June 15th of this year. In that way the liability of the taxpayer is frozen, and if it is determined later on that the tax shall be collected it merely means delaying the collection for a matter of a few months. If, however, our experience shows that later on we are in a solvent enough position to forget to collect the tax and give the people this tax relief we may then pass suitable legislation to wipe that tax and the collection of it off the books.

It is a matter, Mr. Speaker, for the proper committee to discuss and the purpose of making this public statement on the bill is to call it to the attention of the chairman of the committee and the various members of the committee so that if it is considered important enough, and I think it is, that that committee may possibly go into action today and give the members of the House full opportunity to discuss the bill on its merits.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the attention of the sergeant-at-arms and the page boys. They are requested to remain in order that the filing of the bills may be completed, and they shall not leave until all these things are done. The bills on the desks of the Members are not filed in proper order; they do not seem to have been filed at the proper time. This is an order, not a request. Please bear that in mind.

SUPPLEMENT REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES

Mr. STOCKHAM asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a supplemental report from the Committee on Committees and for its immediate consideration.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 8, 1943

The Senate met at 5:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The PRESIDENT. In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer will be offered by the Senator from Butler, Mr. Marr.

Our Heavenly Father, we bow before Thee this day with a deep sense of realization of the fact that we need Thy guidance in our personal lives, in the affairs of state, of the nation of the world, and we would ask, our Heavenly Father, that Thy guidance may be given unto each one who is in a place of leadership anywhere in the world, that we may bring things to pass that will be in accordance with Thy will.

We feel, O God, that the cause for which we are struggling at the present time in this great world war is the cause of Thy Kingdom; that it is not Thy will that men should be in slavery but that they should be free.

Therefore, we feel, O God, that we must have Thy blessing upon us as we strive to do Thy will. Bless us in the labors of this day and help us to glorify Thee in our lives. We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. TAYLOR, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

CALENDAR

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 34, on third reading, entitled:

An Act prescribing temporary emergency war provisions with respect to the administration of certain provisions of the school laws of this Commonwealth relating to days for schools to be in session, closing schools temporarily, assignment and reassignment of teachers and temporary farm and domestic employment certificates for certain pupils, and authorizing boards of school directors (or boards of public instruction), with the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, to put such provisions into operation and to suspend the provisions of existing school laws inconsistent therewith upon findings by such boards and department and the State Council of Defense.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, in the absence of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 85, on third reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting the imposition of conditions upon grants of moneys and the invasion of the states rights.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 16, on second reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section thirteen, article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 23, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one and to amend section four of the act, approved the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2460), entitled "An act creating a Joint Legislative Commission, to be known as the Joint State Government Commission; providing for the appointment of its members; and defining its powers and duties," changing the number of members and providing further for the terms thereof; and further defining its powers and duties and amplifying the provisions relating to appropriations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 23, by inserting before the word "and" the following: "who shall meet minimum qualifications as to education experience and ability in scientific research as established by the Commission."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I think, on page 2, line 23, if I understood the reading clerk correctly, the word "and" appears twice. I would like to know after which "and" this amendment is to be inserted.

The PRESIDENT. The amendment does not specify. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, answer the interrogation?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, on page 2, line 22, after the word "director" at the end of line 22 and before the first "and" line 23.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may we have the amendment re-read. I understand it to say after the word "and".

The amendment was again read.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, and the other members of the Committee which had this bill under consideration, discussed this matter very carefully at the time of a committee meeting.

I want to object, Mr. President, to the amendment submitted and ask my colleagues to vote it down, for the reason that this amendment attempts to insert a prescription into the bill as to the type and kind of person who ought to be elected to the directorship of the Joint State Government Commission.

I think it is objectionable for two reasons: first, it seems to me always to be somewhat of bad legislation in a matter of this kind to write prescriptions as to the kind of people who ought to hold certain positions with commissions.

In the next instance, it seems to me that by reason of the actual history of the Joint State Government Commission and its functions, the members of the Legislature ought be well satisfied with the fact that the membership of that commission, has, on the whole, at all times endeavored to employ people of standing, of substance and of intelligence to carry on the work of that Commission.

Mr. STIEFEL. On previous occasions, Mr. President, I paid my tribute to the work which has been done by this Commission. The amount of material which the Commission gathered is, indeed, highly satisfactory but, as I pointed out in 1941, the material should have been built to such a form that it could have been presented to the members of the Senate for action, for legislation.

I stated once that we have a lot of bricks but no edifice built; it is necessary to have a man of ability who could help the members of that Commission to bring that vast amount of material to some conclusive form.

For instance, Mr. President, we have a book published on the finances of Pennsylvania, with no monograph, in a legible, concise form, submitted to the members of this body for action, on various tax legislation. For that reason I maintain that this is an opportune moment to designate the qualifications of the person who should be at the helm of this work. Merely having a lot of members on this Commission and doing nothing would amount to falling water. We want a person who is able to direct the activities of this Commission and bring into fruition in such a form that it can be presented, not with piles of paper or books that can seldom be digested, but by brief monograph data which would give us the opportunity to properly amend the laws on taxation and other phases of our state government.

That is the reason I injected this amendment, so as to bring to the attention of this body the failures of the past.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I recall the argument presented very ably by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, in Committee on this bill, and it followed somewhat the same lines he has presented here in the floor to the Senate, but as I pointed out in Committee, I still think there is a hiatus in the gentlemen's argument.

In the first place, what the gentleman has suggested the commission should accomplish is a major premise and the assumption on his part that this amendment of his will accomplish that deed is a rebuttable presumption. All that this amendment adds as submitted by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, is one of those surplusages which creep into a lot of acts that may become cumbersome. It seems to me that it merely suggests to the Commission that the gentleman occupying the position of director of this Joint State Government Commission shall perhaps hold a certain degree, or perhaps, like the flatheels that inhabit the Department of Assistance, that he shall have graduated from a certain school of thought.

I think, Mr. President, that the Joint State Government Commission should be permitted to exercise its own profound judgment in determining the peculiar qualifications of the type of man who is going to be director of that Commission, if it is going to be continued at all.

Everybody wants to accomplish just what the gentleman from Philadelphia has suggested, but he himself has yet failed to tell the Senate how this particular amendment that he is now offering will bring about that marvelous result.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Tallman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will the Senator from Lehigh tell the Senate whether or not this bill is identical to the bill I introduced at the last session of the Legislature.

Mr. TALLMAN. I am sorry, Mr. President, I can not answer the question of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, because I do not know whether this bill is identical with the one which the gentleman introduced at the last session.

Mr. DENT. I thank the gentleman from Lehigh.

Mr. President, I happen to recognize a creature of my own making. When I introduced this same bill two years ago, with the idea in my mind at that time that the House was in control of the Democratic Party and the Senate was under the control of the Republican Party, asking for a commission of twelve members on the part of the Senate and twelve members on the part of the House, I had in mind a reform that is necessary if the Joint State Government Commission is to function.

I knew that so long as one party controlled one branch that it would of necessity, for political reasons, appoint a majority of that party's following to the Joint State Government Commission, and I say to all of you here now that I have been a member of this Commission ever since its inception, and it is not worth a fiddler's darn, it never will be worth anything, as long as you create a commission, unless you make it a bi-partisan commission.

I have now gathered, after about eleven months of hearings on unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation, enough material to produce and present to this Senate and to the House of Representatives what I think would be a helpful report, but I am just questioning whether or not we should put the State to the expense of printing these reports, when I know that since the complexion of the control of the House is different than it was and the control of the Senate being the same as the House, that the reports will be absolutely useless and never adhered to.

Gentlemen, if you accept this amendment, at least one move forward has been made. You are at least trying to say that it is in the sense that we want to have a competent man appointed, a man who will do the job from an abstract point of view, but no, you fight even one little amendment that might in any way impair the political control of the Commission.

You can go ahead and name a commission on the basis that it was named before. There is no need of adding five members. You know and I know, if you pass this bill you will not go through with the principles that were in my mind when I introduced a similar bill originally two years ago, and that was that we wanted to have twelve Republicans and twelve Democrats named in order that we could get some kind of a report before the Senate and House, after two years of study, that would be for the good of the people of Pennsylvania and for the welfare of the State.

I do not care how many you name under this bill, but you know and I know, that it will still be a biased political report that will come before the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

I say that advisedly, Mr. President, because I said that when the Commission was Republican and I said it when the Commission was Democratic—no person can tell me any different, because I happen to be in politics.

So, Mr. President, I say that you are making a serious mistake over there when you do not accept this amendment, because no matter whom you hire, no matter whom you employ, you can always put a cloak of knowledge around him, you can always say he is qualified and no man may say differently.

But, no, you warn the people of Pennsylvania and you warn the Democratic members of the minority that neither we nor anyone else shall step in upon your prerogatives; you shall name a political commission, and when you pass this through all you do is add five more men.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I believe and hope that my colleagues on the right will absolve me of any political intentions in presenting this amendment.

I have been always interested in the taxation phase of our State Government and I have been somehow dismayed when a book on finances has been published. This book contains considerable information, but no conclusions which could be of advantage or use to this Commonwealth. Apparently the lack of qualifications on the part of the present director of research is responsible for that, and I feel in doing this I am doing a non-partisan duty to this Commonwealth, in calling to the attention of the Senate the necessity for research qualifications in the director who is to do this work.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—15

Barr,	Gourley,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Holland,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,
Dent,	Jaspan,	Ruth,

NAYS—27

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Carr,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,
Crider,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Deitrick,	Jones,	Taylor,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the section as read?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 24, by inserting after the word "assistance" the following: "on a full time or consultant basis."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. TALLMAN. I object to the amendment, Mr. President, and ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may we again have the amendment read?

The amendment was again read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

A voice vote having been taken, the amendment was declared to have failed of passage.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the section as read?

It was agreed to.

The second and third sections were read and agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. DENT. I just want to say to the members of the Senate, Mr. President, that I believe this bill ought to go back to committee because it is impossible to amend it on the floor of the Senate, because you can not come to any understanding. I say that, Mr. President, because the minute a member of the minority introduces an amendment to a bill it is believed by the majority that it is harmful and therefore ought to be voted down.

I have amendments prepared whereby I would make this Commission a non-partisan, bi-partisan commission, and in so doing I believe that we would be serving the people of Pennsylvania, and not serving our political parties.

I ask you to send this bill back to committee in order that the committee members may study the amendments I have in mind. There is no use, Mr. President, in wasting time introducing amendments here on the floor and having the clerk read them, and filling the Journal up with a lot of talk, when you know that the vote will be strictly on partisan lines.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 23 BE RE-REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. DENT. Therefore, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 23 be returned to committee for amendment.

Mr. McGINNIS. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I think that the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, is very sincere in what he has stated here this afternoon about the Joint State Government Commission and I want to say now, in passing, if I had known that the bill which I introduced in this session was identical with a bill that he introduced in 1941, I certainly should have been very happy to talk with the gentleman about this bill and ask him to co-sponsor it with me, or to have permitted him to introduce the bill.

I think that there are many things that have happened in the Joint State Government Commission on which I agree with him entirely. I agree with the general principle that the Joint State Government Commission should not be political; I agree with him that we ought have as high type personnel in that committee as is possible;

I agree with what he inferred in his statement that possibly the personnel of the committee has not at all times been as high type as it might have been.

However, on his immediate motion, Mr. President, it seems to me that to send this bill back to committee would be a waste of time, because I can assure the gentleman from Westmoreland that the bill received very careful consideration in a meeting of that committee.

I may also say to the gentleman from Westmoreland that the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, on the bill at that time caused a motion to be made in the committee to have the bill referred to a sub-committee, it was so referred, and I do believe that all of the study that a committee would be able to give to this bill has already been given.

Therefore, Mr. President, I request my colleagues to vote down the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not say the bill was to go back for further study. It is a simple bill—anybody can understand it after reading it once. I said that I wanted the bill to go back for amendment, amendments that would take it out of the realm of politics so that in the years to come it would enjoy the same position in the minds of the members of the Legislature as the Legislative Reference Bureau now holds.

In other words, whether you are Democratic or Republican, you feel absolutely safe in going to the Legislative Reference Bureau for a piece of legislation or an idea on legislation and asking that bureau to prepare a piece of legislation for you, knowing full well that whether it is named by Republicans or Democrats that the legislation that you desire will be strictly confidential and will be drafted according to the plans that you lay out before them. That is all I ask. I ask that this Joint State Government Commission be made a useful instrument for the members of the Legislature, one they can go to and get an unbiased opinion from, one to which they can go in order to get the necessary research work done that is so essential at times when we have important legislation before us.

I only ask that this bill go back to committee in order that we may make it a non-partisan, bi-partisan group, and whether you are in the majority or the minority you will have an opportunity of getting a fair deal from the Joint State Government Commission.

Otherwise, I say this, Mr. President, and I say it honestly, it is just money poured down a rat hole; it is money wasted; whether you spend one cent or whether you spend a hundred thousand dollars it will absolutely do the people of Pennsylvania no earthly good because it is bound to be partisan, everything that comes out of that commission, as long as it is partisan in its makeup.

The amendments introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia were only in line with the thought I had in mind, and that is why I asked that they be accepted. If you do not accept the proposal as it is now being brought up, that is all right—I do not expect you to. I know this is purely a political situation, and so we will play on political lines. Let us not kid ourselves about these affairs—we know that this unity talk is all right except on the floor of the Senate and of the House. If you defeat these amendments—this is the one bill in the entire session that could be non-political, the one particular piece of legislation that could be instrumental in bringing to the people of Pennsylvania an earthly lot of good, but, no, you insist in being political. Therefore, go ahead and vote "no" to send this bill back to committee, but if you do send it back to committee you are only doing the just thing for the future years to come, because now the Senate is Republican—I remember when it was Democratic and I hope to live to see when it is Democratic again.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Barr,	Gourley,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Coleman,	Holland,	McQuiddy,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Jaspan,	Ruth,	Woodring,
Dent,	McCreesh,

NAYS—27

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Carr,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,
Crider,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Deitrick,	Jones,	Taylor,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring, and said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the sponsor of this bill is not present and I would like to interrogate him in connection with this bill. I am wondering whether there is any objection to having this bill go over in order.

If there is no objection, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 32, on second reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the various officers and agencies of the Commonwealth and any municipality or political subdivision thereof, including counties, cities, towns, townships, boroughs and school districts to cooperate with the United States Government in making deductions of the Victory Tax from the salaries and compensation of state employes, the holding of such moneys, and the transmittal thereof to the United States.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 38, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight, section eleven, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 52, on second reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding thereto section eighteen.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. THOMAS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 118, entitled:

An Act to further amend section eleven of the act, approved the eleventh day of July, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 1054), entitled "An act relating to certain county officers in counties of the fifth class; providing for their salaries and the compensation of deputies and clerks in the respective county offices; establishing a salary board, and defining its powers and duties; placing certain duties on the county commissioners, county controllers, and county auditors; requiring the payment into the respective county treasury of the fees of such county officers; and providing penalties for violation of this act," increasing the salaries of jury commissioners in counties of the fifth class.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate a "Report of the Estate of Stephen Girard for the year 1942," receipt of which is noted in the Journal, and ordered printed in the Appendix.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not desire to prolong this session of the Senate, but I would like for the information of the Senate to advise the gentleman from Westmoreland that the bill he wept over, which he introduced in 1941, was passed by the Senate and was killed in the Democratic controlled House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that this matter may not be colored up by any be-foolery, I would like to explain that it was passed in the Senate, it is true, by the votes of the Senate members and defeated in the House by the Democratic members, who at that time would have held control of the Joint State Government Commission, by virtue of the act that was then in existence, exactly the same action that has been taken right now by the Senate.

All I asked in that bill was non-partisan, bi-partisan, control and that is all that I ask now. I introduced that bill in good faith and it was passed by the Republicans, who were then in the minority, and who refuse now because they are in the majority.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SHAPIRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I recognize, Mr. President, that all of this was in fun, but I also recognize that we are in a world crisis where all of our boys are fighting or are going to be called upon to fight.

I want to say on behalf of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, that he was just as sincere last year about this bill as he is now, and what I see in this picture is that we are still dealing with real problems that concern every citizen, on a political basis.

The House was a Democratically controlled House and did not want to let go of power. The Senate was a Republican Senate, who were willing to get some power. The House killed the bill which would give some power to somebody else, and we are in the same situation today.

What the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, is asking is that we shall live up to what the Governor stated, that we shall co-operate. Let us all assume that each of us were politicians up until yesterday, up until Pearl Harbor, but from now on this Commission has got to do some work, some real work, and what the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, is asking, and to which I understand we should all agree, is that we should forget about politics and work on a co-operative basis with the Governor.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 84, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph A of section four hundred one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 565), entitled "An act relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Banking and the Secretary of Banking in exercising supervision over, and taking possession of and conducting or liquidating the business and property of, corporations, associations, and persons receiving deposits or otherwise transacting a banking business, corporations acting as fiduciaries, and building and loan associations; providing for the payment of the expenses of the Department of Banking by supervised corporations, associations, or persons, and appropriating the Banking Department Fund; authorizing the Department of Banking, under certain circumstances, to examine corporations, associations, or persons affiliated, or having business transactions with supervised corporations, associations or persons; authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court, and prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of certain other courts and their prothonotaries, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services rendered under this act; providing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by requiring the Department of Banking to examine all institutions thoroughly at least once every two years, instead of each year as now provided.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until February 9, 1943, at 2:00 o'cock p. m. Eastern War Time.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 6:40 o'clock p. m. Eastern War Time until February 9, 1943, at 2:00 o'clock p. m. Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 8, 1943.

The House met at 9 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF DEATH OF MEMBER

The SPEAKER. It is the Chair's sad duty to announce the death of Honorable Philip K. Stinger, a member of the House from the County of Philadelphia, Fifth District, who died Friday, February 5, 1943.

Following prayer by the Chaplain, will the members please remain standing in silence, until the gavel falls, as a mark of respect to his memory.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for preserving our lives to this moment. We rejoice that Thou hast enabled us to gather this night at the fireside of our beloved keystone state. Help every member of this House to show his love for the state as he faithfully serves those whom he represents. May the laws enacted during this session meet our present needs as well as prove to be a blessing to posterity.

Grant Thy presence and power unto the boys and girls who are sacrificially serving their country in the war. May they and we learn anew that man's extremities are God's opportunities. Yea, may we discover afresh that Thy grace is sufficient for us. Everywhere may there come a rekindling of faith in Thee, a passion for righteousness and a new love for our fellowmen. May there be a great turning of men to Thee in our time. This we ask with the forgiveness of our sins through our Redeemer. Amen.

The Members of the House remained standing until the gavel fell.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, February 3, 1943.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, February 3, 1943, when, on motion of Mr. FOX, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

FUNERAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. Funeral services for the Honorable Philip K. Stinger, will be held tomorrow, Tuesday, February 9th, at his home. The Speaker appoints as a committee on the part of the House, to attend the funeral services:

Messrs. Boyd, Lee, Costa, Root, Salus, Irvin, Campbell, Menna, Mintess, Murray, O'Dare, Tahl, Gorman, Walton, Tiemann, Cohen, Scanlon, Skale, Corrigan, Trent, Welsh, Dillon, Levy, Thompson, Herman, Finnerty, Hoggard, Rose, Kolankiewicz, O'Brien, Borry, Hersch, Brigerman, Duffy, Cullen, Modell, Chudoff, Green, Tate.

This committee is requested to meet in the Speaker's office immediately after adjournment this evening to receive specific information as to the arrangements for their attendance at the funeral.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows.

In the Senate, February 8, 1943.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday evening, February 15, 1943, at five o'clock, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday evening, February 15, 1943, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act authorizing, during the present war time emergency, cities, counties and other political subdivisions to pay compensation to their officers, employes and others who are paid out of their treasuries, in addition to the compensation fixed by act of assembly; validating ordinances and other legislative acts authorizing such payments and all payments made thereunder; and suspending existing laws.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act to further amend section fourteen of the act, approved the eighteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043), entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes; exempting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," by providing that employes on retirement for superannuation who return to active school service during the present war shall not, upon return to retirement, receive any smaller allowance than that received prior to return to active school service.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 60, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections two thousand six hundred twenty and two thousand six hundred twenty-five of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by providing for the filing of copies of auditors' reports in school districts of the third and fourth classes.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 62, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," by fixing the annual registration fee of certain motor vehicles.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 63, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety, regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth, providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances and legal claims, registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees, prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act, conferring powers and imposing duies upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles and garage keepers, providing that records are admissible as evidence, imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles, imposing penalties, imposing certain costs upon counties, providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds"; changing the definition of "chassis" as it applies to certain commercial motor vehicles thereby changing the classification of such vehicles.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 4, entitled:

An Act relating to the journals of the proceedings of the Senate and of the House of Representatives; requiring the keeping thereof and their publication in the Legislative Journal; and abolishing the separate publication of such journals.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 49, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and sections one to twelve, both inclusive, of the act, approved the nineteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 3), entitled "An act providing for the organization, government, discipline, maintenance and regulation of an additional land force to be known as the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps for the defense of the Commonwealth during any period of time in which the National Guard of Pennsylvania, or any part thereof, shall be in active service of the United States," changing the name of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps to Pennsylvania State Guard.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BROWN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 6), page 4, line 13, by inserting after the word "Guard" the following: "but no person shall be refused enlistment or a commission, or in anyway be discriminated against in the administration of this act by reason of his race or color."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Orderd, To be transcribed for a third reading.

RESOLUTIONS

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

The SPEAKER. This is the week of the anniversary of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, one of our greatest Americans. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, to come to the rostrum and read the resolution he has offered.

The resolution was read by Mr. James as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Friday will mark the one hundred and thirty-third anniversary of the birthday of the sixteenth President of our Nation.

Born on February 12, 1804, among the high hills and deep gorges of Kentucky, he rose from cabin up to Capitol.

No other man in the history of our Country has ever better illustrated that equality of opportunity, which is our proud boast, nor the heights that are accessible to every youth; no one has ever so inspired those who followed him, and no one has ever been more worthy of emulation.

Of all that has been written of Abraham Lincoln, nothing better describes this "man who matched the mountains" than those words of Edwin Markham, in his poem on "Lincoln, The Man of the People:"

"The color of the ground was in him, the red earth
The tang and odor of the primal things—
The rectitude and patience of the rocks;
The gladness of the wind that shakes the corn;
The courage of the bird that dares the sea;
The justice of the rain that loves all leaves;
The pity of the snow that hides all scars;
The loving-kindness of the wayside well;
The tolerance and equity of light."

Study and contemplation of the life of Lincoln, especially during the progress of the war that saved the Nation, cannot help but aid and guide us in the performance of our duties during the progress of the war to save the World; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, as Members of this House, shall strive during these perilous days to follow the course that he blazed during those days, that in our Legislative work we forget place, and power and preference, that we throw away envy and jealousy and pettiness and that we emulate the courage and the rectitude and the justice and tolerance and equity that were his; and be it further

Resolved, That

We'll solve our problems as he built the State,
Working together on the mould of every law,
The conscience of us testing every word
To make this work, the measure of our lives.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, and requests him to come to the rostrum where the gentleman will read Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

Mr. BROWN read Lincoln's Gettysburg Address as follows:

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mintess, and requests the gentleman to come to the rostrum.

Mr. MINTESS. Mr. Speaker, it is with a degree of misgiving that I seek this privilege of addressing you, because, as you know I am a new man.

And yet I have persuaded myself that the birthday of Abraham Lincoln is far too important an event to be passed unnoticed in this Democratic Assemblage.

I must utter these humble words of honor to the great man whose memory is so precious to the Negro race, to the Republican party and to all Americans. My people look upon Abraham Lincoln as the one who gave them freedom from bondage, the one who elevated them to the status of manhood and citizenship.

The Republican party looks upon Abraham Lincoln as one of the ablest and noblest sons who by ability alone, became its first president.

All Americans look upon Abraham Lincoln as the one who saved the Union and paid with his life to establish for all time the truth of the proposition that this is an indivisible union of indestructible States.

Lincoln was no stranger to Pennsylvanians. In Philadelphia at Independence Hall he found "that sentiment in the Declaration of Independence which gave liberty not alone to the people of this country, but hope to all the world for all future time." Today we fight to make real that hope which Lincoln saw.

It was to Pennsylvanians at Gettysburg that Lincoln gave the greatest speech of all his life. There in dignified, simple and clear language he spoke of that Government of the people, for the people and by the people that must not perish from the earth.

Engaged as we are today in another great war; finding ourselves again tested as to whether the democratic way of life can longer endure, we do well to turn our thoughts to this great humanitarian who rose from the lowly ranks of the poor to be recognized throughout the world as a great American—A Martyr for Unity.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. HARE offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Wednesday, February 10, 1943, marks the 95th birthday of Mrs. Alice Wagner, a resident of the Village of Buckstown, Stoneycreek Township, Somerset County, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Wagner is the oldest resident of this outstanding County of Counties in this Commonwealth. She was born in Mercersburg, Franklin County, Pennsylvania, the daughter of James and Catherine Williamson. Since 1865 she has resided at her present address and has been an active community and church worker during her entire life time. In the year 1879, she was married to Daniel Wagner. Her husband was a line team driver, transporting freight from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh on the old Philadelphia-Pittsburgh Turnpike. Prior to his marriage, he opened a general store in Buckstown, and continued to operate this store successfully until he retired in 1918.

She now spends her time managing her home, quilting, crocheting, and knitting.

Mrs. Alice Wagner is the grandmother of our distinguished colleague, the genial squire of Buckstown, and a Member of this House, the Honorable Kenneth Hall Wagner; therefore be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends its heartiest congratulations to this venerable lady and commends the activities of her long and useful life; and that a certified copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of this House to Mrs. Alice Wagner, with the best wishes of this House for many more happy, prosperous and useful years.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. CAMPBELL offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

The Honorable Philip K. Stinger, Sr., Member of this House from the Fifth Legislative District of the City of Philadelphia, took his seat for the first time at the present session of the General Assembly. He was 69 years of age. His tenure of office was to be short lived. After an illness of ten days, Mr. Stinger died on Friday, February 5, 1943. Funeral services will be held at his home at two o'clock in the afternoon, on Tuesday, February 9, 1943.

The deceased was engaged as a hauling contractor in his native city of Philadelphia. He was a member of the Masonic Order and of the 36th Ward Republican Club.

He was a lifelong Republican, and had been active in politics for the last forty years of his life.

Mr. Stinger is survived by his widow, Mrs. Fannie Stinger, three sons, Philip, Harry S. and John, and by a daughter, Mrs. Margaret McGonigle; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby expresses its sorrow over the passing of one of its Members, and offers its sincere condolence to his widow and children in their great bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House to Mrs. Fannie Stinger, widow of our departed colleague, the Honorable Philip K. Stinger, Sr.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to report a condolence resolution from the Committee on Rules and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 2, 1943.

The life membership in this House of Representatives tendered to the Honorable John M. Flynn of Elk County by resolution of this House on August 6, 1936, was terminated on August 18th last, when he entered upon his final and lasting sleep.

No one had ever before served so long a time as an active member, and no one had ever before been so honored by his colleagues.

His career, beginning after his graduation from the Ridgway High School when he was but sixteen years old, as a machinist in a foundry in his home town, carried him gradually through the various phases of manufacturing until he became President of the Manufacturers' Association of Pennsylvania.

His service of almost two score years in this House was marked by his outstanding ability, his innate modesty, his singleness of purpose, his friendly disposition, his staunch loyalty, and his unswerving honesty.

His success is an outstanding example of that equality of opportunity that is the heritage of those fortunate enough to be a part of the American way of life.

The Association of which he was the head, the industry of which he was a part, and the community in which he lived, have suffered an irreparable loss; therefore be it,

Resolved, That the Members of this House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby extend their deepest sympathy to the widow and family of the said Honorable John M. Flynn, and direct that a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to them by the Chief Clerk of this House.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. YEAKEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to report a condolence resolution from the Committee on Rules and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 27, 1943.

Born in Coaldale, Schuylkill County, on April 23, 1879, Jacob Berger a former member of this House died in the Coaldale State Hospital on January twenty-fifth, 1943.

Active in politics and public affairs, he was never defeated for office. He was a member of the Coaldale School Board from 1919 to 1937 and had the distinction of presenting each of his five sons with diplomas upon their graduation from Coaldale High School.

He was elected to the General Assembly from the Third District in 1923 and later was appointed to the Ashland State Hospital Board of Trustees. He held the post of senior compensation field representative for Eastern Pennsylvania in the State Department of Labor and Industry, holding that post until 1934. At the time of his death, he was a clerk in the registration department of the county commissioners' office and treasurer of the Employes' Association of the commissioners.

A member of St. John's Primitive Methodist Church, Coaldale, and various societies, he leaves his wife and five sons; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House extends to his widow its deep and sincere sympathy and directs the Chief Clerk of this House to transmit to her a copy of this resolution.

PAYMENT OF FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to present a resolution, which is not a privileged resolution, but which I think is of sufficient import that it be read for the information of the Members of the House.

Mr. BRETHERICK asked and obtained unanimous consent for the resolution to be read for the information of the House and that he (Mr. Bretherick) be permitted to read it.

The resolution was read by Mr. Bretherick as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Whereas, Hundreds of thousands of Pennsylvania income taxpayers in the lower brackets have expended their increased earnings during the year 1942 for the payment of depression debts, for the purchase of much needed clothing for themselves and their children, for rehabilitation of their homes and for similar purposes; and

Whereas, The present system will impose upon our taxpayers a burden of debt to the Government which they will be unable to discharge; and

Whereas, The present system of taxation is harsh and burdensome and will impose upon the widows and children of departed breadwinners a millstone of indebtedness to the Government; and

Whereas, The present system of income tax payments produce a form of Government imposed serfdom upon our citizens; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to adopt, with all possible dispatch, the Ruml pay-as-you-go-plan for the payment of Federal Income Tax; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall immediately forward a copy of this resolution to the President of the United States, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Member of the House of Representatives of the United States from Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

REPEAL OF EMERGENCY RELIEF TAXES

Mr. COHEN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent to have it read for the information of the House.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Whereas, As a result of the National depression of the last decade, Pennsylvania in 1935 was faced with a great problem of unemployment of many of its citizens; and

Whereas, In meeting this problem the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania found it necessary to levy emergency relief taxes aggregating one hundred eighty-eight million dollars ($188,000,000.00); and

Whereas, The said emergency taxes were in 1937 reduced by the Earle Administration to one hundred sixty-three million dollars ($163,000,000.00); and

Whereas, During the said period the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expended the sum of two hundred forty million dollars ($240,000,000.00) per biennium; and

Whereas, National Defense and war activities have practically taken up every employable person in the Commonwealth, making it necessary only for provision to be made for permanent relief for the aged, blind, dependent children and unemployables to the extent of not more than seventy-five million dollars ($75,000,000.00) per biennium; and

Whereas, In 1939, the people of Pennsylvania were promised tax reductions by the elimination of the so-called Earle emergency taxes; and

Whereas, The said taxes have not been eliminated or reduced; and

Whereas, In 1942, both major political parties promised tax reduction in their respective campaigns; now therefore be it

Resolved, That since the emergency for which the taxes levied has disappeared and no longer exists, it is the sense of this body that all emergency relief taxes shall be repealed, eliminated and not reenacted by proper action and procedure, and that the Commonwealth shall be placed upon a permanent tax basis.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I object to having the resolution acted upon immediately, and ask that it be filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 1

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 1, Printers No. 10.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, The cost of Federal State and local governments was $24,000,000,000 for the fiscal year ending 1941 which is a rise of 34% over 1938 before defense and war preparations began and

Whereas In Pennsylvania the General Fund expenditures for the operation of the State government has increased more than 100% in the past decade and

Whereas The rise in government cost means increased tax burdens and

Whereas The cost of State and local government should be kept at a minimum in order that the taxpayer may be able to bear the increased tax load which will become necessary in order to assist in financing the cost of the present war and liquidate the unpaid costs in the post-war era therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Appropriation Committee of the Senate and the Appropriation Committee of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania shall (A) proceed immediately to hold hearings and meetings to investigate all departments boards commissions agencies and officers of the State government to (1) ascertain whether there are overlapping functions (2) ascertain whether there is duplication of services in the form of auditing inspection laboratories reporting or otherwise (3) determine what departments boards commissions or other agencies if any can be abolished merged or suspended permanently or for the duration (4) determine how the efficiency and administration of the State government and its agencies can be improved and costs reduced without impairing its efficiency (B) recommend measures to this General Assembly to effectiuate the general purposes of this resolution (C) call upon any department or agency of the State government or the General Assembly for such information as they deem pertinent to the studies and investigation in which they are engaged and (D) engage such clerical stenographic assistants and other personnel as they may require in order to carry out the purposes of this resolution

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate a gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask my genial friend, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, if he can tell me how many departments, boards, commissions, agencies, offices of the state government we have.

Mr. ROSE. I cannot, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria say we have probably one hundred fifty or two hundred such departments?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny please repeat the question?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria say that we have at least one hundred or one hundred fifty such departments, boards, commissions, agencies and offices of the state government?

Mr. ROSE. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I would.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell us how long in his opinion this session might last?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, it is quite obvious I cannot tell that.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think by this resolution we might get out before our terms of office expire?

Mr. ROSE. In reply to the question, Mr. Speaker, which seems to me to be facetious, I would like to give a serious answer, and that is regardless how long the session lasts, how much we are able to accomplish, anything we can show on the credit side of the ledger is something to be proud of, even though we may be disappointed that we did not accomplish more.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman serious when under the resolution he proposes to immediately hold hearings and meetings to investigate all departments, commissions, agencies, and offices of the state government?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the question I would say that we intend to investigate as many as possible, and if time should permit we might cover all of them, but we would be foolish to limit ourselves in the first place by setting any given number. We might investigate five or ten or twenty, and then determine we should continue to investigate more. If the gentleman would prefer the word "any" instead of the word "all", I would have no objection to an amendment to that effect.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria say whether or not he intends under this resolution to investigate the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to that question I would say that we have no specific department in mind. It is not aimed at any one function. It was my intention in offering it, and it was the intention of the Committee in permitting it to be reported out, that we should investigate the most glaring, from our information, points of over-lapping and waste of money at the expense of the taxpayers. I have no present intention to investigate the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or any other commission to which the gentleman has referred.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria have any objection to amending the resolution to designate what boards, commissions, state offices, or other agencies this committee wishes to investigate?

Mr. ROSE. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I would have objection to that.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman what his objection would be.

Mr. ROSE. The objections, Mr. Speaker, would be that we would limit ourselves in our accomplishment of the purpose for which this resolution was introduced. If we sat on one commission or one department and found it overlaps in certain functions some other department that we perhaps do not have in mind at the present time, we would not be able to go ahead and investigate that department in order to accomplish the purpose intended by the resolution by its present wording.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman state whether or not in his opinion the committees have the power to make such investigations of these departments as they see fit without this resolution?

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, we have the power to investigate the records, yes. We want the ability to ask people to come in from the departments, and I might say that we are counting on their cooperation. I would further say that in accomplishing an investigation of this sort we have no set power to work with the Appropriation Committee in the Senate except informally. It is our desire under this resolution to appoint sub-committees, as many as possible from the Appropriation Committees of both the House and the Senate, and to have upon those committees minority representation.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, that does not directly answer the question. The question I asked the gentleman is simply whether these committees, either jointly or separately, have the power now to do everything this resolution wants to do?

Mr. ROSE. The answer, Mr. Speaker, is a limited, yes. We have the power to start out on our own hook, you might say, and find out what we can. This resolution provides us with the machinery under which the Legislature permits us to perform those functions. If it should develop later on that we need broader powers, we can come in and either justify it or not justify it, as the case may be. At least we will have the expression of both Houses on this resolution placed on the record.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, what personnel or machinery is provided for in this resolution that would not already be available to the commission?

Mr. ROSE. None, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Why then, Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman say that this resolution provides machinery that they do not have?

Mr. ROSE. The resolution expresses the will of the House, that as the machinery may develop or become necessary, we will be in a position to come in and ask for it as the Committee goes along. I might say generally that this is not a preconceived plan. We are going in to investigate all we can to see what we can find out. We can do it informally but we prefer to have the dignity of the sponsorship of both sides of the Legislature.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he would have any objection to amending the resolution, naming the departments, boards, commissions, agencies and offices of the State Government that they wish to investigate?

Mr. ROSE. Yes, I would object to it, Mr. Speaker, as I said previously. Perhaps if the gentleman has some particular one in mind that he does not want to have investigated and will offer an amendment to that effect, maybe we will agree to it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. Speaker. I know we have a lot of time on our hands here and we are likely to let things go through that perhaps we will afterward regret. I feel this is a piece of legislation that first of all is not needed because our committees have the power now to do everything that this resolution would call upon them to do. Secondly, I believe, and I believe the gentleman from Cambria knows it is absolutely impossible, absurd and ridiculous to say that a committee of the House and the Senate can investigate and determine whether or not all of the departments, agencies, commissions, local offices and state offices of the government are functioning properly.

Now, Mr. Speaker, let us be sincere about the facts. If the gentlemen have any commission or any board or any agency that they particularly want to single out, I will vote for such resolution, regardless of what it is, but I will not vote for something which on the face of it cannot be carried out. The gentleman knows that if he were to start in to investigate the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, the Department of Justice or any of the agencies for which we have appropriated hundreds of thousands of dollars and which mean so much to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it would not and it could not be done by any such legislation.

I believe, Mr. Speaker, in the last session of the House and the session before that and the one before that we voted for the local State Government Commission and we appropriated, I believe, in one instance one hundred thousand dollars, and I don't know whether that commission has even come to a conclusion on the great problems of the functioning of the State's departments. Now, how under Heaven can this committee investigate all departments of the State government? This is a serious proposition, when we charge one Committee whose life cannot be beyond this session, with the responsibility, and I quote from the third paragraph of this resolution:

> "To determine what departments, boards, commissions or agencies, if any, can be abolished, merged or suspended permanently or for the duration."

It is absurd, Mr. Speaker, it is ridiculous, and I do not believe it comes in here with clean hands. I believe there are some departments that they do wish to go into, but they will not come out and say which ones they are; they want us to write them a blank check. They have the power already and I'm not willing to give to this Committee additional powers that it may use as it sees fit, and create an oligarchy, or an autocracy, to go out and hold these hearings. Mr. Speaker, I would vote for any resolution that calls for a specific investigation of any department or any officer of this Commonwealth. My record in this Legislature will substantiate what I say, but I will not vote for a piece of legislation hidden behind which is something that I am certain does not appear on the face of it, in view of the fact that the resolution cannot be carried out.

It seems to me if the gentleman from Cambria wishes to do this House a service he would amend this resolution. If they want to look into the question of the Parole Board, I am for it, or the Auditor General, or the Department of Justice, the Department of Welfare or any other department or any other agency or any other commission or any other board, but I feel it would be a mistake for us to vote for this piece of legislation, and we ought to vote it down unless the gentleman is willing to amend it.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I quite agree with the gentleman from Allegheny that his record shows that his service has been in good faith. I am sorry if he does not reciprocate in finding my record likewise, that he cannot find anything in my record to justify the charge of coming in with unclean hands on this resolution. I did not know what the gentleman was getting at when he said it but I believe he let the cat out of the bag at the conclusion of his remarks when he said he would vote for a resolution to investigate the Parole Board or the Auditor General—maybe that is what he's afraid of, I don't know. I will say sincerely and I believe the gentleman from Allegheny will believe me when I say it is not my purpose in offering this resolution to persecute or make a political investigation in any way either of the Parole Board or the Auditor General any more than any other board. It is my sincere hope that we will be able by communication from one department to another to find that there are a number of investigations carried on which overlap which one man can do as well as two or three operating out of different departments.

When the gentleman from Allegheny says we are absurd and ridiculous in trying to do this, I guess we are absurd in fixing life's ambitions. I do not believe when I pass on I will have achieved everything I set about trying to do, but I will have been better off for having tried. I say again, Mr. Speaker, that the purpose of the investigation of these departments is one of study and is not ripper legislation, it is not intended or aimed at any such function.

Lastly, Mr. Speaker, I would say in reply to the gentleman's allegation that we can make these investigations without any resolution, I say yes, we can, but I want the department that I speak to, to know when I speak to them that I'm not just coming as an individual busybody from Cambria County, and that I have not seen the movie "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and gotten any brain storm. I want them to know that I am acting upon the instructions of the State Legislature, that I am acting in response to their instructions. I want them to understand that we are trying in every way that we can to accomplish the purpose of eliminating duplication, and for that reason there should be no question about unclean hands in offering this resolution. It is noble in its purpose and I ask the membership of the House to support this resolution on the roll call requested by the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the interrogation and the debate which followed the interrogation has prompted me to say this: the minority will support this resolution. However, Mr. Speaker, I cannot help but comment very briefly in this respect. We are all pledged, the Governor is pledged to a short, business-like, speedy, nonpolitical, conciliatory, and a happy and love-feast session. We all quite agree that we want to get out of here and the people of Pennsylvania want us to get out of here once the wants of the people have been determined, and everyone else seems to agree that we ought to try to get out of here by April 15. Mr. Speaker, you have my pledge and the pledge of the minority when we started the session that we would work for that purpose. However, I cannot see how this body, sitting in two hundred and eight separate committees, would be able to go through the entire state setup, because it seems to me logical that the activities of one department must go into the activities of another, and then a byway in department "A" must certainly lead into an inquiry into department "B", and so on into August.

Mr. Speaker, in 1941 the Joint State Government Commission after having so valiantly labored for almost two years compiled and presented to this House and to every member of this House at that time, and I am sure copies are available to the Members of this House and to the Senate, a voluminous report to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on the organization and administration of the Pennsylvania State Government. That was presented in January of 1941 and if I read correctly it had some 3,214 pages of information on the State government. In addition to that, Mr. Speaker, there are other smaller pamphlets composed of hundreds of pages and there were other inquiries as to other state functions. The Joint State Government Commission today has completed and reported on several inquiries and is in the process of conducting further inquiries on other subjects which are of concern to the membership of this House and Senate. All this information is available, it is ready, and accessible to the Members of the House. If we were to begin this work all over again, it seems to me it will be sometime in August or September, or as Mr. Brown has so aptly put it, "by the time our terms of office expire" on December 1, 1944, we will still not have reached a conclusion, and since this committee will not have powers beyond the term of the session, it seems to me that while noble and in good faith the purpose of this resolution cannot be completely and wholly carried out.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, if I gave to my very good friend, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, the idea that I was casting any reflection upon his integrity or sincerity, I would willingly apologize. He is one of my very best friends. I think he knows that, and if I said anything that might cast any reflection upon him personally, as I said before, I willingly apologize.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is it permissible at this time for me to withdraw my request for a roll call, the minority floor leader having said the minority would support this resolution?

The SPEAKER. It is in order at this time for the gentleman to withdraw his request for a roll call, if he so chooses.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my request for a roll call.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that there probably will not be a roll call, is there any way that I may be recorded on the record as voting "no," if there is no roll call?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Allegheny the only way his vote could be recorded is on a roll call. However, the gentleman could, under a question of personal privilege, state that he wished to vote "no" on the resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, for the reasons already given, I would like to be recorded as voting "no" on Resolution No. 1, Printer's No. 10.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny simply state he voted "no"?

Mr. BROWN. Yes, Mr. Speaker. A rose by any other name is just as sweet.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be noted upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I voted "no" on the Resolution.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia on his question of personal privilege will be noted upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I voted "no" on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be noted on the Journal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MODELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Herman, and I have co-sponsored a series of bills which we have introduced at this time. These bills are not new to this House, having been introduced in the 1941 session of the Legislature.

They are an attempt to correct a situation in this State which is of extreme importance to the people of this Commonwealth affecting health and property.

They represent a comprehensive plan to cure or at least alleviate a sorry mess. For many years throughout Pennsylvania millions of people have been adversely affected by stream pollution from many causes. In 1937 the Pure Streams Act was passed by this Legislature and it was generally believed that a remedy had finally been found to purify Pennsylvania streams. The Sanitary Water Board had at last been given the power to enforce their orders. But, unfortunately for the citizens of Pennsylvania there has been little improvement—injunctions were not enforced—and the streams in Pennsylvania are still badly polluted. The result is a great danger to the health of Pennsylvania citizens and a great flood hazard.

In the Special Session of 1942 a resolution was introduced as a result of which a committee was formed with the duty of making a careful, thorough and impartial study of the causes and reasons for the continuance of these conditions. I was a member and secretary of that committee, which committee recognized that the problem of an adequate water supply in this Commonwealth is of tremendous importance with relation to the industrial output of our industries; that stream polution, especially in the well populated areas is a serious menace to the Commonwealth and safety of the residents and that the contamination of the Commonwealth's water sheds has likewise reduced the availability of the water supply which is so necessary to the fullest industrial expansion of our industries in our war report. The committee in the performance of its duties, held several meetings and studied this matter thoroughly, but due to the length of time consumed in taking testimony and obtaining the notes, was unable to make a report to the House prior to adjournment. It is my belief and that of my colleague, that the bills which we have introduced will correct the faults now existent.

We ask your earnest consideration and support.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

There will be meetings of the Committees on

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 9, 1943

The Senate met at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The PRESIDENT. In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer will be offered by the Senator from Berks, Dr. Ruth.

Mr. RUTH. Almighty God, Father of all mankind, Giver of every good and perfect gift, we thank Thee for health, for life and for the opportunity to serve, and we pray that Thy spirit will guide us today, that we may do our work in a way that will meet with Thine approval. Help us each day that we may do and say those things which will bring victory for the right and eternal peace and love for all people. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. CARR, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. KEPHART.

He also asked and obtain leave of absence for Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

OPPOSING WOODWARD BILL

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate letter dated February 3, 1943, from Machine Tool and Die Local No. 155, enclosing copy of resolution recording opposition to the Woodward Bill, which was referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

HOUSE MESSAGES

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 8, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, February 15, 1943, at five o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, February 15, 1943, at nine o'clock.

He also presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on State Government.

COMMITTEES TO DETERMINE DUPLICATONS OF SERVICE IN STATE DEPARTMENTS

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1943.

Whereas, The cost of Federal, State and local governments was $24,000,000,000 for the fiscal year ending 1941, which is a rise of 34% over 1938, before defense and war preparations began; and

Whereas, In Pennsylvania the General Fund expenditures for the operation of the State government has increased more than 100% in the past decade; and

Whereas, The rise in government cost means increased tax burdens; and

Whereas, The cost of State and local government should be kept at a minimum, in order that the taxpayer may be able to bear the increased tax load which will become necessary in order to assist in financing the cost of the present war and liquidate the unpaid costs in the post-war era; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Appropriation Committee of the Senate and the Appropriation Committee of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania shall (A) proceed immediately to hold hearings and meetings to investigate all departments, board,s commissions, agencies, and officers of the State government to (1) ascertain whether there are overlapping functions; (2) ascertain whether there is duplication of services in the form of auditing, inspection, laboratories, reporting, or otherwise; (3) determine what departments, boards, commissions, or other agencies, if any, can be abolished, merged, or suspended, permanently or for the duration; (4) determine how the efficiency and administration of the State government and its agencies can be improved and costs reduced, without impairing its efficiency; (B) recommend measures to this General Assembly to effectuate the general purposes of this resolution; (C) call upon any department or agency of the State government or the General Assembly for such information as they deem pertinent to the studies and investigation in which they are engaged; and (D) engage such clerical, stenographic assistants and other personnel as they may require in order to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. WADE and McGINNIS read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 119, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three hundred one and three hundred three of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 789) entitled as amended "An act relating to insurance establishing an insurance department and amending revising and consolidating the law relating to the licensing qualification regulation examination suspension and dissolution of insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and certain societies and orders the examination and regulation of fire insurance rating bureaus and the licensing and regulation of insurance agents and brokers the service of legal process upon foreign insurance companies associations or exchanges providing penalties and repealing existing laws" by further regulating the computation of the reserve liability of life insurance companies the issuance of life insurance policies and redefining deficiency reserve requirements.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

Mr. JONES read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 120, entitled:

An Act to further amend section sixteen of the act, approved the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 468), entitled "An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department, by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner, two Deputy State Highway Commissioners, chief engineer, chief draughtsman, superintendents of highways, and a staff of assistants and employes; defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, and fixing salaries of commissioner and deputies and other appointees, providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county-seats, principal cities, and towns and extending to the State line; describing and defining same by route numbers as the State highways of the Commonwealth; providing for the improvement, maintenance and repair of said State highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth, and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve or maintain the same, and relieving said townships or counties of authority over same; requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State highways wholly and in part; requiring the State Highway Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof; conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioner; providing for the payment of damages in taking of property, or otherwise, in the improvement thereof; providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll-roads forming all or part of any State highway, and procedure therein; providing for work of improvement of State highways to be done by contract, except where the State Highway Commissioner decides the work be done by the State; providing aid by the State to counties and townships desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads; defining highways and State-aid highways; providing method of application for State aid in the improvement, maintenance and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township, county, borough, or incorporated town petitions; providing for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State, county, township, borough, or incorporated town, and requiring contracts by counties, townships, boroughs, and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same; providing for the minimum width of State highways and State-aid highways, and kind of materials to be used in the improvement; providing for payment of cost of improvement and repairs; providing penalty for injuring or destroying State highways, making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act; and providing for the repeal of certain acts relating to Highway Department and improvement of roads, and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith; and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act," by providing for the payment of damages to abutting property owners arising from any change of grade.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. THOMAS and CHAPMAN read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 121, entitled:

An Act to further amend the title and sections one and three of, and to add section four to, the act, approved the tenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 23), entitled as amended "An act providing for the acceptance by the Commonwealth of a gift of lands from the American Petroleum Institute, located on the left bank of Oil Creek, in Oil Creek Township or Cherry Tree Township, or both, Venango County, to establish the Drake Well Memorial Park, under the control and supervision of the Department of Forests and Waters; empowering the Department of Property and Supplies to acquire additional lands for such Memorial Park without cost to the Commonwealth; and making an appropriation," changing the name of said memorial and placing it under the supervision and control of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, defining the powers and duties of the commission relative thereto, authorizing the employment of certain employes and the payment of their salaries; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, before reading in place and presenting this bill which I hold in my hand, I am going to briefly state its purpose and intent, so that the Senate may know and the people of Pennsylvania may know that it is within their power to close a gap in our election laws—a gap so big that you can drive a Pew oil truck through it.

Everybody in public life very piously exclaims against the use of money in elections.

The Federal law known as the Hatch act, a law loudly applauded by the Republican party and strenuously supported by that party, limits the contributions of any one person to a political campaign to $4,000.

Bad as is the use of excess amounts of money to influence elections and to buy votes, it is even more against the public interest when huge sums of money so used come from one man, or one group of men, or one interest.

The people then fear, and with some justice, that the man who pays the piper calls the tune, and instead of government in the public interest, we get government in the interest of the men who pay out the heavy sugar.

The Legislature of this Commonwealth has recognized this and it has provided that publicity shall be given to campaign expense accounts, so that the public may be informed of the campaign contributors, and the amounts donated. The idea of that is that the citizens will be on notice as to money spent and contributed in the primary, before they vote in the general election, and that after the general election, a watchful citizenry may take notice of campaign gifts and obligations when it passes judgment on legislation and administration.

But nothing in the present law requires political committees and political parties to tell the people how they liquidate their debts—if ever—and so huge loans now take the place of direct contributions from the fat cats of the Republican party.

Instead of being bought outright, the party just goes into hock, and the people never know if the pawn tickets are ever redeemed.

We are never told if Joe Pew or Joe Grundy, or our esteemed colleague, the senator from Dauphin, ever collect any part of the huge sums that the record shows they are always ready to advance so generously when the call of party duty resounds in their ears.

Perhaps the Senator from Dauphin will tell us all about it one of these days, because I know him to be a man who seeks to be frank in his dealings with the public.

My bill does not concern him. I am sure he will not long leave us in the dark as to his chances of getting back that $50,000, and after all, in his other capacity as Republican State Chairman, he ought to be able to see to it that the first fruits of party success are dedicated to the discharge of the debt his party owes him—a debt more substantial, I am sure, than our parties owe the rest of us, no matter how long our years of service or how devoted our record of party loyalty and support.

I am really worried about the Senator from Dauphin, but I rest content in the assurance that he will voluntarily let us know how he comes out. With income taxes what they are going to be, he will need every nickel of it.

But with the people of Pennsylvania, I share some curiosity about Joe Pew, and about Joe Grundy, and about Bill Seifert, and those institutions of finance such as the Philadelphia National Bank and the Farmers National Bank of Pittsburgh.

I would like to know who pays off the loans they so generously advance in every primary and every general election.

I think the law should so provide.

Do these men and banks write off these loans after each election? If they do, we have a right to know it.

Or are they paid back? If so, by whom?

The sums are really impressive. They "ain't hay." Ask Gifford Pinchot or Jim Davis to testify to that.

In the 1938 primary election, the record shows that Joseph N. Pew loaned the James campaign $85,000 and that Joseph R. Grundy loaned the same campaign $22,750.

In the general election of that year, Pew put in an additional loan of $30,000 and the two banks I just mentioned loaned the James campaign a combined total of $125,000.

That was an awful lot of money to put out for Arthur James. I wonder if these men and banks were ever paid off, or did they feel that the James administration rendered such outstanding service to the Commonwealth that they would gladly write off their loans as a small contribution to the peace and happiness of the Commonwealth—a sort of finanacial sacrifice to the Goddess, Civic Virtue.

Comes 1940. Joe Pew still thinks the Republican party is a good risk. He puts in $81,146 for Wendell Willkie. That must hurt Pew now. I understand he doesn't like Willkie any more.

But we can nowhere find if Pew ever got that $81,146 or even the $146 back.

In 1942, Mr. Pew again rallies around the flag, and he likes that figure of $80,000. That's what he loaned the Martin primary campaign, and he was joined by Mr. Seifert with $24,337 and our affluent colleague from Dauphin who advanced that $50,000 he is going to tell us all about some day.

Altogether, this brief and incomplete summary shows that in three campaigns, the Republican party ran up a debt of just about $500,000—to be exact, $498,233.44. The party's debt to Pew alone is more than a quarter of a million dollars—to be exact, it is $276,146.

For the party which preaches economy, and good business management, and careful expenditures, that is certainly a reckless fiscal policy.

You Senators of the majority should take heed of your party's plight. You should imbue in your party those sound conservative financial doctrines you so tenderly guard in your speeches to your constituents.

Or maybe you have paid this off. Do you know? You don't, and the public doesn't.

And the people have a right to know if the majority party of this state, or any party, intends to remain in financial servitude forever.

Mr. HOLLAND read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 122, entitled:

An Act to add section sixteen hundred fourteen to the act approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," requiring reports as to how money to pay off indebtedness of political parties was raised.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. Heyburn asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am glad to see that my esteemed colleague from Allegheny County contemplates a reform in the election laws.

I am just wondering if he is going to do anything about the tremendous contributions made to the Democratic Party by certain labor unions. I am thinking now of the contribution of half a million dollars made by John L. Lewis, in one instance, which put the Democratic Party in hock to Lewis. I am wondering whether the bill presented by the gentleman from Allegheny covers situations of that nature, and whether in his bill he should not prevent contributions by labor unions to a political party, inasmuch as corporations are now prevented from making contributions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. Holland asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, the bill that I have covers loans. When John L. Lewis donated half a million dollars, he contributed it and everyone in the country knew that John L. Lewis contributed the money. We did not try to hide it by saying that it was borrowed from John L. Lewis. He contributed half a million dollars.

Now, when the gentleman from Delaware speaks about labor unions contributing money, it is very true that labor unions contributed money and I say to the gentleman from Delaware that just as soon as his party quits taking money from people who represent special interests, I will join with him in a bill to forbid anyone to donate, and make a political democracy work.

We have sent men over to Europe today, to all parts of the world, to fight for one privilege, the privilege to vote in a political democracy. I made the first step the other day, when I asked you to join with me to do away with paid political workers at the polls. I will go as far as you want to go. I believe that no one should get elected based on money, and as soon as we do that, we will have a democracy that works.

Mr. President, I will be glad to join with the gentleman from Delaware on any bill providing that no one can spend money to buy a political office, and I want to quote, Mr. President, from the words of Joe Martin. When Joe Martin was retiring as National Chairman of the Republican Party, he was putting before that committee the reasons why they did not elect more congressmen, and I quote the exact words of Joe Martin: "If I had had more money, I would have elected more congressmen."

Mr. President, if the gentleman from Delaware is sincere, I will join with him in a bill that will outlaw all money that was spent at any election.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. Heyburn asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I do not want to needlessly prolong the debate. I could talk here on this thing all afternoon.

I would like to refresh the memory of the very able Senator from Allegheny and state that John L. Lewis' half million dollars was a loan, and I understood it was not repaid because of some rift between the Democrats and John L. Lewis, but be that as it may, money is money, and when it gets down to money, I am afraid the Democratic Party has us stopped now, because the labor unions are collecting more money in the United States of America than any other group.

Mr. President, let us admit that Mr. Pew and Mr. Grundy did donate money, but it was their own money, and this half million dollars that John L. Lewis donated, Mr. President, was money that came out of the sweat of the brows of the men in Pennsylvania who toil down in the bowels of the earth to dig up the coal that keeps us warm. It was not John L. Lewis' money, it was money coming out of the treasury of the miner's union with which he was entrusted, and I just want to repeat, it was not a gift, it was a loan.

Mr. President, there is no sense in prolonging this thing, because I am sure the spectators are not enjoying it. I will be very glad to meet with my esteemed colleague from Allegheny some evening and discuss needed reforms in the election laws of Pennsylvania.

RULING BY THE CHAIR

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to remind the Senate that the business now before the Senate is the introduction of bills.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, since the Chair has gone back to the order of bills introduced, I have not anything to say at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is sorry, but that is the order of business, therefore the Chair will request the gentleman from Westmoreland to defer his remarks.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I wish to make a few remarks in connection with the bill I am about to introduce, and I asure you, Mr. President, that these remarks will not precipitate any debate.

Before reading in place and presenting to the Chair a bill making an appropriation for one of Pennsylvania's outstanding seats of learning and culture, I am taking the liberty of embracing the opportunity and calling to the attention of this august body the fact that this institution—the Moore Institute of Art, Science and Industry, gracing the list of Philadelphia's institutions of national importance, will celebrate in 1944 its first centennial.

Unlike the mythological Teutonus who at the request of his mother received from the Gods eternal life but because of her incomplete plea was not endowed with eternal youth, the Moore Institute of Art is ever youthful and fruitful in its attainments.

Originally known as the Philadelphia School of Design for Women, this great institution is among the Philadelphia Firsts and is considered as the pioneer school for teaching industrial art in the United States. It even antedates the great South Kensington School of London, England.

Its multi-faceted program includes in addition to practical designing as applied to industry also all branches of art study which have a definite business value.

Technical and decorative design, interior decoration, teacher training, advertising, art, fine arts, fashion arts, jewelry and metal work, ceramics and puppetry and stage crafts—these are some of the fertile vineyards in which the authorities of the Institute under the experienced guidance of Honorable Edwin O. Lewis offer training for the useful and the beautiful of Pennsylvania's womanhood.

In the scheme of post-war planning the Moore Institute of Art will again be found in the very vanguard of American creativeness, helping to shape a society dedidated to peace and prosperity, a world of the tool on the ruins of a world of the sword.

Messrs. STIEFEL and SHAPIRO read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 123, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Moore Institute f Art, Science and Industry, formerly Philadelphia School f Design for Women, at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropria- ions.

Mr. RUTH read in his place and presented to the Chair enate Bill No. 124, entitled:

An Act requiring the court in imposing sentence to in- lude in such sentence the costs of keeping the person in he institution to which he is sentenced for the term as ixed by the court, providing such person is or shall be- ome during such term, financially able to pay for the ame.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary eneral.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair enate Bill No. 125, entitled:

An Act to establish as a State highway a certain section f public road in the County of Berks, and providing for ts construction and maintenance at the expense of the ommonwealth.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair enate Bill No. 126, entitled:

An Act to establish as a State highway a certain section f public road in the County of Berks, and providing for ts construction and maintenance at the expense of the ommonwealth.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

HONORABLE EDWIN OLIVER LEWIS INTRODUCED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. In respect to the bill introduced by he gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, making an appropriation to the Moore Institute of Art, the Chair has just been advised that the President of that institution is with us today, one of Philadelphia's most distinguished Judges, the Honorable Edwin O. Lewis.

RESOLUTION

URGING REPEAL OF EMERGENCY RELIEF TAXES

Mr. McGINNIS offered the following resolution which was twice read.

In the Senate, February 9, 1943.

Whereas, As a result of the National depression of the ast decade, Pennsylvania in 1935 was faced with a great roblem of unemployment of many of its citizens; and

Whereas, In meeting this problem the Commonwealth of ennsylvania found it necessary to levy emergency relief axes aggregating one hundred eighty-eight million dollars ($188,000,000.00); and

Whereas, The said emergency taxes were in 1937 reduced y the Earle Administration to one hundred sixty-three nillion dollars ($163,000,000.00); and

Whereas, During the said period the Commonwealth of ennsylvania expended the sum of two hundred forty nillion dollars ($240,000,000.00) per biennium; and

Whereas, National Defense and war activities have ractically taken up every employable person in the Commonwealth, making it necessary only for provision to be made for permanent relief for the aged, blind, dependent children and unemployables to the extent of not more than seventy-five million dollars ($75,000,000.00) per biennium; and

Whereas, in 1939, the people of Pennsylvania were promised tax reductions by the elimination of the so-called Earle emergency taxes; and

Whereas, The said taxes have not been eliminated or reduced; and

Whereas, In 1942, both major political parties promised tax reduction in their respective campaigns; now therefore be it

Resolved, That since the emergency for which the taxes levied has disappeared and no longer exists, it is the sense of this body that all emergency relief taxes shall be repealed, eliminated and not reenacted by proper action and procedure, and that the Commonwealth shall be placed upon a permanent tax basis.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McGINNIS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I should like to inquire whether or not the gentleman from Allegheny has requested immediate consideration of the resolution he just introduced.

Mr. McGINNIS. I did, Mr. President.

RESOLUTION REFERRED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, inasmuch as the resolution contains so many figures that we cannot follow them, I will have to object to immediate consideration, and suggest that the resolution be referred to the proper committee.

The PRESIDENT. Objection having been made to immediate consideration, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Finance.

CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 23, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one and to amend section four of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2460) entitled "An act creating a joint legislative commission to be known as the Joint State Government Commission providing for the appointment of its members and defining its powers and duties" changing the number of members and providing further for the terms thereof and further defining its powers and duties and amplifying the provisions relating to appropriations

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2460) entitled "An act creating a joint legislative commission to be known as the Joint State Government Commission providing for the appointment of its members and defining its powers and duties" as amended by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 1084) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same that the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint twelve members of the House and the President pro tempore shall appoint twelve members of the Senate who together with the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall constitute a continuing joint legislative commission to be known as the Joint State Government Commission The members of the commission shall be appointed during each odd-numbered year and shall continue as members of the commission until the first day of February of the next odd-numbered year and until their respective successors shall be appointed Said commission shall organize by the selection of a chairman The commission shall have power to employ a director and such professional technical clerical and other assistance as may be deemed necessary Said commission shall have power to call upon any department or agency of the State Government for such information as it deems pertinent to the studies in which it is engaged Said commission shall also have the power to designate members of the General Assembly to such sub-committees as it shall create for the purpose of making investigations and studies and to designate persons other than members of the General Assembly to act in advisory capacities

Section 2 Section four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Biennially an item of appropriation shall be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill to pay the expenses of the members of the commission constituted by this act and for the salary of the director clerical and other hire and incidental expenses

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know that it takes unanimous consent to insert amendments in a bill on the third reading calendar. However, I believe I would be derelict to the principles that I believe in if I did not at least make an attempt to make this commission a non-partisan commission.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask that the amendments which I now present to the Chair be read for the information of the Senate, after which I will ask for immediate consideration for insertion in Senate Bill No. 23 on the third reading Calendar.

Mr. TALLMAN. I object, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, how can a person object to something that he does not know anything about? How can there be objection to amendments when you do not know what they are? Perhaps the rest of the members may be interested in knowing what they are. I ask that the amendments be read before any decision is made.

RULING BY CHAIR

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that any Senator has the right to object without hearing amendments read. However, if the Senator from Lehigh has no objection to the amendments being read, the Chair will order them read by the clerk. If the gentleman from Lehigh objects to amendments being offered, that, in the opinion of the Chair, is within his right.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I think, as the Chair has ruled, if the gentleman from Westmoreland desires the amendments to be read, I certainly have no objection to their being read upon the Chair again putting the question, is there objection to unanimous consent that the amendments be considered.

The PRESIDENT. The amendments will be read and the Chair will then put the question as to whether there is any objection to the offering of the amendments to Senate Bill No. 23 on third reading.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL No. 23

Mr. DENT. Printer's No. 18. Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1), page 2, line 10, by inserting after the word "members" the following: "six members of the majority party and six members of the minority party;" Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1), page 2, line 12, by inserting after the word "members" the following: "six members of the majority party and six members of the minority party."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to introduction of amendments?

The PRESIDENT. The amendments have now been read for information of the Senators, and request has been made by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, that permission be granted to introduce amendments to Senate Bill No. 23 on third reading.

Is there objection to the introduction of amendments to this bill on third reading?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I object to the introduction of amendments to Senate Bill No. 23 on third reading.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE BY WHICH SENATE BILL No. 23 PASSED SECOND READING

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 23, Printer's No. 18, passed second reading be reconsidered.

Mr. COLEMAN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of information.

Mr. HEYBURN. I desire to inquire, Mr. President, how the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, voted.

The PRESIDENT. How did the gentleman from Westmoreland vote on this bill on second reading?

Mr. DENT. I voted "no", Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The answer of the gentleman from Westmoreland will be so recorded.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, since second reading is taken by acclamation and there is no roll call, I should like to inquire as to whether or not it is not out of order to raise the question which has just been raised by the gentleman from Delaware, because nobody could answer that question.

The PRESIDENT. That raises a question which the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, must have impliedly considered thousands of times. As we well know, it is the custom of the Senate that the question be put on passage of bills without asking for a voice vote, and, if the Chair hears no objection, the Chair declares that the bill has been agreed to, on second reading, on the assumption that every Senator voted in favor of the bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is right, Mr. President Then, my point of order is, unless there was a specific request for a roll call in this particular case, the gentleman from Westmoreland would not be out of order and would be entitled to make a motion to have the vote by which this bill passed second reading reconsidered.

Of course, when a bill has passed finally, a reconsideration motion must be made and seconded by a Senator who has voted with the majority, or with the winning side, but when a bill passes second reading without a roll call, I do not think that objection can be raised, and that is the point I am raising with the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, but is it not a fact that in that case all the Senators vote on the winning side, as the gentleman from Philadelphia puts it?

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is correct, Mr. President, and therefore the question can not be raised.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion that does not follow. The question therefore is, did not the Senator vote in favor of the bill, and did he not mistakenly state to the Chair that he had voted in opposition to the bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. If there was no roll call, Mr. President, the Chair is correct.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, although there was no roll call, I think that my neighbors around me definitely remember me voting "no", although there was not a roll call.

I want to say this to the gentleman from Delaware, that if from now on that point is going to be brought up by the Majority Floor Leader, I will make it my business to have the vote recorded so we will be in a position the next day to make the necessary motion. You can railroad this through, but rest assured there will be a roll call on every second reading bill and every first reading bill, as long as I am in the Senate, if you insist on your action.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, this is not an attempt to railroad anything. We have our rules of procedure. The gentleman from Westmoreland stated that he voted "no", therefore he did not vote with the majority, and he is not in a position to move for reconsideration of the vote by which Senate Bill 23 passed second reading. As I recall, Mr. President, a roll call was taken; I may be wrong.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in the interest of time, may I, on behalf of the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, introduce a motion that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 23 passed second reading be reconsidered? I voted in the affirmative, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. There is a motion now before the Senate. Does the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, desire to withdraw his motion in order that Senator Shapiro may make a new motion?

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 23 passed second reading.

MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 23

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I now move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 23, now under discussion, passed second reading, be reconsidered.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SHAPIRO. I voted with the majority, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SHAPIRO. I said, Mr. President, I voted with the majority.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair heard you. How did the Senator from Philadelphia vote? Did the Senator vote "aye."

Mr. SHAPIRO. I voted "aye," Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator from Lackawanna vote?

Mr. COLEMAN. I voted "aye," Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—15

Carr,	Gourley,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Holland,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,
Dent,	Jaspan,	Ruth,

NAYS—27

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Carr,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,
Crider,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Deitrick,	Jones,	Taylor,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I shall vote for this bill. Although I believe that the amendments would have helped it, I shall vote for it because I believe, first of all, that the bill is a step in the right direction, and make it possible for the majority members of this body to indicate their desire to cooperate and to treat this commission as a constructive commission of considerable importance. It is still possible under this bill in its present situation for both of the things that this side of the Senate has fought for to be carried out. In the first place, there still can be twelve Republicans and twelve Democrats put on this commission and in the second place, a paid executive can be chosen who is capable, whose qualifications are those that are required for the commission. Therefore I shall vote for it in the hope that the majority party will organize in accordance with the suggestions that have been made. If they do not, it will be their responsibility, if they do, it will be the first step in the right direction.

Mr. DENT. I, too, Mr. President, would like to vote for the recreation of the Joint State Government Commission, but I think that it is a situation that is going to cause considerable trouble in the future. The only opportunity we had to get a non-partisan commission, I believe, was in the year 1941, when we had a divided responsibility, divided control of the General Assembly, and now that the control is all in one party, you can see that this commission is destined to be nothing but a political commission, and therefore, knowing that my friends on the other side were not sincere in 1941, I therefore intend to vote "no" on the bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to pass the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Roll call, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Westmoreland request a roll call?

Mr. DENT. There must be a roll call on third reading bills, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Westmoreland, the bill is not now on final passage. The Chair inquired whether the Senate would agree to pass the bill on third reading.

Mr. DENT. I still want a roll call. Mr. President—let it go.

And the question recurring,

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—32

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Tallman,
Bowers,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Taylor,
Carr,	Geltz,	McQuiddy,	Thomas,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Ruth,	Tyler,
Coleman,	Homsher,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Crider,	James,	Shapiro,	Walker,
Crowe,	Jaspan,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Deitrick,	Jones,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,

NAYS—11

Carr,	Gourley,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Woodring,
Dent,	Holland,	Mundy,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 34, on third reading, entitled:

An Act prescribing temporary emergency war provisions with respect to the administration of certain provisions of the school laws of this Commonwealth relating to days for schools to be in session, closing schools temporarily, assignment and reassignment of teachers and temporary farm and domestic employment certificates for certain pupils, and authorizing boards of school directors (or boards of public instruction), with the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, to put such provisions into operation and to suspend the provisions of existing school laws inconsistent therewith upon findings by such boards and department and the State Council of Defense

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 38, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight section eleven of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

Article eight section eleven of the Constitution of Pennsylvania is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 11 Townships and wards of cities and boroughs shall form or be divided into election districts of compact and contiguous territory and their boundaries fixed and changed in such manner as may be provided by law

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—43

Barr,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Stiefel,
Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tallman,
Bowers,	Geltz,	McCreesh,	Taylor,

Deitrick,	Jaspan,	Snowden,	Woodring,
Dent,	Jones,	Stevenson,

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, in absence of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 85, on third reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting the imposition of conditions upon grants of moneys and the invasion of the states rights

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 16, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section thirteen, article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, in absence of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 32, on second reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the various officers and agencies of the Commonwealth and any municipality or political subdivision thereof, including counties, cities, towns, townships, boroughs and school districts to cooperate with the United States Government in making deductions of the Victory Tax from the salaries and compensation of state employes, the holding of such moneys, and the transmittal thereof to the United States.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chairs hears none.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding thereto section eighteen

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 84, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph A of section four hundred one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 565), entitled "An act relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Banking and the Secretary of Banking in exercising supervision over, and taking possession of and conducting or liquidating the business and property of, corporations, associations, and persons receiving deposits or otherwise transacting a banking business, corporations acting as fiduciaries, and building and loan associations; providing for the payment of the expenses of the Department of Banking by supervised corporations, associations, or persons, and appropriating the Banking Department Fund; authorizing the Department of Banking, under certain circumstances, to examine corporations, associations, or persons affiliated, or having business transactions with supervised corporations, associations or persons; authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court, and prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of certain other courts and their prothonotaries, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain local public officers and State depart-ients to collect fees for services rendered under this act; roviding penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts f acts," by requiring the Department of Banking to examine all institutions thoroughly at least once every two ears, instead of each year as now provided o over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears one.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to ddress the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, in 1941, the Legislature of ennsylvania passed a bill which we called the Parole ct of Pennsylvania. I was very proud that I was a ember of the Senate of Pennsylvania at that time, beause I felt that we had created an institution which had een necessary during the history of our Commonwealth n relation to the question of crime.

Several weeks ago, the gentleman from Philadelphia, enator Jaspan, introduced in the Senate a bill which ould have the effect of ripping the Parole Act from the tatute books of our State. I know that Senator Jaspan, n introducing this bill, did it because of his philosophy f life, because of an honest attitude. I feel that the resent bill is not perfect, but I think it is fundamentally ound and as we go along and as we have experience in he workings of the parole system of Pennsylvania, many eeded improvements can be made.

I would like at this time, Mr. President, to interrogate enator Walker, the Chairman of the Committee on udiciary General.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny ermit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Willingly, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to ask Senator Walker s the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General, whether he will invite the members of the Parole Board, he State Director of Parole, and the other members of he Senate who are not on the Committee on Judiciary eneral to a private hearing before that Committee.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to advise the entleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, who happens to e a member of the Committee on Judiciary General, hat, of course, I am bound by anything the committee esires to do. I can not answer for the Committee, beause there are twenty-one members on the committee—eventeen lawyers and four gentlemen—and I do not ant to speak for the Committee until it has had an opportunity to consider it, and then, whatever action the ommittee takes would be satisfactory to me. I do not un the Committee, the Committee runs me.

Mr. COX. I thank the Senator from Allegheny.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DEITRICK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous conent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears one.

Mr. DEITRICK, from the Committee on Public Health reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 36, entitled:

An Act to amend section twenty of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 9, 1943

The House met at 9 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Dear Lord, We come to Thee in prayer because we sincerely believe that Thou art a rewarder unto those who diligently seek Thee. We beseech Thee in behalf of those who have been called to go through the dark valley of sorrow and others who are sick in body. Grant Oh Christ that they may feel the touch of Thy comforting and healing hands.

May all who are in places of leadership in our country give their utmost devotion to those values which are unchangeable and Eternal. We ask these petitions in the name of Him who says "He that doeth the will of God abideth forever." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 14.

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Whereas, Hundreds of thousands of Pennsylvania income taxpayers in the lower brackets have expended their increased earnings during the year 1942 for the payment of depression debts, for the purchase of much needed clothing for themselves and their children, for rehabilitation of their homes and for similar purposes; and

Whereas, The present system will impose upon our taxpayers a burden of debt to the Government which they will be unable to discharge; and

Whereas, The present system of taxation is harsh and burdensome and will impose upon the widows and children of departed breadwinners a millstone of indebtedness to the Government; and

Whereas, The present system of income tax payments produce a form of Government imposed serfdom upon our citizens; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to adopt, with all possible dispatch, the Ruml pay-as-you-go-plan for the payment of Federal Income Tax; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall immediately forward a copy of this resolution to the President of the United States, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and Member of the House of Representatives of the United States from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. CORDIER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 15.

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

On December, 1933, Federal Surplus Commodities were first made available for direct distribution to persons receiving public relief in Pennsylvania in order to serve two primary objectives, namely: (1) as an outlet for actual existing food surpluses; and (2) to improve the diets of families who otherwise could not afford to buy sufficient food to meet their needs.

On October 15, 1939, the Food Stamp Program was introduced as a test in Allentown and Bethlehem, and later was extended to eligible assistance groups in forty-two Pennsylvania counties, where it is now in operation.

On January 1, 1943, the Food Distribution Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture announced that the Food Stamp Program would be suspended on March 1, 1943, probably for the duration of the war, for the following reasons: "(1) the situation which brought the Food Stamp Program into being does not now exist; (2) most food surpluses disappeared some time ago; (3) critical shortages of some foods are inevitable; (4) in recent months most employable persons who have benefited by the Food Stamp Program have been absorbed by the war industries and the program is now reaching less than half of those reached at the peak."

The Food Stamp Program as it was administered prior to January 1, 1943, was of great benefit to those who were on relief, as it made each dollar received by them worth a dollar and a half, and to that extent relieved the Commonwealth of the necessity of increasing the amount of relief grants.

The discontinuance of the Program has reduced the value of each relief dollar in the same proportion and has further resulted in reducing the actual relief obtained by those unfortunates who are still obliged to accept assistance from the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the Congress of the United States is hereby memorialized to pass suitable legislation to take over the financial burden of making available to those on relief the difference between the purchasing power of the payments now received by those on relief, and the value of that same amount prior to January 1, 1943, by reason of the discontinuance of the Food Stamp Program, or devise and administer some other form of relief to take the place of that program; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House of Representatives of the General Assembly, to each Member of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States from this Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. COHEN. RESOLUTION No. 16.

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Whereas, As a result of the National depression of the last decade, Pennsylvania in 1935 was faced with a great problem of unemployment of many of its citizens; and

Whereas, In meeting this problem the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania found it necessary to levy emergency relief taxes aggregating one hundred eighty-eight million dollars ($188,000,000.00); and

Whereas, The said emergency taxes were in 1937 reduced by the Earle Administration to one hundred sixty-three million dollars ($163,000,000.00); and

Whereas, During the said period the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expended the sum of two hundred forty million dollars ($240,000,000.00) per biennium; and

Whereas, National Defense and war activities have practically taken up every employable person in the Commonwealth, making it necessary only for provision to be made for permanent relief for the aged, blind, dependent children and unemployables to the extent of not more than seventy-five million dollars ($75,000,000.00) per biennium; and

Whereas, In 1939, the people of Pennsylvania were promised tax reductions by the elimination of the so-called Earle emergency taxes; and

Whereas, The said taxes have not been eliminated or reduced; and

Whereas, In 1942, both major political parties promised tax reduction in their respective campaigns; now therefore be it

Resolved, That since the emergency for which the taxes levied has disappeared and no longer exists, it is the sense of this body that all emergency relief taxes shall be repealed, eliminated and not reenacted by proper action and procedure, and that the Commonwealth shall be placed upon a permanent tax basis.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. ERB and TURBETT. RESOLUTION No. 17.

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Whereas, There are at the present time numerous persons throughout the Commonwealth carried upon the payrolls of the Department of Highways on a per diem basis; and

Whereas, There have in the past been various delays in the meeting of these per diem payrolls, with the result that the issuance of pay checks is often delayed for considerable periods of time; and

Whereas, The circumstances of the majority of such per diem employes are such that prompt receipt of the compensation due them is of great importance; and

Whereas, An investigation and analysis of this situation may well reveal the corrective measure which would serve to bring the meeting of per diem payrolls up to a more nearly current basis thus eliminating numerous hardship upon per diem employes; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives request the Secretary of Highways to make an immediate investigation of the reasons for and the possibilities of eliminating any delays which may exist in the meeting of per diem payrolls of the Department of Highways; to change the present system of meeting such payrolls if deemed advisable, and to recommend to the House of Representatives any legislation which, in his opinion may be necessary in order to eliminate such delays; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be delivered by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Secretary of Highways.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. BRETHERICK and LEE.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 18.

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Dr. Russell H. Conwell, the founder of Temple University, and a lecturer, educator and clergyman of nation-wide note and reputation, was born on February 15th, one hundred years ago. It is fitting that this event shall be duly recognized by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the betterment of whose people he devoted the most fruitful years of an unusually productive life.

Although not a native of this Commonwealth, Dr. Conwell came to Philadelphia in 1882 to take over the pastorship of the Grace Baptist Church, then struggling with a limited membership and a large debt. Under his vigorous leadership this church grew to be one of the greatest in the Nation. From the youth of its congregation sprang the seed that has ripened into the vast educational system, embracing seven professional schools, three undergraduate schools, three hospitals, a high school and several special departments, one of America's finest educational centers.

To many, Dr. Conwell is best known as a lecturer, particularly for the just renown of his most famous speech, "Acres of Diamonds," which he delivered more than five thousand times, and in all parts of the world. It is not possible, however, to classify Dr. Conwell except as a leader in public life, so diversified were his activities and his accomplishments for the good of his fellow man; therefore, be it Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Governor shall, at an appropriate time, issue his proclamation designating and calling upon the public schools, other educational institutions of the State, and the citizens of Pennsylvania to observe, with appropriate ceremony, the one hundredth birthday of Russell H. Conwell on Monday, February 15, 1943 to commemorate the outstanding achievements of his inspiring life.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. BROWN for himself for tomorrow's session.

Mr. James for Mr. BRETHERICK for the remainder of the week on account of illness.

Mr. Hocke for Mr. GOODWIN for the remainder of the week on account of death in the family.

Mr. HARRIS for himself for the remainder of the week.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appreciates the efforts of the gentleman from Fulton in coming to the sessions because of his own illness.

Mr. Paul A. Brunner for Mr. READINGER for the remainder of the week.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. ROWLEY from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed House Bill No. 113 entitled:

An Act authorizing minors eighteen years of age and upwards, who are in the armed forces of the United States or in women's organizations officially connected therewith, to dispose of their real and personal property and to make and execute deeds, wills and other instruments of writing relative thereto or necessary therefor.

Mr. HOLMES from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed House Bill No. 114 entitled:

An Act authorizing individual co-fiduciaries in certain cases to consent to investments in common trust funds, and validating consents heretofore given.

Mr. CALVIN from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed House Bill No. 129 entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of the act approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1237) entitled, "An act affecting marital relations; prescribing grounds and regulating proceedings for divorce and the annulment of bigamous marriages; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," by adding to the causes for divorce and annulment of marriages.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. PAUL L. WAGNER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, returned with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Dairy Industries, House Bill No. 11, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred one (P. L. 327), entitled "An act to prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, butterine, and other similar products, when colored in imitation of yellow butter; to provide for license fees to be paid by manufacturers, wholesale and retail dealers, and by proprietors of hotels, restaurants, dining-rooms, and boarding houses; for the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine, butterine, or other similar products, not colored in imitation of yellow butter; and to regulate the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, butterine, or other similar products, not colored in imitation of yellow butter, and prevent and punish fraud and deception in such manufacture and sale as an imitation butter; and to prescribe penalties and punishment for violations of this act, and the means and method of procedure for its enforcement, and regulate certain matters of evidence in such procedure," by reducing the fee for a license to sell oleomargarine, butterine or similar substances at retail.

The SPEAKER. The bill is re-referred to the Committee on Dairy Industries.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, who very kindly yielded the floor at yesterday's session because of the late hour.

Mr. GATES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, to one who has consistently spoken and voted against the enactment of the Pennsylvania four mill personal property tax so ably described by my colleague from Lancaster, Mr. Alfred Alspach, who said that this tax was vicious, discriminating and totally unfair, it has given me personally a great deal of pleasure to see that members on both sides of this House have introduced this session both resolutions and bills which have given warning that to attempt the reenactment of the state four mill personal property tax will meet with determined opposition on the floor of this House.

The Minority Floor Leader, Mr. Reuben Cohen, introduced a bill last week looking toward the relief of citizens of the state of Pennsylvania from the payment of the 1942 personal property tax, and while I think he was absolutely sincere and his efforts were laudable, yet, Members of this House, it would be absolutely impossible to enact that legislation and still maintain the integrity of the state of Pennsylvania, for the reason that on the 11th day of July, 1941 this Assembly reenacted the four mill state personal property tax with one dissenting vote, and on the 22d day of July, 1941 the state of Pennsylvania asked for its bids on $135,000,000 of tax anticipations notes. These notes were duly sold. They were sold in two series, Members of this House; $45,000,000 of one series were sold with the maturity date on the first day of April, 1942, and on that particular date this state met its obligation and paid the $45,000,000. The second series of notes was in the amount of $90,000,000. Those notes mature on the first day of April of the current year, 1943. The indenture under which those notes were given not only had the pledge of the honesty and integrity of our state but a certified copy of the biennial budget of 1941 and 1942 was attached to the indenture and in the budget there was an itemized list of the taxes which this state expected to collect.

In that budget of 1941-43 it was estimated that the state four mill personal property tax would bring into the Treasury $27,600,000. You can readily see, my friends, that not a man in this House would dare vote for a bill that would repeal a tax that was pledged as security for the payment of the state's obligation, and I do not believe, gentlemen, that there is a Member on either side of this House that would vote under the present circumstances for a bill that would ultimately impair the future credit of the great state of Pennsylvania.

However, there is one honorable way in which this can be accomplished. Last night I was told that a Member of this House would present for your consideration a concurrent resolution looking to the postponement of the date when you should file your personal property tax, which is the fifteenth day of February, this month. I was prepared last night to ask both sides of this House to unanimously allow the adoption of that resolution so that we might be able to postpone the date until after the first day of April when the obligations of the state of Pennsylvania would have been paid. Then we would have accomplished one other purpose, we would have had the pleasure of listening to and studying the budget of the new Governor, which I understand will be presented to us on the twenty-third of February for our consideration.

I am very frank to say to you that if nothing is said in that budget against the repeal of the 1942 personal property tax then I shall gladly support any bill or any resolution which will relieve the citizens of my state from paying this vicious and confiscatory tax. But, on the other hand, my friends, I have such a high admiration for the Governor of this State that when he presents his budget on the twenty-third day of February, I believe in his sincerity, in his honesty and his wisdom, and if he says to this House that it will be impossible for the financial structure of this State to repeal the 1942 personal property tax, then I as a Member of this House will have to vote against the repeal of any measure which would interfere with his policy, because I am hoping and I am almost praying, Members of this House, that it will not be necessary to reenact the four mill personal property tax, but that we shall also be able to give a proportionate relief on the corporate net income tax, as well as the tax on bank shares. That will be a marvelous step in the right direction.

Thank you kindly for your close attention, and I thank you for the privilege of the floor, Mr. Speaker.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A caucus of the Republican Members immediately after recess in the new House Caucus Room.

Allegheny County Democrats will meet immediately after the recess in Room 246.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess until 10:30 p. m. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 10:30 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of (Senate Bill No. 55), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802), entitled "An act creating a commission to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence frequently caused by the mining of anthracite coal; directing such commission to make a report and recommendations to the General Assembly; conferring certain powers upon such commission, including the power to issue subpoena, administer oaths and affirmations, retain employes and expend funds, and making an appropriation," extending the time within which the commission is required to make its report.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 17, entitled:

An Act to add section one thousand nine hundred nine to the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," by prescribing additional penalties in the case of the commission of certain crimes during blackouts or air-raids or in the confusion resulting therefrom.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,
Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 58, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the eighteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 136), entitled "An act authorizing certain officers on active duty with the armed forces of the United States to act as notaries public, and requiring certification of their authority," by extending such authority to other officers.

The first section was read.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate either one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will one of the sponsors of the bill either the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Hewitt, or the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McMILLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, whether or not he has compared the extension of the powers authorized by this act with the provisions of the Articles of War.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I should say that the Reference Bureau has been doing that. Personally I haven't taken that up.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman whether or not it is within the scope of the duties of the Legislative Reference Bureau to examine federal acts when writing a bill at request.

Mr. McMILLEN. Well, Mr. Speaker, I should say in answer to the gentleman, that the Reference Bureau would certainly be informed on this matter. While I am not an authority on military regulations, still the question and the problem exists that many times official documents must be executed by the soldiers who may have difficulty and be out of touch with the commanding officer, whose rank is specified in this bill as originally written. I should think that if it is the duty and within the power of, say, a colonel, to take an affidavit and execute papers for soldiers in the field that it would be just as true that we should extend that power to any commissioned officer of the armed forces.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen.

I regard this bill, Mr. Speaker, as a little more important than appears on the surface. There is a very definite need today in the armed forces that certain officers should be empowered to take the dispositions and to otherwise execute legal documents of various types. Therefore, my interest in this bill at the time and the purpose of my interrogation was not to discourage the enactment of this bill, but I am of the opinion that it is not within the power of a legislative body to grant the right to assume the duties that are provided for in this bill, unless the officer concerned is of a rank equal to the rank that is necessary to be regimental adjutant. I think in the interest of this bill, because it does not need to be enacted instantly, that I would like to make the recommendation, and the recommendation only to the sponsors, that the bill be recommitted to the Committee for further study. That is merely a suggestion.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Military Affairs for the purpose of further study.
The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 88, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act elating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," amplifying the provisions of said act relating to appeals to court.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 108, entitled:

An Act validating returns of unpaid taxes on seated lands heretofore made to the county commissioners under the provisions of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 380), when such returns were made after the time fixed by said act had expired, and validating the liens of such taxes.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 109, entitled:

An Act to enable tax collectors, receivers of taxes and taxing authorities to make returns to the county commissioners of unpaid taxes on seated lands where the time fixed by law for making such returns has expired, and validating the liens of such taxes.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act authorizing during the present war time emergency cities counties and other political subdivisions to pay compensation to their officers employes and others who are paid out of their treasuries in addition to the compensation fixed by act of assembly validating ordinances and other legislative acts authorizing such payments and all payments made thereunder and suspending existing laws.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act to further amend section fourteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" by providing that employes on retirement for superannuation who return to active school service during the present war shall not upon return to retirement receive any smaller allowance than that received prior to return to active school service

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 60, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections two thousand six hundred twenty and two thousand six hundred twenty-five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by providing for the filing of copies of auditors' reports in school districts of the third and fourth classes

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 62, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribnig and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer amendments.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to offer the following amendments. Tonight in offering these amendments I wish to say for my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate, and myself, that there may be some question about the constitutionality of these amendments, but I want to point out that we are experiencing at this time a rather unique situation in relation to our war, and at the same time I would like to point that so far as offering these amendments is concerned, these amendments conform to the ideas of the American Automobile Association and the Keystone Automobile Club.

The amendments propose for the A sticker users a license fee of five dollars.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. O'BRIEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia amendments have been sent to the desk by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell. These amendments are to section one, (Section 702) of the bill. If the gentleman has no objection the Chair will lay before the House the amendments of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, following with the amendments offered by the gentlemen from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate and Mr. O'Brien. Will the gentlemen yield for that purpose?

Mr. O'BRIEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendments to House Bill No. 62.

In offering these amendments—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. MAXWELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, should not the amendments be read first before we debate them or have them explained?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until his amendments are read for the information of the House?

Mr. MAXWELL. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment to section one offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by striking out the light-faced bracket at the beginning of said line.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "forty" and after the figure "(40)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by inserting after the figure "(40)" the following: "twenty (20)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 18, by striking out the light-faced bracket after the word "registration".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 19, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "ten" and after the figure "($10)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 19, by inserting after the figure "($10)" the following: "five ($5)".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I offer these amendments to House Bill 62 due to the fact that I do not think that the reduction of the motor license fees to all the motorists in the state of Pennsylvania is fairly and equally distributed.

House Bill 62 does not nearly cover the small motorist in the reduction of his license fee. To illustrate my point, House Bill 62 reminds me of a story I once heard. There was a restauranteur called into court for adulterating hamburgers that he sold in his restaurant.

When called before the judge the judge said, "Now, Tony, I understand that you have been putting horse meat in your hamburgers."

"Well," Tony said, "Judge, I just put a little bit in my hamburgers."

So, the Judge said, "Well, Tony, what do you mean by 'just a little bit?'"

Tony said, "Well, judge, about fifty-fifty."

"Well," the judge said, "Tony, the court doesn't understand what fifty-fifty means."

He said, "Well, judge, it is like this, I take one horse and I take one rabbit and mix them up fifty-fifty."

That is about the distribution of the cost to the motorists of Pennsylvania that House Bill No. 62 gives them.

To illustrate my point I would like to quote you just a few figures to show what some of these motor license fees are on some of the cars. On your Buick automobile for 1941 and 1944 the fee is fifteen dollars and twenty cents, but on the smaller Buick, which most of the people of this Commonwealth are in a position to buy, the motor fee is twelve dollars and twenty cents, which would only be a reduction of three dollars to the greater part of the car owners of the smaller Buicks. The Chevrolet car motor fee is twelve dollars, which would only be a reduction of two dollars. The Cadillac for 1941 is sixteen dollars which would be a reduction of six dollars, but the 1940 Cadillac which presumably is worn out in this Commonwealth, that fee is twenty-seven dollars and twenty cents, which is quite a reduction for the large car owner. On Chryslers, for the larger Chryslers, the fee is sixteen dollars, but the smaller ones is eleven dollars and sixty cents. I'm not going to read all of this, but I am going to file it with the Reporter for the record.

I think that the people of this Commonwealth at a time like now are really in need of a sincere and honest reduction in their motor license fee. We all know that the cars now are not going to be used half as much as they were. If the people do not have a reduction in their motor license fee they are going to jack their cars ıp. The state will not only lose the entire license fee, it vill lose its tax on oil, it will lose its tax on gasoline and he Federal Government will lose its five dollar tax on ach car. Not only that, if too many people put their ars away in Pennsylvania it is going to disrupt our ransportation system, which is one thing that our Fed-:ral Government at this time does not want.

I wish that you gentlemen would give these amend-nents your sincere consideration and vote on them favor-ıbly.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAXWELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, whether or not he feels that the automobiles in the higher license brackets consume more gasoline per mile than those in the lower license brackets.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, it all depends upon the condition of your car.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Westmoreland is still telling jokes. I asked him a serious question and I think I am entitled to a serious answer.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Westmorelnad, Mr. Maxwell, certainly must know that an automobile that costs, for instance, like a Cadillac does, sixteen dollars per year must use more gasoline per mile than a Chevrolet that costs only twelve dollars. Is that not so?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, as I said before, I think that depends upon the mechanical condition of your car.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MAXWELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker. But, I might further answer the gentleman's previous question by saying that the point that I tried to bring out was—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I am simply answering the gentleman's previous question.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, the point that I tried to bring out was that the little fellow that is in defense work, that must go to his job every day, that has to use his car for a livelihood, when the man with a big Cadillac that runs it for pleasure—of course, we understand that pleasure driving is out—we know that, but I think it still may be used for pleasure regardless, that little fellow in a year's time will probably purchase more gasoline, necessary gasoline, than would the man who owns a Cadillac.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, whether, assuming that an automobile in the higher license brackets is in good mechanical condition, with the carburetor operating at maximum efficiency, and an automobile in the lower brackets in the same mechanical condition, uses more gasoline per mile than the automobile in the lower license bracket.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, I am not an automobile engineer, but the last time I went to purchase an automobile all the dealers sincerely assured me that if I bought a bigger car it wouldn't use a bit more gasoline than the little one I had. I am only going by what they told me.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, since I got an accurate answer to my question, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, whether or not he has any statistics available to tell the Members of this House what the decrease in revenue would be to the motor license fund if we were to adopt his amendments.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please repeat the latter part of his question? I did not get it.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman from Westmoreland if he had available presently statistics which he could give to this House that would convey to it some idea on how much the motor license fund would be depreciated as a result of reduced revenue if these amendments were adopted, namely, a five dollar flat fee.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, according to my amendments the revenue will be decreased just one-half.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, that is all I desire to ask the gentleman. I do not presume that I should take up your time by further interrogating the gentleman from Westmoreland because it is quite apparent that he does not wish to give answers that are responsive to the questions that I have asked him. So any further interrogation, I do not believe, would be very productive of information that would be beneficial to the Members of the House in considering whether or not they should support his amendments.

I would like to make a few brief observations in respect to House Bill 62. In the first place, Mr. Speaker, I wish to say that the sponsors of this bill introduced it after they were convinced that, taking all circumstances into consideration, the motorists of Pennsylvania under this measure would be given the benefit of approximately a three million dollar reduction for the coming biennium. I would like to say to those members of the House who are not familiar with the facts, that based on available information the return from passenger license fees for the year 1943 would approximate somewhere near nineteen million dollars, in other words, between thirty-seven and forty million dollars for the ensuing biennium.

Again, Mr. Speaker, if we adopt this measure, namely House Bill 62, we will have diminished the revenue for the ensuing biennium at least three million dollars. If we increase the reduction down to five dollars, we will diminish the income approximately eighteen million dollars. Therefore, when we consider that there has been so much talk, there has been so much public support for the proposition that after the end of the present emergency we will have a very large and very great Federal-

State highway program in order to prevent a repetition of the chaos that existed at the close of the first World War, it is only natural that those of us in charge of legislation in this House should look with a jealous eye towards any radical reduction of the income in the Motor License Fund.

Why do I say that? For the simple reason at the present time we have not only employment for everybody but many jobs are going begging today. Our citizens are making good wages; the income of the average wage earner today enables him to pay a reasonable fee, and it is reasonable and logical to assume that he will be in a much better position to pay even a ten dollar fee now than he might be to pay a lesser fee after the emergency, and if we are going to have this Federal-State road program and really mean it after the emergency has ended, from whence are we going to get the funds?

I have been told that the national debt at the present time exceeds four hundred billion dollars and by the end of 1943 it will have exceeded five hundred billion dollars. Therefore, I feel that we cannot stand flat-footed and keep looking at the moon on national expenditures for the rest of our lives. There must be a limit somewhere along the line. I feel that the motorists, being one of them myself, are entitled to a gesture from the membership of this House toward meeting the excess burden of taxation with which we are all confronted as a result of trying to successfully prosecute the winning of this war.

Furthermore, I would like to say that this bill gives to the motorists, as I have said previously, a three million dollar saving over the next biennium, or one million five hundred thousand dollars for the next year which certainly is a substantial benefit. It is one that will not disrupt the operation of the Department of Highways, and one which I feel all the Members of this House can safely support.

To reduce the motor license fee for all passenger cars down to five dollars obviously is ridiculous on its face for many reasons. It seems to me that if we at this time can establish a reasonable flat rate, then there is some prospect of its being perpetuated at the end of this emergency. I say to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, that if we reduce as a temporary palliative to the motoring public the license fee to five dollars, it goes without saying that the emergency will have hardly ended until the calendar will be studded with bills to raise the license fee back to probably an even higher plane than we propose in this measure.

There are a lot of other statistics that I could cite in support of this measure. Briefly let me say that this flat fee will be a benefit from many points of view. It will be a benefit in the administration of the Revenue Department for the simple reason that we have now from thirty some odd to forty some odd different fees. I think it is pretty generally conceded among authorities on motoring that the present system of rating license fees on so much horse power is pretty well antiquated. We have the anomalous situation of automobiles that are paying a low license fee that are much heavier than other automobiles that are paying higher fees.

And, Mr. Speaker, we have this situation, that if a man for example, pays a fee of sixteen dollars on an automobile, and if he later decides to buy an automobile with a lower fee he does not get a rebate from the Department of Revenue, for instance, from a sixteen dollar fee to a twelve dollar fee, and so forth.

I do not want to take up more time of this House. I feel it is a sensible bill, it is reasonable, it is one that we can hope to get the approval of the Administration upon if it is passed, and I am quite sure, although I am not authorized to speak, but on the basis of available information the Governor would probably veto a five dollar flat fee.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid the gentleman from Montgomery does not understand my amendments or he is clouding the issue by repeating the five dollars license fee. I noticed several times in his speech he continually repeated that we reduced it to five dollars. Such is not the case. The only one whose fee is reduced to five dollars is that of the fellow with the little Model A Ford and similar cars. The rest of the cars have a license fee of fourteen dollars, say, and one half of that is not five dollars, it is seven dollars. I would like the gentleman to read my amendments and fully understand them.

Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me how Pennsylvania ranks in the price of motor license fees with the rest of the states in this nation?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I would say, Mr. Speaker, that I do not have accurate information on the subject, although I am under the impression that we rank pretty high.

Mr. MAXWELL. May I answer the question for the gentleman? We rank, I believe, about the third highest, and if there has been any change it would not be any more than the fourth highest state in the Union in regard to motor license fees. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I sincerely believe the people of Pennsylvania are entitled to a little relief from the burden of the high cost of motor license fees.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Does the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, consider that the fee for the annual registration of motor vehicles is a tax?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I beg pardon, Mr. Speaker, I did not catch that question.

Mr. BROWN. Does the gentleman feel that the fee for the annual registration of motor vehicles is a tax?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I might have used the word tax loosely. I consider it a license fee for the privilege of operating an automobile on the highway.

Mr. BROWN. Will the gentleman say that he does not consider it a tax?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Well, Mr. Speaker, technically it is not a tax, but it is in effect.

Mr. BROWN. Will the gentleman say, that it is a tax within the meaning of Article IX, Section 1 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. No, Mr. Speaker, I wouldn't want to put it under that article, but it doesn't make any difference what you call it, you pay for it when you get it.

Mr. BROWN. Seriously, Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Montgomery whether or not if the license fee is a tax, and if this bill should pass would not this tax violate the uniform tax provision of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, in that that section provides that taxes shall be uniform on all classes of subjects?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I have already said I do not consider it a tax.

Mr. BROWN. If it were determined to be a tax, would it not then be governed by Article IX, Section I, the uniform tax provision of the Constitution?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to object to answering a hypothetical question, but when you put a hypothetical question upon a hypothetical question that is too much for me.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to object to the tax, because I am not sure—and I thought probably the gentleman from Montgomery might help us out. It seems to me we are treading on dangerous ground from the standpoint that we are going to tax all automobiles within the same class of subjects, and therefore I arose for information, and I think we should have that information.

May I interrogate the Majority Whip, my friend, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I have great faith in the opinion of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, and I would like to know whether he feels that such a license fee is a tax or not?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I am quite flattered by the statement of the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, and I will try to answer his question.

Within the technical meaning of the word tax I should say that it is not. This motor license registration is not a tax.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I hope we are correct. I think though we will find that it is a tax, and we should consider seriously whether or not we are on proper ground here. I cannot believe, in the light of Article IX, Section I of the Constitution, that we can put all of our automobiles in the same class. An automobile costing one hundred dollars would be in the same class as an automobile costing ten thousand dollars, if that were possible. There was a real meaning heretofore in basing the tax on the question of horsepower. I simply threw that question out, Mr. Speaker, so that we might give it consideration before we vote on this bill on final passage.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Messrs. TATE and O'BRIEN offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 19, by inserting after the word "be" the following: "five ($5) dollars for each motor vehicle having an "A" gasoline ration stamp book, seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50) for each motor vehicle having a "B" supplemental gasoline ration stamp book, and".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 19, by inserting after the word "dollars" the following: "for each motor vehicle having a "C" supplemental gasoline ration stamp book."

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I hesitated to offer these amendments in behalf of my colleague from Philadelphia, Mt. Tate, because on the advice of counsel and these constitutional experts it did not conform with the Constitution, but the majority of the House does not recognize this as being a tax bill, so I have no fear or trepidation in that connection in introducing these amendments.

I want to point out now to all the Members of the House, that those people who are most fortunate to have C books can afford to use their cars for many miles during the course of the week but those who are unfortunate to have A books can only use their cars very little. Pleasure driving has been eliminated by the OPA, and those people who have A cards are positively limited to necessary driving, with the result that ordinarily in the course of the year you wouldn't use your car sufficient o even warrant the renewal of your registration plates, which is not a tax as far as that is concerned. So I urge ach and every member of this House to support these amendments and conform with the majority of the people who are unfortunate enough to have A cards and are estricted in their mileage.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I do not think he gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien, really and incerely feels that this amendment would cure the prob-em of the motorists he is trying to help.

In the first place, in the matter of issuing registration plates according to the rationing books now held by motorists in Pennsylvania, I think we are all acquainted with the fact because of the change in employment, and particularly at this time, that a lot of men that were not n essential industry are now accepting employment in essential industry, which necessitates their driving from heir homes to their work, their ration books are changed sometimes every month, and on the very question of this amendment, we have no assurance that the gas rationing will continue under the present status for the coming year. It would mean under this plan that it might necessitate calling a special session of the Legislature to come back here and enact legislation by which we could register vehicles.

I ask the Members of this side of the House to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out the fact in support of these amendments, that they only apply to A, B and C books, so naturally when this emergency is over these amendments would not apply, and we would then go back to the situation wherein we would have our regular tax bill, even though the Republicans do not admit it is a tax. The registration license fee, by the way, with the A, B and C cards would only apply during the emergency.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, after listening to the debate and the interrogations on the amendments to the bill, I feel that the majority of the car drivers in the state of Pennsylvania are not receiving any benefits from this particular bill. I, therefore move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Motor Vehicles until we can help the real people of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate he gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. O'BRIEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. I am not sure without the amendments being on our desks, Mr. Speaker, whether I got all of he amendments, but I would like to ask the gentleman rom Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien, what would happen if the O.P.A. should create a new classification and the Legislature were not in session

Mr. O'BRIEN. There is no provision, Mr. Speaker, for a new classification other than A, B and C.

Mr. BROWN. I desire to thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I have serious doubt about the constitutionality of this amendment, but I think on the strength of the indefiniteness and the uncertainty of such legislation it certainly ought to be defeated.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that the Majority Whip of the House admitted this is not a tax bill?

Mr. BROWN. Well, I did not so understand the Majority Whip, Mr. Speaker. The Majority Whip said it may be or may not be, as I understand him.

Mr. O'BRIEN. What provision, is made even in this bill that we are considering, should there be any changes so far as the O.P.A. or any other regulations are concerned?

Mr. BROWN. The answer to that is perfectly obvious, Mr. Speaker. As I understand, the bill in its original form, is based on the class of subjects known as automobiles, and I do not believe that the O.P.A. can make a battleship out of an automobile—it will still be an automobile.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that it might be a rose by any other name.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Those are my friend's words, Mr. Speaker.

I would like to know what provision is made for the change of cars in the present bill, or this bill that we have under consideration, for a change from a larger horsepower car to a smaller horsepower car?

Mr. BROWN. There is no provision in the present bill because it is based on a fee on an automobile and it takes out the provision on the basis of horsepower, as I understand it.

Mr. O'BRIEN. In the opinion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, would he consider this present bill constitutional?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I said, I believe, in my remarks that it may be possible to bring within Article 9, Section 1, a classification of automobiles, and that the tax on automobiles without regard to horsepower or without regard to price may be within the meaning of the Constitution, if it is based simply on the question of an automobile. That I believe would bear out my remarks, although if the gentleman followed my interrogation, I tried to get some information that would give me some substantiation of the facts that I had in mind.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, that sounds like a Philadelphia lawyer's remarks, but I say, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the average motorist using the A card I would urge the members to support this amendment.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendments
They were not agreed to.
On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the section?
It was agreed to.
The second section was read and agreed to.
The title was read.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the title

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker I desire to withdraw my amendments to the title.

The title was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 63, entitled:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 18

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules as amended House Resolution No. 18 and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Dr. Russell H. Conwell, the founder of Temple University, and a lecturer, educator and clergyman of nationwide note and reputation, was born on February 15th, one hundred years ago. It is fitting that this event shall be duly recognized by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the betterment of whose people he devoted the most fruitful years of an unusually productive life.

Although not a native of this Commonwealth, Dr. Conwell came to Philadelphia in 1882 to take over the pastorship of the Grace Baptist Church, then struggling with a limited membership and a large debt. Under his vigorous leadership this church grew to be one of the greatest in the Nation. From the youth of its congregation sprang the seed that has ripened into the vast educational system, embracing seven professional schools, three undergraduate schools, three hospitals, a high school and several special departments, one of America's finest educational centers.

To many, Dr. Conwell is best known as a lecturer, particularly for the just renown of his most famous speech, "Acres of Diamonds", which he delivered more than five thousand times, and in all parts of the world. It is not possible, however, to classify Dr. Conwell except as a leader in public life, so diversified were his activities and his accomplishments for the good of his fellow man; therefore, be it Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the Governor shall, at an appropriate time, issue his proclamation designating and calling upon the public schools, other educational institutions of the State, and the citizens of Pennsylvania to observe, with appropriate ceremony, the one hundredth [birthday] anniversary of the birth of Russell H. Conwell on Monday, February 15, 1943, to commemorate the outstanding achievements of his inspiring life.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the House this resolution was reported from the Committee on Rules as amended. The amendment was merely to correct a technical error.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to thank the Members of the House for their patience during this long and tiring evening, and requests that the Members be present at tomorrow's session.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

There will be meetings of the Committees on

Appropriations, Wednesday, February 10, at 12:30 p. m. Room 328.

Dairy Industries, Wednesday, February 10, at 9:45 a. m. Room 331.

Welfare, Wednesday, February 10, at 10 a. m., Room 330.

Any Member of the House who is a member of any Kiwanis Club, is invited to meet with the Pennsylvania Legislature Kiwanis Club, which meets each Wednesday morning at 8:45 a. m., in the private dining room of the William Penn Hotel on Market Street.

It is suggested that you contact either the Honorable Felix Bentzel, or the Honorable Samuel B. Dennison, immediately after adjournment.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. FULLERTON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 10, 1943, at 1 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:02 a. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1943. No. 13.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 10, 1943

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the regular Chaplain, prayer was offered by Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, Chaplain of the House of Representatives.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for all the blessings of life. Thy word and life's experiences have taught us that every good and perfect gift cometh from Thee. Wherein we have failed Thee as a nation, as a state, and as individuals, we pray for Thy pardoning grace.

We pause in silence and in prayer in behalf of those who are scattered on the far-flung battlements of the world, fighting, yea, dying at this moment that we might have this life, this peace, this liberty, this freedom. Grant unto them the consciousness of Thy presence and Thy power. Help us all to have trust in Thee. We pray it all in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. SCARLETT the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. KEPHART.

Mr. Woodring asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. SHAPIRO.

HOUSE MESSAGES

MEMORIALIZING DR. RUSSELL H. CONWELL

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Dr. Russell H. Conwell, the founder of Temple University, and a lecturer, educator and clergyman of nation-wide note and reputation, was born on February 15, one hundred years ago. On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Inasmuch as this is a memorial resolution on the anniversary of the birth of Dr. Russell H. Conwell, which occurs next Monday, I move its immediate adoption.

Mr. TALLMAN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

It was agreed to.

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

He a[illegible]presented for concurrence bill of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 49, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and sections one to twelve both inclusive, of the act, approved the nineteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 3), entitled "State Council of Defense Act," changing the name of the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps to Pennsylvania State Guard.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs.

COMMUNICATION

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication dated February 9, 1943, from Honorable Francis B. Haas, Superintendent of Public Instruction, acknowledging with deep appreciation resolution adopted by the Senate, February 1, 1943.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

PRINTING

Mr. WADE from the Committee on State Government to which was referred House Resolution No. 9 offered by Mr. JAMES on January 26, 1943, reported the same without amendment as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1943.

The type of wire used for stitching booklets pamphlets magazines etc is furnished by manufacturers who are practically overwhelmed with the business of making wire for the war effort and the existing supply of this binders' wire is extremely limited and growing less with each passing day It is practically impossible to get a priority for it unless it is to be used in printed matter strictly essential to government war purposes Even the Government Printing Office at Washington cannot supply priority to contracting printers unless the job to be printed is to be used in connection with services or equipment for the armed forces

The situation is so bad that some job binders are switching over to sewing or pasting which is more expensive and less satisfactory than wire stitching

The Government Printing Office is specifying now that only one wire stitch be used on its work and practically all booklet binding is now appearing with one stitch The Saturday Evening Post one of the most widely read national weekly magazines has cut down from three to two stitches

With this situation facing the printing trade the Blank Book Manufacturers Paper Rulers and Pamphlet Binders Division of the Typothetae of Philadelphia Inc and many other organizations of bookbinders as well as individual printing concerns have issued regulations as follows

24 pages or less up to 9″ x 12″ to have one stitch

64 pages or less up to 6″ x 9″ to have one stitch

Side wired glued cover books up to 6″ x 9″ to have one stitch

Side wired glued cover books over 6″ x 9″ to have two stitches

No book to have more than two stitches

therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs) That the Department of Property and Supplies shall immediately require and direct that all printing requiring stitching that is done by or for the various departments departmental administrative boards independent administrative boards or commissions officers or other agencies of the State Government shall be done subject to the above regulations and be it further

Resolved That the Secretary of the House shall immediately transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I think that a few words of explanation with regard to the resolution now before the Senate is in order. The printers, as is set forth in the resolution, are unable to get wire stitching, because of the war. I think that the members have noted that the histories and other materials on our desks are bound with only one stitching of wire. The purpose of this resolution is to permit the Secretary of Property and Supplies to make arrangements with the printers doing work for the Commonwealth to meet the war situation.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. TALLMAN. I move, Mr. President, that the resolution be adopted.

Mr. TAYLOR. I second the motion, Mr. President.

It was agreed to.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. TYLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 128, entitled:

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

REMARKS BY THE CHAIR

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I am about to rise in my place and present to the Chair a bill but before doing so I would like to preface the introduction of this bill with a few explanatory remarks.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will be glad to grant that privilege to the Senator from Allegheny, but at the same time, the Chair wishes to advise the Senate that that privilege is sometimes abused and the Chair will not permit any abuse of that privilege.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I hope I shall not abuse the privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair was not referring to the gentleman from Allegheny or to any specific Senator, but was just directing his remarks to the Senate as a whole.

Mr. COX. Thank you, Mr. President.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. COX. I know, Mr. President, from my experience in the Senate of Pennsylvania that we are all cognizant of the fact that real estate has borne an extremely heavy burden of taxation. One of the chief difficulties, too, is the fact that in various communities of Pennsylvania there is no common standard of assessment of tax values.

During the last summer I had the pleasure of traveling through various sections of the State, at which time I visited the home of one of my very good friends in the Senate and found that his very beautiful home had a taxation which was one-fifth of the taxation of my own very modest home.

That is due to the fact that in that particular section they tax utilities and they tax natural resources far in excess of the taxes on utilities and on manufacturing industries in my own home city.

I have always felt that in our government if a man had a stake in our government, by owning his own home, he would be a far more conservative person and would be far more interested in our democratic form of government.

In Florida they have a homestead act which exempts from taxation the first five thousand dollars of assessed valuation for all homes which are used as homes.

Unfortunately, in Pennsylvania such a bill exempting real estate from taxation can not be introduced or passed because of the provisions of our Constitution.

Therefore, Mr. President, I rise in place and present to the Chair a joint resolution which would have the effect of amending the Constitution of Pennsylvania, so that at some future date either I or some other member of the Senate will have the pleasure of introducing legislation which would free from taxation the first five thousand dollars of assessed value of any real estate used for a home.

Mr. COX read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 132, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one, article nine, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for exemption from taxation of certain real property.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

Mr. LETZLER read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 133, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (c) of section two hundred two of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising, and consolidating the law; providing for the incorporation of insurance companies, and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," by authorizing casualty companies to insure against loss and damage to certain machinery and equipment located underground, and to underground passageways, gangways, airways, drifts, slopes, shafts, overcasts, and stoppings of mining equipment.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

RULES OF SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am about to present to the Chair a resolution and to move its adoption but before I do present it, I would like to state that this is a resolution amending the rules of the Senate, drawn up after a conference of the Rules Committee, attended by Senator Shapiro, who is a member of the committee, and also attended by the Minority Floor Leader, Mr. McGinnis, at which time unanimous agreement was reached on these rules.

RESOLUTION

Mr. HEYBURN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 10, 1943.

Resolved, That the Standing Rules of the Senate during the Regular Session of 1941 be adopted for the government of the Senate during the Regular Session of 1943, with the exception of Rule 1 which is hereby amended to read as follows:

Rule 1. The President shall take the chair, each day, at the hour to which the Senate stands adjourned, when he shall call the members to order, and on the appearance of a quorum, shall cause the Journal of the preceding legislative day to be read, which the Senate shall have the power then to correct.

Also with the exception of Rule 2 which is hereby amended to read as follows:

Rule 2. The order to be observed in taking up business shall be as follows:

First—The asking leave of absence.

Second—Reading of communications.

Third—Introduction of petitions and remonstrances.

Fourth—The receiving of reports of committees, which shall be called for by the President, according to the order of the committees.

Fifth—The reading of bills in place. The President commencing on his left and recognizing all in their order from left to right, and all bills read in place shall be accompanied by two copies of the same.

Sixth—The offering of original resolutions.

Seventh—The consideration of executive nominations.

Eighth—The reading of bills the third time.

Ninth—The reading of bills the second time.

Tenth—The reading of bills the first time, and in that state shall not be subject to amendment or a vote thereon.

Also with the exception of Rule 3 which is hereby amended as follows:

Rule 3. The President shall have general direction of the hall. It shall be his duty to preserve order, prevent personal reflections, confine members in debate to the question and when two or more members rise at the same time, decide who shall be the first heard; but an appeal in all such cases shall lie to the Senate, and a member called to order may extenuate or justify.

Also with the exception of Rule 4 which is hereby amended as follows:

Rule 4. Members speaking shall address the President, and when presenting a paper shall first state its import. Members shall not speak more than twice on any question without permission of the Senate, nor be interrupted when speaking, except by a call to order by the President, or by a member through the President, or by a call for the previous question.

Also with the exception of Rule 7 which is hereby amended as follows:

Rule 7. A question regularly before the Senate can be interrupted only by a call for the previous question, for amendment, postponement, to lay on the table, commitment, or adjournment.

Also with the exception of Rule 9 which is hereby amended as follows:

Rule 9. Motions shall take precedence in the following order:

a. The motion to adjourn.
b. Motion for the previous question.
c. Motion to take a recess.
d. Question of privelege.
e. Call for the orders of the day.
f. Motion to lay on the table.
g. Motion to limit or extend limits on debate.
h. Motion to postpone to a certain time.
i. Motion to commit.
j. Motion to amend.
k. Motion to postpone indefinitely.
l. A main motion.

The motion to adjourn, the motion for the previous question, the motion to recess, the motion to lay on the table, the motion to postpone (other than indefinite postponement), the motion to commit, shall preclude debate on the original subject. The previous question shall be moved by not less than four members.

Also with the exception of Rule 15 which is hereby amended as follows:

Rule 15. During a session of the Senate either the President or the President Pro Tempore, the other officer being absent, may name a member to fill the duties of the Chair temporarily, but the Senate may choose another member to preside during the absence of the President and President Pro Tempore, if it so desire.

Also with the exception of Rule 17 which is hereby amended as follows:

Rule 17. Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in open Senate. All amendments thereto shall be printed and laid on the desks of Senators before the final vote is taken on the bill. No amendments shall be permitted to a bill on third reading except by unanimous consent. The final vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and the names of the persons voting for and against the same be entered on the Journal. No bill shall be declared passed, or signed by the President unless a majority of all the Senators elected to the Senate shall be recorded as voting for the same.

Also with the exception of Rule 29 which is hereby amended as follows:

Rule 29. The consent of a majority of the memb elected shall be necessary to suspend any rule except t part of Rule 38—which requires unanimous consent to given to consider the confirmation of a nomination wh has been reported from a committee on that day—shall be suspended.

The consent of a majority of all members elected to Senate shall be necessary to alter, change or amend th rules.

Also with the exception of Rule 31 which is here amended as follows:

Rule 31. Every bill and joint resolution which may received from the House of Representatives, or which m be read by a Senator in his place, shall, after being p sented to the Chair, be referred by the President to appropriate committee, at his convenience but not la than the succeeding legislative day.

Also with the exception of Rule 33 which is here amended as follows:

Rule 33. When the Senate shall resolve to go into Co mittee of the Whole, the question before the Senate, wh the President shall have resumed the chair and the cha man of the committee has made a report, shall be, "W the Senate agree to the report of the committee?"

EULOGIZING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The PRESIDENT. Members of the Senate, on the twelfth day of February, 1809, one of the greatest figures in American history was born, a man who symbolies freedom. Today, as we all know we are fighting this war, in the last analysis throughout the world for freedom.

The Senate will be adjourned on the twelfth and therefore the Chair feels it would be appropriate to call on one or two members of the Senate for a few words.

The Chair recognizes the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I consider it a high honor to have been requested by the President Pro Tempore to make a few observations today as we honor the martyred President of the United States, Abraham Lincoln.

I am particularly proud that I belong to the party of which he was the first great leader, but I am more proud of the fact that I am an American citizen, and an American citizen who benefited from the opportunity that came to us as American citizens because of the sacrifices made by the great leaders of the past, and our fathers who went before us.

I remember sitting here two years ago, when Senator Edmonds and Senator Reed made remarks upon the same day. I was particularly impressed by the addresses of both those distinguished Senators, and I want to recall for a few minutes a few of the things that were said by Senator Edmonds, who unfortunately can not be with us today. He recalled, if you remember, that Abraham Lincoln had been born in a log cabin and obtained his education writing on the back of a shovel before an open fireplace, and learned his English grammar and English compostion by reading a few books, notably the Bible and Bunyon's Pilgrim Progress.

Despite that, in later years Lord Curzon, the great British statesman and scholar in selecting what he thought were the three greatest gems of parliamentary eloquence, picked out three, the first being William Pitt's announcement of the victory of Trafalgar to the British Parliament; the second being Lincoln's Gettysburg Address; and the third being the second inaugural of Lincoln.

It was amazing to think that this boy, who sat before a fire with a shovel and made figures, this boy without any education, in after years was selected as the one who delivered two of the three greatest gems of parliamentary eloquence in the nineteenth century. That in itself is amazing, but the most amazing thing to me, as an American, is that Abraham Lincoln exemplifies to me the opportunity that is given to every American citizen, the fact that without family background, without education, without any advantages whatsoever, this backwoods boy became President of the United States and is today considered one of the greatest figures in history.

Many years have passed since Abraham Lincoln was President of the United States, and today we find ourselves again in a crisis. He led us through a crisis in which the safety of the Union was involved, and now we find the very safety of the way of life which he exemplifies threatened.

At about the same time that Abraham Lincoln first began to be felt in American politics another great American, Commodore Perry, opened the islands of Japan, and from 1854 to 1904 the world saw a miracle happen; we saw those barbarians, whose military force, the Samurai warriors of Japan, met the sailors of Commodore Perry with two swords strapped to their belt; in that short period of fifty years defeat the supposedly strongest world power, Russia, in 1904.

We saw those people, that now number some seventy millions of people, we laughed at them and ridiculed their attempts to imitate what was going on in the western world. When they imitated us we laughed. When we made toys, they made toys; when we made electric light bulbs, they made electric light bulbs.

We bought their toys and we bought their electric light bulbs, and we bought the flag buntings that flew from the flagstaffs all over the nation, and we sold them our oil and we sold them our steel and scrap iron, down through the years, and while we laughed they got ready for that day when they might strike at the hated Americans and the hated British, and it seems that now they feel the time has come.

On Lincoln's Birthday I want to call attention to a few facts with regard to them as compared with us. Seventy million of them, with the lowest standard of living in the world, wages of a few cents a day, fathers who hand down to their sons the privileges of walking through rice fields barefoot, fathers who hand down to their sons and their grandsons the right to work for a few cents a day in their modern factories, the kind of peope who believe that their emperor represents God, the kind of people that certainly have shown us that they are willing to sacrifice everything they have for the kind of government they have, for the kind of way of life they have. They have proved that to us, because General MacArthur himself has said he has never seen such reckless bravery, such willingness to die for the emporor.

Oh, yes, you can take every one of them, from the youngest to the oldest, and on their tables you will see the rice and soy beans that go to keep their bodies together, and see every last one of them give every last cent, outside of mere existence, to that government they love. They are willing to give everything to their government; they are willing to sacrifice everything they have to defeat us, to destroy once and for all the proud white man of the west.

During that same period of time, in the last fifteen or twenty years, what about us, what about our sacrifices for the country that gave us Abraham Lincoln, that gave every last one of us the opportunities that we have.

Today as I look around this Senate chamber I can see men here who were born in another land and who came here, and here they are sitting in the finest legislative body in the land.

All we have to do is to look at our home towns and see first generation immigrants who became leaders in professional and civic life of their town, their state, their nation. All that is opportunity given to us by the country in which we happen to have been born. My grandfather came from Wales. He was a miner; he could not read or write; he came to this country and worked in the mines of Pennsylvania and saved his pennies, realizing that this country held out an opportunity to his sons and his grandchildren. All that I am, everything that my children can hope to be, is because of the sacrifices men in the past made, giving us this opportunity under our American system of life.

What have we done with regard to sacrifices, compared with the yellow men who seem to love their country even more than we do? What have we done in the last fifteen years? We seemed all of a sudden to forget that we have a Republic and that Republic lives on a diet, and the diet is sacrifice by its citizens.

During the last fifteen years, while they were giving everything they had to make their nation strong, we were holding out our hands and asking and asking and asking, to make our nation weak, and it was not until Pearl Harbor that all of a sudden we realized that we must make sacrifices, and now we have to eat our rice and soy beans, and eat them very quickly, because the time is short.

We have to sacrifice and sacrifice and sacrifice, and we have to equal their spirit. We cannot defeat Japan just with machinery, just with numbers of men; we have to defeat Japan with a spirit, a love of country, a willingness to give up that is even greater than theirs and how much more willingly should we give with the kind of opportunity that is going to come to our children, if we, this generation, accept our responsibility of passing it on to them?

Oh, yes, you do not hear much in Japan about strikes; you do not hear much in Japan about broker's fees; you do not hear much in Japan about cost-plus-ten-per-cent and slowing up industry to make the cost more so the ten per cent is more; and you do not hear much talk about time-and-half-time and double time.

What you hear in Japan is defeat of the hated white man of the west, and it is about time every last one of us realizes that.

I am going to close by calling again on Abraham Lincoln to tell us what he said back in 1861. You will recall that after the outbreak of the Civil War things went bad, defeat followed defeat, and the cause of the Union, expected to be won in a brief few days, soon settled down to a long war. Lincoln could not find a winning General; Lincoln could not seem to do anything right; and the Copperheads in the north and the press in the north were bitter in denunciation of the leadership of the Union. Everything went wrong. Spain, Prussia, France and England all were about ready to recognize the southern states as a belligerent; and then Lincoln appeared before the Congress to present his annual message. In 1862 he realized that, he realized the responsibility that fell upon his shoulders as he addressed Congress, and in that address he said these memorable words: "We shall nobly save or meanly lose the last best hope of life," and, members of the Senate, it would well behoove us today, as we look at his picture, to call him back to say to all Americans once again that we, this generation, by our willingness, to sacrifice, shall nobly save or by our selfishness meanly lose the last best hope of life.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Watkins, for that splendid eulogy.

The Chair now calls upon the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I consider it a signal honor and a privilege to say today a few words in the memory of our great martyred President, Abraham Lincoln.

A day after tomorrow the entire civilized world will join America in paying homage to the blessed memory of the greatest cosmopolitan figure of modern times—the saint of American democracy—Abraham Lincoln. By commemorating the birthday of our martyr-President, in accordance with the noble traditions of this august body, and by rededicating ourselves to the lofty principles of American Democracy, so pointedly enunciated by him, we will again stress and underscore the political ideology of our great Nation for the preservation whereof we are now waging a global war.

The original definition of this ideology born on the soil of Pennsylvania and in the City of Brotherly Love set into motion dynamic forces that became the torchbearers of mankind and shapers of its destiny. Embodied in our Declaration of Independence, which Charles Sumner so aptly called "that title-deed of the human race", our American political ideology began its triumphal march per aspera ad astra and its sustained advance that marked the birth and emergence of our Republic, as the vanguard of mankind.

The crystallization of this ideology is a long process that dates back to the first shot at Lexington and the final phases whereof are now begining to emerge perceptibly from the amorphous cataclysm of the present world-crisis.

The young Republic was still in its formative stages when a venomous internal reaction set in challenging the political ideology of the American Democracy and calling for a decision as to whether or not this Nation can exist "half-free and half-slave". This marked the beginning of the second phase in the development of the American Democracy.

Thus as a result of decades of bitter internal strife the stage was set for the appearance of a great leader and helmsman of our Republic, whose firm hand was destined once and for all to unify our Nation, to solidify and crystallize our political ideology and to preserve the undying bloom and everlasting fragrance of its Magna Charta—our Declaration of Independence.

Abraham Lincoln was the spiritual titan whom American Democracy brought forth to meet the challenge of the black reaction and to re-vitalize the political principles of our land.

In epitomizing the role of Abraham Lincoln in the evolution of our Democracy, Charles Sumner states that the martyr-President was put to death by the enemies of the Declaration of Independence but though dead he would always continue to guard that "title-deed of the human race".

In his classic treatise "On Heroes, Hero-Worship and the Heroic in History", Thomas Carlyle summarizes the appearance of great men as follows:

"But I liken common languid Times, with their unbelief, distress, perplexity, with their languid doubting characters and embarrassed circumstances, impotently crumbling down into ever worse distress towards final ruin—all this I liken to dry dead fuel, waiting for the lightning out of Heaven that shall kindle it. The great man, with his free force direct out of God's own hand, is the lightning. His WORD IS THE WISE HEALING WORD WHICH ALL CAN BELIEVE IN. All blazes round him now, when he has once struck on it, into fire like his own. The dry mouldering sticks are thought to have called him forth. They did want him greatly; but as to calling him forth—! Those are critics of small vision, I think, who cry: "See, is it not the sticks that made the fire? No sadder proof can be given by a man of his own littleness than disbelief in great men. There is no sadder symptom of a generation than such general blindness to the spiritual lightning, with faith only in the heap of barren dead fuel. It is the last consummation of unbelief. In all epochs of the world's history, we shall find the Great Man to have been the indispensable savior of his epoch—the lightning, without which the fuel never would have burnt. The History of the World, I said already, was the Biography of Great Men."

The greatest shaping event of the 19th century was undoubtedly the Civil War and the history of this clash is the biography of Abraham Lincoln, and the Epic of his Via Dolorosa.

Jesse Macy, in his "Political Parties in the United States" sums up Lincoln's character admirably. He says:

"Lincoln was thoroughly original and peculiar in his genuine and controlling belief in democracy. Thousands before him had professed to believe in it, tens of thousands had hoped that the democratic theory would prove the correct one, millions had traditionally accepted the name of democrat but few indeed had been the men, who really believed in democracy as did Abraham Lincoln.

". . . The mature, ripened political judgment of the people he accepted as absolutely final. In that type of democracy in which Lincoln believed what the people actually think becomes for the statesman the ultimate determining fact."

It was Lincoln's genuine and controlling belief in Democracy, his ability to cast his thoughts in "wise, healing words which all can believe in" and above all his ability to perceive the theme-centers of our political principles, that enabled him to redefine our American political ideology. His Gettysburg address and Second Inaugural are ranking among the greatest English classics that border of scriptural majesty and exemplify simplicity of perception and lucidity of conception in political thought.

The first tribute paid to Lincoln on his Gettysburg address came from the lips of Edward Everett, who was the main speaker of the occasion. Historians tell us that Lincoln's presence at the Gettysburg dedicatory exercises was rather perfunctory and that his classic address was intended as a casual statement only.

Everett's was a polished and balanced oration that kept the vast throngs spell-bound for two hours. And, as the silver-voiced Everett concluded his masterpiece, an electrified mass of people burst into a long storm of applause and continuous cheers.

In contrast to Everett's oration, President Lincoln's address lasted only two minutes and upon its completion not a hand was lifted in applause. A cosmic hush fell upon the battlefield—eternity was making its appearance thereon.

The first one to realize the significance of President Lincoln's Gettysburg address was Edward Everett, who, in a spontaneous complimentary evaluation, expressed the quintessence of the Lincolnian effulgence. "Mr. President", he said simply, "I should be glad if I could flatter myself that I came as near the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes."

Grasping of "the central idea" of events and casting same in immortal English that has often been compared with the lofty portions of the Old Testament, constitutes the salient feature of Lincoln's sagacity and leadership.

Today we are embroiled in a conflict that was precipitated by a War of Ideologies closely resembling the issues of the Civil War, but transcending the boundaries of our Land and embracing the entire world! Now, as then, the issue revolves around the theme-center of our national existence—the Declaration of Independence—shall the world become enslaved or the principles of the Declaration of Independence enshrined forever in the heart of mankind and forever firmly established upon the earth?

By examining another Lincolnian "central idea" expressed by the Martyr-President in his Second Inaugural, the members of the Senate will find the blue-print for our Legislative efforts and contributions to the impending victory of our nation:

"Let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

No homage can excel the one paid to the memory of the Martyr-Emancipator by the inimitable great Beecher:

"Now his simple and weighty words will be gathered like those of Washington, and your children and your children's children shall be taught to ponder the simplicity and deep wisdom of utterances which, in their time, passed, in party heat, as idle words. Men will receive a new impulse of patriotism for his sake and will guard with great zeal the whole country which he loved so well. I swear you, on the altar of his memory, to be more faithful to the country for which he has perished. They will as they follow his hearse . . . admire and imitate the firmness of this man, his inflexible conscience for the right, and yet his gentleness, as tender as a woman's, his moderation of spirit, which not all the heat of party could inflame, nor all the jars and disturbances of his country shake out of place. I swear you to an emulation of his justice, his moderation, and his mercy . . ."

"Four years ago, O Illinois, we took from your midst an untried man and from among the people. We return him to you a mighty conqueror. Not thine any more, but the nation's; not ours, but the world's. Give him place, O ye prairies. In the midst of this great continent his dust shall rest, a sacred treasure to myriads who shall pilgrim to that shrine to kindle anew their zeal and patriotism. Ye winds that move over the mighty places of the West, chant his requiem. Ye people, behold a martyr whose blood, as so many articulate words, pleads for fidelity, for law, for liberty."

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Stiefel for that splendid address.

CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 16, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section thirteen, article three of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

PRAYER

The Rev. J. Richard Crawford, A.B., Ph.D., Episcopalian lergyman of Uniontown, Penna., a guest of the Chaplain, fered the following prayer:

Almighty God, and most merciful Father, we bow in ay presence to thank Thee for Thy goodness toward us.

We thank Thee for our creation and preservation, but ore so, for the inestimable blessings to us, by the giving of Thy beloved Son that the human family might live.

Thou, who art infinite in mercy and knowledge hear ur prayers we beseech Thee, may the prayer of each ember of this body here assembled, be heard by Thee or the safety of this nation and its allies.

God of the right give us wisdom, that wisdom which has s source in Thee, that this body may do only those things hich are right.

We pray O' God that Thou wouldst bless each member this law making body, that each may continue to keep efore his mind's eye, that Thou dost keep watch over his very act and thought, and Thou wilt bring into judgment very idle, pernicious word or thought.

Bless we pray Thee the President of these United tates, the Governor of this State, and the members of eir official families making them to know whose minis- rs they are, give them knowledge to execute justice for l men, and to maintain truth.

We pray for all those that are in distress or sorrow, for l captives make them to feel that Thou lovest them ill.

This we ask in Christ's name. Amen.

By Messrs. ALSPACH and NORMAN WOOD.
RESOLUTION No. 19.

In the House of Representatives, February 9, 1943.

George W. Hensel, Jr., of Quarryville, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, founder of the Slumbering Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville, died at his home on Sunday, February 7th, after a busy life that added six years to hi allotted span of three score and ten.

Merchant, banker, philosopher and sage, he lived in house by the side of the road, and watched the world g by, giving to it in rich abundance of his wit and wisdom

For thirty-seven years he was the Hibernating Governo of the lodge that he had founded, which counted amon its members some of the most prominent citizens of th Nation, and some from foreign lands.

All his life he was a prominent Democrat and serve as Post Master of his home town, as United States Jur Commissioner, as a member of the Board of Public As sistance of his county, and as a Valley Forge Park Com missioner.

He was President and a director of the Martinsvill Horse Detective Association, a Director of the Humane Society, a member of the Pennsylvania Society, the Lan caster County Historical Society and the Pennsylvani German Society, and of the St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

For many years his home and store in Lancaster County were the mecca for Governors, Members of Congress prominent judges and high officials of the Army and Navy

His death will deprive his home county of its mos unique and outstanding character who brought promi nence to it through the close friendships he made with prominent people who delighted in his company; there fore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the Com monwealth of Pennsylvania that in the passing of George W. Hensel, Jr., an outstanding citizen has been lost whose place in history will always reflect credit upon it,

That the House extends to his widow its most sincere sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House shall transmit to his widow, a copy of this resolution.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. JAMES. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 20

In the House of Representatives, February 9, 1943.

Whereas, It is the sincere desire and earnest prayer of the citizens of Pennsylvania that the end of the present world-wide conflict and the triumph of the righteous aims to which our people and those of our allies have dedicated themselves, shall be made the occasion for establishing the means of placing upon all nations such restraints as may be necessary to insure all mankind against persecution and aggression, and against any and all war-like acts, spoilation and destruction; and to guarantee all peoples of the world liberty and freedom to live fearlessly under just laws; and

Whereas, The citizens of Pennsylvania, in common with those of all other states of our Union, have always been and are ever ready to contribute generously to the comfort, happiness, and prosperity of all mankind, through services and with the substances gained as the result of the opportunities and blessings of individual liberty and freedom under just laws, and the guarantees of the Constitution of the United States of America; and

Whereas, The Constitution of the United States of America, the basic law of our Nation, under which our people have achieved the fullest measure of proper rights personal security and liberty, specifically directs that the President of the United States shall have power, by and with the consent of the Senate, to make treaties with other nations; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That this General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requests the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States, from Pennsylvania, to convey to the President of the United States the desire of the citizens of this State that the fact of the independent sovereignty of the United States shall be maintained in any treaty or treaties made between the United States and any other nation or ıtions for the purpose of securing agreement to enforce ɔod order, tranquility and universal justice between and nong the nations and peoples of the world, and that no ıle, regulation, order or law contravening, superseding invalidating any provisions of the Constitution of the nited States of America shall be agreed to, on behalf the citizens of our Nation, in any such treaty or treaties; ıd be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be sent each Senator and each Representative in the Congress the United States from the Commonwealth of Penn-ılvania.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

SENATE MESSAGES

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 18.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that ıe Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Dr. Russell H. Conwell, the founder of Temple Univerty, and a lecturer, educator and clergyman of nation-ide note and reputation, was born on February 15th, ıe hundred years ago. It is fitting that this event shall be ıly recognized by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ır the betterment of whose people he devoted the most uitful years of an unusually productive life.

Although not a native of this Commonwealth, Dr. Con-ell came to Philadelphia in 1882 to take over the pastor-ip of the Grace Baptist Church, then struggling with a mited membership and a large debt. Under his vigorous adership this church grew to be one of the greatest in ıe Nation. From the youth of its congregation sprang the ed that has ripened into the vast educational system, mbracing seven professional schools, three undergraduate hools, three hospitals, a high school and several special epartments, one of America's finest educational centers.

To many, Dr. Conwell is best known as a lecturer, parcularly for the just renown of his most famous speech, Acres of Diamonds',' which he delivered more than five ıousand times, and in all parts of the world. It is not ossible, however, to classify Dr. Conwell except as a ader in public life, so diversified were his activities and is accomplishments for the good of his fellow man; there-ɔre, be it Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Governor hall, at an appropriate time, issue his proclamation desigating and calling upon the public schools, other educaonal institutions of the State, and the citizens of Pennylvania to observe, with appropriate ceremony, the one undredth anniversary of the birth of Russell H. Conwell n Monday, February 15th, 1943, to commerorate the outtanding achievements of his inspiring life.

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 9

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that he Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House f Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1943.

The type of wire used for stitching booklets, pamphlets, nagazines, etc. is furnished by manufacturers who are ɔractically overwhelmed with the business of making wire ɔr the war effort, and the existing supply of this binders' vire is extremely limited and growing less with each ɔassing day. It is practically impossible to get a priority ɔr it unless it is to be used in printed matter strictly ssential to government war purposes. Even the Gov-ernment Printing Office at Washington cannot supply ɔriority to contracting printers unless the job to be ɔrinted is to be used in connection with services or equipment for the armed forces.

The situation is so bad that some job binders are switching over to sewing or pasting, which is more expensive and less satisfactory than wire stitching.

The Government Printing Office, is specifying now that only one wire stitch be used on its work, and practically all booklet binding is now appearing with one stitch. The Saturday Evening Post, one of the most widely read national weekly magazines, has cut down from three to two stitches.

With this situation facing the printing trade, the Blank Book Manufacturers, Paper Rulers and Pamphlet Binders Division of the Typothetae of Philadelphia, Inc., and many other organizations of bookbinders, as well as individual printing concerns, have issued regulations as follows:

24 pages or less, up to 9" x 12", to have one stitch.

64 pages or less, up to 6" x 9", to have one stitch.

Side wired, glued cover books, up to 6" x 9", to have one stitch.

Side wired, glued cover books, over 6" x 9", to have two stitches.

No book to have more than two stitches; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Department of Property and Supplies shall immediately require and direct that all printing, requiring stitching, that is done by or for the various departments, departmental administrative boards, independent administrative boards or commissions, officers or other agencies of the State Government shall be done subject to the above regulations; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the House shall immediately transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MUIR from the Committee on Appropriations reported as committed House Bill No. 40, entitled:

An Act relating to officers and employes of the Senate and House of Representatives; abolishing certain positions, creating other positions; providing compensation for positions created; changing certain existing compensations; making an appropriation; and ratifying action already taken in relation thereto.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

CALENDAR CORRECTIONS

The SPEAKER. The Chair calls to the attention of the Members the fact that on Page 5 of today's Calendar, Bills on Second Reading, the word "Second" is in error. It should be "Third Reading" instead. It is a printer's error.

Mr. JAMES. I understand the Speaker to say that on Page 5 the heading was in error, and I inquire whether House Bill No. 4, Printer's No. 12, is also on Third Reading?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I am not unaware, although I listened certainly, that House Bill No. 4 was called up on Second Reading.

The SPEAKER. The bill was called up by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins.

Mr. JAMES. I am in error, sir, and I apologize.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, while this may not mean anything, I would like to say that on Page 1 of today's Calendar, House Bill No. 114, the Printer's Number is given as 49 in the Calendar. It should be Printer's No. 19.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Indiana that the correction has been made but was not called to the attention of the House.

The Chair calls attention to the error on page 1 of the Calendar, House Bill No. 114, Printer's No. 49 should be Printer's No. 19.

he majority required by the Constitution having voted the affirmative, the question was determined in the mative.

rdered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

r. BENTLEY filed the following reasons for his vote:

have voted for House Bill 17, Printer's No. 8, as a sure whose general purpose is desirable, although in opinion the bill as drawn is faulty in that it fails to r "attempts" or "conspiracies" of the named crimes.

owever, the sponsor assures that he will not oppose ndments in the Senate and it is with this understand- that I vote in the affirmative.

REASONS FOR VOTE

r. MODELL filed the following reasons for his vote:

ne purpose of this bill has great merit, but in my ion it loses strength by omitting from the crimes it rs, the crimes of attempted robbery, attempted bur- y and conspiracy to rob and conspiracy to burglarize.

owever, inasmuch as the sponsor, the gentleman from strong, Mr. Gates, assures me that he will have no ction to a proposed Senate amendment including e crimes, I have voted in favor of this bill.

greeably to order,

he House proceeded to the third reading and consid- on of House Bill No. 88, as follows:

Act to amend section one thousand one hundred four the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand ne hundred twenty-nine (P. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one thousand one hundred four of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1104 Appeal to Courts Any person association corporation public officer or other debtor aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon his or its petition for review within ninety (90) days may within sixty (60) days appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or from the decision of the Department of Revenue or of the Department of the Auditor General as the case may be The said sixty (60) day period shall begin to run (a) from the end of the ninety (90) day period where the board fails to act or (b) from the date of mailing of notice of refusal of the petition for review or (c) from the date of mailing by the Department of Revenue of the certification of a resettlement where the board has made a resettlement Such appeal shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the rules of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County All such appeals shall be lodged with the Department of Justice which department shall transmit them to the clerk of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and notify the appellant of the date of filing and the term and number of the appeal

Every such appeal shall be accompanied with a specification of objections to the settlement resettlement or other decision as the case may be and the party appealing shall enter sufficient security before one of the judges of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County within ten (10) days next after the filing of the appeal with the clerk to prosecute the appeal with effect to pay all costs and charges which the court shall award and any sum of money which shall appear by the judgment of the court to be due by such party to the Commonwealth

The party appealing shall file with every such appeal an affidavit containing the specification of objections and stating that the appeal is not taken for delay but because appellant believes injustice has been done by the settlement or resettlement or other decision appealed from and that the facts set forth therein are true to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief If a corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association is the party appellant such affidavit shall be taken by one of its chief officers

Appeals taken hereunder shall be hearings de novo but no facts shall be admitted in evidence that were not brought to the attention of the department making the settlement or in the application for resettlement or petition for review prior to the appeal and set forth in the specification of objections contained in the affidavit accompanying the appeal unless the court shall be satisfied that the appellant was unable by the exercise of reasonable diligence to have laid such evidence before the department making the settlement and the Board of Finance and Revenue and no questions shall be raised which are not included in the specification of objections filed as hereinbefore provided

From the judgment of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken by either party as in other cases

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 2, Printer's No. 11, was passed over at the request of Mr. IRVIN.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 34, as follows:

An Act to further amend section fourteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" by providing that employes on retirement for superannuation who return to active school service during the present war shall not upon return to retirement receive any smaller allowance than that received prior to return to active school service

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section fourteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" as last amended by the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 799) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Superannuation Retirement

Section 14 Retirement for superannuation shall be as follows

1 Any contributor who is an employe sixty-two years of age or older may retire for superannuation by filing with the retirement board a written statement duly attested setting forth at what time subsequent to the execution of said application he or she desires to be retired Said application shall retire said contributor at the time so specified or in the discretion of the retirement board at the end of the school term in which the time so specified occurs

2 Each and every contributor who has attained or shall attain the age of seventy years shall be retired by the retirement board for superannuation forthwith or at the end of the school term in which said age of seventy years is attained

Allowance on Superannuation Retirement

3 On retirement for superannuation a contributor who is an employe shall receive a retirement allowance which shall consist of

(a) An employe's annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of his or her accumulated deductions and

(b) A State annuity of one one-hundred-sixtieth (1/160) of his or her final salary for each year of service and

(c) In addition thereto if a present employe a further State annuity of one one-hundred-sixtieth (1/160) of his or her final salary for each year of prior service as certified to said present employe in the certificate issued to him or her by the retirement board under the provisions of section [ten] eleven of this act

4 Any person sixty-two years of age or older who was a class-room teacher principal supervising principal or superintendent in the public schools of Pennsylvania for at least twenty years and who separated from school service for any reason prior to the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen and who was not thereafter engaged in school service except temporarily for not more than one whole school year or any person who was a class-room teacher principal supervising principal or superintendent in the public schools of Pennsylvania for at least fourteen years and who separated from school service because of physical or mental disability prior to the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen and who still is unable to teach because of such disability shall receive a State compensation equal to one-eightieth of his or her final salary for each year of school service but not less than twenty dollars ($20) per month if such former teacher shall agree in writing and hold himself or herself ready under the direction of the board of school directors to advise and counsel with school officials to visit and counsel with new teachers to act as substitute teacher when able to examine and report on public school work to visit pupils' homes in the interests of child welfare to attend educational conferences and addresses and to be concerned with other educational work as may be deemed necessary and helpful to community-school interests The General Assembly shall from time to time appropriate moneys sufficient to make payments under this subsection Provided That any teacher who is entitled to receive State compensation hereunder and who is receiving a retirement allowance under the provisions of a local teachers' retirement system shall receive from the Commonwealth only the difference between the compensation to which such teacher would otherwise be entitled under the provisions of this subsection and the annual amount received by such teacher from such local teachers' retirement system

Any employe on retirement for superannuation who returns to active school service during the continuation of World War II shall not upon return to retirement for superannuation receive any smaller retirement allowance than that received prior to such return to active school service

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I cannot support this bill because it appears to be the product of a pressure group who seem to have the ability of getting what they want by getting it first. This bill is proposed to cut the taxes to automobile owners more than one-half million dollars annually. If the Legislature is going to jump through the hoop every time a pressure group cracks the whip, the show will close by reason of self-destruction. If there is to be a scramble as to whose taxes will be cut first, we will soon wake up to find the state is facing a deficit instead of a surplus. We should remember that both political parties promised the voters something more than simply cutting taxes; they promised to spend large sums of money on various projects which the people urgently demanded. Where are we going to get the money if we dissipate our finances? Money on hand is a better asset than money we hope to get.

There is another reason why I cannot support this bill. It appears to favor a class of automobilists who now get more for their money than any other users of the highways. If this bill gave relief to those who from no fault of their own are curtailed in the use of their cars, I could support it. Many car owners, owing to the rationing of gasoline and rubber have the use of their cars restricted. Other owners go to the expense of storing, insuring and various other costs on their investment. These automobilists are not considered in this bill. These people are not asking to have their taxes cut. They are anxious to pay taxes if they can only have the use of the highways. Any automobile owner who has a business worth the use of his car can afford to pay the present tax and is willing to do it for the privilege he is now denied. It is very plain that the underdog is holding the bag. He is justified in protesting against the discrimination meted out to other better privileged classes.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the minority is voting for this bill mainly for the reason that we supported a similar bill in the last session when we were in the majority.

However, if the reason for offering the bill were that it was a tax reduction measure or that it was an integral part of the tax reduction program it would not receive our unanimous support.

It is a measure that will reduce revenue by about a half million dollars in the next biennium.

Our main reason for supporting such a bill at this time is that it wipes off the books a gross inequality and inequity in the matter of levying license fees for motor trucks that has been on the books too long. It is a step in the right direction for establishing a uniform method for levying taxes on automobiles.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I believe the Minority Floor Leader is mixed up in the bills. I think he was talking about the next bill. This bill has nothing whatever to do with trucks, as I understand it. It is simply automobiles.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, my apologies to the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Huntley. I am in error. I thought we were considering House Bill No. 63.

May I ask, Mr. Speaker, if it would be possible for my remarks that were just made in connection with this bill to be held over and applied to House Bill No. 63 when it comes up. I have no comment to offer on House Bill No. 62.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the gentleman's remarks applying to House Bill No. 63? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the remarks of the gentleman will refer to House Bill No. 63 instead of House Bill No. 62.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Lloyd H. Wood.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if I am correct when I say that these cars are in twenty-three classes—that is, that the license fees are in twenty-three classes?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. My understanding, Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman's question, is that there are over forty, I believe forty-seven different classifications, one for every make of car including foreign makes.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I just received this report from the Revenue Department of a list taken for March eighteenth and twentieth, 1942, and it only lists twenty-three.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I can assure the gentleman that I know definitely that there are more than that.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if he knows that on the two following days mentioned that the license fees on the ten dollar cars, or the number of license fees on the ten dollar license plates was twenty-one thousand five hundred and fifty-three?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I should like to have that question repeated. I didn't get it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows that the Revenue Department for two days, March eighteenth and twentieth, 1942, has a listing of plates sold during those two days, and that the number of plates listed at ten dollars is twenty-one thousand five hundred and fifty-three?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I do not know the purpose of this question but I think the gentleman is referring to an incident where the Department, out of one hundred thousand applications filed on those two days, found out at random that instead of twenty-one thousand there were twelve thousand five hundred at the fee that the gentleman mentioned, and one car at twenty some dollars and another one slightly under twenty dollars.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, to get the record straight, according to the list I received, for the fee on the ten dollar license plates sold, it says twenty-one thousand five hundred and fifty-three, or twenty-one and seven-tenths per cent., is that correct?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman's question, the best and most reliable information that I have available is that in 1941 there were approximately eleven per cent. of all the cars that were registered in the Commonwealth that paid a ten dollar fee, and that has been diminishing quite rapidly since that time, and is now almost down to a negligible number. That is to say, that the cheaper cars like the Ford and the Chevrolet, have moved up to twelve dollars and eighty cents and twelve dollars and forty cents respectively.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he has any figures on the year 1942 on the different classes of license plates, and the number sold during that year, and the money collected for those plates during that year?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, the statistics that I have available are based on the year 1941. That is because the department was not in a position at the time when we made application to give us more recent figures from an accurate point of view.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman mind giving to the House the list showing the revenue received for plates during the year nineteen hundred and forty-one?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, about twenty million.

Mr. LOVETT. That is all license fees received, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman does not have it broken down into ten dollars, ten forty and ten eighty

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I could give license fees for cars of various classifications, that is if we were talking about Chevrolets or Buicks we would start down about 1934 or 1935 and bring it up to date. I have that list but I do not have the total amount other than the department received in 1942 approximately twenty million dollars in fees, but I don't know how many, for instance, in the ten dollar class, in the eleven dollar class and so on. I don't have that breakdown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

Does not the gentleman mean 1941 instead of 1942?

The Chair is of the opinion that the statement, the gentleman from Montgomery meant to make was 1941.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. That is right Mr. Speaker. That is correct. I just got through stating that my facts were based on 1941 because the Department was unable to give accurate information on 1942.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wished the gentleman to yield only for the purpose of correcting the record.

Mr. LOVETT. That will be all the interrogation, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, according to the list that I have received from the Revenue Department for March 18 and 20, 1942, the following is a breakdown of passenger registration fee's:

Horsepower	Fee	3-18-42 3-20-42 Plates Sold	%
25	$10.00	21,553	21.7
26	10.40	6,111	6.2
27	10.80	11,067	11.2
28	11.20	12,522	12.6
29	11.60	6,918	7.0
30	12.00	15,769	16.0
31	12.40	18,371	18.5
32	12.80	7	.0
33	13.20	2,061	2.1
34	13.60	4,519	4.5
35	14.00		.0
36	14.40	9	.0
37	14.80	39	.0

57	22.80	2	.0
		99,166

Gentlemen, I think this bill is a step in the right direction, providing we gave some consideration to the motorists, that is the mass of motorists, and not just a select few. These figures would indicate to you that the only ones receiving a reduction in their license fee are just a few of the larger cars owned by the people who could well afford to pay their license fees.

I feel that as members of the Legislature, if we cannot do any better than this for the general public or the motorists who drive automobiles, we should hold it up at this time and let everybody pay the fee that they are now paying. I, therefore, think that there could be some way worked out whereby there would be some equal distribution.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LOVETT. I move, Mr. Speaker, that we recommit this bill to the Committee on Motor Vehicles to see if we cannot work out some scheme whereby the majority of the motoring public will receive some benefit in this reduction.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the members of this House to vote down the motion.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Westmoreland insist on a roll call?

Mr. LOVETT. I do, Mr. Speaker.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, there is every indication in this House that the Members themselves are not satisfied with this particular bill. We recall last evening that we had a recess, we recall that this morning some of the men on the majority side of this House are still not satisfied with this particular measure. There is some misunderstanding. They are listed as pleasure cars. I want to say to the Members of this House these cars today are not pleasure cars. The majority of these cars are owned by men who work in mills and factories in this state and they do not consider their cars as pleasure cars. You can possibly list the higher group of cars as pleasure cars, but when you list the smaller group as pleasure cars you are not being fair to the motorists and to the general public. These cars are not pleasure cars, they are a necessity in this day and age. That is the reason why we are having this trouble with gas rationing. Today these men cannot use these cars for pleasure, they can only use them for necessity. So, I would like to go along in some way in straightening out and justifying the license fee on the horsepower basis and get it down to some reasonable status. Like my good friend, Mr. Huntley, I cannot see where I can possibly vote for this bill, when it is not doing one thing in the interests of the people whom I feel I represent.

I, therefore, ask this House to defeat this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—6

Bentley,	Lovett,	Petrosky,	Weiss,
Huntley,	Moran,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BENTLEY filed the following reasons for his vote:

I have voted against House Bill 62, Printers No. 15 not because it is wrong in principle, for I am in favor of a reduction in motor vehicle license fees, but for the reason that it does not grant either a sufficient reduction nor is the reduction granted equitably distributed, particularly with reference to the small car owner.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 63, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" changing the definition of "chassis" as it applies to certain commercial motor vehicles thereby changing the classification of such vehicles

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one hundred and two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 1135) is hereby further amended to read as follows

NAYS—1

Weiss,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. In fairness to the gentleman from Wyoming, Mr. Greenwood, and for the record, the Chair wishes to state that Mr. Greenwood's name is on the original first copy as a co-sponsor of House Bill No. 63, which the House has just passed. His signature was the last on the bill. The gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, being the first sponsor and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Laughner, being the second sponsor, therefore, Mr. Greenwood's name being the third sponsor had to be dropped, as it was on the bill in violation of Rule 18 of the House.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 4, as follows:

An Act relating to the journals of the proceedings of the Senate and of the House of Representatives requiring the keeping thereof and their publication in the Legislative Journal and abolishing the separate publication of such journals

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The Senate and the House of Representatives shall each keep a journal of its proceedings as now required by the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth The Journal of the Senate and the Journal of the House of Representatives shall both be published in the Legislative Journal now provided for by law which shall serve as the journals of the Senate and of the House of Representatives respectively in compliance with the requirements of section twelve of article two of the Constitution

Section 2 No separate publications shall be made of the proceedings of either the Senate or of the House of Representatives of the legislative session of one thousand nine hundred forty-three or of any legislative session thereafter

Section 3 Section eight of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 849) entitled "An act providing for the preparation contents style printing and binding of the Legislative Journal and the preparation printing and binding of the Journals of the Senate and House of Representatives authorizing the appointment of official reporters typewriters clerks and other employes providing for the making of an appendix and index the printing of wrappers or envelopes for mailing the Legislative Journal and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith" and section eight of the act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 941) entitled "An act providing for the preparation contents style printing and binding of the Legislative Journal and its delivery and distribution providing for the preparation printing and binding of the Journals of the Senate and House of Representatives authorizing the appointment of official reporters expert typewriters clerks and other employes and providing for their compensation and mileage providing for the making of an appendix and index the printing of wrappers or envelopes for mailing the Legislative Journal and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith" are hereby repealed

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed in so far as they provide for the separate printing binding and distribution of the Journal of the Senate and the Journal of the House of Representatives

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker and fellow statesmen, the report of the Joint State Government Commission made to the General Assembly since the convening of this session, on page three, recommends that the separate printing and publication of the Journal of the Senate and the Journal of the House of Representatives be discontinued and that the Legislative Journal be designated as the publication of those separate Journals.

That is what this House Bill No. 4 will accomplish if finally enacted. This same object was sought by House Bill No. 1064 in the Session of 1939, but that bill was vetoed by Governor James, who felt that the bill, if signed, would eliminate the keeping and publications of the separate House and Senate Journals. This bill will not commit that error. It expressly provides that the Legislative Journal shall serve as the respective Journals of the Senate and House which is what Governor James contended House Bill No. 1064 should have done.

The Journals of the Senate and House will be kept as required by the Constitution, but will be published together and the Act of 1911 providing for their preparation is by this bill repealed, in so far as it provides for the separate printing and distribution of the Senate and House Journals.

The report of the Joint State Government Commission states that, (on page 7) the discontinuance of the separate printing of these Journals will effect a saving of $22,179, and it will cost much less than that amount to pass this bill, and in view of the avowed program of both parties to reduce expenses as much as possible at this session, I ask the House for its unanimous approval of this measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

APPOINTMENT TO THOMAS JEFFERSON BICENTENNIAL COMMISSION

The SPEAKER. In compliance with the provision of a concurrent resolution adopted by the Senate March 5, 1941 and concurred in by the House of Representatives March 17, 1941, the Speaker appoints as a member of the Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission on the part of the House, the gentleman from Allegheny, Bernard H. Goodwin, to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of John B. Herring, of Philadelphia.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the House this afternoon a former member of the House, the gentleman from Perry, Honorable A. L. Gelnett.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McMILLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to take much time to say what I have to say. First, it is a known fact that I am a professional school teacher and that on several occasions I have taken the floor of the House on behalf of school legislation. I have no apologies to make for this, only to say that I expect to take some more time in behalf of school legislation soon, but from that same point of view, I wish to state that while I am always willing to take the floor in behalf of teachers and education, I am just as willing to take the floor of the House in opposition to tactics, principles and actions of school teachers that are contrary to the proper ethics of the teaching profession.

I am referring right now to a strike of school teachers in the Rankin district near the city of Pittsburgh. Yesterday the teachers of Rankin went on strike, simply sat down in the school rooms of the Borough of Rankin. The children came to school, about sixteen hundred of them, but the teachers would not teach. The children ran wild and finally were dismissed to go home.

We have just been deploring the situation in the hard coal regions where men struck because of the fifty cent increase in dues as a part of their complaint. And now, here comes a body of teachers, members of my own profession. Why? It brings to light a very glaring inequality in the teacher salary schedules. I will say more about that later. It is a problem that the Legislature is now attempting to deal with.

The point I would like to make in passing today is that when anyone accepts a certificate as a doctor, a licensed physician, he accepts the responsibilities and the liabilities of a physician. He also accepts the leadership that goes with the profession. The same is true of the teaching profession. When I accept a certificate as a licensed teacher in the state of Pennsylvania I am automatically accepting the liabilities and responsibilities that go with that profession, one of the liabilities being not a very high salary, unfortunately. One of the great responsibilities that go with that certificate is the dissemination of knowledge of the principles underlying the government of this country. Nowhere else is there the responsibility of bringing about an appreciation of the responsibility of citizenship as there is in the public schools, and yet here we have teachers who are apparently educated, who have not accepted the responsibility of citizenship.

One of the other responsibilities of the teaching profession is sacrifice. Often times a teacher sacrifices his own personal interest for the welfare and the betterment of the community in which he lives, and for the betterment of the boys and girls under his supervision. I think it is high time that this Legislature serves notice on the school teachers of this state that striking automatically eliminates them from the profession of teaching, because it is a strike against one of the fundamental principles of teaching. I certainly hope to see the day come when that will be made one of the reasons why a teacher can be fired without any question. I thank you.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. MODELL and SCANLON offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1943.

Birthdays, anniversaries and all joyful special occasions affecting members of this House should never pass unnoticed by its members.

On this day, ten years ago, a wedding took place in the city of New York, for the bride, Miss Anna Korchin as she was known before the event, was a resident of one of the boroughs of that city.

Whether the young lady, at that time, had any realization of the lonely days of patient suffering inflicted upon the wives of members of Pennsylvania's General Assembly, the record does not disclose. The blushing groom was not then a Senator, nor a Representative, much less a Floor Leader of the House. But since this is his fourth term, he may have had, even then, an ambition fostering a premonition of things to come.

Quite recently the family circle has been made complete by the arrival of Frances Lenore, now aged fourteen months, whose lively prattle leaves few dull moments in the household.

It is none other than our able and honored minority floor leader to whom we have thus far referred, the fearless barrister from the City of Brotherly Love, who beat the depression by marrying at its most depressing point. His progress has been phenominal. He enjoys an enviable standing in the legal profession of his city, and in the civic life of his community. And above all, his rise to a position of influence, power and respect in his political party and as a member of this House, at an age at which most men have not yet made their start, marks him as an outstanding citizen of our free country; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby most heartily congratulates the Honorable Reuben E. Cohen and Mrs. Cohen on this, their tenth wedding anniversary, and wishes them many tens of years more of continued happiness, prosperity and honor; and that a copy of this resolution, bearing the seal of the House, be presented to them as a token of the admiration and esteem of Reub Cohen's fellow members of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I knew my tenth wedding anniversary was today and I somewhat suspected that there would be something done about it possibly, but frankly that thing read much better than when I wrote it.

Seriously, Mr. Speaker, I just want to say this, that I trust the members of this House, its official family and their families, might have in their lifetime the ten years of happiness that my first ten years have afforded me.

I find myself, peculiarly enough, and probably to the amazement of my opponents on the other side, at a loss for words, but I want you to know that I sincerely and deep down in my heart appreciate the very fine token of your expression to both Mrs. Cohen, the boss of the family, my daughter and myself.

ANNOUNCEMENT

There will be a Caucus of the Republican Members of the House, Monday evening, February 15, at 8 p. m. in the New House Caucus Room.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WACHHAUS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 15, 1943, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 2:43 p. m.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1943. No. 14.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 15, 1943.

The Senate met at 5:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

To the only God, infinite, eternal and unchangeable, we lift our hearts in gratitude and with the weakness of words try to express our thanks for all Thy mercies.

Thy providence has been about us and sustained us since we last stood here in Thy presence, and every material need has been supplied to us. We have other than material needs, for "Man does not live by bread alone." Thou hast not forgotten our spiritual needs. Let us not forget, lest in the starving of our souls our characters deteriorate, and our likeness to Thee, our God, be destroyed.

Thou hast given us in Thy Son the perfect pattern. May we follow Him in submission to the will of God. We believe it is Thy will to preserve our nation. Under the conviction that this is Thy will, may we, as a united people pray and consecrate our lives to that end, and become "workers with God." So we work and pray for victory over all our enemies and for a return to the gracious sovereignty of the Prince of Peace.

We pray for our National and State leaders. By the grace of God they are our leaders. May they honor Thy name by bringing their wills into harmony with Thine.

In Jesus name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is very glad to welcome back our Chaplain, and to know that he has recovered his health.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. TAYLOR, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence of Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

Mr. Jaspan asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. DiSILVESTRO.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH TO SENATE LIBRARIAN

The PRESIDENT. The next order of business is administration of oath to the Librarian-elect of the Senate Charles A. P. Bartlett.

Oath of office was accordingly administered by the President of the Senate.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

Receipt of which was noted in the Journal.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. COX. Mr. President and members of the Senate this afternoon upon returning to Harrisburg I received the following telegram:

"Homestead District Public School Teachers Legislative Committee Representing 316 Professional Employes of School Districts of Homestead Munhall Westhomestead Whitaker and Miflin Township of 11 Legislative and 4 Senatorial District strongly urge passage of H. B. 136. We are in a teachers depression. We request that teachers remaining loyal to professional responsibility be given increases to compensate for increased living costs. Schools must maintain high efficiency; schools are vital to defend democracy. Forwarding 8,000 petitions from friends of education indorsing our appeal."

I know that my experience has been the common experience of every member of this Senate. During the past several months there has been an increasing flow of communications, telephone calls and personal appearances of mbers of the teaching profession, who are acquainting with the thought or the fact that the compensation that y receive today is inadequate to provide them with a ent standard of living.

ecently in the county of Allegheny, in the borough of nkin, the teachers took the matter in their own hands l struck. Although I disagree with that procedure, I certainly understand the desperation that caused them trike. In the borough of Rankin there are sixty school chers. The high school teacher's maximum is $1,600, h two exceptions, and the maximum for the elementary ol teachers is $1,400.

n this telegram which I have read to you, the boroughs Homestead, Munhall, West Homestead and Whitaker the Township of Miflin are mentioned. These five ricts lie in the Monongahela Valley, one of the greatest ustrial communities in the world, and into this dis- t today is pouring unheard of wealth, men who work the steel mills, in that industry, and who are making e money than they ever made before in their lives or r expected to make.

nfortunately for the teachers in that community they the forgotten men and the forgotten women in this of war prosperity.

have heard the statement made that if teachers dissatisfied with the compensation which they re- e as teachers they should get other jobs. Fortunately, have in Pennsylvania thousands of sincere, conscien- s well-trained men and women who realize the re- nsibility of their vocation and who are remaining loyal ur public school system. If it were not for their loy- , I am afraid that our Pennsylvania ideal and our erican ideal of an education for every one would quickly terminated.

went to the Department of Public Instruction since se people awakened my interest, and found that we e in Pennsylvania today, among our teaching forces, roximately 45,000 teachers whose income is less than 00 per year; I found that there were 32,000, approxi- ely, whose income was less than $1,600 a year; and ound that there were approximately 13,000 teachers ose income was less than $1,099 per year.

know that you agree with me that something must done. Some communities, because of lack of wealth, unable to do anything for their teachers, they can not ease the compensation and in those districts the burden hrown on the members of the Legislature to provide ls to increase the compensation.

here are other districts in Pennsylvania which could dle this problem themselves, but they are afraid that ey increase the compensation of the teachers, and the islature, at a later date, provides compensation, that will not receive the compensation.. Again the teach- suffer.

look back, Mr. President, to my life among the in- nces of my father and my mother and other people. re are certain people who taught me in school who a great influence in shaping my life. Now that I am ure and realize the small compensation that they re- ed, it is difficult for me to understand how they could e done the splendid job of teaching which they ac- plished. I know that that experience of mine is the mon experience of you all.

fter this war is over, when we come to after-the-war ning, it seems to me that one of the things this Legislature could do, and do effectively, is to completely reshape the entire system of education in Pennsylvania. We know that the curricula in our public schools is an adequate curricula. We have learned during the depression and during this war emergency, that many young men and women come from our public schools without the learning, without the specific training to do the job that persons who graduate from public schools should be able to do.

Last year a member of this Senate introduced a bill setting up a commission of members of the Legislature to make a serious, sincere survey of our public educational system and later report back to the Legislature. That bill carried an appropriation of $50,000. I was on the conference committee when that bill was considered by the House and the Senate, and I regret to say that there was the inability to agree of the conference committee on the part of the House and the conference committee on the part of the Senate. I hope that the sponsor of that bill will re-introduce it. I am satisfied today, when our State government is controlled by one party, that we should not have the difficulty which made it impossible to pass this legislation in 1941. This is a piece of after-the-war planning which can be of great value to our Commonwealth.

I thought that one of the solutions to this question of increased compensation for teachers was the Cordier bill which has been introduced in the House, but I find in that bill it also provides that this sum of $300 which is to go to each teacher in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the school year of 1942 and the school year of 1943, applies also to the supervisory staffs.

From the information which I have received from the Department of Public Instruction, I find that there is a tremendous salary range in our public school system. I find, for instance, that there are eight persons employed in the field of education in Pennsylvania who have a salary range greater than $8,000 per year. We have every range, from a salary greater than $8,000 a year down to the base of $1,000 per year. If we were to give $300 to every person engaged in the public school system in Pennsylvania it would require an outlay of between $18,000,000 and $19,000,000 per annum, for we have approximately 63,000 school teachers in our Commonwealth.

I do think, however, that if the Cordier bill could be amended so that certain of the higher brackets would be eliminated from sharing in this compensation, that the bill would effectively do the thing that must be done.

I sincerely hope that within the next several weeks—this week if you gentlemen can act that quickly—that we have something definite to tell the members of the teaching profession of Pennsylvania.

The tragedy of the situation is that many of them have made commitments in accordance with the income that they received prior to the outbreak of the war, there are children to raise and children to educate; there are properties with mortgages on which payments have to be made, and the longer we delay and the longer we procrastinate here, the more financially involved these people are going to be. Thank you.

EULOGIZING ALEX S. COOPER, RETIRING SENATE LIBRARIAN

Mr. EALY. When I first came to this Senate in 1927, there were only two other present Senators who were members of that body, but there was an officer of the Senate whose service here on Capitol Hill extended back many years previous. Alex Cooper began his service in the Insurance Department of Pennsylvania, I am told, in 1906. In 1914 he was appointed Assistant Librarian of this Senate. He served in that capacity until 1935, when he was elected Librarian, although he had performed many of the duties of that office for years previously.

Since 1935, he has served continuously, with the exception of the years 1937 to 1939. He is now retiring from service. Last week I spoke to a gentleman who holds a position in one of the departments of this Capitol, who stated that he had been connected with the work of the State for a period as long or perhaps a little longer than that of Mr. Cooper—I believe he began first as a newspaper correspondent. He came into contact with Mr. Cooper in many ways in his work here, and in work outside of the Capitol, and he stated that he had never known anyone who was so meticulously exact in his records or anyone who had served more faithfully than had Mr. Cooper. My own associations with him would bear out that statement.

It is our wish, the wish of all the members of this Senate, to give to him something which will remind him of his associations here. We have chosen a watch. This watch is marketed by the manufacturer under the trade slogan "Always Faithful," so it seems to be a fitting gift for Mr. Cooper and we hope that it will serve him as faithfully as he has served us in his associations here.

We hope that it will bring back to him very many pleasant memories, and we wish for him health and happinness in his well earned retirement.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, today marks the close of more than thirty years of faithful service to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by our retiring Senate Librarian, Alex Cooper, and I would be false to my real emotions and untrue to my sense of appreciation of service if I hesitated to get up on my feet and pay tribute to the service he has rendered, not only to the majority members of the Senate but to those of us on the minority side.

Alex Cooper was successful because, as Senate Librarian, he appreciated that he was an integral part of the entire governmental structure and that his service as Librarian was not a personal right but a privilege embodying a trust, and I assume that when Al began his service to Pennsylvania two basic phases were considered, first of all his efficiency, and secondly, his loyalty to the Republican Party, and that is as it should be.

But he was not so blinded by rabid partisanship that he neglected or overlooked the wants and the requests of the minority members of the Senate of Pennsylvania. Whenever we wrote Al Cooper a letter there was always a prompt reply, there were never any questions asked about where he was to get the book or where he was to get the particular periodical we were seeking for one of our constituents. Al Cooper always carried the Message to Garcia.

Someone walked up to Emerson, the great philosopher, on one occasion, and said, "Give us your definition of genius," and Emerson replied, "Genius is the infinite capacity for taking pains." Mr. Cooper had that spark of genius. He was tolerant because he knew of the varied and many requests we get from people in our senatorial districts; he was courteous because he knew that cour enhanced his value as a public servant.

I believe that on occasions of this sort, Mr. Presid there is always some sort of sorrow, always some p of regret, but it is going to be a great source of com to him, in the autumn of his life, for Al Cooper to rea that he can walk into the home of any member of Senate of Pennsylvania in any part of the State, un whom he served, and receive a kindly greeting an kindly handshake.

Some newspaperman asked Clemenceau, the g French leader and hero of World War No. 1, to de happiness, and Clemenceau said, "Not being bothere and Al Cooper—not that he so considered it—will have to be bothered by requests from the members of Senate of Pennsylvania.

There is a great lesson, Mr. President, in the service Al Cooper. I believe that the guiding spirit behind impartiality is the profound thought that the Great Sc records not who won or lost but how you played game, and I believe as he goes down the hill of life, t he is going to leave behind him, or has left behind h a monument richer than gold, more enduring than gran a monument that the gnawing teeth of partisan critic can never destroy, and that is the monument of a m who did his job well.

I believe, Mr. President, I am expressing the sentime of the minority members when I say to him that in journey down the hill of life we wish him many years health and happiness.

Goodby, good luck and God bless you, is the sentim of all of us.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would also like to his congratulations and best wishes to this express by the Senate, and to say, Al Cooper, that you h rendered to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and this Senate an exceptionally able and conscientious pu service, lasting nearly one-third of a century.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, before introducing a bill, if I may be pardoned for the personal remark, we all like your voice very much indeed, a very nice voice, but in reading those titles the people and the Senators in the back of the Chamber do not hear the titles read, and therefore they become restless and somewhat bored and the result will be that we will have to have a hopper, I guess, and throw everything in the hopper, unless the Chair is willing to use a microphone.

The PRESIDENT. Whom did the Senator from Philadelphia say needed a microphone?

If the Senate would keep order, there would be no difficulty in hearing what the Chair said; therefore the Chair requests that the Senate come to order.

Mr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 160, entitled:

An Act defining and regulating general assistance for certain persons who need assistance to enable them to maintain for themselves and their dependents a decent and healthful standard of living; providing for the allocation and expenditure of State and county funds appropriated for such purposes; creating county boards of general assistance; prescribing their powers and duties; prescribing powers and duties of the Department of Public Assistance and certain other State officers and departments, county officers, institution district officers and courts of common pleas; and prescribing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

In the Senate, February 15, 1943.

Resolved, That the Rules of the Senate as amended by resolution on Wednesday, February 10, 1943, be further amended so that Rules Nos. 42, 43, 44 and 45, as they appeared prior to the amendment of February 10, 1943, be renumbered as follows:

Rule No. 42 changed to Rule No. 43

Rule No. 43 changed to Rule No. 44

Rule No. 44 changed to Rule No. 45

Rule No. 45 changed to Rule No. 46

SYMPATHY EXTENDED TO SONS AND BROTHER OF THE LATE HONORABLE JOSEPH C. TRAINER

Messrs. KEPHART and DiSILVESTRO offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, February 15, 1943.

The Honorable Joseph C. Trainer, a former member of this Senate, and one time political leader of South Philadelphia, died February 10th, at his home in Somerton.

A brother of Civil Service Commissioner Henry J. Trainer, he is survived also by six sons, Clement F., Raymond E., Joseph G., Francis H., Edward C. and Robert V., and another brother John A., of Drexel Hill. His wife, Mrs. Wilhelmina K. Trainer, died in August, 1939.

Senator Trainer made his political debut as a lieutenant of Vare Republican Organization in South Philadelphia, and later became one of its most important leaders.

He was first elected to the Senate in 1930 to fill an unexpired term and was successful in seeking re-election in 1932.

Senator Trainer was a Republican National Delegate in 1924 and again in 1928, and was one of the Pennsylvania Presidential electors voting for Warren G. Harding for President in 1920; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the death of Senator Trainer marks the passing of a prominent Republican and an outstanding resident of the City of Philadelphia whose work for his party and his city brought benefits to both; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate extends its sincere sympathy to his sons and his brother, and that in evidence thereof, the Secretary of the Senate shall transmit a copy of this resolution to them.

PLANS FOR CONSTRUCTION OF VETERANS' MEMORIAL BUILDING

Mr. HALUSKA offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

In the Senate, February 15, 1943.

Whereas, The Governor, in his message to the General Assembly on January 26, 1943, recommended ". . . that a Memorial Building be erected in Harrisburg to house veterans' activities, including the recognized organizations of veterans. Provision for this memorial should be made by our Post-War Planning Commission.", and

Whereas, He has recommended that the Post-War Planning Commission undertake, among other things, a long-range program for the construction of public buildings; now, therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Post-War Planning Commission created by the General Assembly be and it is hereby charged with the preparation of plans for the construction of a veterans' Memorial Building in Harrisburg to house veterans' activities in accordance with the recommendation of the Governor; and be it further

Resolved, That all of the recognized veterans' organizations shall be consulted by the said Commission as to the architecture, size, character, form, and plan of construction.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

PROCLAMATION

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 10, 1943.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Concurrent Resolution requesting the Governor to issue a proclamation commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Dr. Russell H. Conwell, on Monday, February 15, 1943.

EDWARD MARTIN.

IN THE NAME AND BY AUTHORITY OF THE
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
HARRISBURG

PROCLAMATION

February 15, 1943, will be the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of Doctor Russell H. Conwell—adopted Pennsylvanian, a vigorous leader in his church, an orator known to hundreds of thousands of his fellow countrymen, and the founder and builder of Temple University, in itself a great educational system, including three undergraduate schools, seven professional schools, three hospitals, certain special departments, and a preparatory school.

It is fitting that the life work of this leader and guide of our youth be suitably commemorated.

Therefore, I, Edward Martin, Governor of the Commonwealth, in conformity with House Concurrent Resolution approved February 10, 1943, do hereby call upon the educational institutions of the State and the citizens of the State to observe with appropriate ceremony the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of Russell H. Conwell on February 15, 1943, that we may commemorate the outstanding achievements of his inspiring life.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at the City of Harrisburg, this eleventh day of February, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and sixty-seventh.

(SEAL) (Signed) EDWARD MARTIN.

By the Governor:
(Signed) C. M. MORRISON
Secretary of the Commonwealth

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted n the affirmative, the question was determined in the ffirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate vith information that the House of Representatives has assed the same without amendment.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to ddress the House.

Mr. Speaker, about a week from now we are promised he Governor will submit to this House and to the Senate is Budget message. While this Budget message is only bout three weeks late, and of course, will therefore nake it utterly impossible for us to get out of here by pril 15, the date that we all more or less agreed that re would like to get out, it still leaves us sort of in the ark over here as to what we may prepare for and in hat way we can cooperate with the majority toward etting out at an early date. There are many complex roblems covered by the Budget, and probably the greatst problem that we are going to have, aside from the natter of tax reduction, which it is agreed all around re are going to have, is the matter of relief and the mount of money that is going to be necessary to pay or relief in the next biennium, and the setup for the dministration of relief.

I am quite satisfied, and I feel the minority party is uite satisfied, and I believe the people of Pennsylvania re quite satisfied that the present system of administraon of relief in Pennsylvania has met its test and has assed with flying colors, because the system was set p after quite a bit of painstaking investigation and iscussion by a very eminent group of citizens of Pennylvania.

However, lately we have heard some very disconcerting statements being made, that it is proposed to decentralize the administration of relief in Pennsylvania and throw back—shall I say to politically inspired county commissioners throughout the State, the burden of passing out relief to those unfortunate enough to require it.

I do not think that any sound reasoning could support such a decentralization. Again, we hear that possibly the local relief boards will be set up under the Judges of the various Counties, giving to Judges whose time should be taken up in the administration justice, the overlordship of a complex system of relief administration.

But, Mr. Speaker, last week we read in the newspapers —my only information is from the newspapers—that a committee was appointed by the Governor to consult with relief experts and administrative officers in New York City concerning the problem of the decentralization of relief, and as I understand from the newspapers, this group of Republicans only met with relief officials from the New England states.

Particularly, Mr. Speaker, I have a very high regard for many of the state officials in the New England states but such a complex problem as relief administration, let alone it's decentralization, is one that requires a lot of study and a lot of discussion by the Members of the House and the representatives of both parties, and I think it was a bit out of line to say the least, that in seeking information on a non-partisan problem such as relief, in view of the fact that the administration has called for cooperation on both sides to get out of here quickly, that the minority party has been utterly disregarded in the meeting in New York. Not that I mind not being called to spend the time there, but I think the minority should have been represented, because it is just possible that the minority may have had some suggestions or at least might have been put on the same basis as the majority in inquiring into a proper relief setup.

It is very possible that the minority may have hit on some system of decentralization if we could also have gone to the experts in the other states. Frankly I do not think decentralization can work in Pennsylvania, despite the fact that we are the only state in the Union that has one central organization. Pennsylvania has its own problems, and I do not think there is another state in the nation that is set up just as we are, and I think the system that we have fits Pennsylvania and would not fit elsewhere.

I was just wondering, Mr. Speaker, whether the desire not to let the minority seek information and have the same sources of information might not have been the main purpose. Maybe they wanted to keep the minority from going to New York to find out something about budget making.

I believe that our budget is going to recommend absolutely doing away with all the Earle emergency taxes, and I believe that we are going to establish and retain our real permanent tax foundation that has been the bulwark of our revenues in Pennsylvania for many years, but I suppose they did not want the minority to get any ideas of what they had in mind, but maybe we could slip in a question or two to ask how. Tom Dewey recommended to the New York legislature that a tax and fiscal program should be offered whereby there should be a fifty million dollar, and I see by today's New York Times, a seventy-five million dollar surplus at the end of the year without any tax reduction, and most amazing of all, anticipating such a surplus at the end of the year in New York, to cut some ten million dollars from the state appropriation and state aid of the public school system of New York.

I trust the majority did not go over to find out what was done so that they could apply that same formula in Pennsylvania. I think if that is the formula for Pennsylvania, then we have got something to look forward to next Monday night, I believe, when the Governor gives us his budget message. I want the record to be straight on it and I want the record to show, that I believe if cooperation is the thing the Governor wants, then I think cooperation is what the Governor should seek. The minority party should have been represented, and I think the entire problem might not have been visited with as many pitfalls and possibly other problems which this legislation must face in this State, if as the Governor stated he wanted to discuss these things with all parties and with all persons concerned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEONARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, on January 26, 1943, His Excellency, Governor Martin, addressed the Senate and the House in Joint Session here. I listened very attentively to the Governor's remarks and was convinced that he meant what he said. I have read his speech.

After he had concluded his prepared speech he then said he wanted to talk to us direct as Pennsylvanians, and in the last part of his speech he had this to say,

"Gentlemen, I welcome you here to the Capitol city. We will cooperate, we will do everything we can to assist the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of this, the greatest nation that God has ever created, to bring a speedy end to the terrible war. We are not talking about peace; it is rather peculiar to me that no one ever talks about what we would do if we were to be defeated, but the only way we can win is to sustain this great armed force. More than half a million of them are already Pennsylvanians, and that number will be greatly increased before the curtain is drawn in 1943. Gentlemen, I will cooperate with you in every possible way. There will be no 'must' legislation in this session, but I do ask cooperation. Thank you very much."

I have the unpleasant duty at this time to read from the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin as follows:

"GREATER U. S. WAR ROLE URGED BY REP. SCOTT

He also Assails Wallace in Address here

"Hope that Russia will not dominate the peace conference was expressed by Congressman Hugh D. Scott, of the Germantown-Chestnut Hill district, in his Lincoln Day address at the 54th annual banquet of the 22d Ward Republican Club.

"Speaking at Masonic Temple, Germantown av. near School lane, Scott said this country should contribute substantially to the defeat of the Axis Powers and thus be entitled to a major role in the formulation of world peace.

"Calling for the restoration of Republicans to power, Scott said, 'the people are tired of Wallace and his occasional streaks of sanity. They are tired of fools in high places. It is time for the Republicans to take over. We are of the best stock; we are the best people and represent the real grit, backbone and brains of America.'

"Congressmna Frank Fellows, of Bangor, Me., called for national unity in prosecuting the war and criticised U. S. Attorney General Francis Biddle for saying 'the New Deal revolution must go on.'"

Mr. Speaker, that sounds like it came from the other side. What kind of people live in this Congressional District who would elect a man, regardless of his political affiliation, who would make such a statement, especially at a time like this. The Governor is pleading for cooperation, and he refers to the Democratic President as the Commander-in-Chief and says he will give him every ounce of cooperation that he can, yet here is a Congressman from the great state of Pennsylvania, following in the footsteps of that man who has caused millions of deaths up to today—that is Hitler talk, that is not American talk when they talk like that.

You Republicans ought to call him to time for it, because on this side are a few Democrats and they are Americans the same as you are, who are giving everything they have to the Commander-in-Chief and the army of this great country of ours and they want to see our way of living perpetuated just the same as this great man, Congressman Scott. If the brains are in the Republican party, the American people have been a long time realizing it because we have had a Democratic President now serving his third term, the first time in the history of this great country of ours.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. O'BRIEN asked and obtained unaminous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, when I arise this evening it may look to the Members of the House that I am defending other than Americanism, and other ism, whether it be Communism or Nazism or Fascism. My record goes back in the Halls of this Legislature to 1939, and again in 1941 when I introduced bills both under a minority party and under a majority party, against any ism that was against Americanism.

I am proud to stand on this floor and happy that I was able to have passed through this Legislature in 1941 a bill that eliminated the Communist party, and I am happy to arise this evening in the thought that it was strictly one hundred per cent Americanism.

I had some notes passed to me this evening that deal strictly with three phases of Nazi propaganda:

1. Mr. Goebbels through the short wave radio said that Stalin would quit and all the material that we of the United States of America sent to Russia will be used against us. That is No. 1 of the phases of Nazi propaganda.

2. Hitler in his speech at the Sportzplatz told the world that peace could be signed by England and the United States, as they, the Nazis, had all the land they wanted and since no land was taken from England or the United States of America, Stalin was the only one who couldn't quit.

Now, the third phase of Nazism has been reached, and that is with the thought in mind to arouse dissension throughout our United States of America, in an effort to alienate the association between Russia, England and the United States of America, and no greater advocate in this particular connection could there be than a Philadelphia Congressman.

On last Friday evening, February 12, at which time the United States of America was celebrating Abraham Lincoln's birthday, we read in the Philadelphia newspapers—of course I couldn't attend a Republican gathering up in the Germantown section of Philadelphia, but let me quote Hugh D. Scott. Jr., who represents Philadelphia in a Congressional district. Let me quote him verbatim:

> "It might be well if the war doesn't end too soon, for if it does it will mean that Russia will occupy most of Europe, particularly the capitols of Vienna and Berlin. The American people are sore at New Deal nonsense. They are tired of fools in high places. It is time for the Republicans to take over. We are of the best stock and represent the real grit, brains and backbone of America."

Mr. Speaker, I say that anybody who is not a Republican could very well go to his draft board and say "Let these Republicans who represent the backbone and the grit of America defend America."

I wouldn't say that, Mr. Speaker, because I am more concerned, regardless of who wins the European end of the government; I am more concerned in having all of our boys, my brothers, your son or your brother or your friends back here, and that the war come to a successful conclusion very shortly.

I say that any Republican who wants the war prolonged just for political purposes is not an American. I came up here representing the United States of America first, my district second, and I also represent the Democrats and Republicans of that district.

Mr. Speaker, I think offering a resolution asking for the consent of the House to act on it would be out of line. If I offered a resolution to memorialize Congress, that this Legislature act upon it with the thought in mind of impeaching this Congressman from Philadelphia, I would still be out of line, but I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that I want all the Democratic members of this House to go on record asking the Congress of the United States of America that this Congressman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hugh B. Scott, be impeached.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I feel that this is a very appropriate time in which to make a brief statement concerning some information that has just been released by the Office of War Information at Washington, D. C. Certainly when one hears the statements of national representatives such as the ones just heard on the floor of this House, it brings to my mind an excerpt that I read in a newspaper a few days ago relative to a booklet which is being released by the Office of War Information entitled "Tale of a City."

My colleagues, Mr. Kolankiewicz of Philadelphia, Mr. Polaski of Erie and I have requested from the Office of War Information a sufficient number of copies to distribute to the House membership in the near future.

The booklet, "Tale of a City," relates to what actually happened to Warsaw after domination by the Nazi hordes. Certainly it grieves me a great deal to hear a national leader make such statements about the conduct of the war and what is going to transpire in the future relative to the war, inasmuch as the thing that has faced Warsaw certainly can face us if that is the unity we are to have here on the home front in prosecuting the war effort which we are involved in today.

I say to you that those are damnable statements which are printed in black and white in our nation today. We have no room for such statements and I know that after a study of "The Tale of a City" that was released by the Office of War Information. No member of this House would ever get up on the floor and make such a statement.

We are interested primarily at the present time in prosecuting this war to that degree of efficiency that we can save each and every drop of blood that it is possible to save of those boys of ours who are serving on the battle grounds.

Certainly after reading this book I hope and pray that no Member of this House will make such statements relative to the national war effort as have been made in the National Congress. I thank you.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is it permissible at this time to ask the Chair to return to the calendar?

The SPEAKER. Is is permissible by unanimous consent.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to return to the calendar.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to return to the calendar? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 2, Printer's No. 11, on page 2 of today's calendar, bills on third reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2, as follows:

An Act authorizing, during the present war time emergency, cities, counties and other political subdivisions to pay compensation to their officers, employes and others who are paid out of their treasuries, in addition to the compensation fixed by act of assembly; validating ordinances and other legislative acts authorizing such payments and all payments made thereunder; and suspending existing laws.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, line 3 of title, by inserting after the word "officers" the following: "(except officers elected by the people)".

Amend sec. 1, page 1, line 5, by inserting after the word "officer" the following: "(except officers elected by the people)".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 16, 1943

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D. offered the following prayer:

God of our fathers under whose guiding hand we, their children, have been brought to national greatness and material prosperity, keep us from the sin of assuming that we have attained these by our own wisdom or ability. Thou hast given us a favored land, wondrously fertile and stored with mineral wealth. Teach us not to put our dependence in these material things for they are temporal, but to put our dependence in Thee, the spiritual and the eternal. May we be wise enough to cultivate the spiritual, especially in these days of national and individual testing when the pressure of the material is so tremendous.

So, we pray for our nation that it be preserved to be a power under God, when the testing time is over, to lead the world from its false philosophies and godless practices into obedience to the greatest of Thy commandments, which is "To love God with all our hearts and our neighbors as ourselves."

With this divine program the members of this Senate are concerned. May they carry out the parts assigned them with wisdom, courage and consecration as to a holy cause.

Hear our prayer for our President, our Governor and our Lieutenant-Governor that they may be inspired to do Thy will. In the name of Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. CARR, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE RESOLUTION

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, February 15, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday evening, February 22, 1943, at five o'clock, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday evening, February 22, 1943, at nine o'clock.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 55

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 55, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802), entitled "An act creating a commission to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence frequently caused by the mining of anthracite coal; directing such commission to make a report and recommendations to the General Assembly; conferring certain powers upon such commission, including the power to issue subpoenas, administer oaths and affirmations, retain employes and expend funds, and making an appropriation," extending the time within which the commission is required to make its report.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

BILL SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 55, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 802), entitled "An act creating a commission to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence frequently caused by the mining of anthracite coal; directing such commission to make a report and recommendations to the General Assembly; conferring certain powers upon such commission, including the power to issue subpoenas, administer oaths and affirmations, retain employes and expend funds, and making an appropriation," extending the time within which the commission is required to make its report

Whereupon,

The President (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 2, entitled:

An Act authorizing during the present war time emergency cities counties and other political subdivisions to pay compensation to their officers employes and others who are paid out of their treasuries in addition to the compensation fixed by act of assembly validating ordinances and other legislative acts authorizing such payments and all payments made thereunder and suspending existing laws.

Which was committed to the Committee on Municipal Government.

House Bill No. 114, entitled:

An Act authorizing individual co-fiduciaries in certain cases to consent to investments in common trust funds, and validating consents heretofore given.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

House Bill No. 129, entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of the act approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1237) entitled "Divorce Law," by adding to the causes for divorce and annulment of marriages.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 16, 1943.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following:

Robert W. Darragh, 288 East End Avenue, Beaver, Beaver County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Beaver, Beaver County, until the first Monday in January, 1944, vice George S. Niver, deceased.

Mrs. Mary L. Brightbill, 237 West Main Street, Hummelstown, Dauphin County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Hummelstown, Dauphin County, until the first Monday in January, 1944, vice Roy B. Brightbill, resigned.

EDWARD MARTIN.

COMMUNICATIONS

BLOOD DONATIONS SOLICITED BY RED CROSS

The CHAIR cleared his table and laid before the Senate a communication from the American Red Cross, Blood Donor Service, Harrisburg Chapter, dated February 15, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

AMERICAN RED CROSS

Blood Donor Service

Harrisburg Chapter, February 15, 1943.

Hon. M. Harvey Taylor,
The State Senate,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Taylor:

It has occurred to me, as Chairman of the Recruiting Committee of the American Red Cross Blood Donor Service, that many members of the Senate may not yet have had the opportunity to give their blood to this vital project. No doubt the majority of the Senators are aware of the tremendous importance of blood plasma in the treatment of our wounded. Realizing that an adequate supply of plasma for transfusions is absolutely essential if countless lives are to be saved, the Army and Navy have requested the American Red Cross to supply 4,000,000 units of blood plasma this year.

Harrisburg is the smallest city in which the National Red Cross has established a Blood Donor Service. We cannot hope to meet our weekly quota of 500 pints, unless thousands more men and women avail themselves of the privileges of becoming volunteer blood donors.

The Blood Donor center at Front and South Streets is open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11:45 to 4:30, and on Tuesday and Thursday from 1 to 6. Fifteen donors may be scheduled every half hour; the entire process takes only about one hour, including rest and refreshment.

Never has there been a time in history when such a privilege has been given the nation. Through this, the greatest mass medical project ever attempted, science has enabled each one of us to participate on the firing line. Pennsylvania has sent thousands of her sons into the armed forces. Many will be returned to their homes and firesides only if we, on the home front, enlist our blood in this great lifesaving effort.

Sincerely yours,

GERTRUDE NAUMAN (signed)

Mrs. Spencer Nauman, Chairman
Recruiting Committee
American Red Cross Blood Donor Service

The PRESIDENT. It is not necessary for the Chair to tell the Senate how worthy and important this request is. The Red Cross has also provided a great deal of written information to supplement this request, which information will be in the custody of the Secretary of the Senate, available to any Senators who desire additional information.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and members of the Senate, in the Nazi Bible "Mein Kampf" Adolf Hitler tells the German people they are a "super" race because of their Aryan blood and are destined to be the rulers not only of Germany, but all of the world.

The words of the Fuehrer were repeated and repeated until the German people believed they were a "super" race and believed they could conquer and govern the world, with the result that today a war of death faces the entire world.

Men who think they are superior, men who think they were born to rule, do not have to be in Nazi Germany to have minds that work parallel with the Nazi way of thinking. We have that class in America, that class of Roosevelt haters—they who hate Roosevelt more than they hate Hitler—those who fear a victory for the common man throughout the world.

Now we find a man in our highest legislative body expressing in words the same intent and the same thought of the Nazi Fuehrer. If ever the technique of Goebbels was used in America, it was used in a speech delivered in Philadelphia on Lincoln's birthday. At first when I read where the speech was made, I thought at quick glance that it read Germany; but at a second glance I found the town was Germantown, a section of Philadelphia.

Now I know the people of Germantown are just as patriotic, have their sons and brothers fighting the Nazis, as do other sections in Pennsylvania. Maybe the gentleman who made the speech was confused; at least I hope so. For these are the words that he uttered. They are the words of Hitler. In referring to the party that the gentleman belongs to, he states "We are of the best stock—and represent the real grit, brains and backbone of America". If this is not the working of a Fascist mind, all that I have read and all that I have learned of the workings of Fascism is wrong. It represents the continuous pounding by Hitler that the Germans are a "super-duper" race that have made the people of Goethe into a war crazed people of supposedly superiority.

And so, a Congressman of the United States, Hugh Scott by name, gives his contribution to unity in America by saying "Here I stand, your "super-duper" representative in Congress whose record shows a blank in preparing America for this war that we are now engaged in."

This gentleman, not being satisfied with dividing America in "super-duper" classes, goes a little farther in Nazi propaganda. Any of you who listen to the short wave radio from Berlin or Rome, know that the Goebbels technique today is to put a fear in the hearts of all the people that the victories of Russia—of the great bravery of the men and women in Stalingrad—is a calamity instead of a victory for the Allies. Germany is desperate. They have tried every means possible to drive a wedge between those great four Allies—Russia, England, China and United States. They have been unable to do it, because of sane thinking on the part of the great mass of people. Night after night the air waves are filled that the victories of Stalin will result in the communizing of all Europe. It is Hitler's last attempt, because if the Russian advances continue, Nazi dead shall cover the Russian steppes.

Remember that every Nazi killed means that just so many sons of American families shall return to their homes. So Fascist-minded Scott goes a little farther in paralleling the Nazi line and says, and I quote "It might be just as well if the war doesn't end too soon. For if it does, it will mean that Russia will occupy most of Europe, particularly the capitals of Vienna and Berlin."

Let the gentleman from Philadelphia ask the mothers of the boys who are fighting in the Solomons, in Tunisia, in New Guinea, how soon they want this war to end. Yes, tell it to the Marines at Guadacanal and I know what their answer will be. It can't end too soon, but it must end when our Allies march into Berlin—and yes, into Vienna, and we who are united in a great cause, do not care who marches into Berlin just as long as they are "our" Allies. Is Mr. Scott fighting Russia or Germany? I am confused.

Mr. President, I call upon the Republican party of Pennsylvania to repudiate Hugh Scott. I call upon the Republican leadership of this State to state to the people of Berlin, Tokio and Rome that the Republican party of Pennsylvania does not subscribe to the philosophy of Adolf Hitler as enunciated through the mouth of Hugh Scott.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President and members of the Senate, yesterday afternoon Governor Martin submitted the name of Dr. Frank Parker, of the University of Pennsylvania, as a member of the Public Utility Commission of this Commonwealth.

Dr. Parker for years under the false cloak of intellectual integrity, as a professor of economics at the University of Pennsylvania, has been a paid henchman of the most vicious public utility interests ever fostered upon a free Nation and a free State.

In 1937 Dr. Frank Parker was paid for one day's testimony before a statutory court in Philadelphia the sum of $500 as compensation for testimony in behalf of Howard Hopson's interest in order to defeat a rate reduction granted to the consumers of electric light in York City and County.

I would like to know what sinister and diabolical influence has prevailed upon the Governor of the Commonwealth under the cloak of an academic and intellectual college professor, to name him as an arbiter of public utility rates in this State.

I want to know how many other fees were earned by Dr. Frank Parker for a day's testimony as a so-called expert. How much were those fees? By whom was he paid? To whom will he owe his allegiance in the event that he is confirmed by the Senate.

I cannot believe that an honest disclosure of the qualifications of this appointee was made to the Governor of this Commonwealth. I cannot believe that the Governor of this Commonwealth was informed that the prospective appointee to the Public Utility Commission was a paid henchman of Howard Hopson, who is now serving a term in the Federal penitentiary at Lewisburg. I cannot believe that the Governor of this State wishes to contaminate the Public Utility Commission with a man who has prostituted his intellectual honesty for the filthy lucre of the Associated Gas and Electric System.

Do you realize, gentlemen of the Senate, that the Associated Gas and Electric System serves in some way nearly every community in Pennsylvania. They control not only gas and electric companies, but water companies, bus companies, and trolley companies. Practically a monopoly of all utilities.

I warn the young members of the Senate, yes and even the older members, that the people of Pennsylvania will not permit you to again make the Public Utilities Commission a Commission of Ainey, Shelby, Jim Benn and Sam Clement—and in conclusion I quote for the guidance of the Senate, Section 3, Public Utility Act.

> "Section 3—No person shall be appointed a member of the commission, or hold any place, position or office under it, who occupies any official relation to any public service company or public utility."

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. STEVENSON, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 99, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Section one of article Fourteen, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by making sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves.

Mr. WOODWARD, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 71, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section four, article two of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly, salary of members and an annual budget.

Mr. JASPAN, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 59, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania abolishing the County of Philadelphia as a separate political entity, and providing for administering of county functions by City of Philadelphia for one reading only and to be re-referred to the same committee after the first reading.

The PRESIDENT. When the bill appears on the Calendar and is under consideration the Senator will kindly make a motion in accordance with his wishes.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 161, entitled:

An Act to authorize cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships and school districts to file suggestions of nonpayment and averments of default or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost, and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. TALLMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 162, entitled:

An Act to further amend section seven of the act approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand eight hundred seventy-eight, (P. L. 201), entitled "An act to provide for the publication of the decisions of the supreme court and the appointment of a state reporter," eliminating certain provisions relative to the manner of printing supreme court reports, and authorizing the Secretary of the Commonwealth to waive certain provisions of the contract for the printing thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 163, entitled:

An Act to further amend section six of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand eight hundred ninety-five, (P. L. 212), entitled "An act to establish an intermediate court of appeal; regulating its constitution, officers, jurisdiction, powers, practice, and its relation to the Supreme Court and other courts; providing for the reports of its decisions, the compensation of the judges and other officers and the practice and costs on appeals from its judgments," eliminating certain provisions relative to the printing of Superior Court Reports, and authorizing the Secretary of the Commonwealth to waive certain provisions of the contract for the printing thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and members of the Senate, in 1935 I introduced a bill which would have created a Pennsylvania Safety Commission. That bill met with only one opposing vote in the entire Legislature. However, the Governor failed to act favorably upon the bill.

I have always been interested in trying to do something to prevent accidents and to save lives; I think it is more important now than ever before, and I was pleased to hear our Governor state that he, too, felt that something should be done now along that line.

This bill that I have prepared is, on my part, simply an endeavor to initiate this. If the members of the Legislature will take enough interest to read it, and if they can improve upon it, I will welcome their help and assistance.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MALLERY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 164, entitled:

An Act creating a Safety Commission as an Independent Administrative Commission of the Commonwealth and defining its powers and duties.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 165, entitled:

An Act to amend section six hundred seven, and to further amend section seven hundred one of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by authorizing the appointment of certified public accountants for the purpose of auditing the accounts of the Auditor General and requiring the Auditor General to submit all books, records and papers to such accountants.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. WATKINS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 166, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and section three of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted; providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives, and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons; providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons; providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters; and providing procedure," by extending the provisions of said act to the support of all indigent persons, whether or not they are publicly cared for or assisted.

Which was committed to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Mr. McCREESH read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 167, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the University of Pennsylvania Graduate Hospital, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 168, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 169, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, because of the interest in Senate Bill No. 46, I wish to say to the members of the Senate that on next Tuesday, February 23, 1943, at ten o'clock a. m., in Room 401, the Committee of Labor and Industry will consider Senator Woodward's Bill No. 46, which seeks to regulate labor unions and labor organizations.

I want to give this notice so that those interested may know this far ahead. It is not to be a public hearing, but the Committee will be glad to have anyone attend the meeting who wishes to come, next Tuesday, at ten o'clock a. m., in Room 401.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, before introducing a resolution I desire to make a few explanatory remarks.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, a few years ago, when I first entered the service of the State in the General Assembly I pioneered public ownership of utilities. I believed then, and I believe now, that the only method by which local taxes can be reduced is by public ownership of essential utility services.

With that thought in mind, Mr. President, I helped to promote the so-called authority bills and helped to get them through the Legislature.

A few years later the Securities and Exchange Commission issued a ruling known as the "death clause", whereby an existing utility corporation must make its choice of one of the various essential utility services that it controlled and allow the rest of the services to be sold to individuals or authorities.

Now, Mr. President and members of the Senate, under the Act passed by this General Assembly and amended in 1939, various authorities have been set up throughout the State. They have purchased water companies, because the so-called parent companies have selected either gas or electric as their main interest and in most instances are letting the water companies be put up for sale.

If they were selling direct to the so-called municipal authorities, probably this resolution would not have to be presented to the Senate, but it seems that a group of investment bankers from Wall Street has found that there is a possibility of making a great killing financially in the State of Pennsylvania and so have selected our fair State to be plundered. This group, or syndicate, has options on the majority of the water companies in the State of Pennsylvania. Through their agents they cause the various municipal governments to set up there so-called authorities with the express idea in mind of purchasing the water works that they hold options on. Some of them, of course, have been bought outright by those syndicates, but most of them, according to reports I have, are only held on option.

Many cases are known to the Senators of various purchases that have been made pursuant to this Act, which are now in litigation in the courts. It is my belief that something must be done to the Act itself in order that these communities will not be put in a position of acting as the scapegoat for a group of Wall Street financiers. I would like to show you some examples.

There are two values to a utility, of course, the so-called depreciated fixed capital value and the so-called estimated depreciated reproduction cost.

Under a good piece of legislation all the communities would be able to buy these utilities at the depreciated cost. Most of the companies that I have in mind, which I will use here as examples, are forty years old or older. Over a period of years they have been depreciated down to the point where they are almost paid for, but every so often they change hands, at a new figure, and that inflated price is used as the book value, and that value is used to set the rates.

Now, what have we in purchases now being made in the state of Pennsylvania? We have a set-up whereby this group, represented by one John H. Ware, Jr., is making contracts with various municipalities containing this particular clause:

"During the year of our management we will guarantee to return, even if not earned, a minimum sum of ten per cent of the net profit. That will be over and above the interest and sinking fund requirements to retire the bonds we receive in payment for your property," and so, Mr. President, right there is the important part of this whole transaction.

They do not take any money from the authorities, because the authorities do not have any money, but they say in their letter of transmittal: "This can be secured without one cent of expense to the township or its citizens." But what do they do? They come out, they buy up property of the people. As a matter of fact I know of one case where it is reputed they bought a property for $378,000 and later sold it for a figure of close to a million dollars; but they did not receive any money for it. No, they received close to a million dollar's worth of tax exempt bonds, paying three percent for a period of forty years, amortized over a period of forty years; plus the three per cent of tax exempt earnings that they receive, they also receive a like sum, the sum that they will give to the authority.

In other words, after the authority receives ten per cent, they receive a managerial remuneration of ten per cent—but that is not the joker. Here is the joker: "Each year after interest and sinking fund have been provided for, and the amount has been paid to you, the balance of the earnings shall be paid to us for our services and the expenses of the engineers and auditors. If the earnings are over the amount required to pay you your ten per cent profit, and to pay us a like amount for the supervision, engineering and auditing services, then such excess amount is to be divided equally between us."

If you look under the Public Utility Law of the State of Pennsylvania, you will see that a utility is only permitted to earn six per cent. They earn, first, three per cent on the tax exempt bonds, and then fifty per cent of the profits that the authority may make under this set up, and there is no limit to the profits, because, they in this managerial clause, state that they, and they alone, shall supervise, run and manage the utility, and then at the bottom of the letter they put this: "The Municipal Authority you create will not be subject to the Public Service Commission—the rates you charge will be under local control at all times. Your Authority will have exclusive and perpetual rights to operate in the territory for which it is chartered."

Now, Mr. President, do you think for a minute that rate reductions are going to be made to the rate payers and the citizens? Not under this contract, because this calls for a thirty-five year management service, by this so-called Delaware Valley Utilities Company.

Under the set-up, Mr. President, as I see it, the opportunity is here for the various municipalities to acquire these essential services and to reduce taxes, because of the ownership of the water companies. I do not want to be misunderstood, I do not want people to think I am opposed to public ownership, because for many years I have always believed, and do yet believe, that public ownership of the utility services is the only vehicle that can be used to reduce local taxes against real estate, but I do not believe that the Legislature intended that the Act that it created and passed should be used by a banking syndicate to come into the State of Pennsylvania and, after getting options on a great many utilities, sell them at an inflated figure to authorities and set up for forty years or more a rate that is equal to or in excess to the rate being paid now.

And so, Mr. President, I believe that a committee of six members of the Senate ought to be set up. In fact, I have before me a resolution from a borough in my district that recently had its utility bought by an authority and they ask that the Senate name a committee to discover whether or not the Act has been lived up to, or at least that the purposes that were set into the Act have been lived up to, and I believe that this committee of six members ought to be bi-partisan. I believe that it ought to be composed of three members of the minority and three members of the majority, for I believe that this problem is fundamental and one that requires the cooperation of both parties in the State of Pennsylvania.

I do hope that after this resolution is read that it will lay upon the table until tomorrow, and that the members of the Senate who are interested will read it, in order that I may call it up for action tomorrow.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, may I interrogate, for my information, the Senator from Westmoreland?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I am willing, sir.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. WOODWARD. I should like to inquire, Mr. President, if the Department of Internal Affairs does not have to approve the issue of any municipal or township bonds and, if that is so, why does not the Department of Internal Affairs provide some protection against what the Senator from Westmoreland has been describing?

I am asking for information, Mr. President. Is not the Department of Internal Affairs equipped to do anything like that?

Mr. DENT. I do not know whether the Department of Internal Affairs has any say-so over so-called authority bonds, because there is no transaction whereby the borough officials are an interested party.

Mr. WOODWARD. But, Mr. President, these are tax exempt bonds that are being created?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President, they are tax exempt bonds, under the law that we passed.

Mr. WOODWARD. I thought that all such bonds must have approval by the Department of Internal Affairs.

Mr. DENT. I can not answer that, Mr. President, I do not know. If they do approve them, then they ought to be investigated. I understand they are not so approved.

The PRESIDENT. In offering the resolution, does the gentleman from Westmoreland request that the whereas clauses be read or only the resolution proper?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask that the whereas clauses be read. I do not care if we skip the provisions of the law, because I think the Senators are all acquainted with those provisions.

RESOLUTION THAT COMMITTEE BE APPOINTED TO REPORT TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, February 16, 1943.

Whereas, Pursuant to the Act enacted the 17th day of May, 1939 entitled: "To amend sections three, four, five, nine and eleven of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 463), entitled, as amended 'An act providing for the incorporation, as bodies corporate and politic, of "Authorities" for municipalities, counties, and townships; defining the same; prescribing the rights, powers, and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and for other purposes,' as amended, by omitting the requirement that the resolution or ordinance of the intention to organize an Authority shall set forth the proposed Articles of Incorporation; regulating the publication of such resolutions and ordinances; by including waterworks, water distribution systems, low head dams, and parts of sewer systems as projects; by authorizing the municipalities to limit the projects to be undertaken by an Authority; by authorizing a longer term for the bonds issued by an Authority; avoiding competition with existing enterprises; by including waterworks, water supply works, water distribution systems, and parts of sewer systems as facilities which may be transferred to an Authority by any owner in addition to the Commonwealth and the political subdivision thereof; and authorizing authorities to acquire water and water rights, subject to the approval of the Water and Power Resources Board." and

Whereas, This act contains, among other things the following: "The purpose and intent of this act being to benefit the people of the Commonwealth by, among other things, increasing their commerce and prosperity, and not to unnecessarily burden or interfere with existing business by the establishment of competitive enterprises, none of the powers granted by this act shall be exercised in the construction, improvement, maintenance, extension, or operation of any project or projects which in whole or in part shall duplicate or complicate with existing enterprises serving substantially the same purposes: Provided, however, That the municipality or municipalities organizing such an Authority may, in the resolution or ordinance signifying their intention so to do from time to time by subsequent resolution or ordinance, specify the project or projects to be undertaken by the said Authority, and no other projects shall be undertaken by the said Authority than those so specified."

Whereas, Pursuant to this act of Legislation various county and municipal authorities have been created, and

Whereas, Said authorities have proceeded to purchase water companies, waterworks and water systems among other things, and

Whereas, It has come to the attention of members of the Senate of Pennsylvania that there is a serious question as to whether or not this act is being used contrary to the wishes of the Legislature, and

Whereas, It has been charged by persons affected by the actions of said authorities that the purchases have not been made in the interest of the rate payers and citizens, and

Whereas, With the many opportunities open for acquisition of water companies by the rate payers and citizens of a community and the great possibilities for mutual benefits that will result from revenue from said acquisitions it becomes imperative that the Legislature make it possible for such acquisitions to be made at the lowest possible purchase price, a price based more nearly upon the real value than the present system that uses a value based upon earning power, and

Whereas, In many cases such purchases by Municipal Authorities have become subjects of court litigation and the basis for rumors, and acquisitions, therefore be it

Resolved, That pursuant to the above statement and quotations, that a committee of six (6) members be created for the purpose of interrogation and investigation of the actions of certain Authorities to determine whether or not the said actions have been taken in the public interest and for the welfare of rate payers of these communities and citizens of the Commonwealth, and whether this act has been used for personal and private gain to the detriment of public interest, and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall make a report to the General Assembly as to whether this act shall be amended or repealed. This committee shall have the power to subpoena persons, records and books that have any bearing upon the contents of this Resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, after consultation with the Majority Floor Leader, I believe that it would be best if the resolution were referred to the proper committee, and I so request.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 34, on third reading, entitled:

An Act prescribing temporary emergency war provisions with respect to the administration of certain provisions of the school laws of this Commonwealth relating to days for schools to be in session, closing schools temporarily, assignment and reassignment of teachers and temporary farm and domestic employment certificates for certain pupils, and authorizing boards of school directors (or boards of public instruction), with the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, to put such provisions into operation and to suspend the provisions of existing school laws inconsistent therewith upon findings by such boards and department and the State Council of Defense

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 85, on third reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting the imposition of conditions upon grants of moneys and the invasion of the states rights

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 52, on second reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding thereto section eighteen

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REQUEST THAT HOUSE BILL No. 62 GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR: Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 62, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribing fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" by fixing the annual registration fee of certain motor vehicles go over in its over.

The PESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I will have to object to this bill going over in order, because the deadline for mailing out applications is February 20, as I understand it. Unless this bill passes this week there is not much use in it being passed as far as its affecting this year's licensing is concerned. I am very sorry I have to take that position, however.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 62 GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 62, on second reading, go over in its order.

Mr. STIEFEL. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote thereupon being taken, the motion was declared to have been lost.

Agreeably to order, the rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 62.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, before presenting amendments to this bill, I should like to make a few remarks.

Mr. PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BARR. In the State Government Committee, Mr. President, there is a resolution, presented by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, last week. I know, of course, that Committee has not held a meeting since that time, but the substance of the resolution was that as a result of the national depression during the past decade—in 1935 we were facing the great problem of unemployment in this state, among its citizens, and at that time the so-called Earle emergency taxes were levied on the people of Pennsylvania as a temporary measure.

In 1938, in both the Republican and Democratic platforms, there were promises to the people that those emergency taxes should be eliminated. Again last year that was a part of the Democratic platform and also the Republican platform, that they would decrease these emergency taxes.

Mr. President, I think it is about time that we be honest and fair to the citizens of Pennsylvania. If these taxes were put on as an emergency, when there was unemployment, I think it is now time to eliminate them.

You cannot find people to fill jobs today in this state. Last night, as I came out of Davenport's restaurant, I looked across the street and saw a big sign stating that they are hunting people for this big Army depot out here, for each and every kind of job.

What we are doing by this bill is cutting the revenue of the state, which the state has had from these taxes for years. This is not a temporary measure.

I think a bill like this would be in order after we hear the Governor's budget message next week, but I do not see how you can put the cart before the horse, if you do not know just what revenues the Governor, or the Administration and the committee which was attended by our Lieutenant-Governor, in working out this budget and these taxes—what they have provided in this message which the Governor is going to give us next Tuesday evening.

I attended the committee meeting yesterday and, of course, being a minority member, my voice was not loud enough, and, naturally, the bill is out and on the Calendar.

If you are willing to pass a bill like this, let us pass a bill that is fair to everyone.

Mr. President, I have in my hand here a lot of figures, a breakdown of passenger registration fees. These figures are taken from the registration reports, March 18 to March 20, 1942. The total registration was 99,166, and I think if my figures are right, that only twelve per cent of the people will be benefited by this cut, as the bill now reads.

If we are going to cut them, let us allow the man that has a Ford or a Chevrolet, or a small car, let us give him a reduction also. Those men are using their cars now going to and from defense plants.

Therefore, Mr. President, I offer the following amendments to House Bill No. 62.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I should like to address a point of inquiry to the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of inquiry.

Mr. BARR. I would like to know, Mr. President, how we can vote on a bill that does not even bear a Senate number.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I can explain that to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr. Under the new system in which the histories are kept, the Senate History follows Senate bills right through the Legislature, with Senate numbers, and the House History follows House Bills through the Legislature with House numbers.

That was a recommendation of the Joint State Government Commission, which was adopted by the Rules Committee, the idea being to save a lot of expense and effort and paper.

The PRESIDENT. Does that answer the inquiry of the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. BARR. While that is an answer, Mr. President, still I do not understand how the Joint State Government Commission could upset the procedure of the Legislature. I think it is a constitutional requirement that when a bill comes over from the House it be given a Senate number.

The PRESIDENT. What provision of the Constitution would require any such procedure?

Mr. BARR. I am asking that as a point of inquiry, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Has the gentleman from Allegheny any data to support his last suggestion, as to a constitutional requirement? Does the gentleman from Allegheny have any authority to support such a constitutional suggestion?

Mr. BARR. I have none, Mr. President; I am asking the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that no constitutional question is involved in the numbering of a bill sent to the Senate by the House. There is nothing in the Constitution which requires that a Senate number be appended to a House bill.

Mr. BARR. I am very glad to have this information. I think, Mr. President, the Majority Floor Leader should have let us in on that if they changed the system.

The PRESIDENT. May the Chair correct a statement made by the gentleman from Allegheny, and the impression which the Senator from Allegheny has, and state that the Lieutenant-Governor is not preparing any budget.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I did not say the Lieutenant-Governor was preparing a budget. I said I thought he was on a committee appointed by Governor Martin to look over and study the tax situation in the State of Pennsylvania and make recommendations to the Governor for his budget message to be delivered to us next Tuesday.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to offer the following amendments to House Bill No. 62.

The amendments were in part read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by striking out the light-faced bracket at the beginning of said line; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "forty" and after the figure "(40)"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by inserting after the figure "(40)" the following: "twenty (20)."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like to speak on the amendments, and in doing so I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARR. Yes, Mr. President, but I think first I should like to have the amendments entirely read.

Mr. HEYBURN. I understood, Mr. President, that the Chair was about to have amendments voted on section by section.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. HEYBURN. That is the reason, Mr. President, before that is done, that I should like to explain the position of the Republican majority.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I suggest that we have all the amendments to that particular section read, so that we can see what the amendments do, because in striking out the one light-faced bracket, that does not indicate whether there is peace or war to follow, and I think if we had all the amendments to the section read, then we could intelligently vote on them, that is, assuming we are going to be intelligent when we vote.

The PRESIDENT. Unless there is objection, the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, will be complied with. The Clerk will read the amendments to the first section, after which the Chair shall direct how the voting shall proceed.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

The amendments to the first section were read as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by striking out the light-faced bracket at the beginning of said line; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "forty" and after the figure "(40)"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 16, by inserting after the figure "(40)" the following: "twenty (20)"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 18, by striking out the light-faced bracket after the word "registration"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 19, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "ten" and after the figure "($10)"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 702), page 3, line 19, by inserting after the figure "($10)" the following: "Five ($5)".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. In the interest of time, unless there is objection, the Chair directs that the amendments to section one be voted upon in their entirety. The Chair will so order, unless there is objection.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

Mr. BARR. I understood, Mr. President, that the Majority Floor Leader desired to interrogate me?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the honorable gentleman from Allegheny made a statement that this bill extended no reduction to Ford or Chevrolet owners. I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, what are the annual registration fees on Fords and Chevrolets.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I can give that information, according to horsepower, what is being paid, and if someone can tell me—I am not an automotive engineer—if someone can tell me the horsepower of a Ford automobile I can answer the interrogation of the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. HEYBURN. I can tell the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Barr, that the owner of a Chevrolet now pays $12 and the owner of a Ford pays $12.40. This bill reduces the license fee to $10 thus saving a Ford owner $2.40 and a Chevrolet owner $2.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, according to page 289 of the Legislative Journal, of the House, February 9, 1943, the cost of licenses for each and every automobile is given, and under that tabulation the fee on a Chevrolet is shown at $12—that is correct; the fee on a Plymouth automobile is $10; the fee on an Oldsmobile, which I drive, is $12; the fee on a Hudson is $11.60; the fee on a Packard is $16; the fee on a Cadillac is $16—it seems as though Cadillac owners would get a greater saving under this bill than others, and I think there are fewer people who own Cadillacs than those who own either Fords or Chevrolets.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Delaware desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr?

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware will proceed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I should like to direct the attention of the very able gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, to the fact that this is an attempt to secure uniformity, to obviate unnecessary work in times such as these, in the Department of Revenue, when personnel is not available, and at the same time save $100,000 a year in administrative costs.

I would like also to refresh the memory of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, and call his attention to the fact that the Federal use stamp is uniform at five dollars per car, regardless of whether the car be a Chevrolet or a Packard. There is plenty of precedent for a uniform license fee.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, also probably will raise the issue that this socks the poor and so forth and so on, but the answer to that is—and I might as well answer these questions while I am here, in the interest of saving time—the answer to that is simply that this is a license to drive a car at a uniform fee of ten dollars per car and, as was stated in the Republican caucus not over an hour and a half ago, it is just like a man buying a marriage license, whether tall or short, rich or poor, a marriage license still costs $2, I think—it has been a while since I bought mine—and the same thing goes for a hunting license, Mr. President.

The revenue side of the question is taken care of by gasoline taxes. The fellow with a sixteen cylinder automobile burns about four times as much gasoline as the little fellow and therefore he is paying four times as much tax, and modern engineers, Mr. President, have determined that the price of a vehicle does not affect the usage of it on the highways—that is a matter of weight. When you get into the question of trucks, that is something else.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask the members of the Senate to vote down the amendments presented by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there seems to be a fallacy in the philosophy of the gentleman from Delaware. You know you are taxed exactly on what you are using in the way of service and, as I understand it, on the value. As the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, has reminded me, this license is based particularly on the stroke and the bore and so forth of an automobile, you know, Mr. President, that local taxes were first imposed for improvements of streets and for police protection and fire protection. Well, Mr. President, a fifteen room house does not need any more protection than a two room bungalow, but they pay a larger tax, and a man who owns a larger automobile certainly ought to pay a larger proportionate share of the cost, because, as I understand it, license fees are used to build roads and you certainly tear down a road more with a sixteen cylinder Dusenberg than with a four cylinder Ford or Austin.

I think the amendments are sound.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I should like to inform the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, that this is not a tax but a license fee. The tax, as I previously stated, comes under the heading of liquid fuels tax.

I also would like to refresh the memory of the gentleman from Westmoreland that the Federal automobile use tax stamp, as I think it is termed, is five dollars per car; regardless of whether it is a car worth a hundred dollars or ten thousand dollars, it is still five dollars per car.

Mr. BARR. That is the point I made, Mr. President, and the gentleman from Delaware has proved my point. This amendment I am proposing is just a five dollar fee.

At this time I should like to read from a letter received by me today from a man in my Senatorial district, in which he says: "I notice that a bill was introduced which would reduce the fee to a flat $10. I don't think that is fair to motorists paying just that fee now. I am just one of a thousand in our plant paying the $10 fee for our car, which we need for our livelihood. The ire of these men will be felt should an unfair reduction be enacted."

I have here also, Mr. President, a letter from the Pittsburg Motor Club, signed by Lewis W. McIntyre, Executive Vice-President, asking our support of House Bill No. 28, which was sponsored by Mr. Lyons and Mr. Simmons, which would do just as would the amendments I am offering to House Bill No. 62. In this letter it is stated: "It is believed that a bill of this type would be more equitable to the owners than one which would reduce the fee only to $10. For many small car owners, this latter procedure would provide no reduction at all."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northampton will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODRING. Will the Chair inform this body on how many occasions a speaker may address the Senate on a given question.

The PRESIDENT. As the Senator from Northampton knows, twice is the answer.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, speaking as a Democrat—I am sitting on the Democratic side—I thought I would like to give a little advice to my fellow Democrats, that is, I was told on good authority that the Republicans will vote against all these amendments and it is just a question of love's labor lost, so I ask my contra co-agitator from Allegheny to cease.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I am going to call on the members of the Senate to vote in support of these amendments, because I quite concur with the sponsor of the amendments, Mr. Barr, and also in the remarks of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, that the amendments will write into this proposed bill a more fair method of exacting a license fee, but I am going to call upon all of the members of the Senate to support these amendments for what I feel is a very much more important reason, and that is, that unless that clause is written into this bill, the bill, I feel, Mr. President and members of the Senate, is unsound at this time, because it violates the very principles of good legislation in finance.

The Governor has called upon the Assembly to reduce expenditures. We can not reduce expenditures if we are going to begin whittling away at income.

There are many items of income-producing legislation on the statute books today, which the Governor in his message will probably call upon us to reduce. We can not make those reductions on a sound financial plane if we are going to begin whittling away on the smaller items. This, I feel, is a rather small item of income production to the State of Pennsylvania, but at the same time, I think it is decidedly unwise to enact this legislation today, before we know the Governor's definite message on the budget question and, therefore, I feel that the amendments should be voted on favorably; otherwise, the bill in its present form should be defeated.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I know I have spoken twice on this particular question, but I hope that the Senate will permit me to speak once again on this subject.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman from Delaware may proceed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would just like to tell my good friend from Northampton County that the proceeds from motor licenses do not go into the general funds of the Commonwealth, they go into the motor license fund for use on highways, and the passage of this bill or the defeat of it will in no way affect the Governor's budget, as far as general Commonwealth funds are concerned.

The emergency taxes which have been spoken of here today go into the general fund of the Commonwealth.

The PRESIDENT. Unless there is further debate, the Senate will proceed to vote on the amendments submitted by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

Mr. WOODRING. In answer to the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, I quite recognize that these license fees do not go into the general fund, that they are specially earmarked for highway purposes, but I also recognize in this type of legislation the old trick of giving the most consideration to those who are best able to pay and leave the larger portion of the burden to those who are least able to pay.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say that this bill in its present form is unsound legislation.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I do not quite get the logic of the statement of the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, when he states that the funds or the income from the motor license fees go into the highways.

I have been informed through a statement of the Highways Department, which I read in the newspaper, that the highway fund would be the most cut by the number of cars not being permitted to use the highways today, due to the restriction on pleasure driving.

Therefore, if we would follow the thinking of the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, we should not cut any of the fees on automobiles because the highway fund will be completely depleted.

Therefore, I feel that it might be in order to move to send this bill back to committee.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT SENATE BILL No. 62

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 62, together with the amendments, be re-referred to committee.

Mr. BARR. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the Chair declared the motion to have been lost.

Mr. JASPAN. My only regret, Mr. President, is that if this bill passes in its present form I will save only forty cents.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARR and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Jaspan,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Gourley,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Haluska,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,
Dent,	Holland,

NAYS—26

Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Wade,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Stevenson,	Walker,
Carr,	Heyburn,	Tallman,	Watkins,
Chapman,	Homsher,	Taylor,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crider,	Jones,	Thomas,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crowe,	Kephart,	Tyler,	Woodward,
Ealy,	Letzler,

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there are not that many votes in the Senate right now. I ask a verification of the roll, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Assuming the gentleman from Allegheny is correct, what difference would it make, as there is a majority present?

Mr. BARR. I will withdraw that, Mr. President, and ask that the roll be verified. I will withdraw that request, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section as read?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title as read?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to offer amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend title, page 2, line 10 of title on page 2, by striking out the word "fixing" and inserting in lieu thereof: "reducing"; Amend title, page 2, line 10 of title on page 2, by striking out the word "of" and inserting in lieu thereof: "for."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken the Chair declared the amendments to have been defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the title as read?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 63, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" changing the definition of "chassis" as it applies to certain commercial motor vehicles thereby changing the classification of such vehicles

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 84, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph A of section four hundred one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 565), entitled "An act relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Banking and the Secretary of Banking in exercising supervision over, and taking possession of and conducting or liquidating the business and property of, corporations, associations, and persons receiving deposits or otherwise transacting a banking business, corporations acting as fiduciaries, and building and loan associations; providing for the payment of the expenses of the Department of Banking by supervised corporations, associations, or persons, and appropriating the Banking Department Fund; authorizing the Department of Banking, under certain circumstances, to examine corporations, associations, or persons affiliated, or having business transactions with supervised corporations, associations or persons; authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court, and prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of certain other courts and their prothonotaries, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services rendered under this act; providing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by requiring the Department of Banking to examine all institutions thoroughly at least once every two years, instead of each year as now provided.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 4, line 6, by inserting after the word "enactment" the following: "and shall remain in force until six months after the termination of the present war."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 59, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania abolishing the County of Philadelphia as a separate political entity, and providing for administering of county functions by City of Philadelphia.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 71, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section four, article two of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly, salary of members and an annual budget.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate No. 99, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Section one of Article Fourteen, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by making sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 170, entitled:

An Act to add section one thousand one hundred ten to the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend, and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," by prescribing additional penalties in the case of the commission of larceny or robbery of things affected by priorities, rationing or other restrictions during time of war.

Which was committed to the the Committee on Judiciary General.

AIR RAID WARNING

Mr. CARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, fellow members of this Senate, and visitors, in connection with orders from the Defense Council, I have taken charge of the evacuation of the Senate Chamber in case of an air raid alarm.

As most of you know, there will be a practice alarm tomorrow morning, at which time the Sergeant-at-Arms has been instructed to bar the main doorway leading to the steps to the rotunda, as that is considered the most dangerous part of the Capitol building.

All those who are present in the Senate Chamber at the sounding of the red alarm, which consists of a wavering signal of the sirens, will immediately leave by the door at the right in the rear, that is, to your left as you go out, take the first steps next to the elevator and go to the Senate Caucus room on the first floor.

No one will be permitted to remain in the Senate chamber after the red alarm has sounded.

It might be well to say that the first alarm that will be sounded is the blue alarm, which consists of a steady signal of the sirens. We pay no attention to that, remaining at work and in action until the red alarm sounds.

At that time we ask that everyone in the Senate chamber leave as quickly as possible, with as little confusion as possible, as there will be no necessity for anyone rushing to get out.

I hope this may be clearly understood so that there shall be no confusion whatever when the alarm sounds tomorrow morning.

The PRESIDENT. If there are any questions, I am sure the Senator from Butler, Mr. Carr, will be glad to answer them.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 17, 1943, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:20 o'clock p. m. Eastern War time until Wednesday, February 17, 1943, at 11:00 o'clock a. m. Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 16, 1943

The House met at 1 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

At the bidding of Thy word we come to Thee, dear Lord, confessing our sins, our weaknesses and our need of Thy resources. In view of the grave responsibilities and arduous tasks, give insight and foresight to this legislature as well as to all other legislative bodies in our country. As we are engaged in this war, may Thy spirit empower our people and their leaders in achieving a speedy, secure victory. This we ask in the name of Him who is the way, the truth and the life. Amen.

An Act authorizing during the present war time emergency cities counties and other political subdivisions to pay compensation to their officers (except officers elected by the people) employes and others who are paid out of their treasuries in addition to the compensation fixed by act of assembly validating ordinances and other legislative acts authorizing such payments and all payments made thereunder and suspending existing laws.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Cities counties and other political subdivisions of this Commonwealth are hereby authorized during the emergency arising out of present war conditions and until the expiration of the fiscal year next following the cessation hostilities to pay to any officer (except officers elected by the people) employe or other person whose salary or wage is paid out of such treasuries and is or may be fixed and limited by any act of the General Assembly such compensation in addition to the amount fixed and limited by such act of the General Assembly as the council or other body having the power to appropriate money of such city county or other political subdivision of the Commonwealth may fix and determine

Section 2 All ordinances and other legislative acts of cities counties and other political subdivisions of this Commonwealth heretofore enacted authorizing the payment of such additional compensation and all payments heretofore made thereunder are hereby ratified confirmed and made valid

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby suspended during the period this act shall remain in effect

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOYD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia the question as to how many employes will be affected by this measure under this bill?

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I could not tell the gentleman the number of employes who will be affected by this bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to find out from the gentleman from Philadelphia, if he does not know the amount of employes affected by this bill within the Commonwealth, then he might be able to inform the House as to how many employes will be affected in the county of Philadelphia.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, taking the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I could not tell how many employes would be affected by this measure but I do say this bill, I think, is a good home rule bill, and I think during these times—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, on the interrogation I asked the gentleman from Philadelphia to inform me as to how many employes will be affected in Philadelphia by this bill. I did not ask him about the merits of the bill. We will discuss that later. I asked him very distinctly how many employes will be affected by this bill in Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia, that he is interrogating the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boyd, and the gentleman has his own preference as to the language he shall use in answering the question. The gentleman will proceed with his interrogation in order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to repeat the question as yet unanswered. How many employes from Philadelphia will be affected by this piece of legislation?

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I don't know how many employes will be affected by this bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire further to interrogate the gentleman as to how much in money this bill is going to cost the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, in the total amount I could not tell the exact amount of money that is appropriated for these employes, this raise.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have the gentleman answer as to whether or not he agreed prior to this bill's being presented for final passage, agreed in fact on second reading, to have certain amendments discussed and submitted before the bill would be passed on second reading.

Mr. BOYD. No, Mr. Speaker, I did not agree to any amendments until the one last evening.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the question I asked the gentleman was not whether the gentleman from Philadelphia had agreed to Mr. Brown's amendment. The question I asked him was whether or not he had agreed with members of the minority or with the Minority Floor Leader to hold the bill on second reading until certain amendments considered vital by the minority were considered by the majority.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I did not agree to any amendments with any Member.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I must insist that the gentleman answer the question. The question I asked him in very plain language was whether he had made an agreement that this bill be held on second reading, not until he agreed to certain amendments, but until certain amendments were presented to him and considered by him and his party.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I did not agree to any amendments whatsoever to this bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I have finished my interrogation. We are apparently met with a situation on the bill on final passage, gentlemen, where upon interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I am convinced he knows nothing about the bill, nor do I believe the majority party know much about the bill, other than it provides a war bonus for county employes in the state of Pennsylvania.

The gentleman from Philadelphia has not answered me with any clarity as yet, but I understand that an agreement was made that this bill would be retained on the second reading calendar until ample time had been given the minority to produce certain amendments which they deemed necessary to the passage of a fair and reasonable piece of legislation. That, I regret to say, was not carried out. We find the bill today on final passage. Strangely enough, the sponsor of this piece of legislation neither knows how many employes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, nor how many employes in the County of Philadelphia will be affected by this piece of legislation, nor does he know how much money the County of Philadelphia must spend under the terms of this bill. If that is good, constructive, efficient legislation, then I have wasted four terms in this House.

I say to the Republican majority if we are going to consider war bonus bills, let us consider them for all the people of Pennsylvania. It does not necessarily mean that because this bill affects politicians of both political parties that we must bring the bill out of committees without knowing anything about it. Do you gentlemen on the other side of the House know why the gentleman from Philadelphia does not know how much this bill will cost? Because there is no limit to what the city council in Philadelphia might say the war bonus is in these particular cases. If that is fair and reasonable Republican legislation, then I don't know what the term means.

I am in sympathy with public employes, some of my very dear friends in Philadelphia might receive a raise under this bill, a war bonus and yet, even in view of that fact I refuse this afternoon to be a party to a bill when the sponsor himself knows nothing about it. He admitted on the floor he knows not how many employes will be affected in the state, he knows not how many employes will be affected in the city, he knows not how much it will cost the county of Philadelphia, and yet we rush to pass a bill to give raises to people in the public office.

I say to you Republican Members it is not fair and you yourselves well know it is not fair. The Democratic minority has been preparing amendments to this bill to place a ceiling on what the proper officials may deem an appropriate war bonus, but apparently the sponsor of this bill and the Republican party of Philadelphia is opposed to it, because they want the Republican dominated city council to say who is going to get a raise, what kind of a raise it is going to be and who is going to be affected.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that as a Democratic member of this House I do not trust the city council with that much authority, not the authority that we are granting at the present time in the halls of this Legislature.

I say to the sponsor of the bill, let him do the honorable thing, let him send his bill back to committee and see that proper and due consideration is given the bill. I am sure that the members of the Democratic minority approve of this kind of legislation. I am for a raise for other groups in Pennsylvania, I am certainly for this, but I am not going to give city council a blank check to say who is going to be raised and who is not. It is the Legislature's duty, and I would implore the gentleman from Philadelphia to see that that is carried out.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I do not care to get excited this morning; it is a very pleasant morning. If there is any dereliction here it is dereliction on the part of the gentleman who last spoke, because he comes from Philadelphia and the City Controller has the amount, the number of everything connected with the payments that are to be made under this bill. Instead of getting excited here this morning he should have gone over to see the City Controller and gotten all the information that he wanted. By the way, the City Controller is a Democrat. The City Council passes on the amount, the number and the warrants were sent over to the City Controller. The City Controller refused to sign the warrants, and rightfully so. The City Controller was one hundred per cent right because he felt that under the existing law he had no authority to sign the warrants, and if perchance some time later the question arose as to his authority to sign these warrants there would be a possibility of a suit being entered against him on his bond. So he was one hundred per cent right. He knows the amount of money, he knows the number to be employed. He is a part of my good friend's organization, and just by walking across the street the City Controller would have given him or Mr. Boyd or anybody else all the information he wanted.

This bill has been up here for a couple of weeks or more. If my Democratic friend from Philadelphia wanted to make amendments, he had lots of time to produce them, but of course that might be interfering with his speech, I don't know.

This is a non-partisan bill. It is physically impossible to tell how many people it will affect in Pennsylvania, because no man living can know what the various authorities throughout Pennsylvania will do in the future. There is no partisanship in this. There is no favoritism about it. Democrats and Republicans are going to be treated alike. We have a lot of Democrats in Philadelphia on the payroll that are going to get everything that Republicans are going to get. This is strictly a war measure, not a political measure. It is non-partisan for the benefit of a group of underpaid men whom the City is extremely anxious to keep on its payroll, because if something is not done, they are going to leave City employment and take well paid jobs in other places. We must have employees in the city. It is a big institution, a big corporation. Many of these men are really doing a patriotic duty, both Democrats and Republicans, to hold those jobs.

This is no time to get excited. This is not the kind of bill that will make political propaganda for either side. I think it is the duty of every man here who has the welfare of his country, its citizens and the public employes at heart, as I know my friend has, to pass the bill and forget about these little unnecessary squabbles. In this Hall up here, while I am here the question of being a Democrat or a Republican is not going to worry me a whole lot. I look on the questions as they appear to me from the standpoint of "Are they for the general good of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania"? I love Democrats, I love Republicans. I want to be on good terms with everybody. I don't want to see any unnecessary arguments or stage play, and I am very much convinced that this is a stage play.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in the debate that preceded my taking the floor, it seems to me as though my name had been mentioned or my official position in the House referred to, and I just want to briefly clear the situation.

I think I discussed with the sponsor the possibility of amendments. It is true that I did not tell him what the amendments were. I told him that I wanted to get a consensus of opinion, since this was a State-wide bill, before putting in amendments.

My recollection is that the bill was to remain on second reading, and pass second reading last night, or at least the amendments would be offered last night and go over to third reading today. I do not think that agreement was kept strictly, although it was not done with any idea of fooling me or fooling anybody else. I am perfectly willing to agree that there was a misunderstanding as to the progress of the bill through the House. What I want to say about the bill is this:

When I first saw the bill, when it was introduced—it was introduced almost, I think, the first day of the session, at least the first day that bills were introduced—I saw a state-wide proposition which had Philadelphia implications, and that maybe Philadelphia's dirty washed linen would not have to be ironed on the floor of this House. I felt that we were not going to fool all the members of the House. It seemed to me that the Members of the House have had their stomachs full of Philadelphia's dirty linen so many years, and they were going to get tired of voting for bills that affect Philadelphia, and still feel that they were voting on State-wide propositions. I am very sorry the thing had to come out again on the floor today as purely another Philadelphia squabble. It seems to me that we are here again talking like all hallelujah in the name of a State-wide bill. Legislation like this is fine, because it is going to correct the situation in probably every county, at least in those counties where increases have been granted to all employes whose salaries are not controlled by the Legislature, and I think in Philadelphia, where a great number already have been granted an increase. I think we are all for that, but it is not home rule. It is the old story about the Legislature having to do a job City Council ought to do itself. I should not criticize the situation unless I have a remedy for the situation. I think we have a remedy, and that remedy is to do the thing which we have been asking for, for years, pass the city charter legislation for Philadelphia. Gentlemen, give us the Philadelphia charter, and you won't have any of Philadelphia's dirty linen to be washed up here. I would be perfectly willing to have the matter decided on its merits and not have it mixed up with Philadelphia's dirty wash.

The answer to Philadelphia's problem is not legislation here, the answer to its problem is a new city charter. Philadelphia's problem can be solved by the city-county consolidation. It would mean not only economy, it would mean we would have less trouble and it would certainly mean that we would have real home rule for Philadelphia. I know that the people all throughout the Commonwealth want home rule; I know that the Democratic platform was in favor of home rule; I know that Governor Martin campaigned on a pledge of home rule, and if we had home rule in Pennsylvania, and I agree that while in Harrisburg, I would much prefer to walk along the banks of the Susquehanna than to spend the time in the Hall of the House on these questions.

Philadelphia needs a new city charter. We are preparing a bill now for a new city charter which will be introduced in the House and Senate and for which we are going to ask everyone to vote in order to save yourselves from the jarring, strident voices of many members of the House. Save yourselves a lot of time; put away your shotguns, as I said before. You don't have to go looking for wolves in sheep's clothing.

The amendment I had in mind, I say very frankly, I did not discuss in detail until last night with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boyd, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus. It was an amendment to make certain that there would be and could be a definite ceiling and a uniformity in the bonuses to be given employes throughout the state. It is very possible, as has been pointed out, that the bonuses to be given would be equal in all classifications and all levels of wages, but it is also possible, Mr. Speaker, for a city council or for any body throughout this state, be it Republican or Democrat, to give increases to job-holders, whose salaries are controlled by us, much more or much less than had already been granted to other employes controlled by groups under home rule, and the only purpose, would have been to make certain that in no event should there be any discrimination in the amount of bonus given, whether it be a home rule bonus or a legislative bonus, and that it should be given in the same proportion, within the same limits, for all classifications in all rates of pay. That was the only purpose of the amendment. I do not think the amendments would have been difficult; I do not think that they would have hurt the bill in the least, and I believe in Philadelphia we have nothing to fear even if the amendments are not there. But while we are about it why can't we be safe; why can't we be perfect?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker it is for the reason I have stated and for that reason alone that I now move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee whence it came to consider the amendment just discussed by me.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman moves to recommit the bill to the Committee on Cities—First Class.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia rise? Does the gentleman propose to talk on this motion?

Mr. LEVY. Yes, I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may speak on the motion but not on the bill.

Mr. LEVY. I am going to talk on the motion, Mr. Speaker.

I believe that within a few years or possibly at the same time that I was fortunate enough to be born on this earth, the old Senator was already in the halls on legislature. As a Philadelphian and a very fine gentleman, I have the utmost respect for the old Senator from Philadelphia, and I only want to say in regard to this motion to the old Senator from Philadelphia, that as fine a gentleman as he is, and always has proven to be, nevertheless he cannot convince me by his speech on war-time cooperation that this bill is written as it should be.

The Senator from Philadelphia knows, and he knows full well that the list given to the City Controller in Philadelphia awaiting the passage of this bill is not definite in any manner. There is no written agreement that that list is the list to prevail when this bill is enacted into law—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will please confine his remarks to the motion to recommit?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, on the motion to recommit by the gentleman from Philadelphia, I want to say that there is no stronger argument in favor of the motion than the words of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus himself, because if his Republican organization in Philadelphia is sincere in sponsoring a bill of this kind, and if they intend to carry the wage scale or the war bonus scale that was given to the City Controller in Philadelphia, then what objections do they have—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has requested the gentleman from Philadelphia to please confine his remarks to the motion to recommit.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I again say that the greatest argument in favor of the motion made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The gentleman is now speaking on the merits of the bill, and the Chair would request the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, if the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, insists on speaking on the bill, to withdraw his motion.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in all sincerity I am of the opinion that I am speaking on the motion.

A motion was made by Mr. Cohen from Philadelphia to recommit the bill. Now, if the Speaker or the Parliamentarian can tell me how you can speak on the recommission of a bill without pointing out a fallacy in the bill, then I want to be apprised of it. I am only attempting, Mr. Speaker, to bring home one argument and one argument alone, and that is that if the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of this bill, or the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, feels so confident that the list submitted to the city controller for certification of war bonus is authentic and final, then what argument have they in opposing the recommission of this bill in order to place a ceiling on the war bonus to be granted by the city council in Philadelphia or any other designated body under this bill in the various precincts of the Commonwealth?

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that it is a direct argument in favor of the recommission of this bill, however, and I say to you, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman, the sponsor of this bill, is sincere, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, is sincere—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that members shall not be referred to by name in debate. That is strictly prohibited by the Rules of the House. The gentleman from Philadelphia is entitled to the respect of the House, and the Chair will endeavor to see that he gets it, but requests the gentleman to confine his remarks to the motion. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I then challenge the sponsor of the bill or the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus—

The SPEAKER. The Chair again reminds the gentleman from Philadelphia that members shall not be referred to by name in debate. The Rules of the House strictly prohibit it.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I repeat it, I challenge the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boyd, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, and if there are any personalities in that language or any insinuations on my part, then, Mr. Speaker, I insist that we are not having proper procedure in the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, let us be fair about it. I would say to Mr. Boyd, and I would say to Mr. Salus, if they have no objection—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The gentleman will confine his remarks to the motion to recommit. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in supporting the motion to recommit the bill I would call the attention of the two gentlemen from Philadelphia that if they feel confident that the list submitted by the various department heads of Philadelphia to the City Controller is final, is authentic and is the last in the judgment of those various bureau chiefs, then I say to them, what objection do they have to recommitting this bill and have it amended in committee so that the various war bonuses have a ceiling. If it is not sincerity or lack of sincerity then I cannot understand the judgment of Republican leadership in Philadelphia.

If the gentlemen from Philadelphia wish to give a decent war bonus, let them write it into the bill. If the gentlemen in the future have a teachers' war bonus to contend with, I am sure that the gentlemen from Philadelphia will be the first ones to arise and say, "What are we going to give them"? Now, if that is not common sense, gentleman, then I don't know what it is. It is reasonable. We are not adjoining the session next week; there is ample time to take this bill back to committee and study it. The men in Philadelphia who are affected by this bill and the men throughout the State are not clamoring that it be passed this afternoon. They feel they have a reasonable bill, and they do. They want the consideration of the Legislature, and I ask for that consideration.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House to vote "no" on this motion. This bill has been around for at least three weeks. There is not that much in the bill that it needs so much study. I think the bill is fair and I ask the Members to vote "no" on the motion to recommit.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT AMENDED

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, to keep the record straight, my motion was to recommit the bill to the Committee from whence it came. I heard the Speaker announce that to be the Committee of Cities of the First Class. I have now been informed that the bill came out of the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

Therefore, I ask to amend my motion to recommit it to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia. If there is no objection, the amendment will be allowed, and the name of the committee will be changed to that of the Committee on Municipal Corporations. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the motion is so amended.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion as amended?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Chudoff and Mr. Cullen, and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I hesitated somewhat to get into this love feast of Philadelphia, but I do feel that this bill possibly affects the rest of the State, and with that in mind I would like to have a little love talk with the sponsor of the bill.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The Chair is unable to understand what kind of a love scene this is supposed to be.

Mr. LOVETT. Well, Mr. Speaker, since the dirty linen has been washed in Philadelphia and the boys got a little angry, I feel that I can talk with the Philadelphia gentlemen without getting angry at all.

Mr. SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Westmoreland wish to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

Mr. LOVETT. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOYD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia tell me what effect this particular bill would have upon the school districts of the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, this bill has no effect on any school district whatsoever.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman tell me if it would be possible for men doing the same particular line of work in any municipality, borough or city to receive different bonuses or rates of pay?

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I can answer the gentleman in this way, that that is the reason this bill was introduced because the municipal employees in Philadelphia are receiving the bonus now, and the county employees cannot receive this bonus only through an act of the Legislature.

Mr. LOVETT. That will be all the interrogation.

Mr. Speaker, I feel that after the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia we are now passing legislation in order to make something legal down in Philadelphia that they have already done. I do not think the House of Representatives should pass such legislation. I feel somewhat like the minority floor leader that we do not like to oppose this type of legislation, but we do feel that the House of Representatives should put these bills in proper form before they leave the House of Representatives and not have them taken over to the Senate and have the Senate do the things that we should have done in the House of Representatives before they left the House.

For that reason I would like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would there be any possible way of having some agreement with the Senate of Pennsylvania that we might have this bill amended so as to make an equal distribution in the raises to be received under this bill?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see that there is any way in which we can bind the Senate by any action here that will make it necessary for them to amend any particular piece of legislation that we send over to them.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the Majority Floor Leader agree to an amendment in the Senate of Pennsylvania that would amend this bill so that we would have an equal distribution of raises?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I certainly would, first of all, want to see the amendment, whether in my opinion it would be equal and carry out the wishes even of the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boyd.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOYD. I shall, Mr. Speaker .

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the sponsor of the bill agree to an amendment in the Senate to make some equal distribution of the raises in this particular piece of legislation?

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I would be glad to take the matter up with the Senate, but I would not make any agreement as to what I would do, or as to any amendments that may be offered.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman correctly that he would use his influence in the Senate of Pennsylvania to have amendments offered to equalize the raises of pay in this bill?

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I did not say that I would use my influence. I do not have any influence with the Senate and I would not want to commit myself at this time as to what move would be made.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman concur in the amendments of the Senate if we were fortunate enough to have this bill amended in the Senate to equalize the raises of pay?

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, as I said before, I would not commit myself on any amendment. I don't know what the amendments would be, and therefore, would not want to be committed to any amendments.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I hesitate to vote against legislation of this type, but in my judgment I feel that a bill which gives to a municipality or officials of municipalities the right to raise pay without any consideration whatever to the reason for such raises or the equal distribution of raises, I am afraid I will have to vote "no" on this particular bill.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, while listening to the debate on this particular measure, I think a great deal of confusion has been created that might well have been eliminated. It seems to me that this measure is designed to meet a situation that has arisen not only in Philadelphia but throughout the state. I personally am a little more acquainted with the situation in Philadelphia, and as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boyd, pointed out, City Council there voted a war increase at this time to all employes. It was non-partisan in nature, applying to both Democratic and Republican employes, but because of certain acts previously passed by the Legislature, they were unable to give the increase to county employes. If there is any inequity existing, it is existing today, and until this bill is passed you will find that the city employes there will have gained the benefit of an increase in salaries, whereas the county employes will not get that increase. That makes for dissension among all employes and affects the public service. As one of the other gentlemen pointed out, you will find that some of these men want to devote their time to public service, but feeling that because of a delay up here in Harrisburg they will not get a raise in sufficient time, they might leave the employment of the county of Philadelphia. I personally think and I think most of the members here feel that we should pass this bill. It is true that there are certain inequities that arise, and as the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, pointed out, possibly there may be inconsistencies, for instance, where one group of employes might receive increases which would not be given to other groups. I believe that every municipality knows its own situation. In Philadelphia, because of the existence of a wage tax, we may be able to grant a fairly large increase to our employes. Other municipalities which have had financial difficulties may not be able to give as large an increase, but that is no reason why we should not grant each taxing power and each municipality the right to go ahead and make such equitable distribution of what money they have available at this present time.

In order to dispel any ideas that this is a Philadelphia feud, which it is not, I ask the Philadelphia members in this House, no matter which side of the House they are on, to vote for the final passage of this bill.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boyd.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOYD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman whether or not a school district is a political subdivision.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, that comes under a different act altogether. The school act does not come under this bill.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Will the gentleman please answer either yes or no, does the school district come under a political subdivision?

Mr. BOYD. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Philadelphia positive that under this act school directors would have no right to raise the pay of school teachers?

Mr. BOYD. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boyd.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOYD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether this bill as presently before us is applicable to appointed officers?

Mr. BOYD. To appointed officers only, not elected officers.

Mr. SKALE. That is all. I thank the gentleman.

CONSTITUTIONAL POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, at this time I desire to raise the question of constitutionality, that this bill is in violation of Article III, Section 13, of the Pennsylvania Constitution, which provides as follows:

> "No law shall extend the term of any public officer or increase or dimish his salary or emoluments after his election or appointment."

I contend, therefore, Mr. Speaker, that since this bill is applicable to appointed officers it is in violation of the Constitution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, raises the point of order that House Bill No. 2, Printer's No. 22, is unconstitutional in that it violates Article III, Section 13 of the Constitution.

The Speaker under Rule 4 is required to submit questions involving the constitutionality of a bill to the House for decision, which the Chair now does.

On the question,

Will the House sustain the Constitutional point of order?

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I have been advised that this bill would not be unconstitutional.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. The Constitution, Mr. Speaker, provides that no law shall increase or diminish the salary of the persons affected. This bill does not increase nor decrease, nor do anything directly through the Legislature. It permits a political subdivision to do it itself. It does not bind any political subdivision to do it under the terms of this bill.

I, therefore, feel that it does not come within the prohibition of the Constitution.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, under the law the Legislature has the power to fix the salaries of these employes, and while it does not call for an increase in salary under the section of the Constitution I referred to this is an emolument, and therefore, comes directly within this particular section.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SKALE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state what officer is having his pay increased by this bill now being considered by the Legislature?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the interrogation, I might refer the gentleman to my question and the answer to it by the sponsor of this bill. I asked him whether this bill was applicable to appointed officers to which he replied that it was. I read Section 13 of the Constitution, which refers to any officer either by election or by appointment, and that is the answer I give to the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I thank the gentleman. It was merely my purpose to point out that there is no official designated, nor is the amount of pay of any official designated in this bill, and in my opinion the bill has nothing to do with this particular prohibition in the Constitution. It has to do in my opinion only with elective officers. The word "appointment" appears in Article III, Section 13, only to cover situations which through vacancies somebody has been appointed to fill out an elective term. It is confined ordinarily to elective officers and is not included in this bill which specifically, after the amendment of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, excepts from its terms elective officers.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to appear captious about this. I am in favor of an increase and I would like it to be known that I am in favor of an increase, but why fool ourselves? If this bill passes this House and goes over to the Senate, perhaps they could put in the amendments that we want. All this debate goes back to the beginning, and that is the reason the minority floor leader asked that the bill be referred back to the Committee from whence it came, so that the proper amendments could be put in it in order to make it proper, legal and constitutional. That is the only reason why this debate is on the floor. Let us make it a constitutional bill, and let it be known that the House will pass nothing but a proper, constitutional bill.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Allegheny has anything further in subsistance to offer I would be glad to yield to him.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I don't know whether I have anything further in substance to offer or not. I believe the gentleman from Cambria is right and I believe the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, is right. However, we are dealing here with a provision of the Constitution which has been many times before our courts.

Last evening the sponsors of this bill were very courteous to allow me the opportunity to amend it. I asked the Legislative Reference Bureau to amend the bill so as to make it conform with Article III, Section 13 of our Constitution. You can see from the reading of the amendment that they did not comply strictly with my request.

The term in Article III, Section 13, "appointment," has been difficult to construe by our courts. This morning with a distinguished member of the bar on the other side we had an opportunity to peruse for a very limited period of time many of those court decisions.

The reason that I agree with the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, that his contention may be right is that there is no mandatory provision in this act, increasing or diminishing the salary of anyone. I think on that point he is perfectly clear.

On the point raised as to constitutionality by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, there is ample merit in his contention, for this reason: If the act is allowed to pass as it is now there will be no end of litigation by the political subdivisions in this Commonwealth as to who would come under the provisions of the act, and there, of course, could be endless litigation, which would cost the political subdivisions enormous sums of money. While I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia, who was so courteous to me last night, I shall have to cast a vote inconsistent with the courtesy shown me in allowing me to amend the bill and it is reasonable for them to suppose I would vote for the bill, but, as I said on a second perusal of the bill this morning, I am of the opinion that this bill will cause endless litigation if political subdivisions increase the salaries of appointed officers. Courts are full of decisions as to what appointed officers' salaries may be increased and diminished, and before we send this bill out over the State, which will tie up the salaries of many people, we ought to have some chart or catalog of those officers who by appointment may have their salaries increased or diminished, and save the counties and cities and school districts too, a great deal of litigation.

I don't understand why the gentleman from Philadelphia says that school districts are not political subdivisions. The courts have made this distinction, teachers which we discovered in looking up the authorities, that salaries cannot be raised because they are based on a contract, but there might be other employes of the school districts whose salaries might be affected by this act.

While I do not want to ask the sponsor of the bill to delay the passage of the act, because it is vague and uncertain, it seems to me that it should not be passed at this time.

Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, to withdraw his constitutional point of order and let the House vote the bill on its merits.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Republican Whip, the gentleman from Cambria County, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria whether the provisions of this bill now before us, if passed, would increase the salary of the Prothonotary, the Recorder of Deeds, the Clerk of Courts and other elected county offices?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that, I do not see how it affects the bill. This bill is designed to covered certain situations, and what the gentleman now refers to pertains to something entirely different. If he wants the salaries of the Recorder of Deeds and Prothonotary and so forth raised, I would suggest that he introduce a bill to that effect.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not answering my question. I want to know whether under the provisions of the bill the salaries of the duly elected county offices would be increased.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would remind the gentleman that the question before the House is on the constitutional point of order.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, before I vote on the question of the constitutionality of a bill, I would like to know what the bill means, and as I understand this bill it is authorizing counties and municipalities in this state to increase the salaries of those elected or appointed officers whose salaries are fixed by the state Legislature.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman has the wrong impression of the bill. It does not in any way permit the increase of salary of any elected official, and it clearly so states in the amendment offered last night.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman agrees with me. That is the statement I wanted him to make.

As I understand the bill it would have no application at all in Cambria County or any other county in the State with reference to those appointees whose salaries are fixed by the Salary Board. As I understand this bill, it can apply only to Philadelphia County, where the Legislature does fix the salaries. This is information that I received from members from Philadelphia a few moments ago, that the Legislature does fix the salaries of certain county officers in Philadelphia County who have not been elected by the people. This bill would not apply to my county, as I understand the law, is that correct?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would say that the statement is not entirely correct in that it goes too far.

It is my impression that there are a number of officers, although I could not name them all or enumerate them, whose maximum salary is fixed by the Legislature, but whose actual salary is fixed by the Salary Board, not to exceed the maximum set by the Legislature. Under such a situation if the Legislature had set a maximum salary of eighteen hundred dollars a year, and the Salary Board had fixed the salary at eighteen hundred dollars a year, nobody could increase that salary without this bill's being enacted into law. If it were enacted into law then the county officials would be permitted to raise the actual pay without reference to the maximum set by previous Legislatures for that particular office.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, would not that still leave the fixing of salaries in the hands of the Salary Board of our county?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I believe that would leave the actual salary in the hands of the Salary Board, yes.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, desire to be recognized?

Mr. SKALE. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I am not withdrawing the question I raised as to constitutionality. I am sorry I can't accede to the request of my friend, Mr. Brown.

I would like to say this, however, in support of the question raised by me and reiterating my previous remarks:

if we are going to pass legislation helpful to these employes, and intended to be helpful, we ought to do it in a proper manner and not have the consequences that were pointed out by Mr. Brown. Passing this bill would only tie up the effect that we want to give, the help and benefit that we want to give to the employes who are in need of an increase in salary. In other words, if my point of order were voted down and the bill subsequently passed, it would only be pulling the wool over the eyes of those employes because it would only be held up by the question of constitutionality which some taxpayer might raise. I think we ought to go about this in the proper way. If the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of this bill, would like to withhold action on this until proper amendments could be inserted to take care of this situation on the constitutionality, I wouldn't have any objection to withdrawing my point of order. If he desires to continue with the bill, then I insist upon it.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SKALE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, assuming that his contention is true, would it not be possible, if a county authority wanted to raise the salary of an appointed officer, and the officer was then serving, to have him resign, increase his salary and then reappoint him?

Mr. SKALE. It might be possible. Anything would be possible the way this bill is presently written.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, did we not follow that procedure in this House a few years ago with our Chief Clerk?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I don't know. I can't recall the procedure.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman recall when we increased the salary of the Chief Clerk that the Chief Clerk resigned and we immediately reappointed him at an increased salary?

Mr. SKALE. I don't recall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House I desire to say that that was done.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, on the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, that the constitutional point of order is not well taken.

The other contention of the gentleman from Allegheny goes to the merits of the bill and should be decided at the proper time. It is not properly put forward under the point of order at this time.

I, therefore, ask the membership to vote that the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, is not well taken.

On the question recurring,

Will the House sustain the constitutional point of order?

It was not sustained.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I have been sitting here listening to this long debate and from what I can glean from everything that has been said, the sponsor does not understand what his bill does, the attorneys on both sides of the House, cannot agree on what the bill does.

Mr. Speaker, if some of our experts on the Constitution like Mr. Brown from Allegheny, and probably Mr. Rose, cannot agree on what this bill does, just how, Mr. Speaker, can a poor fellow like myself, who is a dentist, and I will say a layman as far as legal questions are concerned, just how, Mr. Speaker, are we to vote on this bill when no one seems to know what it does?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. GATES filed the following reason for his vote:

I am voting "no" on this bill because it will defeat the very purpose for which it was designed.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. MODELL filed the following reason for his vote:

The purpose of this bill is a good one. Certainly conditions today warrant an increase in pay to underpaid government workers. For that reason I voted affirmatively on the bill. However, I wish to voice my disapproval of the failure of the bill to contain a provision for a limitation upon the compensation to be granted. Since the sponsor would not permit such an amendment, I voted for the original bill, rather than have no provision at all for an increased remuneration to such employees.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. SKALE filed the following reason for his vote.

I am voting for this bill only because it is a temporary measure to meet the increased cost of living. But I believe, nevertheless, that the bill as presently written is not good legislation and is unconstitutional as violative of Article III, Section 13 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 129, as follows:

An Act to amend section ten of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P.L. 1237) entitled "An act affecting marital relations prescribing grounds and regulating proceedings for divorce and the annulment of bigamous marriages and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" by adding to the causes for divorce and annulment of marriages

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section ten of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1237) entitled "An act affecting marital relations prescribing grounds and regulating proceedings for divorce and the annulment of bigamous marriages and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 Grounds for Divorce from Bond of Matrimony

1 When a marriage has been heretofore or shall hereafter be contracted and celebrated between two persons it shall be lawful for the innocent and injured spouse to obtain a divorce from the bond of matrimony whenever it shall be judged in the manner hereinafter provided that the other spouse

(a) At the time of the contract was and still is naturally and incurably impotent or incapable of procreation or

(b) Has knowingly entered into a second marriage in violation of the previous vows he or she made to the former spouse whose marriage is still subsisting or

(c) Shall have committed adultery or

(d) Shall have committed wilful and malicious desertion and absence from the habitation of the injured and innocent spouse without a reasonable cause for and during the term and space of two years or

(e) Shall have by cruel and barbarous treatment endangered the life of the injured and innocent spouse or

(f) Shall have offered such indignities to the person of the injured and innocent spouse as to render his or her condition intolerable and life burdensome or

(g) Shall have procured the marriage by fraud force or coercion and which has not been subsequently confirmed by the acts of the injured and innocent spouse or

(h) Shall have been convicted as principal or as accessory either before or after the fact within or without this Commonwealth of the crime of arson burglary embezzlement forgery kidnapping larceny murder either in the first or second degree assault with intent to kill voluntary manslaughter perjury rape robbery sodomy buggery pandering treason or misprision of treason and be sentenced to imprisonment for any term of two years or more by a competent court having jurisdiction

2 When a marriage has been heretofore or shall hereafter be contracted and celebrated between two persons within the prohibited degrees of consanguinity or affinity according to the tables established by law it shall be lawful for either of said parties to obtain a divorce from the bond of matrimony in the manner hereinafter provided or

3 If any spouse upon any false rumor in appearance well founded of the death of the other when such other has been absent for the space of two whole years hath married or shall marry again the party who has not remarried may at his or her return have his or her own marriage dissolved by divorce on the ground of bigamy leaving the other party to remain with the second husband or wife Any such action shall be instituted within six months after such return

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill to explain it.

Mr. BOWER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the question asked by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, I might say, not being a lawyer, I cannot give him a legal interpretation of the amendment to the divorce law which this bill proposes. I might also say that this bill was a request bill handed to me by members of the Bar in my county. Since putting the bill into the hopper and having gone thus far on the calendar, I have received a letter from the Pennsylvania Bar Association which I would like to read.

"Dear Mr. Bower:

During sessions of the General Assembly, the Special Advisory Committee on Legislation of the Pennsylvania Bar Association meets and reviews bills introduced into the General Assembly in order that the special training of lawyers on certain matters can be made available to the members of the Legislature. At the meeting of the committee held Thursday, February 11, 1943 House Bill No. 129 was reviewed by the committee.

The committee feels that the above bill supplies an existing need in the divorce law.

Very truly yours,

Ralph E. Evans"

Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, desires a legal interpretation of what this bill means, I will refer him to my legal counsel, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, the Minority Floor Leader.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of the bill asked me whether I wanted a legal interpretation of this bill. I did not get a chance to say whether I did or did not. I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill whether this is a lawyers' bill? I now, Mr. Speaker, yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 114, as follows:

An Act authorizing individual co-fiduciaries in certain cases to consent to investments in common trust funds and validating consents heretofore given

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 An individual acting as co-fiduciary with a trust company or bank and trust company is hereby authorized with respect to moneys held by said trust company or bank and trust company and said individual as co-fiduciaries to consent to an investment thereof in a common trust fund maintained by said trust company or bank and trust company under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the same extent that said trust company or bank and trust company as a sole fiduciary would be authorized to invest such moneys in such common trust fund Any consents heretofore given by individual co-fiduciaries are hereby validated The term "fiduciary" as used herein shall mean a trustee of a trust created by will deed declaration of trust court order or other instrument a guardian of a minor or incompetent or a committee of the estate of a lunatic or habitual drunkard and the term "co-fiduciary" as used herein shall mean a co-trustee of a trust created by will deed declaration of trust court order or other instrument a co-guardian of a minor or incompetent or a co-committee of the estate of a lunatic or habitual drunkard.

Section 2 Nothing contained herein shall be construed to authorize any fiduciary to make or consent to any investment contrary to the directions in regard to investments contained in the will deed or other instrument creating the trust in his or her care nor to limit or restrict the authority conferred by any such instrument upon any such fiduciary with respect to investments

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 17

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 17, Printer's No. 24.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1943.

Whereas, There are at the present time numerous persons throughout the Commonwealth carried upon the payrolls of the Department of Highways on a per diem basis; and

Whereas, There have in the past been various delays in the meeting of these per diem payrolls, with the result that the issuance of pay checks is often delayed for considerable periods of time; and

Whereas, The circumstances of the majority of such per diem employes are such that prompt receipt of the compensation due them is of great importance; and

Whereas, An investigation and analysis of this situation may well reveal the corrective measure which would serve to bring the meeting of per diem payrolls up to a more nearly current basis thus eliminating numerous hardship upon per diem employes; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives request the Secretary of Highways to make an immediate investigation of the reasons for and the possibilities of eliminating any delays which may exist in the meeting of per diem payrolls of the Department of Highways; to change the present system of meeting such payrolls if deemed advisable, and to recommend to the House of Representatives any legislation which, in his opinion may be necessary in order to eliminate such delays; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be delivered by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Secretary of Highways.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?
